

BUCHANAN'S

HISTOR: Y

OF THE

ANCIENT SURNAME

OF

BUCHANAN.

AND OF

Ancient SCOTTISH SURNAMES;

More particularly the CLANS,

BI

WILLIAM BUCHANAN OF AUCHMAR.

GLASGOW.

PRINTED FOR A. BUCHANAN, BOOKSELLER
ABOVE THE CROSS.

M,DCC,XCIII.

THE

HISTORY

OF THE

ANCIENT SURNAME

OB

BUCHANAN.

AND OF

ANCIENT SCOTTISH SURNAMES;

PREFACE.

THE subject of the following book may possibly appear a little too confined to the most part of readers, in regard the affairs of private families can be of fo very little concern to the publick, and besides genealogies themselves are commonly reckoned fo dry and tasteless a thing. that very few people think it worth while to be at much pains about them. It is not my defign to answer all the arguments may be urged on this head. I perswade myself no man thinks it loft labour to enquire into the descent of Princes. and other eminent personages; and why should it be looked on as altogether unnecessary to know that of private families, especially when they have produced persons of extraordinary characters and reputation in the world; the publick historians cannot be supposed to know any thing of fuch minute passages, without the help of fuch private memorials; and therefore it is necessary, that some or other should take upon them that lower employment of gathering together the materials, that may be serviceable to the higher order of writers. Instead thereof of incurring centure for the choice of my subject, I ought rather to have the thanks of my readers, for not going out of my depth, by undertaking what I had not fufficient abilities for.

125

Le

ut

ai

bie

all

Dr

ve

in n

re

or fal

A

en

be

of

ve

fr

te

CE

li

ir

fe

tl

W

12

O

e

t

The family of BUCHANAN has had the honour to produce a great many persons, that make a very considerable figure in our history; and as it is natural for us to be curious about the smallest circumstances relating to great men, those of that temper will here find what in a great measure may serve to gratiste such their curiosity.
Besides this name is grown so very numerous, that it cannot but be of very great use to those of the name, or that are any way allied to it, to have a full and distinct account of its affairs. So that tho perhaps this treatise may not be of such general use, yet it will at least serve them for whom I principally intended it, (to wit,) those of the name and family of Buchanan.

None of my readers need to be afraid of being imposed upon in my management of this work. For though indeed in some cases, where authentick records could not be had I have been obliged to take up with the best attested, and most generally received traditional accounts, yet for for the most part I am supported in what I say, by ancient charters of uncontested authority. And besides whenever I am obliged to make use of tradition I always advertise my reader of it; and giving him the most probable account to confirm any own opinion, leave him to make what judgement he pleafeth himfelf upon the matter.

In giving an account of the family of Buchanan I have been very exact in looking over the writings belonging to it, now in the hands of his grace the duke of Montrose, which the laird of Gorthy was pleased to supply me with. This account, though a great many documents are lost has been of considerable use to me; as nke

as

se

a-

y.

he

ve

o'

al

I

ne

ng

k.

n-

g-

or

by br

of

nd

m

e-

a-

he

of

rd nis

re

as

as also the tree of the family of Buchanan in lenny's hands, which though a great part of it ut off, and some of it contradictory to more cerain evidents, yet is in the main a very valuable piece of antiquity. I have had also the perusal of ill the writings in the hands of the Buchanans of Drumikill, Lenny, Carbeth, Spittel, Auchneis ven, and Gartinstarry, which though very difinct, yet would not have been full enough, had not obtained an ancient Chartulary among the records of Dumbarton-shire, containing the whole progress of the Earls of Lennox, and their vaffals, from the beginning of the reign of king Alexander the second Anno 1214, till the latter end of king Robert the third's reign, which has been of fingular service to me. The Chartulary of Paisley has also furnished me with several things very useful for my purpose.

from what inducement I will not pretend to determine, have been pleased to resuse me the necessary helps for giving an account of their families; if I have therefore been any ways desective in what relates to them, they have none but themselves to blame for it, who have deprived me of the means whereby I can do them justice, which was my sole intention in undertaking this work.

In order to make this piece of more general use, I have subjoyned to it an account of the Highland Clans, in which I flatter myself, the curious will find something that has not been touched upon by any of our writers, and which may be very agreable to such as are fond of our Scottish antiquities, there being not only an abstract of all that our historians have delivered unto us on that subject but also the old uncontroverted traditions we have among us relating thereto, which though they cannot be vouched by written authorities, yet it would be over great incredulity to pay no manner of regard to them; especially since we have for the most part no better documents for the origin of most nations in Europe.

I do not think myself obliged to make any apology for the stile of the ensuing sheets. The subject of them exclude every thing of labour and elegance. all that can be looked for in them is plainness and perspicuity, both which it has been my greatest pains to endeavour after. If I have succeeded so as to satisfie those for whom I chiefly intended these sheets, I am content, and shall defire no other reward for my labours, than that they will charitably excuse whatever errors I may have sallen into, on account of the sincerity, and honesty of my intentions. I submit the whole to the candid reader, and shall no longer detain him from the perusal of the work.

white the late of the case of belaticut.

SHILLS I to Antroposing Cie to an I take for les as laterioù gaise statif al Mar for an beginned and allowers to be could admit to the first and the property of the first and the fi sustrial and the state of the state of make persons an one loss the state batholis and marile

Elimitant it was established rted hich au. llity ally

po,

uband is uc.

de. hat

ind

to im

HISTORICAL and GENEALOGICAL

ESSAY

Upon the FAMILY and SURNAME of

BUCHANAN.

T MAY upon very folid grounds prefume, that any I one who offers to treat of the genealogie of any Scotish furnames, which can lay any just claim to considerable antiquity, especially such as are planted in or near the more remote or Highland parts of this kingdom, cannot in reason be supposed to have records, or written documents, upon which any thing that ordinarly is, or rationally may be advanced upon fuch a subject, can be founded; there being for the most part little diligence used by these surnames or clans in obtaining, and tho' obtain'd, in preserving any such documents: as is evidently instanced by the deportment of the nobility and barons to king Robert the 1st, upon his requiring them to produce their evidents: there being also many contingences, particularly the feuds fo frequent betwixt families of these clans carried on to such a degree of violence and animofity, and fo detrimental to the private affairs of all concerned therein. Besides, the publick commotions, affecting the nation in general, may in reason be imagined a palpable means of the loss of

h

h

M

de

ve

y

n

r

1

11

ır

u

r

or

m ar

ar

is

cc

h

of D

1

11

bi

c

21

many private evidents in custody of those, subject in a greater measure to such inconveniences, than were many other furnames planted in the more inland places. Tho' indeed some who treat of the origin even of some of those last mentioned, are obliged to found their allegations in relation to the origin of these furnames, of which they treat upon probable and folid tradition. As for instance that exquifite historian of the celebrated furname of Douglas; also the historian of the surname of Lesly; as indeed in general all who treat of that Subject use the same method in relaation to the more ancient furnames. The reason being obvious which obliges them fo to do, if that allegation be as generaly allowed, as the same is afferted by the greatest part of our modern writers, that there can be no written record or evident evinced to have existed, or at least be produced of a more ancient date than the reign of K. David the 1st, commenced in the year 1124. So that in that case, all those surnames, whose origin is afferted to be more ancient than the commencement of that reign, must of necessity be founded upon tradition. Upon which account, and more especialy that of the practice of the above mentioned historians, I judge it cannot be esteemed any disparagement to me, or to the the subject I resolve to treat of, to be obliged to found, the account of the origin of the Surname of BUCH-ANAN in general, and of Six of the first principal men of that family fuccessively in particular, upon probable and uncontroverted tradition. In regard, conform to the more modern method used in genealogizing that furname, the origin of the same is extended to a more ancient date than the reign already mentioned. Tho' mean while, I am much more inclineable to joyn fentiments with those of the more ancient Sceneciones, or genealogists, who upon very folid grounds, contend the generality of our clans, and more ancient furnames, whose origin is truly Scottish, to be the real and genuine progeny of the Gathelian, or Scottish collonies, which in the several junctures before and afterwards, under the conduct of the two Kings, Fergus 1st and 2d, came from Ireland, and planted Scotland. And for confirmation of this supposition, these demonstrate, that many of the most potent and ancient Surnames in Ireland are of the fame

. 2

ny

ho'

ofe

in

eat

ex-

lfo

ral

·la-

ob-

ge-

art

re-

be

K.

in

rted

hat

U.

ora-

e it

the

ind,

H.

ipal

ba-

orm

hat

ore

Tho'

nti-

ge-

the mes,

uine

h in

the

rom

n of

most

ame

enomination, (except what must be allowed to some ittle difference of the dialect and accent of the Irish anguage used in both nations) with a great many of he most ancient and modern of our Highland clans; as he Odonels and Oniels with our M'donalds and M'neils; Mustulas, almost the same with Mauslan, the ancient denomination of the now furname of Buchanan, with diverse others. A good many of the clans do as yet closey adhere to this ancient kind of genealogie. Some others of them are induced to adhere to a newer form, composed by a sett of men some ages ago come in place of he ancient Seneciones, which arrogate to themselves the itle of Antiquaries. These rejecting the ancient mehod, as too general, and inconfistent with the notions of hese more modern ages, have composed genealogies in heir opinion more exact and circumstantiat than the forner, by fixing, upon certain periods of time, the manner nd other circumstances relating to the families or clans of whom they treat. But all their allegations being founled upon tradition, and the matters they treat of being enerally of more ancient date than the ages of these intiquaries, they are subject to the same inconveniences, nd, in my opinion can be allowed only the fame meafure of historical credit due to the most ancient of the raditons delivered by the former if equaly folid and probable However in regard this last method is that more generally received by, and most agreeable to the taste and fentiments of the greatest part of those of the present, and fome bygone ages, I shall conform myself thereto as what I am to offer in relation to the origin, and other concerns of the furname of Buchanan. And in regard hese latter antiquaries do derive the genealogie of some of our Scotish clans, upon very good Grounds, from the Danes, rather induced thereto, by the Fame acquired by he Danes by their martial atchievements for some ages n Britain, and Ireland, than upon any other folid ground, or shew of truth; and more especially seeing the progenior of the furname of Buchanan (according to the above intiquaries) was obliged to abandon Ireland thro' tyranby of the same Danes, then domineering over that kinglom. I presume it will not be esteemed too incoherent vith the enfuing subject, nor unacceptable to those who shall have occasion of perusing the same, that I should breisly glance at the Origin of that people, and some sew of these surprizing atcheivments managed by them in Britain and Ireland, and some other parts as a native Introduction to the account of the time, manner, and cause of the Buchanans their ancestor his abandoning Ireland.

A 2

E 4' ]

The Danes, according to their own and diverse other historians, are the native progeny of the ancient Cimbrians; who as Puffendorf relates, had kings for some ages before our Saviour's Nativity, having dominion over Denmark, Norway, Sweden, and some other northern regi-That people was of fuch a gigantick stature and unparalel'd fierceness, as gave occasion to Livy, Prince of the Roman historians, to relate them to be framed by nature for the terror and destruction of other mortals These cimbrians in the third consulship of the famous Caius Marius (then the glory tho' afterwards the scourge of his native country) to the number of 400000 fighting men, with their wives and children, went to invade Ita ly, which put the Romans in no small consternation, con cluding their flate in a manner loft; and probably would have been so, had not, as Livy observes, such brave and politick Captain as Marius been their genera at that juncture, who by diverse fratagems weakned the power and broke the fierceness of these barbarians, and i conclusion engaged their army, and entirely defeated the fame, with the flaughter of 140000 of them. Their wive and children during the battle being placed in waggon on both wings of their army, greatly molested the Ro mans with flings and other missive weapons, but at la observing the defeat, they in the first place killed the children and laftly themselves; the women as well men partaking in a great measure of that herceness natur to their nation. This fatal defeat flruck such a terre to the Cimbrians, as for fome ages thereafter deterre them from encroaching upon the Roman territories, till the middle of the fifth century of the christian epoch having some ages before that, changed the Name of Cin brians into that of Danes, they made up a great part that formidable army with which Attila the great, king the Huns, attempted to subvert the Roman empire in

(

200

0

t

I

C

7

d

t

ri

ſ

I

0

c

ald

ew

in

and

ing

ther

bri-

iges

en.

egi-

and

1 by

tals,

urge

Ita

CON

ly l ich

enem

andi

d th

Wive

ggon e Ro

at la

d the

vell

natur

terr

eterre

s, till

epoch

of Cin

king

e in

reign of the emperor Valentinian the third, and year 45t. And in regard these were the two most formidable armies that ever invaded the Roman state and empire, and contributed very much towards subverting the same. I shall briefly recount the manner and success of this expedition of Attila, in which the Danes were concerned, and shall then proceed to narrate some of the most considerable actions performed by them in Britain and Ireland.

Attila was king of the Huns, now Hungarians, and did by his courage and conduct bring under his fubjection most part of all these nations betwixt Euxine, and Baltick feas, entitling himfelf Attila the great, king of the Huns, of the Medes, Goths, Vandals, Gepidae, and Danes, the fcourge of God and terrour of the world. This magnanimous and ambitious prince refolved to subdue the Roman empire then in the decline, and in order thereto levied an army of 500000 chosen men which the quality of general and foldiers duly confidered was not only of power to fubdue the Roman empire but as it might feem, the whole known world. Etius, who indeed may be accounted the last of the Roman heroes, being general of the Roman army in Gaul, and being informed of the march of this army towards that country, not only mustered all the forces the Roman empire could raife, but also those of the Visi-Goths, and Alans of Spain, Franks and Burgundians of France, all at that time in confederacy with the Romans; by which means he made up an army equal to that of Atila, and engaged in battel with him in the large plains of Chalons near the city of Lyons in France. This battel lasted a whole day with the loss in end of 180000 of Attila's army, and 100000 of that of Etius, The flaughter was fo prodigious, that the waters of a rivulet which traverfed the plains where the battle was fought, were fo encreased with blood as carried many dead bodies diverse miles with the current thereof. Attila being in a manner, defeated, and not in condition to make a fafe retreat, caused fortifie his camp with waggons in the night tilme, and ordered his army to defend the fame to the utmost. Mean while having caused a large Pile of combustible matter to be erected in the Middle of his camp, he ordered, if the enemy should enter his camp perforce, that fire should be put to the pile, and his body burnt therein, to prevent the Enemy from triumphing over the same. Etius next morning observing Attila's army in a posture of defence, and confidering the lofs his own fustain'd thought not fit to affault fuch a number of desperate men; therefore he drew of his army, and by that means gave opportunity to Attila to march away with his.

The Danes, with their neighbours the Saxons, for some confiderable time before, but in far greater number after this expedition of Attila, having fitted out a great many long small vessels by them termed Kiuls, and having put a great many of their people on board the fame, grievously infested the coasts of Britain, France and Ireland, and the Netherlands with their piraces; but in a greater measure the coasts of England and Ireland. For no fooner had the Saxons wrested the soveraignity of England from the Britons, than the Danes began their attempts upon the Saxons by frequent depredations and rapine committed upon the fea coasts of their dominions; till in the Year 858, and reign of Ethelred the first of that name, and Fourth monarch of the Saxons, or Englishmen, the Danish king, being influenced by Biorn a discontented Saxon Noblemen, fent a numerous army under command of Huba, his fon, and Hungar, a Danish nobleman, in order to invade England; who, having first landed in Scotland, judging by the easie conquest thereof to open their way into England, were herein dissappointed being engaged by Constantine, the Scotish king, at Leven water in Fife, and one half of their army commanded by Huba defeated, but being relieved by the other part the Danes, in the night time, marched away in all hafte to Crail, where their ships rode at anchor, and embarking their army with all dilligence, failed for England in which arriving, they engaged with Edmund, and Osbright, tributary kings of the east Angles, and Northumberland, killed these two Princes in battle, and possessed most part of their dominions. And not only fo, but in a short time obliged the Saxon kings of England to pay them a vast tribute yearly, which they augmented at pleasure upon every advantage they obtain'd, till in the end it became fo insupportable as to put Ethelred the second of that name, king of England, upon a very tragical method of redref-

ich ide

mb

m.

t.

he

2

ıy,

a-

me ter

iny

ing

rie-

nd,

iter

ner

and

pts

oine

1 in

me,

the

nted

and

or-

cot:

their

nga-

er in a de-

s, in

here

army

ving,

utary

ng the same, by giving private orders to his Subjects to fassinate all the Danes throughout England in one night; hich was punctualy performed upon the eleventh of lovember 1013. Bu: this massacre was not attended with he projected fucceis; for Sueno king of Denmark, inforned of his country-mens fate, arrived next year with a poent army in England, and having defeated Ethelred in iverse battles obliged him in the end to fly to Normanly; Sueno mean time taking possession of the whole kingom and retaining possession thereof till his death, as id Canutus his fon, Harold and Hardiknout his grandhildren, for the space of 26 years, with greater authoity than any ever did that kingdom. And if the royal ne of their kings at that period of time had not failed nd their own native country Denmark been harraffed with civil wars, in all human probability, England might ave continued for a much longer time, if not as yet uner the dominion of the Danes.

English historians affert their country-men to be brought the utmost degree of slavery, during the Danes their overnment; there being a Dane quartered in each Engith-mans house and the English-man being upon all ocassons necessitated to shew a deal of reverence and resect towards his guest, and to address himself always by he title of Lord, which gave a rise to the term of Lurlan, given in after ages to idle useless fellows. Yea the English were brought to that pitch of dejection and ferile adulation, as to urge their Danish king Canutus to cceive divine adoration or honour from them. For which urpose, a vast confluence of his subjects attended that ing, near Southampton, he ordered his throne to be laced within the fea-mark, and being fet thereon at the cason the tide flowed, he commanded the waters to keep ack and not to approach him; but the fea disobeying his killed rders, he was obliged to retire therefrom; upon which art of ecaused proclaim aloud, that none should presume to give obliivine adoration to any but to fuch as the sea and all the tricon e. Ich stories English writers relate concerning the servime so de imposed upon them by the Danes, whose avarice and mame, mbition was not satiated with the conquest of England, edres, at they did also invade France under conduct of a noble Dane named Rollo. And tho' that nation was then governed by Charles the bald, a very martial prince, yet af. ter a tedious and bloody war, he was obliged to yelld to Rollo the province of Neuftria to be possessed by him and his army, the name of which, after obtaining he changed into Normany, anno 866. The feventh in Descent from Rollo was duke William of Normandy, who in the year 1000 with a potent army invaded England and at Haitings engaged in battle with the English king Harold, who with 56653 of his English Souldiers was killed; and duke William by that one battel, having entirely conquered England, was aferwards termed William the conqueror.

The Danes being defirous to try their fortune once thore in Scotland, to retrieve the loss lately fustained by them therein, invaded that kingdom the fecond time, under the Command of Hago and Hellicrus, in the reign of K. Indulfus; but with no better fucces than at first, being beat back into their ships, and obliged to fail of for England. Notwithstanding of these reiterated losses, they with a more numerous army than in any former time invaded Scotland the third time, in the reign of king Kenneth the third, and year 988. The Scotish king with his army engaged in battel with the Danes at Lancartie within few miles of Perth, in which the left wing of the Scottish Army was defeated; which one Hay, with his two fons, observing, who were ploughing at the time near the place of Battel, pulled the beams of their ploughs and entered a strait pass through which the Scots wer flying, and heat down premiscously all who came within their reach. The Danes, amazed at the fudden charge retired to the body of their own army; as did the flying Scots, not a little encouraged, with all speed joyn theirs gia and by a miracle of divine providence, within few House obtain'd a glorious Victory by the affistance of these this heroick persons being progenitors of the noble and and ent name of Hay.

h

G

bi

h

ic

in

ai

No

ez

er

ea

acc

ho

Da

eng

The Danes by these repeated defeats being rather is cenfed, than dejected, with a greater army and more is solute than ever, invaded Scotland a fourth time, us der Command of Ollaus Viceroy of Norway, and En eus Governour of Denmark, in the year 1010, and fin

30-af.

l to

ind

ged

om!

ear

laí.

old,

and

oncon-

once

1 by

un-

n of eing

Engthey

time

Ken with

artic of the

h his

of the reign of King Malcom the fecond; who with his army engaged in battle with the Danes at Mortlich, and after a bloody and obstinace battel defeated that potent army with the death of one of their generals Enecus. Sueno the Danish king, governing then in England, sent an army, under command of Camus, to reinforce the remainder of the Danish troops in Scotland; which being done, king Malcom defeated that army. Also at Balbride the Danish general Camus being flain by a Scottish gentleman called Keith, ancestor of that honourable Family, Sueno irritated to a degree, upon intelligence of the ate defeat, fent the most potent Danish army that in any age invaded Scotland; under command of his fon Canuus. King Malcom, notwithstanding of the vast Lois he had fultained in the two former engagements, did with unparalleled refolution and bravery engage in battle with this army also, which continued till night seperated them. The Scots keeping the field, were reputed victors, and as such were addressed next day for Peace by the Danes. which was concluded upon very honourable terms to the Scots.

It's recorded, that for a long time after the battle of Lancartie, all Danes and Norvegians who received the honour of knighthood, were folemly fworn upon all occafions to revenge their country-mens blood upon the Scots: but that after this last battle fought by king Malcom, there was a curse imprecated upon all such of those natighs tions as should attempt to invade the cursed Scots; which wer imprecation it seems took effect in the Danes their two within all invasions of Scotland, by Sueno, and Acho, kings of Norway, in the reign of king Duncan the first, and A-flying exander the Third of Scotland: the first of these Norve-heirs gian kings getting only off so many as maned one ship, and the other scarcely what could man four, of their this wo numerous armies. So that the Danes, who were a land error and scourge to most of the neighbouring nations, reaped no other advantage by then frequence for it scotland than that the fame, upon very good grounds. forem hould be termed Danorum Tumulus the grave of the de, up Danes.

The reason which partly induced me to insist at such a eaped no other advantage by their frequent Invalions of nd fin ength upon the Danes their wars in Scotland, and con-

quelts in other parts, was to illustrate the Scots their he. Toick valour and bravery fo conspicuously, superior to that of any of their neighbouring nations of these times, to the conviction of all who industriously, if not maliciously, endeavour to derogate in any degree therefrom; for the' the reason why the Scots after diverse attempts, for that effect, continued unconquered by the Romans, be imputed to the inacceffibleness of their country, by which means they were defended, rather than by force of arms: yet no fuch reason can hold in the Danes their frequent invasions of them; all that war being managed in the open fields, with force, and fair play, as the proverb runs. While at the fame time, most other nations, with whom they had dealings, were either obliged to fubmit to their yoke or allow them very advantagious conditions, as is evident by what is already mentioned, and no less so by what follows.

In relation to Ireland, the historians of that nation affert the Danes to have begun their descents and depredations in the begining of the fourth century upon the fea coasts of that kingdom; which obliged Cormaculfada, then king of Ireland, to employ 3000, or as others fay, 9000 of the choice men in the kingdom; which number he appointed as a standing army, for opposing the infults, and restraining the rapine of these Danish pirates. These forces were termed Feans, being the ancient Irish term for giants, and their general was termed king Feans, than which the Irish use no other term as yet in their own language for a general. About the middle of the fifth century, the Irish with some of our Scotish historians affert Finmacoel to be general of these Irish Forces; whole huge stature and actions against the Danes, and others, are fomewhat above measure extolled in diverse, rude rhimes, in their own language, retained as yet by the Irish, and by some of our Scottish highlanders. However this general, with these under his command, gave so many checks to the Danes, as obliged them for some time to defilt from infelting his native coutry. But he was badly rewarded for his good fervice by his ungrateful countrey-men, who esteemed these forces useless in time of peace, and defirous to be free of some little tax of cloaths, arms and provision, ordinarly paid them, upon their re-

0

Ъ

1

n

fo

CI

te

ce

D:

DI

W

he.

hat

the

en-

the

ect,

the

hev

uch

of

vith

the

dea-

10

evi-

phat

tion

pree fea

ada,

fay,

nber

ults,

hefe

term

eans,

their

fthe

rians

vhole

hers,

rude

ie I.

vever

ma.

time

e was ateful

me of

aths,

fuling to disband, by the permission or rather contrivance of Corbred the Irith king, Fean with all his forces were affaffinated in one night. Which unhumane action was not long unpunished: the Danes within few years thereafter having in far greater numbers and violence than at any former time, infelted the coasts of that, kingdom, and finding the same destitute of the disciplined troops, which were in use to oppose their insolences, were thereby encouraged to march a good way into the Inland country; which having done, with little or no opposition, they fortified themselves in a convenient place, and fending some of their number to Denmark for more forces, which they obtained in a short space, subdued a good part of the kingdom; having fortified and garrifoned a good many of the fea-port towns therof, and also built throughout the kingdom forts at convenient distances, termed in Irith raes, or wheels, in regard their form was round like that of a wheel. These forts were ordinarily built upon eminences, the infide thereof raifed with stone, and the outfide faced with fquare turf, of a confiderable height and breadth, that four men might walk abreaft round the fame. The buildings were joyned round the infide with floping roofs. There were also two fometimes more ports, or entries, with stairs mounting to the battlement, and a draw well or spring within each. The garrisons kept in these with the others in the fortified towns, so over-awed the Irish that they durst not fall upon any means, or fo much as think of regaining their liberty; although they had always elective kings of their own natives, not always of the old line of their kings, but more often of other stems, the state of the country obliging them to chuse men of valour and conduct, without much regard had to their pedigree. These elective kings were rather kings in name, than effect, being in condition for a long time of doing no other fervice in behalf of their country, than to keep themselves with such as adhered to them in woods, mountains, and other inaccessable places, being intent upon all occasions to cut of such small parties of the Danes, as they found either robbing or purchasing provisions in the country,

Things continued in this state till in the year 998. in which the Irish elected a valient nobleman, and eminently expert in martial feates, for their king, called Brian Mackennady; who entering upon the government and pondering with himself what insuperable difficulties he was to graple with, in supporting the burden of such a difordered state, did fall upon the most effectual methods, he could in prudence imagine, for remedy of the present inconveniences; and for that effect having called his whole subjects to a general rendevouze, he elected out of them 9000 Men which number he kept as a standing army in place of the old Feans, terming this new army Dalgheafs. For the subfiltence of these, he imposed upon that part of the kingdom subject to him, a tax in money, which feems the first of that nature imposed there. This king upon that account was termed Brianboray, or the taxer, who, with his felect band of the Dalgheafs, with other forces, profecuted the war fo fucceisfully against the Danes, that he not only defeated them in diverse battles, but also obliged them to abandon their whole forts, or Raes, throughout the kingdom; and in fine, immured them within the four strong towns of Dublin, Limrick, Cork, and Kingfail. These being supplyed by the Danish pirats at fea, king Brian resolved to deprive them of that advantage, by ordering a certain number of ships to be rigged out for clearing the coasts of these Danish Pirats. For this purpose, he ordered the provincial kings, and other nobility, to convey certain quantities of timber to the next adjacent seaports, and amongst others, Mallmoro Macmurcho, provincial king of Linster, whose fifter was king Brian's queen. Macmurcho, defigning to visit king Brian, residing then in Fara, went in company with his fervants, who had the care of conveying his share of the timber, of which a large mast in going thro' a rugged way fluck betwixt two rocks, so as neither force of horse nor servants could dissengage the same, till at length Macmurcho himself was obliged to dismount, and affift his fervants: in which bufiness a filver clasp which he wore in the breast of his purple mantle, was almost torn off, which not regarding, he proceded on his journey, and arriving at Fara, after some conference with the king, went to vifit the queen his fifter, who noticing his mantle, afked how it came to be fo, he telling plainly the manner, the queen defired'a fight of it which as foon as fhe obtai-

ne

e

0

in ıd

ne .

f-

s, nt

of

r-

ıl-

at

ng

er,

he

es, or

ed k.

ifh

of

ips

ith

gs,

oer ill-

fif-

to

a-

his

ro'

rce

gth

he

orn

ent af-

er,

ai-

ed threw it into a fire which was in the room; withall reroaching her brother in most bitter terms, that he and is predecessors being provincial kings, he should so far egenerate, as to become in a manner a flave to her hufand, whose ancestors, never exceeded the character of no lemen. Macmurcho's choler as well as ambition fufficintly enflamed by these speeches, and some others which aft betwixt him and prince Murcho, King Brian's eldest on, left court in a great rage, and posted to the Danish errison in Dublin, using what arguments he could with em, to use all dilligence in getting supplys of men from e king of Denmark, promising, upon their so doing, to yn them with all the forces of Linster. The Danes being bw in desperate circumstances, gladly accepted of his opofals, and dispatching a message to the Danish king prortuned him earnestly, that he should not neglect fend them a competent army to their affiltance; for at then, or never, the affairs of Ireland were to be reieved. The king of Denmark, being that Sueno who, terwards conquered England, glad of this opportunity, spatched an army of 15000 men for Ireland, under mmand of Carolus Knutus his brother, and Andreas Danith nobleman, with all the Danish pirats, and others garrison in Ireland to joyn this army. Which being one, and Macmurcho joyning also with his Linster men, ade up altogether an army of 60000 men. Of all which ng Brian getting intelligence, levied an army of 50000 en to oppose these invaders, whom he found encamped the plain of Clantarf, within two miles of Dublin. hefe two grand armies drawing near one another, neier did, nor could deferr joining battle; which was bein and maintained with equal valour and obitinacy for of part of the day, till towards evening the Irish army gan to give ground, wich brave prince Murcho obwing, (king Brian his father, by reason of his great age ing left in the camp) caused a regiment left there for e guard of the old king to be halfily brought out, with nich he fo vigorously charged the right wing of the enees army, commanded by Carolus, as wholly difordethe same, and caused the death of Carolus their geral; at whose fall the Danes were so discouraged, that y wholly abandoned the field, flying towards Dublin, the Linstrians bearing them company, whose presidion king was also killed, as a just reward for his perfidious to Bellion, Prince Murcho with his own guards too reli lutely purfuing a part of the Danish army which went in a body, was unfortunately killed, being a prince of the greatest expectation of any ever born in that country. The old king was also killed by a party of Danes, which aco dentaly fled near by the camp, and observing the fam without any guards entered it, as also the kings tent, an killing all they found therein thereafter escaped. The are reported to be flain in this battle 70000. men wil all the persons of distinction on both sides. The circum stances of this memorable battle are not only related b the Irish, but also by Marianus Scotus, an unexceptionary ble historian. The Irish never fully retreived the loan fustained in this battle: but in the end by the means fustained in this battle; but in the end by the means Dermod Macmurcho, lineal fuccessor of the former, the trish nation was brought under subjection to the English in the year 1171.

18

1 ie 00

hó

e

inc

ms

no

After this fatal disaster, for want of a more sufficiently the Irish were necessitated to elect Maosseachluin for king ag whom they had formerely deposed upon account of he as Incapacity to govern, and he behoved to be much more at this time, in regard of his great age. This old kin he could do little good for repairing of the difordered state of his country, the remnant of the Danes having secure themselves in their garrisons and being reinforced with new supplies from England, over which Sueno the Danish king or as others fay, Canutus his fon, had then the fove or raignty. So that by these joynt Danish forces Ireland was reduced to its former state of servitude, till in for time an Occasion was presented to the Irish king of doin the fervice to his country.

Sueno, or Canutus, at this time king of England, an Denmark his birth day approaching, which all the Da nish officers and souldiers resolved to solemnize with un great jovaility, Turgesius, the Danish general, sent order Andrews to all the Danish officers in Ireland to repair to Limit ng being their principal garrison, and his residence, to all not at the solemnity, fearing nothing that the Irish would not at the folemnity, fearing nothing that the Irish would could do in such low circumstances. The general at it same time sent orders to the Irish nobility and gentry lea lion

S 10

refu

it o f th

Th

nd to Limrick against the kings birth day a 1000, or as thers fay, 2000. of the most beautiful of their Daughters, dally with the Danish officers at that festival. Of the state of the state of the most clear complexionable youths are defired number of the most clear complexionable youths are an accounted by found, cloathed in womens habit with long I-fam is fixens or daggers below their cloaths, with orders that an an accounted to be different to be with their several paramours. The ing generally drunk on such occasions, they should stable with the concealed daggers, and afterwards seifer cum pon their guard-house, where their arms were laid by, and if matters succeeded, to give a signal by kindling a long right in the grant being absoluted in a wood near by, in expectation of the utmost, and having given the concerted signal to the night may be in a succeed to give a signal by kindling a long introduced him, and his party to the town who without my mercy, or resistance, killed all the Danes in the gardical signal state of sense of the signal state of sense of the signal state of sense of the signal state of the same state of same state of sense of se is the Irish king getting intelligence, resolved to send e defired number of the most clear complexionable youths geny of the sons of Mileius, Gathelian king of Galicia in Spain, under whose conduct the Gathelians or Scots, were first brought to, and planted in Ireland: so that all surnames in Ireland or Scotland, descended of these, terms themselves in their native launguage, Clanna Miley, or the Miliean Progeny.

ticularly observed.

The time of this Anselan Okyan his leaving Irelanding generally computed to be in the year 1016, and twelffly year of king Malcom II. his reign. He having lander with some attendants upon the northern coast of Argylos shire, near the Lennox, was by a nobleman, who has a considerable interest in those parts; and in the kings favour, introduced to the king, who took him into his service against the Danes; in which Service upon several ocasions particularly these too last battles fought by the king against Camus and Canutus, Okyan so signalize thimself that he obtained in recompense of his service several lands in the north part of Scotland, of which the lands of Pitwhonidy and Strathyre may upon good ground be presumed a part; which in due place shall be more parts.

Not only the Okyans of the fouth part, but also the Oneils of the north part, with all the other province kings, who enjoyed that title in the kingdom of Ireland upon the English conquest of that kingdom, were not on ly obliged to quit their title of kingship, but also a great part of their teritories enjoyed by them formerly, and content themselves with the title of noblemen. The 0 niels formerly kings of the north part of Ulfter, were a ter that conquest entitled earls of Tyrope; as were the Okyans provincial kings of the fouth part, entitled lord of Dunseverin; with which Family the lord Medonal of the isles the Laird of Lamond with many other prin cipal families of our Highland clans have been allied. Th circumstances of the Okyans in the kingdom of Irelan are at prefent frenewhat low; however upon all occasion wherein they have business or converse with any of the name of Buchanan in that kingdom they, adhere close to them upon account of the ancient relation. This And lan Okyan, and some of his ancestors called by that name are in old Charters termed Abfalon; which differend s not material, in regard the writers of thefe charters (4

er

u

01 il

he

t would feem) were not acquainted with the orthography of ancient Irish names, and therefore exprest those which were better known, and could best be rendered in Latin. As is evident by a charter relating to the family of Macpharlan, wherein the progenitor of that furname is termed Bertholoneus; whereas by the manner that name both in write and in an ordinary way of speaking is expressed heir progenitor's proper name behoved to have been Parholanus or Partholan, a known ancient Irish name: as s also that of Anselan, Ancestor of the Massans, now Buchanan. So that the manner the clerks of these more ncient times exprest these names, is not to be too much riticifed, nor relied upon.

cia i were

I fur

term

y, q

andi

velfil

ended

rgyle

hal

gs fa

is fer evera

y tha

alized

ce se

ch th

ound e par

fo th

vincia

eland

ot on grea

andt

he 0

ere a

ere th

lord

relan

name

ferend

There is a current tradition or account, that this Anfean Okyan married one Danniestoun, heiress of a part, if of the whole of the estate of Buchanan. But this acount is not too generally adhered to, because that heiress f the name of Deniestoun, whom that Anselan married, only reputed to have had some little part of the estate of suchanan, with Drumquhuassils and other lands on the rater of Ainrick; and because the greater part of the eate of Buchanan was given the same Anselan, by king salcolm, with other lands, in reward of his fervice against he Danes. Tho' indeed the name of Denniestoun was a ery ancient and honourable name in the Lennox, and ontinued to be fo for diverse ages; Hugh, Lord of Deniestoun being witness to a charter granted by Malcom he first of that name, earl of of Lennox to John laird of luss in the reign of king Alexander III. As also Robert ord Denniestoun is recorded to be sheriff of Dumbartonhire in the reign of king Robert I. The male iffue of this donal amily failed in the reign of king Robert III. the Lord Den-r prin iestoun his two daughters being then maried, the eldest being the maried, the eldest be Cuningham of Kilmaurs, and the second to Maxwell of Calderwood. Denniestoun of Colgrain is now the repre-casion entative of that ancient family.

of the Anselan Okyan not only was recompensed for this closel ervice by king Malcom with lands of considerable value, and out also with very splendid arms; as the same king is remainded to have done to the ancestor of the Keiths, upon his orded to have done to the ancestor of the Keiths, upon his ference filling of Camus the Danish general, and to others upon ters (a he like accounts. The arms affigned by that king to this

fo

CO

of

of

tec

ba

ha

ne

ted

an

for my fied

his tim

his

par

eri

his

his

fore

o t han

or

ittl

lox,

who

eta

ge

is i

A

FE

1 W

nn

ritt

afly

n h

d b

Anselan upon account of his descent, and more especially upon account of his heroick atchievments, are, in a field Or, a lyon rampant Sable, arm'd and langu'd Gules holding in his dexter paw a fabre or crooked fword, proper. Which arms that furname retained always without the least addition or variation, until that addition obtained upon a very honourable occasion, at the battle of Bauge, as in due place shall be observed. Notwithstanding of the entire affection of that family for feveral ages to, and dependance upon the family of Lennox, yet the family of Buchanan did never by way of concession, or patronage, assume any part of that honourable family their armorial bearing; albeit it is evident that most other ordinary names of this Kingdome, at some time or occasion, assumed fome one part or other of their patron or fuperior's armorial bearing, in conjunction with their own. As for instance most furnames of Tiviotdale and Douglasdale, assume a part of the Douglasses arms; and those of Murrayland, the the arms of the Murrays. So that few of an equal charafter with that of Buchanan, referved their Arms for free of any addition or mixture as that furname did; which is no fmall argument not only of the honour of the family but also of the cause of first granting these arms.

This Anselan Okyan, agreeable to the most ordinary and received Genealogie of that furname, is reputed the progenitor of that furname and first Laird of Buchanan. His fon and fuccesfor was called

JOHN, in whose favours (as I have been informed by gentlemen of very much integrity, who affected, they have feen the same in custody of the late Laird of Buchanan there was a charter granted by Alcuin, (as it would seem) first earl of Lennox, in the reign of king Malcola III. of the wester Mains of Buchanan. But the late laird of Buchanan in the decline of his age and judge ment, having conveyed his estate to strangers, by the means many of his ancient Evidents, as not conductive to the purpose then in hand, are lost, and probably this charter among others. And therefore not having seen the same I cannot positively determine thereanent; but will only place this John, agreeable to the traditional, account delivered of him, as son and successor to the first Anselan and consequently second laird of Buchanan. John, his fon, and fuccessor, conform to the same manner of account was called

ANSELAN, the fecond of that name, and third laird of Buchanan; whose fon and successor is reported to be WALTER, the first of that name, being fourth laird of Buchanan. This Walter's fon and fuccessor is reported to be

al

1. ed

0. ce

2

he

IT-

fo

illy

and ro-

His

l by had an ould

cola

late

dge that

e to

arte

fame

only t d: elau

GIRALD, or as others fay, and that with most probability BERNARD, being fifth laird of Buchanan. I have been credibly informed, that these three last mentioned lairds are recorded as witnesses in a mortification granted by Aluin earl of Lennox, of the lands of Cochnach, and others to the Old church of Kilpatrick, before the foundation of the monastery of Passy; and I have seen myfelf a charter, by which that church, and lands mortified thereto, by the same Aluin, or an earl of that name, his fucceffor, are disponed to that abbacy, some little time after the foundation thereof. But not having feen his other charter, in which these three lairds of Buchapan are inferted, I leave what concerns the fame undetermined. Bernard, the last mentioned laird of Buchanan, his fon, and fuccessor was called

MACBEATH, being fixth Laird of Buchanan, and his proper name was very ordinary to the Macauslans, before the affumption of the furname of Buchanan, as also o that fept of that furname, who after assumption of Bucanan have retained as yet the ancient denomination; as or instance, one Macbeath Macauslan, proprietor of that ittle interest called the baronry of Mar aslan, in the Lenlox, who lived in the reign of king Robert III. and of whose uncommon stature and strength some accounts are etained to this very time. Macbeath laird of Buchanan's ge is evidenced by the record after specified in favours of

is fon and fuccesfor.

ANSELAN, the third of that name, and feventh laird f Buchanan; who is ordinarly termed, in any Record which he is mentioned, Anfelan fop-of Macbeath, and ennescallus, or chamberlain to the earl of Lennox, in ritten mortifications in the chartulary of the abbacy of ally. This Anfelan the third, with Gilbert, and Methon his two fons; are inferted witnesses in a charter gran-, his ed by Malduin earl of Lennox to Gilmore, fon of Maol-

h

p

ai

ar

he

h

de

bei

re

Th

vi

Gai

d

0 oy

ha

ra

n t

hte

he

eft n t

Si

ana colr

Gili

acl to tl

and

hre

of B

Buc

1 0

arto

Dum

donich, of the lands of Luís, in the beginning of the reign, of king Alexander II. and they are defigned in that charter the earls clients, or vassals. This Anselan the third besides Gilbert his eldest son, and successor, who first assumed the surname of Buchanan, and Methlen his second son, ancestor of the MacMillans, had a third son, called Colman, ancestor of the MacColmans, as shall be elsewhere more fully illustrated.

Anselan third of that name, and seventh laird of Buchanan, having succeded his father MacBeath, as is already faid, obtained from Malduin earl of Lennox a charter of an Island in Lochlomond, called Clareinch, dated in the year 1225. witnesses, Dougal Gilchrift, and Amely the earls brethren. The fame Anfelan, is also mention ned as witness in a charter granted by the earl of Lennoz of the lands of Dalmanoch in mortification to the old church of Kilpatrick, by the defignation of Abfalon de Buchanan; Abfalon being the same name with Anselan as has been already observed. Tho' that of Clareinchis the most ancient can be found in this age, in relation to the family of Buchanan, nevertheless, it is very presu meable, there were other charters of greater antiquity be longing to that family, the first of them found upon re cord being of fuch repute, and charters having become customary so long before that time; as is partly instance by the original charter of Lufs, which was of an anterior date to this of Clareinch; yet the same Anselan with two of his fons Gilbert, and Methlen, are defigned the early clients or vaffals therein. I have been also informed by fome of very good judgement, who went thorow the lat Buchanan's evidences, when entire, that they observe one little charter, being the original, of as great antiquit as any other in the kingdom, being reckoned to be gran ted in, or about the reign of king David the I. which with other of these evidences, having since gone thorou fo many hands, may upon very good grounds be prefum ed to be neglected, or rather loft.

The isle of Clareinch was the slugorn, or call of war proper to the family of Buchanan, such like being usua in all other families in these times, and for some following ages. So soon as this Call was raised upon any alarm the word Clareinch was sounded aloud from one to ano her, in a very little time, throughout the whole country apon hearing of which, all effective men belonging to the aird of Buchanan with the utmost diligence repaired well armed to the ordinary place of rendevouz, which, when he lairds refided in that island, was upon a ground upon the fhore opposite thereto. That which in these more modern times came in place of the flugorn was the fire-crofs, being a little stick with a cross in one end of it, the exremities of which were burnt, or made black by fire. This cross being once sett a going was carried through with fuch dispatch, as in a few hours would alarm the people of a vast extent of ground.

n,

1.

rd

u.

nid

ed

fe.

Bu.

ea.

ter l in

lyn

10

OI,

old de lan,

h is

to

eful.

be

re-

ome iced

rio

two arl

l bi

lat

rve uit

ran

hick

fum

wa

ufu

GILBERT his fon, being first of that name, and eight, aird, and who first, by any thing can be collected, assumd the furname of Buchanan, was fenefcal, or chamberlain o the earl of Lennox, which office his father Anfelan enoyed for fome time. There is a charter of confirmation of hat of Clareinch, and some other lands of Buchanan. granted in favour of this Gilbert, by King Alexander II n the seventeenth year of his reign, and of our Lord 1231. The fame Gilbert is also inserted witness in a charter grahted by Malcolm earl of Lennox, discharging the Abbot and monks of Pasly of all services and duties prestable by them to the earl, for any lands mortified by him, or his antestors to that abbacy; which charter is dated at Renfiew n the year 1274. ‡To Gilbert fucceeded his fon

Sir Maurice, first of that name, and ninth laird of Buchanan, as is evident by a charter of confirmation by Malcolm earl of-Lennox in favour of Malcolm M'Edolf, fon to Gilmichal M'Edolf of west Cameron, of the lands of Garachorrans, dated at Bellach in the year 1274, witnesses to the faid charter Patrick Graham, Maurice of Buchanan and Duncan, fon of Aulay, Knights * Sir Marice had three fons, Maurice, his fuccessor, Allan, who first married he heiress of Lenny, and John, always reputed ancestor of Buchanan of Auchneiven. He was succeeded by his son.

Sir Maurice, fecond of that name, being tenth laird of Buchanan, as is clear by a charter by Donald Earl of Lentarton shire. * Chartuary of Dumbarton-shire. † Charter among

ruc

oug

ot,

gg

at

cei

nve

fai

ac

rm

ert

Γhi

cha

, i

me

ay

efig

is o

0'1

is I

effor

umo

icce

Sin

hth ]

nd r ery

hafe

onfin

his

gne

ation

r of

run

gre

JO

ore h

uch

ontinon l

Ch

nox to Maurice of Buchanan, fon and heir to Sir Maurice of Buchanan, of the lands of Sallochy, with confirmation of the upper part of the Carrucate of Buchanan 1. This chan ter, as do many others granted in these times, wants a dat but by the subsequent service, the time in which this Maun ice lived is plainly made appear, he being one of the mem bers of an inquest by Malcolm Earl of Lennox, for serving of Mathild, Elizabeth, & Forveleth Lermonthsheirsportion ners to Thomas Lermonth of Cremennan, their father; the faid inquest being at the Kirk of Killearn in the year 1320 and fourteenth year of the reign of King Robert I.+ Th other members thereof, besides Buchanan, were , Dunca M'Edolf Eugen M'Keffan of Gatchell, Malcolm Macmur dac, Kessan Innes of Finicktenent, Gillespie Macsawel Ledlewan, Iohn M'Gilchrift, Malife Macalbaine of We Finnick, Gilchrist Mackessan, Gilbert Macpaddo, Gilchris Macgilbert, and Padmund Maceggo. All which gentleme may, upon good grounds, he supposed to have been of most considerable interest and repute of any others in that country and age; yet in this there is not the least memory of any of them extant, except that of Buchanan, a very re markable instance of that vast alteration and decay, furnames and other affairs, frequently meet with in an ordinar tract of time.

As his father Sir Maurice had, so did also this braw gentleman adhere to the cause and interest of his Prince and country, with much resolution, constancy and valour to the evident hazard of his life and fortune, in imitation of his brave patron, and eminent patriot, Malcolm Earl of Lennox: who with the Lairds of Buchanan, and Luss the first the greatest nobleman, the others the best gentlemen, and of best repute and circumstances of any others in these parts of this kingdome, could never, by any artists used by the Kings of England, be induced to do any action prejudicial to their own honour, or the interest of their native country; as is demostrable by their refusing to sign the ragmans roll, which sew others, or rather none, of any tolerable repute or circumstances either durst, or did decline. There is a traditional account, that King Robert

+ Extract of the above Service from the Chartwary of Dumbartoun-Shire.

ruce, after his defeat at Dalree, near Strathfillan, by Macougal Lord of Lorn and his adherents, came all alone on ot, along the north fide of Lochlomond, being the most gged wayof any other of this Kingdome, the day after at battle, to the castle of Buchanan; where being joyfully ceived, and for some days entertained he was secretly inveyed by the Earl of Lennox, and Buchanan to a place fafety. This report is the more probable, in regard their a cave near the shore of Lochlomond, in Buchanan Parish rmed the Kings cave; it being reported that King Roert lay there over nightin his journey towards Buchanan. This Maurice lived to acconfiderable age having obtained charter of the land of Buchanan from King David Bru-, in the begining of his reign. He is also witness in the me reign, in a charter by Donald Earl of Lennox to Finay Campfy, of a part of the lands of Campfy, being figned, in that charter Maurice Macausland, Domiis or Laird of Buchanan: whence it's pretty plain that o' the furname of Buchanan was assumed by Gilbert is Maurice his grandfather, yet he and fome of his fucflors, feem to have used their ancient surname, as their umors or inclinations led them. Maurice the fecond his accessor was.

of

rid nen

of hat

or

re na-

ary

ave

ince

our

tion

rl a

ifice

abar.

Sir WALTER, fecond also of that name, and elevnth Laird. He seems to have been a very active gentleman. nd made a very bright figure in his time; having made a ery confiderable addition to his old estate, by the purhase of a great many other lands. There is a charter of onfirmation of some of the lands of Buchanan, granted his favour by King Robert the I this favour by King Robert the II. in which he is de-noted gued the king's Confanguineus, or cousin, upon resig-ers in ation of William Boyd of Auchmar in the hands of Wal-lifter of Faslane lord of Lepnon of the lands of Walr of Fassane lord of Lennox, of the lands of Cameron.

prumfad and diverse other lands *. Sir Walter lived to great age having only one son, sign JOHN, who maried the heiress of Lenny, and died beany ore his father, and was never entered to the estate of declichanan. However seing this John had issue, which ontinued or caried on the line of the Family, I shall menon him in order of his father Walter's fuccessor. The clearest document can be found in relation to him is a charter, granted by king Robert III. in favours of John Buchanan, and Janet Lenny, his spouse, in liferent, and to their heirs in fee, of the baronry of Pithwonody in the year 1363 1. Whether the baronry of Pithwonody belonged formerly to the family of Lenny, or was part of that which belonged to the family of Buchanan, and was at this juncture given off by this John to that of Lenny, cannot be clearly determined, this being the most and ent relating to that or to any other lands in hands of the present Lenny. Nor is there so much as a tradition that the family of Lenny had any lands, before this marriage, except those possest by Keir, and Lenny, and as is thought, some part of these lands so designed a Midlothian.

Charter among Buchanan's old evidences.

he

hi

no

vit

is

Ma

Fra

10

Car

o C

er

P

f I

rid

he

ler

nis f

late

Ball

ad,

on a kind

And

ailzi

ne g

This John, twelfth laird of Buchanan, is the first men tioned in the genealogical tree of Buchanan, there being a part of that tree cut away, the actor as well as defign of that action, being unknown. John laird of Buchanan and Lenny had three fons, who came to age; the eldeft, Si Alexander who killed the duke of Clarence at the battle of Beuge, was also himself afterwards killed at the bat tle of Vernoil, Anno 1424. being never married. The fecond was Sir Walter, who fucceded to the estate of Buchanan, and the third John, during his father's life time defigned of Ballachondachy, and who did, after his father's death, succeed to the estate of Lenny, as the tree of Buchanan and some other evidents among the of Buchanan testify, as shall be in due place observed. will also breifly recount some of the heroick atchievement of that gallant gentleman Sir Alexander, eldeft fon to Joh laird of Buchanan, who acquired an addition to the armo rial bearing, and a much greater to the honour of his fa mily; and will endeavour to remove fome little miltal our historians are in concerning his furname, and mea while proceed to the account of

Sir WALTER, third of that name, and thirteen laird of Buchanan, who upon the death of fir Alexand heirs fucceeded to his Father John, laird of Buchanan and Leant my. There is a charter granted by Duncan earl of Leanth <sup>1</sup> Ch. Penes Buchanan de Lenny.

he

n. of

vas ny,

C1. of

on this und

len-

ing n of

and Sir attle bat

The

te a life

afte

to Walter Laird of Buchanan, of the lands of Ledewan; and he is witness to a charter by the same Earl to ohn Hamilton fon and heir to John Hamilton of Bardovie, of the lands of Bathernock; most of his evidents in elation to the estate of Buchanan being by some contingency or other loft. However he is mentioned by the gehealogical tree of the family, and is thereby afferted to e married to Isobell Stewart daughter to Murdoch Stewrt duke of Albany, and governor of Scotland, and to fobel, heiress of Lennox his lady. This marriage is furher made appear by a charter in the hands of Buchanan f Drumikill, granted by Ifobell dutchefs of Albany, and ounters of Lennox, to one Donald Patrick, of a tenement fhouses and land next adjacent to the north fide of the hurch-yard of Drymen, dated in the year 1443. witnefes being Andrew and Murdoch, the dutches's nephews. nd Walter laird of Buchanan her fon in law, knight, with diverse others. Sir Walter had three fons, Patrick is fuccesfor; and Maurice, who was treasurer to lady Margaret, daughter to king James I. and Dauphiness of france; having gone to that kingdom with her, there is to further account of him. His third son was Thomas, Carbeth's, ancestor. Sir Walter had a daughter married o Gray of Foulis, the lord Gray his ancestor. To Sir Waler fucceded his fon PATRICK, first of that name, and fourteenth laird of Buchanan. He acquired a part of Strathyre from Dathe date of the charter thereof, in the year 1455. being der the great seal in the year 1458. as is also a charter in men his favour under the great seal, of his estate of Buchanan, John lated in the year 1460. He purchased the lands of easter armo Balleun; and in the year 1414, resigned the lands of Drumiss sad, and Kirkmicheal, in favour of Walter Buchanan, his instal on and heir, which this Walter sold to the laird of Ardmen tindlass in the year 1513. Patrick laird of Buchanan, and Andrew laird of Lenny made in the year 1455, mutual teent ailzies of their estates in favour of-one another, and the cand heirs of their own bodies, and past some of their brethren it Les of either side; by which its pretty clear they have been no fill Les urther removed in kindred than cousin-germans: so that he genealogy of both families as already afferted will hold. good. He was married to one Galbraith, heires of Killearn, and Auchinreoch, and had with her two fons, Walter, his fuccessor, and Thomas ancestor of Drumikill; and a daughter Anabella, married to her cousin James Stewart of Baldorans, grand child to Murdoch duke of Albany. He had also an illegitimate son, Patrick, of whose iffue there is no account.

В

В

i

a

r

m

of

bu

y, ai

er

ha

ai

nis

er

ler ric

0 n h

He

rea

er,

The last mentioned laird of Buchanan, being married to an heiress of the name of Galbraith, and the circumstances of that name being now parallel to that of Buch. anan, mutual sympathy in a manner obliges me to digress

a little, in giving a brief account of that name.

The name of Galbraith is evidently an ancient Scottill furname, the denomination of that name importing in Irih a brave stranger. The first I find upon record of this name was Gillespic, or Archibald Galbraith, being inferted witness in a charter by Malduin earl of Lennox to Humphrey Kirkpatrick, of the Lands of Colchoun in the reign of King Alexander II. This Gillespic's fon was Maurice as evinces a charter in his favour of Cartonbenach, now Bathernock, by the above Malduin earl of Lennox, in the forecited reign. Maurice's fon was Arthur, is whose favour there is a charter of Auchincloich and Bathernock with power to feize and condemn malefactors with this proviso, that those so condemned be hanged upon the Earls gallows. This charter is of date in the year 1238. Witnesses, David Lindsay, David Graham, Wil liam Douglass, Malcolm Thane of Calentyr, Maurice Gal braith, Auleth, the earls brother and Maurice parson Drymen. Arthur's fons were William, ancestor of Culca Lennox of these lands and the ancestors of the Galbraith sipa mily of Bathernock having married a fon of the Lord Ha mily of Bathernock having married a ion of the Lord Harea milton, the present Bardowie's ancestor; as did the heire He of Greenock a son of Shaw of Sauchy Shaw, of Greenock for ancestor; and the heires of Killearn was married to the laird of Buchanan. The only remaining family of the Horname being Culcruich, Galbrath laird thereof fell into or of such bad circumstances in king Charles the I. his time a grant obliged him to pass his estate, and go to Ireland, when the his posterity are in very good circumstances. Galbraith of Balgair is now representative, the family of Culcruich's ncestor being a son of that family.

T 27 1

To Patrick laird of Buchanan fucceeded his for WALTER, fourth of that name, and fifteenth laird of Buchanan, as is clear by the charter of refignation in his favour, by Patrick his father, in the year 1474. He married the lord Graham's daughter, whose mother was the earl of Angus' daughter. Of this marriage he had Pal rick his fuccessor, who as confidently afferted, was with great many of his name, killed at the battle of Floudon n the year 1513. And John of Auchmar, afterwards Amprior and Gartartan: and two daughters, one of them married to the laird of Lamond, the other to the laird of Ardkinglass.

PATRICK the fecond of that name, albeit his father outlived him many years, yet as in the tree of the famiy, fo also in this place he may be accounted the friteenth aird. He was married to the earl of Argyle his daugher, her mother being the earl of Huntley's daughter. He had of this marriage two fons, and two daughters, that ame to age. His eldest fon was George, his successor, is second Walter, Spittel's ancestor. His two daughers were maried to the lairds of Auchinbreck, and Caller. He had also an illegitimate son ealled Robert. Pa-

rick's fuccessor was 11.

al.

nd

te-

2

Tue

ied

ım.

ch.

res

ttill

rith

this

in-

x to

the Was

ben-

Len-

ir, it Ba-

Hors

upor

year

Wil

fond

alen

GEORGE, first of that name, and feventeenth laird Gal Buchanan, as is clear by charter under the great feal his favours of the lands of Buchanan, in the year 1530. der de purchased the lands of Duchray, and others, as evinarlo des charter thereof, Anno 1532. He was made sherist prinipal of Dumbarton-shire Anno 1361. He was first maried to Margaret Edmonstoun, daughter to the laird of Dunreath, her mother being Shaw of Sauchy's Daughter, he had of this marriage John his successor. He married for second lady Janet Cuningham, daughter to Cuningham of Craigens, being first married to the laird of for the doustoun. He had with his second lady William, ancesinteres of Buchanan of Auchmar, in whose favour his father ime a trants charter of the thirteenth merk land of Strathyre, when the year 1556. He had also of this marriage one daughtr, Margaret first married to Cunningham of Robertland D 2 de purchased the lands of Duchray, and others, as evinfecondly to Stirling of Glorat, and lastly to Douglass of

no

ici

5

et

au

al

611

is eit at

> n. e

e

J

le

1

r.

ar

Vit 7 I

er

通過 uir

nel

no

air

the

nn im

rof

era

riz

ne e

Maines. George was fucceded by JOHN, fecond of that name, and eighteenth laird of Buchanan. His father grants charter in his favour in the year 1552. he died before his father, and was twice married, first to the lord Levingstoun's daughter, her mother being daughter to the earl of Morton, which marriage was confummated by virtue of a dispensation in regard of propinquity of blood. There was of this marriage one fon George who came to age. He married fecondly a daughter of one Chisholm, brother to the bishop of Dumblain, and had with her one daughter, married to Mr. Thomas Buchanan of Hert, lord privy feal, To John fucceeded his fon the last of the

Sir GEORGE, Second of that name and ninteenth laird of Buchanan, as is clear by charter in his favour by king Henry and Queen Mary, of the lands of Buchanan, Illes of Clareinch, and Kepinch, with bell and alms of faint Kellog, dated in the year 1564. This George was married to Mary Graham, daughter to the earl of Monteith, her mother being the lord Seatons daughter. Of this mariage he had one fon Sir John, and two daughters Helen married to Alexander Colchoun of Lufs, and Susanna, first married to Andrew M. Farlan of Arrochat, fecondly to Cambell of Craignish. Sir George's succes-

for was

Service States Sir JOHN, third of that name and twentieth laird of Buchanan as appears by charter in his favour by king James VI. of the lands of Buchanan, in the year 1618 This Sir John mortified fix thousand pounds Scots to the University of Edinburgh, for maintaining three Bursers at the study of theology there; and an equal sum to the former, to the University of St. Andrews for maintaining upon the interest thereof, three Bursers at the study of phis losophy there; and constituted the magistrates of Edinburgh managers or patrons of both mortifications, as the one double of the contract betwist the faid Sir John and the Magistrates of Edinburgh, in the hands of the duke of Montrofe, among the late Buchanan's evidents, does tel tify. Sir John married Anabella Areskin, daughter to A dam commendator, or Lord Cambuskenneth, being for to the master of Mar, her mother Drumond of Carnok's he 29

n

e

er

e-

1-1 e-

op

ed

ro.

ith

our

an-

ms

rge

arl

ter.

gh-

and hat,

cef-

d of

king

6181 the

rs at

the

ning

phi

din

s the

r and

ikeo es tel to A

g for

aughter. He had with her one fon, George his fuccessor nd a daughter married to Campbell of Rahein. Sir John's cceffor was the A state of the best winds

Sir GEORGE, third of that name and one and tweneth laird of Buchanan. He married Elizabeth Preston, aughter to Presson of Craigmillar, her mother being allenden of Brightoun's daughter. Sir George, being ollonel of Stirling shire regiment, lost a great many of is regiment and kinfmen at the fatal conflict of Ennereithing, in which being taken prisoner, he died in that ate in the latter part of the year 1651. having left one n, John his fuccessor, and three daughters, Helen, mared to Sir John Rollo of Bannockburn, Agnes mared to Stewart of Roffyth, and Jean to Lecky of that,

JOHN, third of that name, the two and twentieth, and A laird of Buchanan, fucceded to his father Sir George, le was first married to Mary Areskin, daughter to Henlord Cardross, her mother being Lord Colvills daughr. With her he had one daughter Elizabeth, married James Stewart of Ardvorlich. He fecondly married an Pringle daughter to Mr. Andrew Pringle, a minister. Vith her he had one daughter, Janet married to Hen-Buchanan of Lenny. John last laird died in Decemer 1682. I chieffed was a resident staff wat I was taken to felm Hackings of their votices a realisate. Fr.

cotto into Undirector tomates graned forbeam tilliand constructed state of the first the state of the expense been AVING thus given a genealogical account of the family of Buchanan, it may not be improper to enuire how their estate came to be disposed of upon the exnction of the family. Not to go any further back, it is fit to now, that Sir John Buchanan, Grand-father to the lafe aird, by his frequent travels into foreign nations, and ther extravagancies, had involved his estate in such an mmenfedebt, that his Grand-fon found it inconvenient for im to enter as heir, till he had caused David Lord Carrois, his brother in law, to compound with the most preerable of his creditors, and upon that composition to aprize the effate: upon which acquilition of Cardross he entered upon the estate as singular successor; nor did mol the feek for any new right during the life of the lady Mary

at

d

F

n

ar

a

in

u tic

as

ite

ifp

afo

uir

25 n s t

old.

ebt

Rat

far

im,

aro

dt

hole

ne e

fhi

ners

isco

aine

ona

ebt

or w aird,

unc

unp

Areskine his first lady, who at her death left only on daughter. Some few years after which he entertained fome thoughts of a 2d. marriage, and for that purpofe addressed himself to a daughter of Sir John Colchoun of Luse between which family and that of Buchanan there had been fuchtfrequent alliances and communication of mutu al good offices, as rendered the propofal very agreeable to Sir John. The only obstruction that offered sprung from the mutual tailzies betwixt the families of Buchanan and Auchmar, whereby both interests were settled upon hem male. Buchanan, in order to remove this difficulty, wen to London, and obtained a new charter of his effate upo the right already mentioned, acquired by him from the lon Cardross; and further procured an additional clause in impowering him to dispone his estate to heirs whatsoever and to whom he pleased. By this means Buchanan of Auchmar, nearest heir male annexed in succession by the tailzie, was wholly excluded, and his pretentions cut of Buchanan's defign however was wholly defeated; the young lady having much against his expectation, married the laird of Keir, before his return. This dislappointment had fuch effects upon his high spirit, as in a little tim threw him into a palite, and prejudiced him in his judge ment, in which unhappy circumstances he continued to his death. A little time before this misfortune befell him John Buchanan of Arnpryor, then a widower, having come into Buchanan's family, gained fuch an influend over him, as to be entrusted with the whole management of his affairs. Ampryor was not wanting to improve fud an Opportunity for the promoting his own interest, an found means to prevail on the laird to agree to a mate between his daughter and Arnpryor's fon, then a ftuden of the civil law, that by this means the estate might b kept in the name, failing other heirs of Buchanan. Th proposal would certainly have taken place, had not the young lady interposed by refusing her consent upon which her father then very much declined in his judgement, con ceived fo much difpleafure against her as to make a difpo fition of his effate in favour of Arnpryor, and in prejudio of her right. However keeping this paper in his ow custody, and happening to go to Bath for recovery of hi health, he in his return fell in love with Mrs Jean Prin le, and married her, and upon her arrival at Buchanan, sufed the disposition in favour of Ampryor to be canceld, which gave rise to an inveterate animosity, which con-

nued ever after between him and Arnpryor.

ad.

is:

had

tu

e to

and

ein

ven

po

lon

in i

eva

n o

OF

th

Tried

men

tim

dge

d ti

him

ving

iena

men

fuc

an

nate

uden

of b

t th

which

con

difpo

indic

OW

of hi

In a little time after this marriage, Buchanan, for reans we cannot account for, disponed his effate to an old mrade of his, Major George Grant, Governour of Dumarton castle, with this provision that the Major should arry his eldest daughter, and assume the name and arms Buchanan; referving his own life-rent, and his lady's inture, and fettling the estate fo as to return to Buchan, i's heirs male, and failing heirs of Grant's own Body to uchanan's heirs whatfoever. Agreeable to this dispos tion, Grant made his addresses to the young lady, but as rejected by her with the utmost indignation. The te lady Buchanan has been blamed, as promoting this isposition in favour of Grant; but I have received such formation, from people well verted in Buchanan's afurs, as fully justifies her. Sometime after this, there as a project formed by Buchanan and Grant, of felling much of the highland lands of the estate of Buchanan, s might, (together with the price of some woods lately old, and Buchanan's other moveables,) clear the whole ebts affecting the lower barony, or remainder of that tate. These highland lands accordingly were fold to the larquis of Montrole, who for fecurity of that part fold to im, got infeftment of real warrandice upon the lower arony. This bargain being compleated, it was fuggestd to the Marquis, that he could not be fully secured in hose lands, lately purchased by him, till well informed of he extent of Buchanan's debts, and other circumstances this affairs. For this purpose Arnpryor, who of all ohers best knew those affairs was prevailed upon to make a iscovery of them to the Marquis, having for his fervice herein, and his affiftance in evicting the whole effate, obsined the fourth part thereof, burthened with a proporonable part of the debts. Thus, there having been a ebt due by Buchanan to Sir James Dick of Prieftfield. or which all legal diligence was used, insomuch that the aird, Drumikill, and some other cautioners, were denunced, and continued more than a year unrelixed; and impryor, while manager for Buchanan, having been ordered to clear this debt, it was accordingly paid and di charge and relaxation procured for the cautioners but the principal unhappily was left unrelaxed. This fecret one divulged, there was a gift obtained of Buchanan's life rent, and moveable Escheat, by which his whole moveable being exhaulted, there was room left for wresting the eff ate out of his hands, by procuring rights to those debts for payment whereof, these moveables were allotted. This project was the effectual means of ruining that effate; for diverse adjudications being led in Ampryors name, the principal manager for my lord Marquis, (The Marqui himself, as it seems, being passive in it) Buchanan's elde daughter found herfelf obliged to refign her pretenfion for a fum of money to his lordship; and Major Grant has ing a little before his death given up all Buchanan's en idences, both the rights and the fortune became to be en tirely transferred.

This estate, as many others, was sometimes encreased or diminished, as it fell into the hands of good or bad m nagers. The lairds of Buchanan, had, besides their of estate, several lands in the parishes of Killearn, Strabland and others in Lennox. The most flourishing condition has been in for diverse ages, was upon the last laird's ad cession to it. For his old estate, which together with Str thyre, Brachern, and some superiorities, was worth thirtee thousand merks of yearly rent, most of the same arisin from Steelbow horses, cows, corn, and red land, beside cafualties, and woods, computed in this age to be wort two thousand pound sterling each cutting. Beside this he had the whole estate of Badindalloch amounting to thousand merks per annum, which was acquired by John, the late laird's grandfather, for money he was et gaged in, for Cuninghame of Glengarnock, propriet thereof; as also he had the estate of Craigmillar, in Mi Lothian, being ten thousand merks per annum, which w acquired by his Father. So that from thefe three estate the family had near thirty thousand merks of yearly re But Buchanan having fold Badindalloch, and Craigmilla when in health, and that of Buchanan going off in the manner we have already mentioned, after having con nued fix hundred and fixty five years in that name at to organization grant the line in having level organization

33

dil.

t the

onc

life able eff ebte

Thi ; fo

the rqui

lde

fion

hav

s er

e en

eafe

ma

r ol

land

ion

's ac

Str

irtee

rifin

efide

wort

thi

to f y S s et riet Mid h w frate

y ren

milla

in th

cont

ac an n an uninterrupted fuccession of twenty two lairds; by his mismanagement, and want of proper advice from is friends, this flourishing fortune has been destroyed, and the family itself extinguished.

The Paternal Anns of the Family of BUCHANAN.

or a Lion Rampant Sable, Armed and Langu'd Gules, within a double Treffure, flowred and counterflowered with Flower-de-luces of the 2d.; Creft, a hand Coupee holding up a Ducal Cap, or Duke's Coronet, proper, with two Laurel Branches wreathed, furrounding the Crest, disposed Orleways proper; supported by two Falcons garnished Or. Ancient motto above the Crest, Juvo. Audaces Modern Motto in compartment, Clarior Hine Honos. o tourses Care as maiste !! ?

recorded of the action of the best speech of the rebasisary Page 16 to Alice Street as Configure 25413

ter this way again all him to be a few and the

The property and the state of t

The first of the death with the second

The first and the state of the the fittle and after health the little trades this are a special to be a second of the sec or terrapelants bring a way, there of the a sale, of the country of Ducherias, for your newy or title grand the gold of his color and the same of the land of bachangal Their facts with in Tong since after are property and a second engined high stopping and and or test-distriction

Legantin beautiful and other cardina

d the thanky lived extragorlands and

ne

ic.

an In C

dy c c

tl

e d

an an n o ucl

dB

p, s fa

wa

, b id g

fter

Str

we

the

e la

ffed

A

yre,

at f

nd th

Bu

offess

fo, 1

entia

aly r

ard u

ACCOUNT of the FAMILY

· I tobriel and the control to problem of the land to be a second to the control of the control

OF

AUCHMAR

souch omid I N giving an exact account of these cadets now become families, which came immediately off that of Buchanan, and retain that furname, I shall begin with that family that last came off the principal one, and consequently next to the same, and shall mention each of the rest in order, according to the times of their feveral descents off the chief family. In profecution of this method, I shall begin with the family of Auchmar, which by the original charter thereof, as also by the genealogical account, or tree of the Family of Buchanan, is not only clearly evinced to be descended of a son of the laird of Buchanan, but also to be the latest cadet of that family. Though the principal family continued in being for the space of 135 years after this Family came off the same, nevertheless the few second fons or cadets, which descended off Buchanan since that of Auchmar came off, left no male iffue; fo that by this means Auchmar continued to be the latest cadet of that

The interest of Auchmar was for some time tanistrie, or appenage lands, being always given off to a second son of the family of Buchanan, for patrimony, or rather aliment during life, and at his death returning to the family of Buchanan. These lands were in some time after different some time after different some time.

ned irreversably of the ancestor of the present family of chmar, and his heirs. The first of which was William chanan, first son of the second Marriage to George Buanan of That-ilk, and Janet Cuninghame, daughter to minghame, who (for any thing I can find) was first laird Craigens, who was fon to the Earl of Glencairn. This ly was first married to Patrick laird of Houston, direcof the chancery in the reign of King James V. Houfh with diverse other good and loyal patriots, having jointhat brave nobleman John Earl of Lennox, in order to erate their fovereign from the restraint put upon him by Earls of Arran and Angus, with other affociates; d Lennox having engaged with the Earl of Arran's arat Linlithgow, or Evanbridge, was there flain, toger with Houston, and a great many of his party. Buchan after Houston's death having married his relict, anted charter in favour of William Buchanan, his first n of this fecond marriage, and his heirs of the lands of uchmar dated the 3d. of January 1547 years. Nor Buchanan's indulgence and liberality to this his fon p, but he did also in the year 1556, grant charter in sfavour of the thirteen merk land of Strathyre, with rewarrandice for the fame in the easter Maines of Buchan-, being the best portion any second fon of that family d got for a long time, or rather at any time before that. fter what manner this family lost possession of the lands Strathyre, is not very evident, the most common account wever of that event is, that in the time of the civil wars the reign of K. Charles I. particularly in the year 1645, e lands of Buchanan being at that time very fadly harfled, and most of the houses burnt, George Buchanan Auchmar, lost upon that occasion the evidents of Strayre, and as is also apprehended the double, lodged in at family's hands, of the mutual tailzie betwirt them ad the family of Buchanan. After which Sir John, laird Buchanan, did in an unjust and oppressive manner difplies the said George of those lands, and would have one the same to him in relation to the lands of Auchmar so, had not the evidents thereof been at that time provientially in the laird of Craigen's custody, which was the ly means of their preservation. This, with some other ard usage, given by Sir John, created such animouty be-

neh three are invany molice his ome an-

am-

ntly

or-

the gin

121-

e ot

b

o to

ipal

fter

ond

that this

that

Tie,

fon

ali-

mil

diff

twixt those two families as could scarcely be extinguished. The said Sir John, being accounted the worst, if not the only bad one of the lairds of Buchanan, and the greatest oppressor of his name and neighbours, whereas the other lairds generally taken, are reported to have been the most discreet neighbourly gentlemen of any in these parts of

in

nd

lfo

11

8

te

po

52

ac

re

(

is

er

eff

Car

y c

he

OV

oh

Buc

za

inla lleg

Toh

Gra

lau Rob

irst

an c

Toved to Geo

J

william the first of Auchmar, was married to Elizabeth Hamilton, daughter to the laird of Inchmachen, (as I find him sometimes designed Eglismachan) this samely became extinct in the reign of King Charles II. an little remains of that interest fell into Hamilton of Aiken head, as nearest heir to Hamilton of Inchmachan. On this marriage betwixt Auchmar and Inchmachan's daughter, three sons and two daughters came to maturity, the eldest of the sons was Patrick, the second George and the third William, Margaret the eldest daughter was married to Cuninghame of Blairwhoish, the second to Jame Colchoun Merchant in Glasgow.

Patrick the eldest son succeeded to his Father, William in the lands of Auchmar, and Strathyre. He married Helen Buchanan, heiress of Iburt, daughter to Mr. Thomas Buchanan of Ibert, Nephew to the great Mr. Georg Buchanan, which Thomas became lord privy seal by resignation of that office in his favour, by Mr. Georg his uncle. Mr Thomas's wife was a daughter of John laird of Buchanan. Patrick above mentioned, diswithin a sew years of his marriage, his children having not long survived him; so that his interest devolved George his second brother, as is evident by Precept Clare Constat, and charter thereupon in his favour by John laird of Buchanan, of the lands of Auchmar dated in the year 1606.

This George in his eldest brother's life-time married Janet Stewart daughter to Andrew Stewart, who had beneficial tack (esteemed in these times equivalent to have itage) of the lands of Blairgarie, and some other lands from the Earl of Murray in Straithgartney, and the Parish of Calendar. He was also the Earl's Bailie in the parts. That family is now represented by Alexands Stewart of Gartnasuaroe in Balquhidder parish; and with the families of Ardvorlich and Glenbucky; frowhich three are sprung most of the Stewarts in the soul n parts of Perth-shire, lineally descended from James eg, or little James, fon to James Stewart, youngest fon Murdoch Duke of Albany, and Governor of Scotland. imes Beg was married to Annabella Buchanan daughter Patrick laird of Buchanan, as tellifies a charter in his. nd the faid Annabella's favour of the lands of Baldorrans Stirling thire, in the reign of King Charles II. I find fo this James witness in a charter by Isabell Dutchess of lbany, and Counters of Lennox, of a tenement of land Drymen in the year 1443 being defigned in that char-er the dutchess's Nephew. Jame's successor was Walter tewart of Baldorrans as is clear by charter in his favour y Janet Oquhuanan of a wedfet right the faid Janet had pon a part of the lands of Strathyre of date in the year the salitional account, from a fon of Walter called William, rise re descended the three families above mentioned.

is fuccessor, John, Andrew, Mr. Maurice, William Roert and George. He had also two daughters; the eleft married to Colchoun of Camstrodan, the second to hed.

the

atef

the

mol

ts of

lizz.

, (o

an ken

0 llian

rrie

Tho eorg 1 6

gros Joh die

avir ed t

pt |

Joh

fro

foui

Captain Pettigroe.

To George succeeded his eldest son Patrick, as is clear y charter in his favour of the lands of Auchmar, dated in he year 1662. He married Agnes Buchanan, daughter o William Buchanan of Ross. He had by her one son, ohn, who had issue, and five daughters, Janet married to Buchanan of Cameron, Mary, to Thomas Anderson, E-izabeth to Walter M'Pharlan, Agnes to Galbraith of Arinlay, and Jean, to Nairn of Baturich. He had also an llegitimate fon, John, who went to Ireland.

in th To Patrick Buchanan of Auchmar succeeded his son ohn. He married Anna-Graham, daughter to John Graham of Duchray. He had by her two sons and four had laughters. The eldest of these daughters was married to ha Robert Graham of Glenny. The second daughter was land wish married to George Buchanan, son to Arthur Buchanan of Auchlessy, and afterwards to Andrew Stewart of the Townhead of Drymen. The third daughter was married to George Buchanan, son to Arthur Buchanan of Auchlessy, and afterwards to Andrew Stewart of the Townhead of Drymen. The third daughter was married to George Buchanan, son to Arthur Buchananan of Calillian or the fourth to the Calillian or the fourth to the fou and George M'Pharlan Merchant.

John Buchanan of Auchmar was succeeded by William his fon. He married Jean Buchanan, daughter to John Buchanan of Carbeths Colin fecond fon to the faid John married Anna Hamilton, daughter to James Hamilton of Aikenhead.

The first cadet of the family of Auchmar was Mr. Wil. liam Buchanan, 3d. Son to William the first of Auchmar, This Mr. William went into Ireland, and became Manag. er or Factor for the estate of Hamilton, then Lords of Clan. deboys, and afterwards Earls of Clanbrazil, in the county of Down, which family is now extinet. He married in that country, and had one fon, Major William Buchana a very brave gentleman, who was Major to George lain of Buchanan's regiment at the fatal conflict betwixt the Scotch and English at Ennerkeithing. The Major upon defeat of the Scottish army, being well mounted, made his way through a party of English horse-men and though purfued for some miles, came off fafe, having killed div. erse of the pursuers, He went afterwards to Ireland, and purchased an estate there, called Scrabohill, near Newton Clandeboys in the county of Down. He had two fons the eldest continued in Ireland, and the younger went abroad He had also two daughters, both married in that country,

William of Auchmar had an illegitimate fon called George, whose son John had a wedset upon the lands of Blairluisk in Kilmaronock parish, which having sold, he went to Ireland, where diverse of his progeny reside near the village called Johnstoun, in the County of Derry; from whence one of them having come to the paroch of Bonneil, had two sons Archibald at present in Bonneil who hath three sons, George a trader at sea, William resident in London, and James a resident near Glasgow Another Archibald being also descended of the said George

B

di

1 alo

n

nil

ir

te

tte

de

cn.

refides in Inveraray, in Argyle-shire

The second cadet of the family of Auchmar was Ma Maurice Buchanan, fourth son to George Buchanan of Auchmar. He was preacher in the county of Tyrone and had one son, James, who had only one son, Captain Maurice, who resides near Dublin.

George of Auchmar fifth fon was William, who was a captain in the Swedish service in Germany. He was up on account of his valour, conduct, and other laudable qualities, very much esteemed; having signalized himself

[ 39 ]

lian, who in most countries in Europe had acquired very uch fame by his martial atchievements, and dexterity performing diverse feats of arms, having always carrithe prize in all places he went to till at last he was orcome by this captain William, no less to his honour an to the Italians disgrace. Upon account of this action obtained a Major's commission, but was within few ys thereafter, killed in the said service. He was married Anna Pennel an English woman. His children and eir posterity have continued in Germany.

George of Auchmar's seventh and youngest son, George, done son, William who married at London, havglest a son, James who is a merchant in that city. John, idrew, and Robert, George's other sons, their issue is olly extinct.

oh

ohn

n of

Vil.

nar,

ag.

lan.

oun-

d in

man

aird

the

pon

e his

ough

div.

and

tous

s the road.

ntry.

alled

ds of near

erry

ch d nneil

am

fgov

orge

s Mr.

an d e and

Mau

O Wal

as up

udabl

imsel

Patrick Buchanan of Auchmar, besides John his sucfor, had an illegitimate son called John, who went to land. He had two sons, Patrick, who went to the est-Indies, and is in very good circumstances in that entry; and John who resides near Newtounstewart the county of Tyrone, and hath three sons. He had be an illegitimate son, Samuel, who resides in Laggan Tyrconnel.

The last cadet of Auchmar is Colin Buchanan, brother the present William Buchanan of Auchmar, who for arrial bearing, carries the paternal arms of the family Buchanan, as already blazoned, without any manner distinction.

I am hopeful, by clear and authentick documents to ve demonstrated this family last mentioned to be the latin descent from that of Buchanan, notwithstanding it Mr. Nisbet, in his late book of heraldry and gealogy, hath afferted the contrary, by giving it to a cern Gentleman who is amongst the remotest cadets of the nily of Buchanan. I am surprized he should have falinto such a mistake, especially after having had much terinformation conveyed to his hands by the author of see papers. But I am consident, his accounts of the tter will not make the least impression on any judicious der, that shall well weigh what he has only barely asted, and compare it with the authentick account I have en.

ACCOUNT of the FAMILY

ning ally ma lates to the having always calef.

fains by his martial archievements, and descertly

SPITTEL.

THE case of the family of Spittel seems to much the same with that of diverse other families that name, they having been in possession of several land at some little time after they came off the family of Buch nan a great part of which lands are since gone from it, from other families, by ways and means not easy to discovered at this distance of time.

87 71 0

The ancestor of the present family of Spittel, and w first obtained these lands, was Walter Buchanan, son Patrick, the feeond of that name laird of Buchanan. The Walter, and his successor John their charters of these lan by bad keeping in turbulent times, are so effaced, and writing thereof fo obliterated, as renders the fame in great measure illegible. However it is very presumal that the laird of Buchanan gave the lands of Spittel tol fon Walter for patrimony, when he came off the famil notwithstanding of the above inconveniency, that i two first, or original charters of that family labour und But for further proof of this families descent off Buch nan, there being in diverse of our kings reigns records justiciary, by which all chiefs of clans were obliged the good and peaceable behaviour of their name, or ch It is remarkable, that in one of these records in the lat part of king James V. his reign, Walter Buchanan Spittel, is defigned brother-German to George Buch nan of That-ilk: also in a seasin by the same laird of lands of Auchmar Anno 1547. John Buchanan, fon a heir to the deceast Walter Buchanan of Spittel, the lait brother as one of the witnesses. So that George laird Buchanan being well known to have been eldest fon, fucceffor to Patrick laird of Buchanan, and by these t documents Walter Buchanan of Spittel being defign brother to the faid George, the descent of this family cleared beyond all controversy, however little their or nat Writings conduce to that purpose. Walter their

1

e

ul

V

ad

ar

VO

ha

e l

T

rait

at

E

the

au

ohn

ho

ngl

uch

uch

[ 41 ]

inal writings conduce to that purpose. Walter Euchan 1st. of Spittel was married to Isabel Conningham, afted to have been daughter to the Earl of Glencairo here is a charter by Andrew Cunningham of Blairwhoh, with consent of Walter Stirling of Ballagan, his Cutor, in favour of Walter Buchanan of Spittel, and Isal Cunningham his spouse, of the lands of Blairvocky, ated in the year 1535. There is also another charter in your of the same Walter by Alexander, Master of Glenien, of the lands of Arrochymore, dated in the year 1530. Which lands seem to be given in portion to him ith Glencairn's daughter. Walter left one son John, ssuccessor, and a daughter, married to Walter Buchanan of Drumikill.

He was succeeded by his son John, who married Elizath Cuningham, daughter to Cuningham, laird of Drumphuassle, as is evident by an heritable right by Alexaner Earl of Gleneairn to Elizabeth Cuningham, spouse John Buchanan of Spittel, in life-rent, and Edward uchanan her son, in see of the lands Merkinch, dated the year 1553.

to

lies

lan

uch

it,

to

d w

fon

. Th

e lan

indt

e in

mab

1 tol

famil

at t

und

Buch

ords

ged !

or ch

e lat

man

Buck

oft

on a

e lair

aird

on, a

ese t efigi

mily

ir on acir (

Edward 1st. of that name succeded to his father John. e maried Christian Galbraith, daughter to the laird of ulcruich, as testifies a charter in his, and his said spouse's your under the privy seal, dated in the year 1555. He ad two fons, Robert his succeeffor; and George.

To Edward of Spittel succeeded his son Robert. He arried Lawson of Boghal's daughter, and had by her wo sons, Walter, his successor, and Andrew. There is a harter under the privy seal in favour of this Robert, in le latter part of Queen Mary's Reign.

To Robert succeeded his son Walter. He married Galraith, of Balgair's, Daughter, and had with her two sons at came to maturity, Edward, and Walter.

Edward second of that name succeeded to Walter his ther. He was 1st. maried to Edmonstoun of Ballaun's aughter. With her he had James, his successor, and ohn, a captain in George laird of Buchanan's regiment, ho was killed at the statal consist betwixt the Scots and aglish at Ennerkeithing. He was 2dly married to John uchanan of Ross's daughter, and had with her Robert uchanan baker in Glasgow, and Edward who was a man of great learning, and died while at the study of divinit in the college of Edinburgh; and one daughter maried a Cuningham of Trinber.

8

James succeeded to his father Edward. He married a daughter of John Buchanan of Cashlie, and had with he five sons, Edward, Captain John, Captain Archibald, As drew and Walter.

To James fucceeded Edward third of that name. He married Christian Mitchel, daughter to Mr. Thomas Mitchel, minister of Kilmaronock, and had with her two for

John, and Thomas; and two daughters.

John eldest son to Edward Buchanan of Spittel, marrie Margaret Muirhead, daughter to Muirhead of Rashieh relief to Mr. Robert Buchanan of Ampryor. Thomas h brother was married to Napeir of Ballachrain's daugh ter.

The first cadet of Spittel's family was George, 2d for to Edward first of that name, and third of Spittel. Georg had one fon, William, who obtained a beneficial tack Arrachybeg in Buchanan parish. William had also or fon, Donald, who had four fons William, Duncan, Robe and Walter. Of these William had one son, Donal lately in Arrachybeg, who left iffue. Duncan had on fon, John, who has also one son, Duncan in the foot-guard Robert was killed in the year 1645, and had only of daughter married to James Megown in Catter. Walte who mostly resided in Cashill in Bucchanan parish, ha two fons, John and William, both whereof have male fue. The faid Donald had another fon called Walte Maltman in Glafgow, father to Margaret Buchanan, wh married James Couper merchant in Port Glafgow; who only daughter Agnes is married to Andrew Crawfor merchant in Port-Glasgow. The progeny of the abou mentioned George are ordinarely termed Buchanan's Arachybeg, or Donald Macwilliam's race.

ea

re

21

he

er

d

lai

hi

in

0

Βu

The second cadet of the family of Spittel was Andrew from to Robert Buchanan of Spittel, this Andrew seems have been a man of education, and was factor to part the earl of Mar's estate for sometime. He bought Blanwocky from Spittel, and having never married, dispose that interest to Walter Buchanan his nephew, ancestor the Buchanans of Blairvocky, as shall be hereafter observed.

d. Andrew had one illegitimate fon, Robert, who refi d for the most part in Arrachymore, in Buchanan pah. Robert had four fons, Andrew, James, Robert, and lexander. Andrew had no male issue. Robert had one n who left no issue. James had one son, Andrew, lately Auchingyle in Buchanan parish, who had four fons. wo of these resided in Buchanan parish one in the parish Luss, and another in that of Kilmarnock. Alexander ad two fons, John in the parish of Killearn, and Andrew ferchant-taylor in Glafgow; father to James Buchanan,

vini

ied t

arrie

th he

, An

Mit

for

arrie

hichi

as hi

augh

d for

eorg

ack l

lo on onald

d on

ardi

Valte

, ha

ale i

alte

, wh

who

wfor

abon

1's d

dres

ms I

art

Blan

tor

obler

erchant in the Trongate there.
The third cadet of the family of Spittel was Walter e first of Blairvocky, 2d fon to Walter Buchanan of Spit-L. There is a contract of wedfet for the fum of one outand merks Scots upon the lands of Sallochy by John uchanan of That-ilk, in favour of this Walter dated in he year 1618. Walter of Blairvocky had one fon, Alexnder, who had four fons, Walter, Alexander, William, nd George. Walter's progeny is extinct. Alexander left nly one daughter. George the youngest went abroad. Villiam the 3d brother, having obtained the interest of lairvocky fold the fame to John Buchanan younger of pittel. William the last of Blanvocky resided mostly in reland he had four fons, Alexander, William, Walter, and denry. Alexander the eldest resides in Glendermon withtwo miles of Derry, being in very good repute and ircumstances. William, Walter, and Henry, ear Omagh in the county of Tyrone and kingdom of reland.

The fourth cadet of Spittel's family was Robert Buchaan late deacon of the Baker's of Glasgow, being one of he fon's of the 2d marriage of Edward Buchanan fecond f that name of Spittel, and Buchanan of Ross's daugher. His son Robert Buchanan writer in Glasgow, marrid Buchanan of Drumbead's daughter. He had also two laughters, one married to Mr. Neil Snodgrafs, writer in Pailly, who left one son, John Snodgrass, their former hildren being dead; the was afterwards married to Alexinder Wallace writer in Paisly: the other was married to ohn Buchanan elder, Merchant in Glasgow.

We make med as us it

The next cadets of this family are the present Edward Buchanan of Spittel's brethren. The first of these, captain

nt

de

ly

nc

a

er

th

A

an

.

ne

d

fe

01

at 1 rt

B

u pe

In

for ou

th

ing

h

of

ur

S

hi

ner

tb

John was Captain in the Dutch and English service during the whole time of the wars betwixt the French, English and Dutch with their other confederates, from the year 1690, till the last peace; and was also an officer in the service of the Dutch, and some other states of Europe, a good many years before the commencement of these wars. The next brother was Captain Archibald, who for diverse years before his death was one of the Captains of the kings horse guards, being a gentleman inferiour to none of his age and station in all valuable qualities. Andrew and Walter the other two brethren died both unmarried.

The last Cadet of this family is Thomas Buchanan chirurgeon in Glasgow, 2d. son to Edward Buchanan elde of Spittel.

This family came off Buchanan immediately before that of Auchmar, Walter of Spittel being uncle to William the first of Auchmar. 1. (130)

It has apeared a little surprizing to some that the family of Buchananshould have runthrough twenty two generators in 10 short a time as 695, years; and yet here we see in this family of Spittel no less than ten Generations in the space of about 223, years; which is a great deal more in proportion than in the former case; and I doubt no but frequent observations of this nature might be made in many other families.

Ornegh in the count of Ir one and lang local c.

ACCOUNT of the old FAMILY rise of a band hadred forms forms

ARNPRYOR

HIS of Ampryor having been for a confiderable transfer of time one of the most reputed families of the name of Buchanan, both upon account of the estate possess them, being pretty considerable, as also in regard the

ar

he

rs.

rle the

one

·ew

d.

an

lde

that the

mil

era

e fe

mon

ot no

mad

ole tra

e nam

offest

d the

ntlemen themselves were for the most part among the t accomplisht of that name. Nevertheless fince the ddle of the last age, or some little time before, this faly is so much decayed, that there can be very little faid ncerning the same, more than to give fome account of at it hath been, and of some few cadets now extant ereof, and who represent the same. The oldest writes this family being either carried off when the last laird Ampryor went to Ireland, or fome other way loft, the anner of the descent thereof off the family of Buchancannot be fo clearly illustrated as otherwise it might. e most clear document for that purpose is the Geneal. ical tree of the family of Buchanan, which politively afts John Buchanan first of Arnpryor to have been second to Walter, fourth of that name, laird of Buchanan, d of the lord Graham's daughter, which tree being comfed Anno 1600, the composers thereof might have lived or near the latter part of this gentleman's life-time, for at the account given thereby may fully fatisfy all fuch as not addicted to criticism or needless scrupulosity. The tion this gentleman obtained from his father, the laird Buchanan was the lands of Auchmar, which at his death urned to the family of Buchanan, as the cultom was of penage or tanistry lands, The manner of his obtainthe lands of Arnpryor was pretty fingular being store to to enjoy it, stolent of the risk applied out to got

In the reign of King James IV. and for diverse ages fore, the Meinzieses were proprietors of a great part of e parish of Kippen and some of the parish of Killearn, ough fcarce any memory of that name remains in either those parishes in this age. A gentleman of that name ing laird of Arnpryor, at the above mentioned juncte, who had no children of his own, nor any of his me in these parts, that could pretend any relation him, was for some time at variance with one Forrelt of Carden, averytoping gentlemanof Arnpryor's neighurhood who, upon account of his neighbour Ampry-'s circumstances, fent a menacing kind of a message him, either to dispone his estate in his favour voluntarily herwise he would disposes him of it by force. Ampryor theing of power to oppose Carden, and being loath to give selfate by compulsion to his enemy, judged it the more

nabl

the

er r

ryor

ngtl

few

as in nt a tall

ete,

ver.

and

e po

ent h

bt de

an c umb

ntert

me t

tak

ad

At vi

cond

ry n rme

Arn

as fo

arte

omo,

arte

tor t aditio

yor

ne Me

ith h averr

rnpry

the !

ding

ade fa

en.

proper, as well as honourable method, to difpone his effaten some other gentleman who would counterballance Carden and would maintain the rightful owner in possession thered during his life. In this exigency he had recourse to the laird of Buchanan, offering to dispone his estate to one of Buchanan's fons, if he would defend him from any vio lence offered by Carden. Buchanan readily accepted of the offer, and so far undervalued Carden, that he sent his fecond fon, then only a child, without any other guard than his dry nurse, to oversee him, along with Arnprya Carden came to Arnpryors house with a resolution t kill him, or oblige him to fend back Buchanan's for and grant his former demands. Ampryor having gon out of the way, Carden very imperiously ordered the woman who attended Buchanan's child, to carry his back forthwith whence he came, otherwise he would burn Arnpryor's house, and them together. The woma replied, that the would not defert the house for an thing he durft do, telling him withall, if he offered the lea violence, it would be revenged to his coft. This fout n ply was fornewhat damping to Carden, who at the fam me reflecting, that he would not only be obnoxious the laws for any violent measures he should take, but al to emnity with Buchanan, which he was by no means ab to support, therefore followed the fafelt course, by defile ing for the future either to molest Arnpryor or frustra his destination, so that his adopted heir enjoyed his estat without the least impediment after his death.

This John Buchanan of Auchmar and Arnpryor was a terwards termed King of Kippen, upon the following a count King James V. a very fociable debonair print refiding at Stirling, in Buchanan of Arnpryors time carriers were very frequently passing along the common rebeing near Arnpryors house, with necessaries for the upost the King's family, and he having some extraordinary of the King's family, and he having some extraordinary of the King's family, and he having some extraordinary of casion, ordered one of these carriers to leave his load at house and he would pay him for it; which the carriers load to do, telling him he was the king's carrier, at his load for his Majestie's use, to which Arnpryor seemed to have small regard, compelling the carrier in the cattories have small regard, compelling the carrier in the castories have small regard, compelling the carrier in the castories have small regard, compelling the carrier in the castories have small regard, compelling the carrier in the castories have small regard, compelling the carrier in the castories have small regard, compelling the carrier in the castories have small regard, compelling the carrier in the castories have small regard, compelling the carrier in the castories have small regard, compelling the carrier in the castories have small regard.

C 47 3

nable he should share with his neighbour King, in some thefe loads fo frequently carried that road. The carer representing this usage, and telling the story, as Arnryor spoke it, to some of the King's servants, it came at ngth to his Majesty's ears, who shortly thereafter with few attendants came to vifit his neighbouting King, who as in the mean time at dinner. King James having nt a fervant to demand access, was denied the fame by tall fellow with a Battel-ax, who food porter at the ate, telling, there could be no access till dinner was ver. This answer not fatisfying the King, he fent to deand access a second time, upon which he was defired by e porter to desift, otherwise he would find cause to reent his rudeness. His Majesty finding this method would ot do, defired the porter to tell his mafter that the goodan of Ballageich defired to speak with the King of Kipm. The porter telling Arnpryor fo much, he in all mble manner came and received the King, and having tertained him with much fumptuousness and Jollity, beme so agreeable to King James, that he allowed him take fo much of any provision he found carrying that ad as he had occasion for; and feeing he made the it visit, defired Ampryor in a few days to return him a cond at Stirling, which he performed, and continued in ry much favour with the King always thereafter being rmed King of Kippen while he lived.

Arnpryor had also the lands of Gartartan, by which he as sometimes designed, particularly he is so designed in a carter in his favour by John commendator of Inchinations, of certain lands called Hornhaugh. He obtained earter of the lands of Brachern from John M.Nair, Hetor thereof, dated in the year 1650. There is a certain aditional account that the lands of Brachern after Arnyor obtained right thereto, were violently possessed by as M.Tormad, Captain of a company of out laws, who ith his associates, in number twenty-four, coming to a avern in Drymen parish, at a place called Chapelairoch, impryor upon notice thereof, came in the night-time the tavern, accompanied with some sew horse-men, and ading those outlaws overcome with liquor and sleep ade saft the door of the house where they lay, and then in fire to it, all therein being either burnt or killed. He

F 0 E 0

al

Enr

ies

ng

rith

am

rice

efid

onti

TI

d. f

our

n pa

haft

lash

nds

aug

uch

e co

Th

ndr

athe

arri

tenti

ctwi

nd A

he la

ohn 1

exc

nds

f Gar

arry,

faltn

ons,

Georg

ner to

olg a

rew f

and, v

iers r

There

n Men

a Edin

afterwards gave the lands of Brachern with those of Cash ly to one of his sons. This brave gentleman, with diverse others of his name, being killed at the battel of Pinkie, in Queen Mary's Minority, he was succeeded by Andrew, his eldest son, as is clear by charter in his say vour and of John Buchanan, his son and apparent heir of the lands of Arnpryor, dated in the year 1560. There is also a charter by Bartholomew Bane in sayour of the said Andrew of the Milatoun of Bochylvie, dated in the year 1557. Andrew had two sons, John his successor, Walter to whom his father disponed the Milatoun, or as other write Hiltoun of Bochyl vie.

There is little account to be had of John third laid of Arnpryor, or his successors for two descents, upon a count of the loss of the principal writings of that samily The last of these who was in possession of Arnpryor was John who sold those lands to Sir John laird of Buchana and were by him disponed to John Buchananof Mochaste of Lenny's samily, and Grandfather to Francis Buchana now of Arnpryor.

John Buchanan who fold Ampryor, having gone to Ireland was killed by the Irish in the year 1641. It had two son, William and David, who both died without flue. He had also three daughters; Dorothy first man ed to Robert Buchanan, one of King Charles I. his but lers: To him she had two daughter's, both married Ireland. She was afterwards married to Colonel Hubb thorn, an Englishman, governor of Waterford. Shad to him one son, Captain Hubbethorn, and some daughters. Ampryor's second daughter was Alice married Cunninghame of Trinbeg. The third, Anna, married Canningham of Finnick.

This last Arnpryor had two brethren, Mr. David gentleman of great learning, of whom I shall speak afterwards. And Captain William, a gentleman of very greatened, and had the greatest art and dexterity in manaing a sword, of any of his time. He killed an Italian Dublin in presence of the lord lieutenent, and other nobity of that kingdom; having gone through most of the nations in Europe, al-ways having had the victory of the cencountered with Captain William being one innerkeithing, a certain English officer, when the two arties advanced near to one another, stept forth, and challenged any of the Scottish army to exchange a few blows with him. The challenge was accepted by Captain William, who though a very little man of person, did in a rice kill that English Champion, This Captain William esided mostly in Ireland, in which kingdom his progeny ontinued.

" [ 40 ] :

The first cadet of the family of Arnpryor was Duncan, d. son to John Buchanan first of Arnpryor, in whose facur his father disponed the lands of Brachern, in Buchann parish. He was succeeded by Duncan his son, who purhast from James Drummond of Inverpastray the lands of lashly, and Gartinstarry, as is clear by charter of these ands in his favour, dated in the year 1468. Duncan's aughter and heires, Margaret, married her cousin, John uchanan of Hiltoun, or Milntoun of Bochylvie to whom

e conveyed all her father's interest.

gi

di

id

fte

re

nag

n i

obt

d

of

The fecond cadet of the family was Walter, 2d. fon to ndrew Buchanan, the fecond of Arnpryor, to whom his ather disponed the Milntoun of Bochylvie. His son John arried the heiress of Cashlie and Brachern, as already pentioned. He was killed at the Conflict of Glenfroon, etwixt Luss and the M'Grigor's. He left two sons, John nd Andrew. John the 2d. of Bochylvie and Cashly, fold he lands of Brachern to one Duncan M'Pharlan. This ohn had two fons, (Duncan, who fold the lands of Cashexcept Gartinstarry) and Andrew, who purchast the nds of Ballachneck. Duncan had two fons, John, late Gartinstarry; who had two fons, James now of Gartinarry, Representer of the family of Arnpryor, and John laltman in Glafgow. Andrew of Ballachneck, had two ons, John, father to Moses Buchanan of Ballachneck, and eorge at present in Ballachneck. Andrew second broher to John late Gartinstarry, purchast the lands of Nenolg and Provanstoun, being defigned by the latter. Anrew fecond fon to John 1st. of Cashlie, who went to Ireand, was ancestor to John, Andrew, and William, with ohers residing near Dungivan in the County of Derry. There are also descended off this family Andrew Buchann Merchant in Borrowstouness; James Buchanan Wright a Edinburgh, and John Buchanin Merchant in England, with Robert Buchanan Cordiner in Glasgow, and the Progeny of Duncan Buchanan, Notar in Arnmoir, and there in Kippen parish.

[ 50 ]

AN

ACCOUNT of the FAMILY

OF

DRUMIKILL

THE Estate of Drumikill, with a great many other lands in the east parts of the paroch of Drymen, (a far as a traditional account may be relied on) did of of belong to the name of Arral, which name, in the Min ority of King David Bruce, having affociated with the nemies of their Prince, and country, they, upon the reduc tion of their adherents, not only continued obstinate their rebellion, but in further aggravation of their guil committed diverse other insolencies, which in the end game just cause for their whole lands being forfeited, and letter of fire and fword being directed against them. The en cution of these letters being committed to the laird of Bu hanan, he did, with no fmall difficulty and blood-the bring the furviving remainder of these Arrals to justice Among the number of these, was Thomas Arral of Drun ikill, commonly termed Taus na Dunnach, or Thom The King is faid to have offered the the mischievous gentleman a pardon at the place of execution, which refused, disdaining to live after so many of his name, wh had loft their lives through his influence and in his quarte After the subversion of these Arrals, Buchanan in rewar of his fervice against them, obtained Drumikill, easter an wester Ballats, and some other parts of their lands, lyin most contigious to his own estate, which the lairds of Buo hanan retained in their own hands, till the one half Drumikill, with eafter Ballat, was given to Carbeth's as celtor, as the other half, with wester Ballat, was given !

Drur les ca Tl

gave and it to on famil Thor ried And he a Balla

he m

his a o wa ne fa re a aron

The order of the front to defi ipofi gnat am I ow M

ent

hom r Bu irato k, Pa [ 51 ]

Drumikill's at the times the ancestors of these two familes came off that of Buchanan.

There is a current tradition, that the laird of Buchanan gave the half of the estate of Drumikill, with wester Ballat, and fome other lands, formerly belonging to the Arrals o one of his fons long before the ancestor of the present family of Drumikill came of Buchanan's family, and that Thomas the first of this present race for his first lady married the heiress of the principal person of the old family. And that which fomewhat favours this account, is, that he ancestors of the Buchanan's of Drumhead, and wester Ballat, though always reputed cadets of Drumikill, can roduce some evidents of their lands not long posterior to he most ancient now in custody of Drumikill. But havng found no document either among the late Buchanan r Drumikill's evidences that can in any measure clear his allegation, I must leave it undetermined, though it be o way improbable, if there had been any fuch evidences, he fame might by fome contingency or other be loft, as re a great many of these of Buchanan, and the whole of aron M'Auslin's most ancient writes. However this

The first of the present family of Drumikil, that is reorded by the genealogical tree of Buchanan, and evidenes of Drumikill, is Thomas Buchanan, son to Patrick, of that name laird of Buchanan, and of Galbraith, eiress of Killearn, Bamoir, and Auchinreoch, his lady. he first document relating to this Thomas is a disposion to him by Finnoyse M'Aulay, Heiress of a little teneent in Drymen, called Croftewer, in which disposition he defigned an honourable person, Thomas Buchanan broet German to Walter Buchanan of l'hat-ilk the faid ipolition being dated in the year 1482. There is aregnation by John Blair of Adamtoun, in the hands of Wilun lord Graham, of the lands of Middle Led Lewan, bw Moss for new infestment to be given of these lands to homas Buchanan of Balleun, brother German to Wal-Buchanan of That-ilk, dated in the year 1484. Prorators to the refignation are Walter Buchanan of Thatk, Patrick Colchounof Glyn, and John Nenbolg of That-There is a charter also of Balleun by Walter laird

are

an

uc

1 ti

the

R

rime

ill.

we

obe

Ro

is G

gnat

$18.

cce

lare

net

eir

nd t

ne t unir

rinc nd V

ond,

ne p nd I

hich ation

ing

ot be

ema

dat

ere o fig

etters

d to

pitte

or his ad b

loss.

of Buchanan in favour of this Thomas forne little time before this of Mois, in the fame year. There is also chan ter by Matthew Earl of Lennox in favour of this Thomas defigned of Balleun, of that part of the half lands of Dru mikill not formerly disponed, called Browster Crost, d date 1491. The fame Thomas grants charter of the half lands of Drumikill to Robert Buchanan his fon in fee with refervation of his own, and Geils Cuningham, his spouse's life-tents dated in the year 1495. This Thomas upon the death of Thomas Buchanan of Carbeth, his Un cle, obtained the lands of Gartincaber which he and h fuccessors retained possession of, untill Carbeth fold h half of Drumikill to the proprietor of the other half of the effate; upon which occasion Carbeth re-obtained the be neficial tack of Gartincaber, of which a cadet of his family ly is now in possession. And this feems to be the ground of the error into which fome have run, concerning the atcestors of these two families being the same, in regar two Thomas's whose age differed so little, were propriet ors of Gartincaber, and fometimes defigned thereby Thomas Buchanan of Carbeth's refignation of the ha lands of Drumikill, in the hands of James Halden Glengeis, fuperior thereof, and Glengeis's confirmation of these lands in favour of Robert Buchanan, are dated the year 1565. Thomas Buchanan first of Drumikill wa married to Geils Cuningham, daughter to Cuningham Drumquhaffil; and by her as far as can be colected, a had four fons, that came to age; Robert, his fuccella Thomas afterwards of Moss, William of Baturich, no Drumhead, and John of Drumdash, afterwards Camoo oill, and wester Ballat.

To Thomas first of Drumikill succeeded his son, Ro bert, as is evident by the charters in his favour of the land of Drumikill, as also by charter in his favour of Spittele Finnick, with boat and boat land of Catter, by Matthe Earl of Lennox, dated at the Earl's ancient mansion how of middle Catter, in the year 1505. This Robert we married to Margaret Hay, of what family not mentioned harte and by her had two fons, Thomas his eldest, who, by an orst thing that can be found, was married to Logy of The stirling ilk's daughter. This Thomas was not entered to any hree his father's estate, having died young, and long before and J. ther, he being only mentioned as procurator in a feafing Robert his father, by defignation of Thomas Buchanan imogenitus, or eldest son of Robert Buchanan of Drumill. Robert's 2d, son was John, ancestor of Buchanan, wester Cameron, Thomas last mentioned left two sons, obert and Walter.

Robert eldest fon to the faid Thomas, was ferved heir to s Grandfather, Robert Buchanan of Drumikill, by degnation of his Nephew, and apparent heir, in the year 18. He died unmarried, at least without iffue, and was cceeded, by his brother Walter, as testifies a precept of lare constat and charter thereon, in favour of him, and net Buchanan his spouse, in life-rent, and I homas eir son, in fee of the lands of Drumikill dated 1536. nd this Walter mentioned in a bond of an hundred merks ne to John Lennox of Branshogle, by Graham of Fintry. uningham of Glengarnock, and Galbraith of Balgair. rincipals, Earl of Glencairn, Cuningham of Drumquafle, nd Walter Buchanan of Drumikill, Cautioners, all in one ond, and subscribed by two Nottars, in regard none of all e principals, or Cautioners could write, except Fintry nd Drumikill. This bond was dated in the year 1537, hich being in the time when Popery prevailed in this ation, and a confummate ignorance of all manner of learing it is not to be wondred at that fo many Laicks should ot be able to write, when I have even heard from a geneman of very good repute, that he had perused a write date near that time, in which two of the monks of Paifly ere inferted witnesses, for whom the Nottar was obliged fign, in regard these two clergymen were ignorant of tters. Walter Buchanan of Drumikill was first marrid to Janet Buchanan, daughter to Walter Buchanan of pittel, by whom he had Thomas his successor. He had or his 2d. lady a daughter of Kinrofs of Kippenrofs, and ad by her one fon William who was afterwards laird of lois.

To Walter succeeded his son Thomas, as is clear by the harter already mentioned, with diverse others. He was soft married to Logan of Balvey's daughter, secondly to birling of Glorat's daughter, Of these marriages he had hree sons, William his successor, Walter of Connachra, and James his successor,

Ro

ind

10 ou

ne

'ha

ny

reb

Thomas was fucceeded by his fon William, who mand ed Semple of Fulwoods daughter, by whom he had the fons, Walter his fuccessor, Thomas, and George, which has two went to Ireland, where diverse of their Progeny in good circumstances. He had also one daughter, may ried to Kincaid of Auchinreoch.

lob

ver

pe

fal

TI

nan

is p

fthe

anag

nd t

me,

me,

me !

ve f

heal

quen

W

n of

iffior

te of

ents

ung

lexar

d ot

other

d ba

dout

l, Gr

and

al, th

's for

en to

Thor

ert, v

ioma:

ur, b fion of

dad

nan, d to F

n Her

Walter succeeded his father William, and was marrie to Hamilton of Kinglassy's daughter. By her he had to sons, William sirst of Craigievairn, and Dougal of Ga tincaber.

To Walter succeeded his son William, who was man ed to Cuningham of Boquhan's daughter. He had with her three sons, John, William and Walter. The two her three sons, John, William and Walter. The two her three sons, John, William and Walter. The two her to his Cousin, Captain William Buchanan, 2d. son to William Buchanan first of Ross and afterwards purchase from my lord Napier the lands of Craigievairn. by which he and his successors were afterwards designed.

To William first designed Craigievairn, succeeded his fon John, who married Cuningham of Trinbeg's daughter, and had by her one son, William his successor, and one daughter, married to Lieutenant James Hamilton by ther to Hamilton of Bardowie.

William present Craigievairn, married Hamilton of Bardowie's daughter and hath by her a very numerous issue.

The first cadet of the family of Drumikill was Thomas Buchanan, 2d. son to Thomas Buchanan first of Drumiki who obtained the lands of Moss. He married Aga Herriot, daughter to Herriot of Trabrown, and had her three sons. Of these was Patrick, sent to the kings Denmark, to require that Hephurn Earl of Bothwel (then prisoner in that kingdom) should be sent into Sou land to be punished for Darnlies murder. this Patrichad no male Issue, to that the Moss, by virtue of some contain clause in his father Patrick's charter of the same, to turned to the laird of Drumikill or was purchast by him Thomas of Moss's other two sons were Alexander Buch anan of shert, and the Great Mr GEORGE BUCHANAN.

There are some of opinion that Patrick, Alexande and Mr. GEORGE, were sons of Thomas, eldest son verthrown by a charter among Drumikill's evidents lateperused by me, which had escaped me upon my first per fal of them, being a charter by William Earl of Montrofe Thomas Buchanan Brother German to Robert Buchnan of Drumikill, as nearest heir to Thomas Buchanan is pupilus that is as I take it, his Nephew or brother's fon the lands of Moss. So that the Moss being then the apmage or fecond fon's portion of the family of Drumikili, nd this Thomas being the only 2d. fon existing at that me, obtained these lands, at least during his own lifeme, as the custom of such lands was then, and for a long me thereafter. For further Illustration of this matter, I refeen in the hands of George Buchanan of Bellachruin real fucceffor of Alexander Buchanan of Ibert and conquently representer of the family of Moss, a discharge Walter Buchanan of Drumikill to Alexander Buchain of Ibert, his Coufin, and emm, discharging his introflion for some years with the rents of a part of the efte of Drumikill. Which Walter by authentick docuents already mentioned is found to be fon to Thomas unger of Drumikill, and Grand-child to Robert. And lexander of Ibert, by the evidences of Gartcalderland, d others, is known to be fon to Buchanan of Moss, and other to Mr. George. Whereas if he, and Mr. George d been fons to Thomas younger of Drumikill, they had doubtedly been defigned brethren to Walter of Drumi-Granter of the faid discharge, and the term of Couand emm, had been utterable unfuitable and nonsenal, the word emm importing an Uncle, or Grand-Un-'s fon, which was the real relation of these two gentleen to the faid Walter Buchanan of Drumikill. Thomas of Moss's 2d. fon was Alexander Buchanan of ert, who had two fons, the eldest of whom was Mr. omas Buchanan as is clear by charter of Ibert in his fa-

nz

in b

cot

ric cer

TO

him

uch U C

nde

nomas Buchanan as is clear by charter of Ibert in his faur, by Mr. Thomas Archibald, vicar of Drymen, of te 1567. years. He became Lord privy seal, upon defion of that office by his Uncle, Mr. George. He mard a daughter of the 2d. marriage, of John, laird of Buchan, by whom he had two daughters, the eldest mard to Patrick Buchanan, of Auchmar, the second to Capan Henry Cuningham. John 2d. son to Alexander of Ibert, acquired the lands of Ballachruin, being ancestore George Buchanan of Ballachruin, whose brethren wer Moses Buchanan merchant, and Arthur wright in Glasgow, and William who left one son George, who were abroad. There are also descended of this family. Buchanan lately of Harperstoun, Buchanan portioner of Clober, with some others.

Thomas of Moss's 3d. son was the said Mr. Georg Buchanan; of whom, being an honour to our name an nation, I shall give a large account, after having finished my account of the family of Drumikill.

The next cadet of the family of Drumikill to that Moss was William Buchanan, of Baturich, 3d. fon Thomas Buchanan of Drumikill The first lands obtain after he came off that family were those of Meikle Bats rich in Kilmaronock parish. He married one of the nam of Macaulay, Heirefs of Blairhenachan, now Drumhead in the parish of Cardross, and shire of Dumbarton, as a pears by charter in favour of the faid William Buchana dated in the year 1530. The genealogical tree of the family of Buchanan afferts this William to have be married to Arncaple's daughter; but it feems this Ma aulay of Blairhenachan, whose heiress he married, was fon of the family of Arncaple, fo that the error is not we ry confiderable. William first of Blairhenachan's fucce for was Robert who obtained a charter of these lands from Alexander Macaulay of Arncaple, dated in the year 155 This Robert made an excampion with Haldan of Gl negeis of the lands of Baturich with those of Blai whoish, in possession of which Drumhead continues. Re bert above mentioned, had three fons; Robert, fuccessor, Mungo first of Tullicheun; and John, or others fay with no lefs probability, Thomas first of Drus fad.

Robert second Blairhenachan was succeded by his so of the same name who had two sons, Archibald, his so cessor; and Robert, who went to Ireland, and resided Glenmaqueen in the county of Derry. He had two son Archibald, and George. Archibald, the eldest of the sons, married his cousin-german, heires of Blairhen chan, the title of which he changed into that of Drum head, yet retained. He was father to Archibald, now

Drug laug His ead er. han there e

Tulli

ing:
he of the result of the newletern with the result of the result of

els fi

ack :

ox, ad to equion, I ames ad I

The ow in The ind the feu, Glenfi

Hilton

ad whame in the hefe partor ned, 1 Drumhead, who is married to Anderson of Stobcross's aughter, by whom he hath three sons, and two daughters. It is eldest son, Archibald Buchanan younger of Drumead is married to Gilbert Buchanan of Bankel's daughter. James and George his other two sons, both Merhants in Glasgow, are unmarried. His eldest daughter married to Robert Buchanan writer in Glasgow. His ther daughter is unmarried. Drumhead had two sisters, he eldest married to Napier of Ballikinrain, the youneft to Buchanau of Balfunning.

Ro

fue

he

un

The first Cadet of Drumhead's family is Buchanan of fullichewn. Mungo Buchanan, 2d. fon to Robert feond Blairhenachen, who purchased the Spittels of Creingaws from the Dennistons co-heirestes of these Spittels; he one part thereof from the one of thefe, with confent of Thomas Buchanan, her husband, who seems to be brothr to the faid Mungo, in the year 1603. the other half f these Spittels from the other heiress, in the year 1605. n which year he got charter of confirmation of the Spitels from James Dennieston of Colgrain, superior theref. Mungo's fucceffor was Robert, who obtained first, a ack and after a feu-charter from Lodowick duke of Lenox, of the lands of meikle Tullichewn. This Robert ad two fons, Robert his fuccessor, and William, who equired Stuckrodger. Robert of Tullichewn had one on, Mungo who had four fons, Robert his successor; ames, who acquired a part of little Tullichewn, and ad Issue! Mungo writer in Edinburgh, who purchased filton and Luchintorly, and left Issue; and William, ow in Tullichewn.

Thomas youngest brother of Mungo sirst of Tullichewn, and third son to Robert second Blairhenachan, acquired seu, or wedset right of the lands of meikle Drumfad in Glenfroon. His son was called John designed of Drumfad which lands this John, or rather his son of the same same sold being ancestor to John Buchanan of Cattermila the parish of Kilmaronock, and others.

There are also divers of the family of Drumhead besides hese mentioned, who reside in the Parishes of Dumparton, and Bonneil. William, of Stuckrodger above named, had one son, William, who mostly resided at St.

Ho dam af wallet bright ob

Ninias, who had two fons, William who left one fon; and James who went abroad.

The next cadet of Drumhead's family was Walter or. dinarly termed Walter in Drymen, because he resided the most part of his time in that village. Having no manner of document to testifie the time and manner of the descent of this Walter of that of Drumhead, I must leave the fame undetermined, though he is always reputed, as allo owned by his progeny to be a cadet of the faid family, This Walter had two fons, John, and Walter, both notain John had three fons, Walter the eldest, for whom he pur chased the lands of Moss, being Grandfather to the profent Walter Buchanan of Moss, and father to John Buch hanan of Carstoun. John the notar's ad. fon was John Grandfather to Archibald Buchanan of Balfunning, and father to John Buchanan of little Croy, his 3d. fon wa William, who had one fon who never married. Walte Drymen's fecond fon Walter went to Argyle-shire and fettled in Melfort, in that shire, in which, and Life more diverse of his race continue yet. Some other came thence, and fettled in Drymen parish and other

The last Cadet of the family of Drumhead, is George the present Drumhead's Uncle. He resided the most of his time near Rapho in the county of Derry in Ireland. He purchast a pretty good interest in that kingdom. He was a gentleman of a very good character, and very much esteemed in that place. He had two sons, the elde succeeded to his interest, the youngest was a Clerg

man.

The third cadet of the family of Drumikill, was John fourth fon to Thomas first of Drumikill, who for patrimony got a beneficial tack of Drumdash in Dryme parish. He was killed by the Buchanans of Cashill, an succeeded by his son Walter, who sold Drumdosh, and of tained a tack of Camochoil, and purchast the Spittel Wester ballat. He had two sons, John, and Dunca John, his eldest son, had no male issue the beneficial tag of Camochoil by that means fell to his daughters. The eldest of these being married to one Blair, conveyed wither the Camochoil. John's brother obtained the heritag of the Spittel's with tack of Wester Bailat. I find this John aft Patri Robe an concess incess of the Book irk, erfe

Th

vriter

e wa er. H is for which Villia n, w harrie broad The uted f this on of hat for there emair ccasion ame.

f Roffis Monarrie
shom Villian
narrie

f Auchased

aft mentioned inferted witness in a breive, directed to Patrick de Buchanan, sheriff of Stirling, for infesting of Robert Buchanan, Nephew and heir to Robert Buchanan of Drumikill. Duncan the said John's Brother was neestor to Patrick Buchanan of Wester Ballat, who had hree sons, John the eldest, who had issue; Mr Thomas riter in Edinburgh; and Duncan merchant in London. Of this samily is descended John Buchanan in Hiltoun sochlyvie; Patrick Buchanan, merchant at Kippen irk, with some others in these parts. There are also dierse of this samily in the countys of Antrim, and Down Ireland.

The fourth cadet of the family of Drumikill was ohn of Cameron, 2d, fon to Robert second of Drumikill. e was married to Denniestoun of Auchindinan's daugher. He obtained the lands of Wester Cameron in tack; is son having afterwards purchast the same in heritage, shich was fold by Walter, Grand-sather to the present William in Cameron, to Drumikill. There are sew or none this samily remaining, except William now in Cameron, who hath three sons, Walter, William, and John, all parried. William had a brother called George who went broad.

There was one Angus Buchanan of Finnicktenent, reuted a cadet of Drumikill, and if so, behoved to be a 3d. on of Robert second laird of Drumikil. The last of hat family went to Ireland, more than a year ago. here being no account whether any of that race be emaining in that kingdom or not, there is no great ecasion to insist too much upon the descent of the ame.

The fifth cadet of Drumikil was William Buchanan f Ross's, 2d. son to Walter fourth laird of Drumikil; is Mother being Kinross of Kippenross's daughter. He sarried John Buchanan in Gartincaber's daughter, by show he had three son's, John, his successor, Captain Villiam, and George; also three daughters, the eldest sarried to Cunningham of Trinbeg, the 2d. to Buchanan f Auchmar, the 3d, to Buchanan of Carbeth. He purhased the lands of Ross from the Earl of Glencairn, and as succeeded by John, his son who was thrice married, and to Cuningham of Drumquhasle's daughter, and had

an

1

ca1

tac

Th

T

d. fi

o W

ieva

luch

rft 1

he fe

n Gl

Th

anar on I

f Bu

exte

net i

r pe Th

nd f

eart lotte

Buc

Drum

he lic

rest

Par fil

nemo

uch a

ounti

iftory

ory o ffairs

ould

ourag unetu

inding

Paris,

by her one fon, and two daughters. The eldest of these daughters was married to Andrew laird of M'pharlan, be ing mother to the late John laird of McPharlane. The other daughter was married to Robert Taylor of Mans field and had iffue. John of Rois was fecondly marri ed to Crawford of Kilbirnie's daughter, reliet to Lindland of Balquhuarage. He had with her one fon, Will am, 2d. laird of Drumikill of that race, and one daughter married to Edward Buchanan of Spittel. He had for third lady Anna Bickerton, with whom h

Captain William 2d. fon to William first of Ross m thrice married, but had no iffue. He purchased the estate of Drumikill from his coufin William, eighth laird then of; and because he had no issue of his own, disponed the estate to his nephew William Buchanan, 2d. fon to Joh of Rofs, the Captains eldest brother.

This William of Drumikill married a daughter of Ma aulay of Arncaple and had with her three fons, Will am who died unmarried; Archibald now of Drumikl and George who had no iffue, also one daughter ma ried to lieutenent Walter Bontein, brother to the lan of Airdoch, who had iffue, Archibald present Drum kill married Jean Buchanan heirefs of Rofs, daught of James Buchanan of Rofs, his Uncle. and of Margen Stirling daughter to Stirling of Law. With her he h four fons, and foor daughters, George 3d. fon to Will am first of Ross, was killed in the year 1645. having

The fixth cadet of the family of Drumikill was Wa er of Conachra in Drymen parish, 2d fon to Thom third of that name, and fifth laird of Drumikill. The are none of his male iffue living except Thomas Buchan of Kirkhouse of Strablane, and his children. The in Walter had one daughter married to John Govean Diymen, being mother to William Govean of Drus orn, orn, The field Thomas had a 3d, fon, James whother

The seventh cadet of Drumikill was Thomas fon to William fixth laird of Drumikill. He with brother George, went to Ireland, where their proge refide. 医侧线形式 经共享的 医甲基基氏

The last cadet of that family was Dougal Buchanan d. son to Walter seventh laird of Drumikil, and brother o William last of that race of Drumikil, and first of Crailevairn, This Dougal acquired lower Gartincaber in suchanan Parish: he was twice married, having of the rst marriage John Buchanan, writer in Ednburgh, of he second marriage Thomas Buchanan, Perriwig maker a Glasgow.

The old family of Drumikill, of which William Bucanan now of Cragievairn is representer, by any informaion I can obtain, for armorial bearing carries the bearing f Buchanan; and for distinction, a battle-ax in the lion's exter paw, pointed towards the chief proper, with helnet in chrest, suiting his quality. The motto, prosecute

r perish.

The present Buchanan of Drumikil bears Buchanan; nd for distinction, in the lion's dexter paw a man's eart proper; his crest, a dexter hand holding a sword.

lotto God with my Right.

Buchanan of Drumhead, a cadet of the old family of Drumikil, bears Buchanan for distinction, a bent bow in he lion's sinister paw, and an arrow in his dexter; for rest a sinister hand holding a bent-bow. His motto, Par fit Fortuna Labori.

AVING finished my account of the family of Drumikill, I return according to promise, to give some nemoirs of the samous Mr George Buchanan who brought ach a mighty accessor of honour both to his name and ountry. It agrees not with my design to give a complete istory of this great man, for that would be to give a history of Scotland during the age in which he lived, in the stairs whereof he bore so considerable a part. He was sorn, (as he himself informs us) in the year 1506. His nother being left a widow, with eight children, did all she ould for their education, though under the greatest disouragements. But it was George's peculiar good formeto be taken notice of by a brother of his mother's, who inding him extremely capable of learning, sent him to saris, from whence, after about two years stay, he was obliged to return, by reason of his narrow circmstances, and want of health. After his return he became volum tier in the French troops then in Scotland, but foon fall ing fick again, went to St. Andrews, and studied Logic under the celebrated John Major. He followed him France the same year, and after having stayed at Pan two years flruggling with his misfortunes, he was called to teach grammar in the College of St. Barbara. Thish did for three years. He was brought back into Scotlan by a young nobleman, the Earl of Cassils, who had ken him with him five years in Paris. He intended to have returned again into France, but was prevented by king's appointing him governour to his natural fon, the Earl of Murray. He had some time before this wrote poem which enraged the whole fraternity of the Cordelia against him, and raised him many enemies, with whosen proaches he was fo touched, that he began from them forward to liften more than ever to the teacher's of the is About this time the King returning from France, made the clergy very uneafie, they being appro henfive, that Queen Magdalen whom he brought alon with him, had imbibed the new opinions from her Au the Queen of Navarre. But the death of that Prince foon dispelled their fears. Sometime after, a plot was di covered against the King, who upon this found reasons believe, that the Cordeliers had not discharged their dut to him. He therefore commanded Buchanan to will fome verses. Buchanan obeyed without any reluctance but kept within bounds, and made use of ambiguous pressions. The King commanded him to write sharp which was accordingly done in the famous Sylva, whi is called Franciscanus. Cardinal Beton hereupon plotts his ruin, and even proceeded fo far as to throw him in prison, from whence he escaped by his ingenuity, and fle into England. But matters being in fuch confusion the that one day the Lutherians were burnt, and the next day the Papists, he thought fit to retire into France, and it fear Cardinal Beton (who was then ambassador at the court) should play him some trick, he privately withdre from Paris, and went to Bordeaux, whither Andrew G veanus, a learned Portuguese, invited him. He taug three years there, though not without some dread of

rdel Ar e wa 's in o Po brin phy at ( but him ys. proa g to at in tholi ve a at th afine bett irabl ized orld. nd, b schal schar nes i 60.

ente

as tut

ent or id wa 65. Thus mfelf eat h airs I

[ 44 ]1

rdeliers, and Cardinal Beton, which hadlast written to Archbishop of Bordeaux to secure him; but that preewas fo kind to discover the matter to some of Buchan s intimate friends. After this he followed Goveanus o Portugal, who had orders from the King his master bring him a certain number of persons fit to teach philphy, and literature in the new university he had foundat Conimbria All went well as long as Goveanus-livbut he dying foon after the learned men who followhim, particularly Buchanan, were vexed all manner of ys. They ript up his poem against the Cordeliers, and proached him with eating flesh in Lent, though accordto the custom of the country. It was also pretended at in his discourse he had discovered some disgust at the tholick religion. He was thus plagued wih them for ave a year together, till at last for fear of discovering at they had unjustly harraffed a man of reputation, they afined him for some months to a monastery, in order to better instructed. It was there he undertook his adrable Paraphrase of the Psalms, which has been since ized at fuch an inestimable rate by the learned of the orld. Having obtained his liberty, he past into Engnd, but quickly returned to France. Some years after entered into the fervice of Mareschal de Brissac, and a tutor to his fon, Timoleon De Cosse, to whom he has cribed his incomparable poem de Sphaera. The Mathal then commanded the French army in Piedmont. chanan continued five years in that employment, fomenes in Italy, and sometimes in France,. He quitted in Returning into Scotland after the disturbances ocsioned by the faction of the Guises were composed. he ent over openly to the communion of the reformed church d was made preceptor to King Jame VI. in the year 65.

Thus far have we an account of this great man from melf as he wrote and published it in his own life-time. is modesty withheld him from giving us a detail of the eat honours and prosperity to which he afterwards arved. However the histories of that age make it evident, was for some years in the management of our Scottish airs. By being promoted to the post of lord privy seal, he came one of the great officers of state. And his activity in pushing on reformation gave him such a character will our reformers, that he was chosen by them to preside one of their general assemblies as moderator, notwithstand ing of his being a lay-man.

Yet are these but a small part of his honours compare with that lasting glory he has acquired by his admiral writings. His history of Scotland, both for disposition and purity of language, has been looked upon by all god judges, to come the nearest to the ancients of any person mance these latter ages have produced, I know inde he has been blamed by some people of partiallity; but imputation has never yet been made fufficiently out up those passages excepted against. He has also been a less censured for maintaining several principles, apprehen ed to be distructive of government, in his dialogue I Jure Regni apud Scotos. It is not my bufiness either to justi or condemnhim in this matter. Yet thus much may be fall ly faid for him, that he has laid down no general print ples of government, but what have been maintained by greatest legislators and philosophers of antiquity; and the he has been followed in them by feveral of the most emi ent among the modern writers, If to err be a fault, it always allowed to be an extenuation of it, to err in go company. and this is all I at present shall enlarge ont

ami

lt w

ued

anne

ate C

is or

alt c

e a, t

wo fa

d, b

ver

ot fu

des w ill.

g rel

m, si

ers o

Villia

er, gr

If ch:

artin

milie

pena

arter

who

incipa ferved

Buchanan's Poetical writings have met with a ben fate, very few having had the hardiness to detract from worth of them, and those few that have done it, have gained so little honour by it. He has been admired all Europe, as the many Editions of his works abundantly testifie, which, as they are in every body's hands, it was be a very needless piece of presumption in me to give character of. Nor shall I trouble either myself or to Reader with the numerous encomiums of learned men pon him, but conclude with the single testimony of to great Scalliger, whose praise considering how little he addicted to bestow it, cannot be considered.

Imperii fuerat Romani Scotia limes. Romani Eloquie Scotia finis erit.

As Scotia's Realm's the Roman power confin'd So here their rest Rome's arts and language find.

ACCOUNT of the FAMILY

OF

CARBETH.

THERE has been a long continued pretention made 1 by the lairds of Drunikill, that the anceltors of this amily of Carbeth was a cadet of the family of Drumikill. at what time this pretention was formed, how long contiued, or how far acquiesced in, in more ancient times, I annot positively determine; but am very confident, the te Carbeth, a man pretty well skilled in the genealogy of is own, and other families of his name, did not in the all own any fuch matter. Though I must own it would eamatter of the greatest disficulty to distinguish these vo families, were it not the two charters, after mentiond, being the most ancient pertaining to this family, are very clear of themselves; which notwithstanding does ot fully fatisfy some of the more nice and critical. For tisfaction of fuch, . I shall here observe a few things, bedes what I offered in the account of the family of Drumill. That which admits of the greatest difficulty in beg resolved, and is mostly objected, is a service of Willim, fixth laird of Drumikill, which I perused among oers of the late Buchanan's evidents, by which the faid Villiam is ferved heir to Walter Buchanan, of Gartincar, great grandfather to the faid Walter. So that the of charter of Thomas of Carbeth's ancestor being that of artincaber, it is prefumed, he was ancestor of both the milies. For resolution of this, It is very evident that all penage or tanistrie lands, though always disponed by arter to the second sons of families, did never descend or cresce to their heirs, but did always upon decease of him whom they were first disponed, return again to the incipal family, and were by that after the fame manner ferved for and disponed to the next second fon of the

en

el

d nd. fame. This is so very demonstrable, by so many instance as need no further confirmation. So that Thomas of Car. beth, being 2d. fon to Sir Walter laird of Buchanan, ob. tained from his eldest brother Patrick the lands of Gartincaber, during life, after whose death, Patrick gave those land's to another Thomas, his 2d. fon. or more probably Walter, Patrick's fuccessor, disponed these lands to the fame Thomas, his brother being ancestor of the family of Drumikill, as the tree of Buchanan plainly afferts; and by this means the fervice in favour of William of Drumiki is very right, whereas if he had been ferved to Carbeth ancestor, by designation of Gartincaber, he would be a de gree further removed than Walter of Drumikill, his great grandfather. Yea the cadets of the family of Drumikill from the death of Thomas of Carbeth, possest these lands of Gartincaber till the time of this service, immediately after which, Carbeth obtained the beneficial tack of the same, or rather before this time, as is reported, having then obliged Drumikill to ferve heir to his ancestor, in or der to make his right thereof to Carbeth more valid. For further illustration of this matter, it is plain, Thomaso Carbeth's ancestor obtained the lands of Carbeth in her tage fome years before any charter can be produced in fa vour of Thomas first of Drumikill, So that if these ha been one and the same, it cannot be in reason supposed but that he had been defigned by Carbeth, in some of the evidents of Drumikill, and Moss, in which he is alway mentioned by other defignations. Laftly in that refign tion by Thomas Buchanan of Carbeth of his half in Drui ikill, to Robert Buchanan 2d. Drumikill, Anno, 1505. is there defigned by Carbeth, without the least intimation of any relation betwixt him and the faid Robert, where if the above mentioned allegation were true, this Thoma the disponer behaved to be Robert's father which coul not miss to be specified on this occasion; whereas Robert father in his disposition to him of the other half of Drum ikill, in the year 1495, is their defigned Thomas Buchas an of Drumikill ten years before the date of this other write. So that it is very clear, Thomas first of Carbell and Thomas of Drumikill, were two different Person the first being Uncle to the latter, and that Thomas, wh

dispo

Ju

vance ther to count relation name ed in Thom fame Murd who a who is what B h the what i lear ave t nd K

f Car
lough
ey ar
To

ho g: ert B o5. : ige is l, ho ving ed wi Thou ichar

lenge oufe of the d to a d five

disponed his part to Robert, was cousin-german to the first

Judging that by what I have here and elsewhere ad vanced, I have put this matter in a clearer light than hitherto the fame has been done; I shall proceed to the account of the family of Carbeth. The first charter I find elating to the same, is a charter by Patrick, first of that name laird of Buchanan, of the lands of Gartincaber, datd in the year 1461, by which it is clear that the faid Thomas was 2d. or 3d. fon to Sir Walter. third of that ame laird of Buchanan, his mother being daughter of surdoch duke of Albany. This Thomas was the first tho acquired Carbeth as appears by a charter granted by ohn Halden of Glengeis to an honourable person, Thohas Buchanan of Gartincaber, of meikle Carbeth dated the year 1476. There is no record to testify into that family this Thomas was married, but it is pretty ear he had two fons, Thomas and John, to whom he ave the benecial tack of easter Ballat which with Balvill d Kepdourie, the two last being confirmed by charter. Carbeth feem to have been a part of the Arral's lands ough no evidents concerning the same if any such were ey are now extant.

To Thomas first of Carbeth succeeded his son Thomas ho gave away his half of the lands of Drumikill to Rosett Buchanan laird of the other half thereof, in the year sos. as is already mentioned. Thomas the second's marge is as little known as the first, if he was married at I, however he seems to have lived a considerable sime, ving outlived his second brother John, and at length he ed without iffue,

. h

TC2

ma

oul

ert

um

han

othe

bett

fon

Wb

Thomas Buchanan, son and heir to the deceas'd John schanan in easter Ballat, as nearest heir to his Uncle, somas of Carbeth obtained charter from John Haldan of lengeis in favour of himself, and Janet Buchanan his buse in life-rent, and of Thomas Buchanan his son in of the lands of Carbeth in the year 1555. This Thoms the third of Carbeth is said to have been first mard to a daughter of Douglas of Maines, by whom he had somas his successor; and for his second wife, was marrito a daughter of the laird of Buchanan. By her he d five sons and one daughter, married to Grigor Mac-grigor Glengyle's ancestor. The fons were John, Walter, William Archibald and Robert.

rot

id 1

11 t

Tho

nd

resi

ier

ryc

ate

hic

eth nd

rei

tion

in i

DOI

uc.

rev

art

The

ner

ern

ind

Il o

nd gre

es 1

can

ede

effor

nd .

m l rick

Of

ana

ana

1erc refe

f L

Thomas third of Carbeth was succeeded by his son'd the same name, of whose marriage there is no account, nor of that of his successor being also Thomas, fifth of that name of Carbeth, who had one daughters maried to Galbraith of Balgair, and was succeeded by his son.

Thomas fixth of that name. He married daughter of Adam Colchoun Merchant in Dumbartoun, faid to be a fon of Luss's, her mother being Lindsay of Bonneil's daughter. He had by her two sons, John his successon and Walter.

John first of that name, succeeded his father Thomas, he married a daughter of William Buchanan of Rose and had by her two sons, John his successor and Moses Glyn, also two daughters, the eldest married to James Forrester of Polder, the youngest to John Brice Nottar.

John second of that name, succeeded to his father. He was first married to Cleland of Wardhead's 'daughter, by whom he had two daughter's. The eldest of these was married to John Collender of Westertoun, the other to Thomas Buchanan of Boquhan, Carbeth was second to Margaret Steven, heires of easter Catter, and Finnick tenont; by her he had two sons, John his successor, and Moses of Glyn's; also one daughter, married to Buchana of Auchmar.

John third of that name, of Carbeth, succeeded to he father. He married Stirling of Kippendavie's daughter by whom he had two sons, William his heir, and Most and one daughter unmarried. William Buchanan young er of Carbeth is married to Kincaid of Auchinreoch daughter by whom he had issue.

The first cadet of the family of Carbeth is Bucham in Gartfarrand, in Drymen paroch, whose ancestor seem to have been son to Thomas sirst of Carbeth, having of tained a beneficial tack from the lord Drummond, the proprietor of Gartfarrand, in which and other parts that country diverse of that race continue as yet.

The second cadet of the family of Carbeth is Bucham of easter Ballat, his ancestor being John 2d. son to The mas first of Carbeth. And although Thomas eldest to this John, fell into the interest of Carbeth, and lest

er,

n of

int,

of

deto

hter

eil's

(Ton

ho

Rok

es of

me

r.

He by was

ndh

ick

and

ana

o bi

hte

ofe

ung och

ana

ob the

ts o

anz

The

t fo

t b

rother William in possession of Ballat, yet it seems he id not quit the benefit of the tack of Ballat to his brother Il the same was fold off by Thomas, successor to the above homas to Walter Buchanan, fon to the faid William. I nd this William who may be accounted ancestor of the resent family of Ballat, mentioned in a discharge for 500 erks Scots by Semple of Craighat to Buchanan of Arnryor, for which it feems this William was cautioner, the ate of which discharge was in the year 1576. That hich clears the conveyance of the tack of Ballat of Careth is a fubmission betwixt Thomas Buchanan of Carbeth nd Walter Buchanan in easter Ballat, who refer any difrence betwixt them in relation to Ballat to the determintion of John Buchanan in Ballacondachy, John M'Lachin of Auchintroig, and Duncan Buchanan of Brachern, pon Carbeth's part, and William in Baturich, and John uchanan Burges in Dumbartoun, his brother, with Anrew Galbraith in Tomdarroch, upon Walter in Balat's art, with Thomas Buchanan of Drumikill, oversman. hese Judges decerned the said Walter to pay four hundred berks Scots to Carbeth for his pretension to Ballat, and deerned Carbeth to maintain Walter's possession of these inds, and warrant him at the hands of his brethren and ll others. This fubmission is dated in the year 1594. nd decreet was past thereon in January 1595, there being great many other persons of repute present, besides pares who were obliged to fign by a Nottar, For any thing can find, this Walter had two fons, William who fucteded his father in Ballat, and Duncan who acquired the uchless. William also had two sons, William, his suceffor, and John, Merchant in Stirling. William third that name of Ballat, had three fons, John, Walter, nd Alexander. John of Ballat had four fons, Willim his successor, Walter now in Ballat, John and Parick Merchants in Glasgow. William late of Ballat's accessor is John present Ballat.

Of Duncan the first Cadet of Ballat is descended Bucanan of Duchless, Buchanan lately of mid Cashlie, Bucanan in little Kep, with diverse others. John Buchanan, serchant in Stirling, was father to Mr. John Buchanan, present minister of the Gospel in Covington, in the shire of Lanerk; who with two sons, Mr. John a probationer, ture,

ity

rd 1

ack ny re

rts o

lfo

m, i

thef

iter

cove

o ha

nans

icha

The rbet

ne a

no

hn I han

he fa

is,

glish

e for

rof

oma

nes

off

alter

d fo

eneg

e for

s Ja

s Jo

The

oma

e for

The

yns,

and Mr. George, student of theology in Glasgow. Ale ander, and Walter, sons to William Buchanan in Ball had male issue; as hath also Patrick Buchanan Mercha in Glasgow, being Uncle to the present Ballat, John & Uncle, hath no issue, nor has Walter his other Uncle, a male issue.

The third cadet of the family of Carbeth was los first son of the second marriage to Thomas, third of the name of Carbeth. This John obtained the tack of Ga tincaber. He had two fons, George and Walter; a two daughters, the eldest married to William Bucham first of Ross, the other, to one M'Auslan, George had for fons, his eldest John, for whom his father acquired t lands of Blairluisk. John had two fons, George wh went to Ireland, and William. George fold Blairluik his brother William, now of Blairluisk, who hath tw fons, George younger of Blairluik, and John Merchan in England. George who had fold Blairluifk, hath for fons; John, and William, who relide in the county Tyrone; George who refides in Munster, and Thoma in the county of Donegall. John first of Gartincaber fecond fon was Walter, who had no male iffue. John ha an illegitimate fon, Thomas, who went to Ireland a had one fon, John, whose only fon, George in Glenm queen had four fons, John, William, Matthew an George, who refide mostly in the Counties of Derry, an Donegall. George of Gartincaber's fecond fon, Georg was father to Thomas Buchanan in Creitchael in Buch nan parish. He had another son, Andrew father George, and Patrick Buchanan in Ledrish in Buchan parish. George's third fon was Thomas who purchast heritage a part of Gartincaber. He had two fons Will am who acquired Ardoch fin Kilmaronock parifb, and George late of Gartincaber, who left four fons, John no of Gartincaber, Thomas Merchant in England, Doug and Robert. George's fourth fon was Andrew, who ha three fons, two of these having gone to Ireland, and on refiding in Drymen parish. George had also a daugh ter married to Andrew Buchanan, of Gaftachrain.

Thomas of Carbeth's fecond fon of the fecond marriag was Walter, who obtained a tack of Ballendeorn in Buo hanan parish. He had one fon John, who from his love ture, was termed John Beg, or little John. His posity reside in the parishes Balfron and Drymen; the rd son of that marriage was William, who obtained ack of Blairnabord in the parish of Drymen; his prony resided mostly in Blairnabord as yet, as also in other its of the parishes of Drymen and Buchanan, There also one Archibald a great grand-child of the said Wilm, residing in good circumstances in Virginia; and re is a brother of his in the Dutch service. The fourth these sons was Archibald, who had one son, John, a iter in Edinburgh, whose posterity for any thing I can cover, reside in Malcalder. The fifth son was Robert, o had only one illegitimate son ancestor to some Buchans for some time in Sallochy, now in other parts of chanan parish.

The next cadet to these mentioned of the family of rbeth is Walter Buchanan, first of Boquhan, of the he and manner of whose descent off that of Carbeth I not well affured. I find him obtain a charter from Sir m Buchanan of That-ilk, of the lands of meikle Bohan, being defigned Walter Buchanan in Drumquasle. he said charter is dated in the year 1623. He had two s, Thomas of Boquhan and John who purchast Sheglish in Kilmaronock paroch Thomas of Boguhan had e fon who left iffue, being Walter, who married Lenof Branshogle's daughter, by whom he had one fon omas, who hath three fons Walter, John, and George. nes and Willam Lennox dying without iffue, the inteoff Banshogle fell to Thomas of Boquhan's eldest fon alter, now in possession thereof. John of Shenglish four fons, Walter, who had one fon, Walter, now of eneglish; George who purchast Ledrishmore, leaving fon William, now of Ledrishmar, John's third fon s James, who acquired middle Catter. His fourth fon s John, in little Tullichewn.

The next cadet of the faid family is Walter, 2d. fon to omas, fixth or last of that name of Carbeth. He had fon James Buchanan, portioner of Cairnock in Dun-

f.

and

nga had

one

Buo

The next cadet to this Walter is Moses Buchanan of yas, brother to the late John Buchanan of Carbeth.

He left only one daughter married to Dennistoun Colgrain.

The last cadet is Moses Buchanan of Glyns, broth to the present Buchanan of Carbeth, who is married to daughter of Mr. Archibald Govean of Drumquhasse, whom he hath issue.

Buchanan of Carbeth bears Buchanan; and for distinction, a dagger in the lion's dexter paw, pointed upwar or towards the chief, proper. For crest a helmet suits his station. Motto, Audacia et Industria.

AN

ACCOUNT of the FAMILY

L E N N Y.

HIS family of Lenny is descended from the molta cient cadet which came off the family of Buchan and although by that means the most remote from principal family is nevertheless preferable to some ou cadets of later extract, in regard that Lenny descend at two different times off Buchanan, of which the first ing fon to Buchanan, married the heiress of Lenny, did the laird of Buchanan a second heires, as also in gard Buchanan, now of Lenny, represents, the old fan ly of Lenny of That-ilk, which is reported to have been family of good repute, as far as tradition may be rel on. But there are as few documents relating to, as the are men of that old family extant in this age, to clear or any other matter, concerning the fame. I ha perused a genealogical manuscript of that family in thela of Lennie's hands which afferts, that the Lennie's, wh owners of that estate had no charters of the same, but large fword, with which it feems he who first of that na acquired these lands, had performed some signal atchies ment, being a means of his first advancement. This,

ent f what

re

stat rea um oga vide

ar n nair near

near en's aird

ne of

erst istor urn

onfe fore vent ore or w here t. F ower

ermli

ert, lough

ope t relick, being one of St. Fillians teeth, were held in fuch eneration, that however had those two in possession refumed he had a very good right to that estate. enure much like to that which is recorded of the estate f Arundel in England, that in old times whoever by thatfoever means obtained possession of Arundel castle, ras instantly acknowleded to have a sufficient title to that fate, Nor was the case of Lenny any way fingular, a reat many others in these more ancient times being cirumstantiate after the same manner, as judging it a deogation to follicit for, or in the least rely upon written vidents for fecurity of the possession of their estates, and ar more honourable, and fuitable to their inclinations, to mintain their possession by their sword, by whatever neans acquired. As this symbolical charter of St. Fillen's tooth was a relick much efteemed by the ancient airds of Lenny, fo another relick of the same Saint, being ne of his hands embalmed, was no less valued by some f our Scottish kings, in those times of ignorance and fuentition; it being recorded of this last by some of our idorians, that the night before the battle of Bannockurn, the Scottish Nobles, and principal officers having a onference with K. Robert Bruce concerning the manner fordering the battle next day, and being folicitous of the vent, in regard of the greatness of the English army, being fore than quaruple the number of theirs, fuddenly a filver ox which, was in a coffer in the tent, gave a very great clink; hereupon the kings chaplain ran to the box, and finding t. Fillan's hand therein being ordinarly kept in that box owever, cryed there was a great miracle wrought, in reard he had left the hand in the king's palace in Dumrmline, having taken only with him the empty box, If that precious relick should by some misadventure be oft, and that at that instant the hand had miraculouy of its own accord come and enclosed itself in the box, hich in his opinion, presaged good success to king Roert, and his army in the ensuing battle. This miracle, bough invented by theready wit of the chaplain, being diulged through the army, added no less courage than ope to them of the prosperous event of the approaching gagement the state of the Kanning

y.

n t een relia

har lai

wh

nat

niev

s, a

aar

oul

le

bar

na

her

ha

ny

hof

ign

Len

ut

Buc

vou

oh

ecte

ucc

re

aird

n co

eed vas

efig

he b atri is fa

d th

nd a

ent

f th

is fi

Buch

Ceir

alf o

een :

y a

vhat

The first son of the laird of Buchanan I find upon record who married the heiress of Lenny, was Allan, second fon to Gilbert laird of Buchanan, in the reign of king Alexander III. There is no charter, or other document in Lenie's hands that any manner of way does tellify this first marriage; any discovery I obtained thereof be ing collected from an ancient manufcript register of the Earl's of Lennox, and his vassels charters, among the records of Dumbarton-shire, in which I found a charte by Malcolm Earl of Lennox, upon refignation of Alla of Lenny, in the Earl's hands of the lands of Drumqu huasle, in favour of John, son to the said Allan, for par ment of four pennies of blench duty, if demanded. The charter (as do diverse other old ones) wants date, but by a subsequent charter is found to be in the reign of king Alexander III. as appears by a charter by Gilmicha M'Edolf of Wester Cameron, termed therein Camero Timpane to Malcolm M'Edolf, his fon of the lands Gartachorrans, dated in the year 1247. In which cha ter Allan is one of the witnesses by designation of A lan Buchanan de Lenny. Drumquhasle seems to ha been the patrimonial estate, got by this Allan, at a time he came off the family of Buchanan, or from h father at the time of his marriage with the heires Lenny.

Allan's fuccessor as is evident by the above charte was called John, whose successor was named Walter, feems to appear by letters of compromife, or pacifical on, betwixt Maurice and John Drummond and Alexan Monteath and others of that name, for the flaughter William, John, and James Monteaths, brethren to faid Alexander by these Drummonds. Among other whom the Monteaths include of their friends, in the letters, is mentioned Walter Buchanan their Uncle, behoved to be either laird of Buchanan or Lenny; in gard there were not any other families of note of name of Buchanan extant in that age, except those of B chanan and Lenny. But the traditional account m generally afferted, is, that the faid John's fon was call also John, who had a son, his successor of the same nam which last John, having no male iffue, Janet his daug ter and heirefs, was married to John, thesecond of rd

nd

ng

ent

ify be-

the

the

rte

la

Q.

aj.

by ing

015

SO

han

Alaba

rte

cat

er

o the

all

am

ug tu

name, laird of Buchanan, as testifies a charter fin the bublick archives by king Robert III. in favour of John le Buchanan, and Janet de Lenny, his spouse, of the arony of Pitwhonidy, feem to have been a part of Buchnan's old estate, in regard there is no evident relating hereto extant before this one, granted in favour of Buhanan, nor is there so much as any traditional account of my lands belonging to the old family of Lenny, except hose of that name in Perth shire and a part these so degned in Midlothian. I was for some time surprized at Lennie's retaining the furname of Buchanan, and not ather having assumed the furname, and arms of Lenny, ut observe the reason to be very plain, that the laird of Buchanan, having married the second heiress of Lenny, would not, upon that account, change the furname; and ohn his third fon, who fucceeded to that estate, being alvays termed Buchanan during his father's life time, negefted to assume that of the name of Lenny, as did his accessors in all time thereafter, partly moved thereto, as reported, by some disobligation put upon them by the prvivors of the name of Lenny. By the death of John aird of Buchanan's eldest son at the battle of Vernoil, and n consequence thereof, by Walter the second sons suceeding to the estate of Buchanan, the estate of Lenny vas conveyed in favour of John, the third fon, ordinarily efigned John of Ballacondachy, being a farm room in he barony of Buchanan, given by his father to him for atrimony before the estate of Lenny was conveyed in is favour. Though this John of Ballacondachy continudthe lyne of the present lairds, and family of Lenny, nd as fuch is mentioned in the genealogical tree of the fahily of Buchanan; yet never by this nor any other evient in Lennie's hands, can there be an account obtained f this John's marriage, nor whether at Allan Buchanan, is first son's marriage with the heiress of Lenny, or at Suchanan's marriage with the fecond heiress of the same, leir married the coheiress, and with her obtained the alf of the estate; that marriage of Keir by the traditional ccount and with much more probability feeming to have een at the first of these two junctures. Neither is it evident y any document I could find in Lennie's hands, by that means Keir obtained the superiority of Lennie's K har

n h

atr

ale

ilb

ilin

nd

ear

at

oth

ne

ffr

by T

mil

ent

e e ere

ere

e ca lled

inds

mp

at a

ugl

s fi

alte

Joh

uml

hich

hom

aw

rd (

no n

con

icha

na

13. To

aha dkir

k's

Rob

by

half of that estate, in regard of being married (as is gene rally reported) to the younger of the fifters, or coheireffe, All that is offered for clearing of this point being a traditional narration, that Walter laird of Lenny in the ba gining of the reign of King James IV. had committed fome frivolous crime, which was construed in these times to be a kind of facrilege, for which being cited before the next eccleliastical judge, he disobeyed all citation given upon that account, till in the end being excomma nicated for his contumacy, he was thereafter delated the civil magistrate; but giving as little obedience to one, as to the other, he was profecuted wih the utual rigour; being not only denounced rebel, but as is repu ted, also forfeited the gift of which, or more probable of Lennie's liferent escheat, was purchased by Keir, wh reaped no advantage thereby, Lenny retaining pollello of his estate by force, till in the end one Shaw in Cam more, an intimate comrade of Lennie's, was influenced (as the flory goes) by Keir either to apprehend, or h Lenny, Ehaw judging the first somewhat impractically resolved upon the last method, which he performed whi at the hunting with Lenny, by stabbing him behin his back, and killing him. After which Keir obtains possession of Lenny's estate, which he did not enjoy long For Shaw meeting Lernie's lady and children upon aim in a very mean condition, and the lady upbraiding hi with her hufbands murder, he was poffest with fuch he ror of the fact, and deteflation of Keir, his influence, put him upon the resolution of expiating Lennie's must by killing of Keir as he met him occasionally near Stirl After which Keir's and Lennie's fuccessors adjust the matter fo, that upon Lennie's holding his estate Keir, he should pass from any other demand he had pon the fame, which being then agreed to, continues the state of the s to this day.

John first laird of Lenny of the second line, and and tor to the present Lenny, was succeeded by Andrew fon, as appears by tharter by James II. in the years, in favour of the said Andrew Buchanan of Lenn of the barony of Pitwhonidy, with the lands of Cule

O'stalist Algea & Strafebelman

ard, and Ledunchard in life-rent, and to John Buchanhis fon in fee, and to their heirs male, which failing to atrick Buchanan of That-ilk, his other fon, and his heirs ale; which failing, to Archibald, Walter, George, and libert, Lennie's other fons, and their heirs male; which iling, to Lennie's other heirs whatfoever: a very strange nd of a tailzie; Buchanan and two of his fens, though and Lenny were but cousin germans, being preferred in at charter of tailzie to four of Lenny's fons, and his other, if these last mentioned were legitimate. At what ne these lands contained in the above charter, went from that family cannot be determined, neither is there y necessity of inferting any more of the charters of that mily, some of the immediate successors of Andrew last entioned, not being entered, fo that any charters which e extant of some of the latter lairds, are so very late as ere is not the least occasion of mentioning them. I shall erefore give account of the lairds mariages, and of e cadets of that family, as mentioned in a manuscript lected from the charters, and other documents in the ands of Lenny with a genealogical tree of his family, mposed from that manuscript; it being afferted by both at Andrew, second Laird of Lenny, was married to a ughter of Lockhart of Barr, by whom he had John s successor. He had also other four sons, Archibald, alter, George, and Gilbert.

John third laird of Lenny, was married to Mushet of umbank's daughter, and had by her Patrick his successor hich Patrick; married Semple of Fulwood's daughter, by hom he had Walter, his successor, who was killed by haw of Camsmore. He married a daughter of Haldan ird of Glengeis, by whom he had John, his successor, no married the Earl of Monteith's daughter. This John company with Patrick, second of that name, laird of uchanan, with a good many others of best account of name, was killed at the battle of Flowden Anno 13.

ki

ble

hi

ine

ong

tin hi

hot

21,2

nrd

irli

ult

ate

ad

ues

ance w h

enn

Cule

To John succeeded Robert, who was first married to raham of Inchbrachie's daughter, relict of the laird of dkinglass. He had for second lady Mushet of Burnk's daughter.

Robert first of that name laird of Lenny, was succeed by Robert, the second of that name, who was married

pt

10

bug

dh

F

r, v

ch,

Th

hai

org

hi

and

arta

d A

d A Ge

n, r

Joh

d A

ur. ired

part

ber

nor

Wal Aud

Joh the

t on

ing a

John

d tw

by t orry l

bald

bald,

to Stirling of Ardoch's daughter, by whom he had Roben his successor, and John his 2d. son grandfather to the prefent Lenny.

Robert third of that name, laird of Lenny, was man ried to a daughter of Campbell of Lawers, by whom he had one fon, Robert who died unmarried, and one daugh ter, married to Captain Archibald Campbel fon to the lair of Dunstafnage, being mother to Doctor John Campbel of Torty.

Robert the second of that name had also another daughter, who was married to Mr. Donald Campbell, a son the above mentioned family, who had nine daughters the eldest of which was married to Baron McCorcadel, the sto McDougal of Gallanach, the 3d. to McLachlan of Kichoan, the 4th to McLean of Shouna, the 5th to Campbel of Inchdrenich, the 6th. to Campbell of Fasnacloich, the 7th. to Cambell of Finerocan, the 8th to Reid of Acches oran, the 9th to Campbell of Fevard.

Robert, last of that name laird of Lenny, dying with out issue, he was succeeded by John Buchanan his coungerman, son to John Buchanan 2d. son to Robert, secon of that name laird of Lenny, his mother being Stirling Ardoch's daughter. John laird of Lenny last mentions had two sons, John, his eldest son married Lennor Woodhead's daughter, and died without issue. His as son was Henry, who upon his brother's death succeed to the estate of Lenny. He was first married to a secon daughter of Buchanan of That ilk. He married secon ly a daughter of Cambell of Lawers, having by bot numerous issue.

The first cadet of the Family of Lenny, according the genealogical manuscript of that family, was Walt 3d. ion to Andrew laird of Lenny. This Walter obtain a beneficial tack of Mochastel in Callender paroch, so Balfour lord Barleigh's ancestor, then proprietor there Walter's son was called Andrew, whose son Patrick has been experienced by the same of t one fon Alexander.

This Alexander had two fons John his eldest, and W ter, who obtained from his father the wedset or seu rig of the lands of Glenny in Monteith, his eldest brother Johaving preserved the tack of Mochastel, to the heritage Glenny, The last of that race who possess the same, ptain James Buchanan Grandson to the above Walter o lived a good part of his time, and died a Captain in ouglass's regiment in France, being never married, he d his interest of Glenny to Walter Graham of Gartmor Family. Captain James had an Uncle called Alexanr, who obtained from Cuningham of Drumquasle a beficial tack of the lands of Gartachairn in Drymen pach.

This Alexander had two fons, Andrew who feued Garhairn from my lord Napeir, then proprietor thereof and orge. Andrew of Gartachairn had two fons Alexanhis fuccesfor, and George, late Bailie in Glasgow. Alander of Gartachairn had three fons, George now of artachairn, Thomas Buchanan Maltman, in Glafgow, d Andrew, Tailor in the faid town. Bailie George had ur fons, George his eldest son, Maltman, Andrew, Neil, d Archibald, Merchants in Glasgow.

George 12d. fon to Alexander, first in Gartachairn had ree fons, John who went abroad, Alexander, and Willi-

pb th

vit

ufi COL

ng

OM

IC

S 2 eed

eco

con

oot

ng

alt

tain

, fre

nere ck

W

u rig

er ]

itag

me, n, residing in Edinburgh.

John in Mochastel had two sons, Robert his eldest, d Archibald ancestor to Buchanan of Torry, Robert done fon Walter, who had two fons, John and Arur. John the eldest fold his tack of Mochastel, and acired afterwards the lands of Arnpryor, Straithyre, and part of the lands of Buchanan. He had one fon, Mr. bert, who also had one son, Francis Buchanan, present mpryor.

Walter in Mochastel's 2d, son Arthur purchased the land Auchlesty. He had fix fons that came to age; the eld-John who went abroad, the 2d. James now of Auchlefthe third Walter now Caornach, the 4th. Robert who t one fon James, Maltman in Dumblain, the 5th Geor-, who left no issue, the 6th. Alexander of Dulater, reing at present in his ancestor's old possession Mocha-

John first of that name in Mochastel's 2d son Archibald d two fons, John of Torry, and Robert, who was kill by the English, and left one son Archibald, John of prry had two fons, Archibald of Torry, and Robert Arbald of Torry had three fons, John present Torry, Arbald, who left no issue, and Andrew who had one for

James. John of Torry's 2d. fon Robert had five for that came to age, the eldest whereof is John of Greath in St Ninian paroch. His other fons were Archibal Charles Alexander and Duncan. There are also of the family of Mochastel some of the Buchanan's residing Straithyre, with others in the parishes of Calender at Kilmadock.

th

G

an

m

tra

fm

n

he

me

ola

fro

Ma

oh

er

d J

ith

hof

rs,

eri

dJ

Tue

mal

fth

ft t

nd i

dth

mil

arill

the

er l

le pi

Gle

yron

The

Lei

The second cadet of Lenny's family was John Moin or Meikle John, ancestor to Dr. John Buchanan who les no issue, and to John Buchanan in Toddelburn with de erse others about Dumblain and Straithallan.

The third cadet of Lenny's family is fir John of Son craig, 2d. fon to Robert, first of that name laird of Lenny his estate of Scotscraig went with a daughter of his to son of the Earl of Mar, and since has been conveyed a diverse others.

The fame Robert had a third fon, called James, Machant in Edinburgh, who purchased the estate of Shirrah in Orkney. He had one son Thomas who sold Shirrah and had three sons, Arthur for whom he purchased the estate of Sound: John for whom he acquired the estate Sandside, and William to whom he left the estate of Raland, all whose progeny is extinct except one daughts left by Thomas late of Sandside being heires of that state.

By any account I could obtain from the two fons 2d of that name laird of Lenny, are descended the gracest part of these Buchanans residing in the parishes Campsy and Bathernock. One of these two sons we name was John, having sirst settled in Bancleroch, as Kirktoun, in Campsie parish, and having gone from the place to Bankeir, had three sons the eldest of which as Gilbert, whose posterity continued in and about Bankeithis 2d. son was William who came to Bleirsketh in Baternock. This William had a son of the same name sather to William Buchanan Merchant in Glasgow, as Gilbert Buchanan of Bankel, then present Dean of Guin Glasgow.

There is also descended off this family Walter Bucha an late of Orchard, who dying without heirs male their terest devolved upon his eldest daughter, and who conve ed by her to Wiliam Atkin Merchant in Glasgow, he [ 81 ] husband, and now proprietor thereof, Orchard had another daughter married to Andrew Gray of Christoun, near Glafgow; another to Robert Alexander Merchant and late Bailie in Glafgow; and another who died unmarried.

There are also cadet's of Lenny's family of a late extract, called Alexander Roye's progeny, being only a small number of the vulgar fort residing for the most part n Callendar parish.

The above mentioned being all the cadets according to the manufcript frequently spoken of, or any other Documents I could obtain, descended off the family of Lenny, who retain the surname of Buchanan. I shall in the next place mention those of other denominations descended from the fame,

enn

to dt

Me

rah

rab

1 1

ate

R

hte

rat

ns

grea les

whi n th

h

inke

Bat

nam

Gu

uch

the

onve

w b

The first, and most considerable of these fort are the Macwatties. The ancestor of these was Walter, son to ohn, second of that name laird of Lenny. This Waler was ordinarly termed Wattie in Calintuy, being the ame of the place of his residence. He had a son calld John, who came to the Lennox, and refided in the paish of Luss. John according to the ordinary custom of nofe, and even of the present times among the highlandrs, had his furname changed into a patronimical one, erived from his father's proper name, being thence termd John Macwattie. He having nine fons, who all had lue, was the cause of that new name's becoming in a mall process of time pretty numerous. Some families' these Macwatties after the conflict of Glenfroon having It the parish of Lufs, fettled in the parishes of Killearn, nd Strablain; thefe, quitting that of Macwattie, reaffumtheir right furname of Buchanan, and those of Lenny's mily in both the above parishes, with some few in the arith of Campfy descended of these Macwatties, so many them at least as continued in the parish of Luss, and oer highland places retain the furname of Macwattie, yet, e principal person of these being Alexander Macwattie Glenmacoirn in Luss parish. There are some of these acwatties in the shire of Argyle, and in the county of yrone in Ireland,

The second cadet of this last fort descended of the family Lenny are the Macaldonichs, deriving that name from a certain person of Lenny's family named Muldonich, being an ancient Scottish Christian name, and in some parts of the highlands in use yet, from whose name his progeny obtained the furname of Macmaldonichs, or contract. ed as above, and most ordinarily exprest. At what time the ancestor of these came off the family of Lenny, cannot be well determined; however they alway's own themfelves to be of the faid family, and the more to remove a ny scruple thereanent, have mostly now, as did some of their friends the Macwatties, as already observed, assumed the furname of Buchanan. So that the old furname of Macaldonich, will in a fhort time turn into defue 78 Statement - kee nan

[eco

Stai

coln

Bon

an i

Lor

char

ofhe

hou

with hem

re fe

ran

by ar

he re

eign

nenti

anar

dan

dem

ame

hers

lacol

r affu

ully e

(4)

The last cadet of those of other denominations, de feended off the family of Lenny was the ancestor of those termed Macrobs, so denominated from one of that family called Robert, by contraction Rob, whence his progen obtained this furname. The number and character of these are very inconsiderable, they residing mostly in the parishes of Callendar, and Kilmadock, as do the Macaldo nichs, mostly in the lower parts of Straithern, and Straith allan, and fome other places of Perth-shire, and these and all the cadets of other denominations I could discover t be descended of the family of Lenny.

The armorial bearing of Buchanan of Lenny, is Buchanan hanan, being a lion rampant fable, armed and langue gules, within a double treffure, flower'd and counterflow ed with flower de luces of the second, quartered with the of Lenny Being fable a cheveron, betwirt two bear head erazed in chief, and a boar head as the former in bal Argent muzzled Gules, on the chief point of the cheve on a singue foil of the first, first and third Buchanan, & cond and third Lenny Creft, a helmet fuiting his quality Motto, Nobilis est Ira Leonis.

(社) 种种的。这个文字是有的。现代,我们是这种的。 new Visite land & Agrilleting the Ly Thing AND A SECTION OF THE CONTRACT OF THE CONTRACT

and the second property of the second of the second

Borth Y Trout a Bort - I al Angrous sugge

ACCOUNT of the FAMILY

be-

arts oroactime

emea-

um-

ame

fue-

de

hole

nil

en

th

ldo

ith

210

e ti

Buc

ue

w ho

YC

0 F

AUCHNEIVEN.

HE first of this family was John, third son to Gilbert laird of Buchanan, who first assumed the furname of Buchanan whose eldest son was fir Maurice, his econd Allan first of Lenny, and the third John first of stainislet, who is inferted witness in a charter by Malolm Earl of Lennox, to Patrick Lindsay of the lands of Bonneil. He is also, with John Napeir of Kilmahew, Alan of Fassane, father to Walter of Fassane, afterwards Lord of Lennox, and Maurice Galbraith, witness to a harter by the same Earl to the said Patrick, of his being ofheagar, or principal forrefter of Lennox (a) and hough these charters wants date, yet by comparing them with those having dates granted to some of these witnesses hemselves, and others in which they were witnesses, they re found to be in the latter part of the reign of King Alrander III. So that Gilbert, being the very first found y any manner of record to have assumed the name of luchanan, and he having flourished in the latter part of he reign of King Alexander II, and a good part of the eign of King Alexander III. in which last the above pentioned John, is inferted witness by designation of Bucanan, he cannot, with any shadow of reason, be presumdany other than fon to the faid Gilbert, it being clear to demonstration there were no others defigned by that furame at that time, but himself, and his children; all ohers descended before, as the Macauslans, Macmillans and facolmans, having either retained the ancient furname, affumed others; in use at this present time. And as it's ally evident, the ancestor of this present family was a son

1 Double & the could

(a) Chartuary of Dumbarton fhire.

ppe

eir t

e la

ad

ent

d, r

ners

Villi

To

oun

VOU

uch

y w uis,

red

ne y

larc

ent

668

ite c

ohn

here

r of

aug

G]

hant

liza

Pa Valt

he 1

Joh

rah ohn

rah

arri

Th

luch

on-c te (

TS,

ant

of the laird of Buchanan, by the continued acquiescence of the lairds of Buchanan, although there were no other evidence to that purpose, so hence it appears, that the pretention of Auchniven's being a cadet of Lenny, can by to means be admitted, in regard Allan who first married the heires of Lenny, and the above mentioned John were contemporaries, and both witheffes in the charter mention ed, and some others by defignations not in the least infinnating any thing as the latter's being either fon or cadeth the former. Auchniven's ancestor feems to have had; confiderable interest in Dumbartoun shire, being not on proprietor of Stainiflet, Auchinreoch, and some other moor lands near the town of Dumbartoun, but also of great deal of ground next adjacent to the town itself known as yet by the name of Buchanan's acres; like wife a part of the ground upon which many of the hould es of that town are built, there being paid ground ma for the fame by the builders and possessors. Those land continued with this family till about the year 1590," who John Buchan an of Stainiflet fold them with all li other interest in and about Dumbartoun, being most now in posession of Sir James Smollet, as are alsou most ancient evidents that pertained to that family; now in cultody of the prefent Auchneiven being on the evidents of Auchneiven, and Lecher, of a mo modern date than those of Stainislet.

The first of those of Lecher I find upon record is resignation by Neil Milroy, heritor thereof, of the land of Lecher and Pertinents, to George Buchanan of the lands of Stainisset, dated in the year 1482. The first with that of the lands of Ibert, for good served done and to be done, was confirmed to the said Georg by William lord Graham, this was dated in the year 1489.

George's successor was Patrick, whose successor we called Thomas, as appears by charter of the two parts of Lecher, by William Earl of Montrosse, to Thomas Buchanan, son and heir to the deceased Patrick Buchanan of Stainisset, and Elizabeth Edmonstoun, daught to the laird of Dunteath, his spouse in life-rent, and the heirs in see, dated in the year 1558

Thomas's fuccessor was John who fold Stainistet, ppears by precept of Clare Constat. In his favour as eir to Thomas his father, by John earl of Montrolle, of he lands of Lecher, dated in the year 1581. This John ad two fons, Walter his fuccessor, and Dougal, who ent to Ireland, some of whose posterity having returned, reside at Linlithgow, and Queen's Ferry, and others remained in Ireland. Of this Dougal is descended Villiam Buchanan Gard'ner in Glasgow.

n-

to a hard he had he had

th.

;2

100 and the fine

org

ye

Wa

part

oma Buc

ghte

the

To John succeeded Walter who was married to Edmonoun of Balleun's daughter, as appears by a feafin in her your, in liferent, of the lands of Lecher, by John uchanan father to this Walter, dated in the year 1628. y whom he had John his fucceffor, as is clear by charter his favour by James earl of Montrole, afterward Maruis, of an annuity of three calder of yietual, payable redeemable out of the lands of Auchneiven, dated in he year 1930. as also a Precept of Clare Constat, by James farquis of Montrosse with seasin thereon to the above entioned John of the lands of Auchnieven, dated Anno 668. Walter of Auchnieven's fecond fon was Walter, te deacon of the baker's in Glafgow, who had four fons ohn Buchanan Merchant in Glafgow, Walter Maltman here, George Baker there, and Thomas Buchanan Mafr of a ship belonging to the said town. He had also two aughters, Marion married to Robert Graham, Merchant Glafgow, and Janet married to George Currie, Merbant in that city. John of Auchneiven was married to lizabeth Crawford daughter to John Crawford Portioner Partick. He had by her John his fuccessor, and Valter Buchanan Writer in Glasgow who acquired he lands of Teucherhil in the parith of Meikle Govan. John of Auchneivan last mentioned was married to raham of Killearns daughter, and had by her one fon. ohn Buchanan, present Auchneiven, who is married to raham of Kilearn's daughter; and one daughter unarried. The man well managed as a very a construction

The Buchanans of the third of Lecher are cadets of uchneiven; as also John Buchanan Baker, and late dea-on-conveener in Glasgow father to John Buchanan, the deacon of the Bakers there who had three daughers, the eldest married to William Anderson, Merhant in Glasgow, the second to George Danziel, Wright in the faid town, the third to Mr. Robert Buchanan Ampryor, whole daughter is married to the laird Bardowie.

Also the ancestor of those Buchanan's lately in Boland, now in other parts of Buchanan paroch, was accepted this family. James Buchanan Uncle to these his mentioned went to Ireland in the beginning of the regos of king Charles II. John, eldest son to the said Jame being a person of good parts and education, becan Lord Mayor, of Dublin, and upon that account obtained the honour of Knighthood, he purchased a good estate near that city, of which his son is now in possion, who with some other sons of his and a brother, to others of this family, resides in Linster, and other places of that kingdom.

r

lte

J

ari

ni

ac

1

ic

go

th

vn. m

w cou

nce

p ars

ly i

Buc

rio

th

be

des.

fe i

Mili

pute

e firl

lair

d ret

The latest cadet of Auchneiven's family is John, is to the desceast Walter Buchanan Writer in Glasgow, bei the present Auchnieven's cousin-German; and present prietor of Teucherhill.

Park Hot Haceld with

of tolle of Auchoriven was married to

A Brief Account of BUCHANAN of MILTOUN,

alfo of Buchanan of Cashill, Arduill, and &

A LTHOUGH the descent of the ancestors of in I am to treat of in this place, be more lated the family of Buchanan, than that of some others also dy mentioned, nevertheless having obtained no many of written document tending to the illustration of the descent, but only a traditional account of the same, which means there cannot be very much advanced of cerning them; I have chosen for that reason, not only treat of them joyntly, but also to place the account them after that of others, whose descent can be clear by written, and therefore more convincing documents authorities.

the elder manged in William Arterion in at Olafging, the feedad to Seasge Danaing Wingin

nan

ird

Bo

3 20

e l

reig

ame

ecar

obta go olld

plac

n, f

bei

t p

SA

te alre

ann

th

e, nly

ınt

ear nts

As for the family of Miltoun neither I, nor any other the name of Buchanan I had ever occasion of converwith had the least knowledge of, or correspondence h any fuch family; all found upon record concerning, fame being a description or Blazon of the armorial ring of Mr. Patrick Buchanan, fon to Buchanan of houn, a cadet of Buchanan of That-ilk, mentioned in Nifbet's treatife of heraldry lately published, in which iven no manner of account of that families genealogy, only what relates to the above mentioned gentleman's ring, as a cadet thereof. So that all I can offer conning this family is founded upon a traditional account ad from a certain gentleman, who was an officer in laird of Buchanan's regiment in the year 1645, at ich time that regiment being in garrison in Inverness, e Colin Buchanan of Mittoun of Peatty, a gentleman good repute, and whose interest lay within a few miles the town of Inverness, kept very much correspondence h Buchanan and his officers while in garrison in that m. He was descended, by any thing can be collected m any account given out, of Maurice Buchanan's who was a treasurer to the Dauphiness of France in reign of king James I. And though there can be no count had of any of that family's having corresponnce with any other of their name in these more Southparts, in which the same is most numerous these many in bygone nevertheless it is very presumeable, this faly is still in being; at least it seems by their arms, to ve been fo not long ago, it being evident the late laird Buchanan changed his motto from Audaces juvo, into vior bine Honos, in the latter part of his time, to which that of Mr. Buchanan, Miltoun's fon plainly alludes, bearing being Buchanan, within a double border, des, charged with eight crescents, Argent, with a e in crest, fliped, Gules; Motto, Ducitur hinc Honos. he Buchanan's of the ifle of Sky feem to be descended Miltoun.

The ancestor of the Buchanan's of Cashill was always puted an immediate cadet of the family of Buchanan; if first of these having obtained the lands of Cashill from laird of Buchanan, by which that family was designed dretained possession thereof for some ages, until about

lein

fc

elo

ain

be

T

our

rac

atist

ny 1

ies,1

vith

vhic

M

is fa

ni,

im

eing

han

orfe

ccid

ther

on e urin

nad' is h

nd ]

im.

ft tl

Vate

bood

n, ir

fterv

inla

ne el

ather

is for

urch

ispor

the latter part of the reign of Queen Mary, Robert B chanan of Cashill, and Walter Buchanan his fon, fell variance with Thomas Buchanan in Arduill their kin man, and neighbour, in which contest the faid Thom and his fon Duncan, were both killed by those of Call for which cause the laird of Buchanan disposessed them Cashill, whereupon Walter Robert's eldest fon, went Ireland, where diverse of his posterity remain yet. 0 of these having come thence, and fettled in Argyle-li was ancestor to William Buchanan of Glens, who has brethren, and some other relations in that country. W am's two fons are John Buchanan younger, Merch in Glasgow, and James, Merchant in Tarbet. Roben Cashill had another son, who went to Braidalbin, was officer to one of the lairds of Glenurchy, the prese Earl of Braidalbin's ancestor from which office his p terity were termed Macamhaoirs, or officers fons, which there were some lately in Buchanan parish, now extinct. There are others of that name yet in Br dalbin, but they maintain no correspondence with name of Buchanan.

The ancestor of the Buchanans in Arduill was Rob Coich, or mad Robert, well known to be fon to Patri fecond of that name laird of Buchanah in the reign king James IV. as by uncontroverted tradition is affert He was, upon account of his passionate or precipit temper termed Coich, or mad more especially from mad adventures of his. The first of which was his l ing engaged, under a great penalty, to present a cent malefactor to the laird of Buchanan, and the person ! presented dying before the prefixed time of presentable mad Robert's furety was charged to pay the penal whereupon he went to the place where the principal interred and having digged up his corps, carried the fan and threw it upon the court table, before the laird, company, protesting thereupon to be free of the penal for non production. The laird and others prefent, be fomewhat furprized at this uncommon action frankly quited the penalty, left a greater inconveniency might fue upon refusal. The second of mad Robert's admis no tures was his killing a gentleman, who belonged to i Bla Lord Graham, for, no other reason but that the said go an in leman, by his Lord's orders was going to uplift the rents, of certain lands in the upper part of Buchanan parish, then belonging to the Lord Graham, and which Robert differed should be possessed by any other than a Buchanan, being contiguous to their estate.

at

(h en

ele

s,

Br

h t obe

itri

gn

pita

n tr

s b erta to atio

nalt

l w

fan an nal

y a

dve co ti The lord Graham, justly incensed at this action, had reourse to Buchanan for reparation, which seeing not very racticable to be had of the actor, and Buchanan having atisfied my lord of his not being accessory to that affair, ny lord was obliged for preventing suture inconvenienies, to make an exchange of the lands in Buchanan parish, with those of Bamoir, lying near to his other estate, and which then pertained to Buchanan.

Mad Robert had only one fon, called Patrick, who, as is father had that of Coich, had the nickname of Courni, or Champion; the reason of giving that epithet to im being this. The families of Argyle, and Buch man eing at variance in this Patrick's time, Argyle, and Buhanan, each of them attended with a select party of orfemen, according to the custom of these times, met ecidentaly at Cramond-water, the one coming from, the ther going for Edinburgh, these two parties standing uon each bank of the river, and neither of them advenuring to enter the fame, at length Patrick Buchanan, nad Robert's fon, couching his spear and setting spurs to, is horse, jumpt boldly with no little noise into the river, nd past through Buchanan with his party following im. Upon which Argyle's party stood a little aside, and If the passage clear. Upon Patrick's jumping into the Vater, Argyle said in Irish to the laird of Kilmartin, who ood next him, by St. Martin that is a Massy Champin, in Irish Courrui, whence Patrick was always termed fterwards the Courrui, or Champion. He had four fons, inlay, Alexander, Thomas, and Patrick. Of Finlay, he eldest of these, are descended Alexander Buchanan, ther to James Buchanan, now of Cremanan, who, with is fons, refides in Ireland; Mr. James-Buchanan, who urchased the lands of Cremannan; and having no issue isponed those lands to the present James of Cremannan, is nephew. The Buchanans possessors for a long time f Blairour in Drymen parish, of which John Buchaan in easter Balfuning, Thomas Buchanan, stabler, in M -

elve

hou

fed ed c

TN

atio

rhic

here

est c

and,

adet

and t

wh

oft, 1

esce

eltor

ne o ne t

uch

1.AI

onfin

thick

or c hat c

he ba

esce:

her

f the

amil

t

Edinburgh, with fome others, are also descended of the faid Finlay.

Of Alexander, Patrick's 2d. fon, are descended the Buchanans, for some time possessors of Ballantone and Galdrew of Drumquhasle.

Of Thomas, the 3d. son, are descended the Buchanans in Wester Arduill in Buchanan parish, ordinarly termed Donald M'Thomas his race.

Of Patrick, the 4th, fon of Patrick the Courrui is deficended Finlay Buchanan in Laggan of Tyrconnell in Iroland, who has fome brethren, and other relations of the race, residing near Rapho and some other places of the kingdom.

The Buchanans in Sallochy their progenitor, as those thers last mentioned, conform to any traditional account can be obtained was an immediate cadet of the family of Buchanan, his name being Gilbert, whence his progent were termed ordinarily M'Gilberts, or Gilbertsons. The first possession given to this Gilbert was Sallochy in Buchanan parish, of which his posterity retained possession diverse generations, That family was divided into several branches one of these continuing in the old possession till of late years, John last of this branch died without male issue.

Another branch of this family went to Kilpatrick, an fettled in Forgiestoun, whose issue having spread throug some other parts of Kilpatrick, and Bathernock, any them who yet exist, pretend to be of Lennie's family, so ing the greater part of the other Buchanans of these, a some neighbouring places are really of the family of Lany. Besides those already mentioned there are some simulations, with diverse farmers of the name of Bucham in middle, and east Calder, as also near Langholm in the south country, of whose descent I could obtain no ditinct account; so that I must leave the same undetermined.

Having compleated (conform to what instructions could obtain) all I designed to treat of in relation the family of Buchanan, and the cadets thereof, whereain that surname, I proceed next to the account the cadets of that family, who pass under other demonstrations, nevertheless are known, and own that elves to be cadets of the family of Buchanan. And hough it be an invertion of the method I have hitherto fed, I shall begin with the most ancient, and most repued of these.

[ 90 ]

AN

ACCOUNT

OF THE

eol

y o gen Th

Buc

a fo

eve

lion

hou

an

oug

y

, an fina

ana n th

di

lete

ons

n

W

unt

r d

chen

ACAUSELANS.

N regard the M'Aufelans are the only fept, or cadet of the family of Buchanan, though of another denomiation, that have yet retained the ancient furname by hich the family of Buchanan was denominated, I shall erefore treat of these in the first place, as being the elelt cadets, and those of that name in Scotland, and Ireand, complexly taken, of the best account of any other adets of that family whence they derived their origin. nd though all the evidents of any confiderable antiquiwhich belonged to the baron M'Aufelan, are long ago of, fo that all that can be obtained for illustration of the escent of that family, is a traditional account of the anflor of the present family of M'Auselan's being a son of ne of the Auselans, generally reputed to be the first of three so named, and who first acquired the lands of uchanan: yet this account though the exact time of the l'Anselan's descent cannot be so exactly known, is fully onfirmed by the evidents of the family of Buchanan by hich it is clear to a demonstration, that their furname or diverse ages was Macauslan before the assumption of hat of Buchanan, and that the laird of Buchanan as also he barons Macauselan in all times thereafter owned the escent of that Sept of Macauselans to be as above related. here was indeed a groundless pretence somewhat made f the Baron Macauslans being the elder branch of the amily, feeing he still retained the ancient furname, being laid

T

M

bhin

Talc

ally

ne la

lac

ore

lack

re a

me

kan

ofit

nde

ho

ell,

hre

th

ne g

ort

refe

ne l

ne i

alle

atic

em f th

nd e

0 er d

is c

is c

s to

of the fame import with the like pretenfions made by the families of Macarture, now Campbel, of Strachyr, and M. Pherson of Cluny; the first pretending to be descended off the family of Lochow, while Cduin, before the affump. tion of Campbell, the other from that of M'Cattan, be. fore that family assumed the furname of MIntosh, and to both the more ancient. But as thefe long ago, upon just grounds, preceded their pretentions, fo also have the Macaufelans. Their estate, by any of their documents now extant, was never known to amount to more than the little interest of about twenty pounds sterling of yearly rent, possess by the late baron Macauslan, which feems to have been the patrimony given to the first of that family, upon his defcent of Macauslan laird of Buchanan. Nor is the supposition less groundless, that Sir Alexander, defigned Macaufelan, a knight of Lennon who acquired the addition to the armorial bearing a Buchanan at the battle of Bauge, might probably have been baron Macauselan, and not Buchanan; seeing the latter furname was affumed fome confiderable time before that atchievement; but this supposition is still further si volous upon diverse accounts, it not being probable that a person of so little interest could be knighted in sud early times, while a great many of the best quality with difficulty obtained that honour, and if any of that family ly had so done, it is improbable, they would have allows Buchanan to assume these arms without the least oppose tion at any time thereafter. It is also evident that the lairds of Buchanan used, and were designed by the fir name of Macaufelan upon diverse occasions, for alm time after the assumption of Buchanan; as for instant in a charter by the carl of Lennox to Finlay Campfay, a part of the lands fo named, to which Maurice lands Buchanan is witness by defignation of Macauselan, thoug grand-child to Gilbert who first assumed Buchanan. that it's no mastter of admiration, that the monks of Plus carden, who relate the adventure of Sir Alexander, an living at fuch vast distance from the place of his residence might happen to defign him by his ancient furname and best known to them, rather than by one so late assumed.

nd

ed

)e.

nd

on

are

cu.

iora s of t of Buc-Sir HOL, ppof

at th

nstand fay, o laird o

thoug

The first of these Macauselans I could find upon record Malcolm Macauselan, interted witness in a charter by laicolm Earl of Lennox of the lands of Luis, in favour of ohn laird thereof, in the reign of K. Alexander III. this salcolm ( though few or none in these old charters are ally defigned) feems to have been Baron Macaufelan, le lairds of Buchanan having generally disused that of lacaufelan before the date of this charter. I find no here of these recorded but a traditional account of one facbeth Baron Macauselan, a person of uncommon state and strength, who lived in King Robert the third's me, and seems to have been contemporary with Sir Alexander Macauselan, or Buchanan, which makes the suposition already mentioned the more improbable; Alexander, last Baron Macauselan, having only one daughter tho was married to a gentleman of the name of Campall after whose death the fold having and to Sir Hampall after whose death the fold having and to Sir Hampall after whose death the fold having and to Sir Hampall after whose death the fold having and to Sir Hampall after whose death the fold having and to Sir Hampall after whose death the fold having and to Sir Hampall after whose death the fold having and to Sir Hampall after whose death of the fold having and the Sir Hampall after whose death of the fold having and the Sir Hampall after whose death of the fold having and the Sir Hampall after whose death of the fold having and the Sir Hampall after the fold having a sir Hampall and the fold having a sir Hampall after the fold having a sir Hampall and the sir ell, after whose death she sold her interest to Sir Humhave here Colchoun of Luss, her superior. The remainder g the state of Macauselans reside mostly in Lennox, but he greatest number and of best account of that name reer sin de in the counties of Tyrone, Derry, and Down, in the hable forth of Ireland. The ancestors of the principal men of hese last, were Andrew and John Macauselans, sons of with the Baron Macaufelan, who went out of a part of the fame the paroch of Lufs to that kingdom, in the latter part of lower the reign of King James VI. This Andrew had a fon professional Alexander, upon whom he beltowed good Education alled Alexander, upon whom he bestowed good Educa-ation, by which means becoming an active prudent genme for alm fthe civil wars, in the reign of K. Cl. the civil wars, in the reign of K. Charles I. At the ad of those wars, partly by debenture, partly by purchase eacquired the estates of Resh, and Ardstraw in the counof Tyrone. He had two fons the eldest whereof Olier of Resh was one of the most considerable gentleman n. § those parts of that kingdom. In the year 1698, he as high sherriff of that county, and influenced most ofof Plus er, an is own name throughout the country to fettle in and near is own estate, which at first scarce amounting to 500 idence ound sterl. of yearly rent, he encreased in such a manner irnama s to leave his fon a clear estate of 1500 lib. per annum, o latel ewas twice married, and left by both a numerous liffue. is successor hath a possession in a little town called Strabane, and for which place he ferves as member of parliament, as his father did for many years. Oliver's brothe is called Andrew, having an estate called Ardocheyl, who and a great many others of good circumstances of the name of Macauselan reside in the counties already mentioned.

AN #### ACCOUNT

OF THE

MACMILLANS.

ally B

ild

ac

msi

int

e g uni

me

ne,

nat

ry I

ryi

ure

fter

e fo

fon

litle

, ac

M

ng f

at c

y p

TEXT in antiquity to the Macauselans is the Sept the MACMILLANS, for as the Macaufelans are gent ally reputed to be descended of Anselan first of that name laird of Buchanan, fo the Macmillan's progenitor is know to be fecond fon to Anfelan the third of that name, at though the first be the more ancient, this in respect number, is by far the most considerable of any other cad of whatever denomination. There is no document in far as I could discover, in the hands of any of this Sep to clear their descent off the family of Buchanan, but or ly an uncontroverted tradition, which afferts their and to be the brother to the first who assumed the furname Buchanan. Which is the more to be relied on, in reg I find the fame to agree in all respects with a written do ment lately found, by which that descent is clearly illustra ed, by a charter by Malduin Earl of Lennox to Gilmo fon to Muldonich of the estate of Lufs, in the reign King Alexander II. in which Anfelan laird of Buchan with Gilbert his eldest fon, who first assumed the furna of Buchanan, and Methlan his fecond fon, ancestor of Macmillans, are inferted witnesses. So that notwithstan ing a fond opinion obtained for some time, of their obta

g that denomination from their ancestor's being bald, Irish Maoilan, and thence Macmailans or Baldman's ns, yet there is not the least shew of reason for any such pposition, after such a clear evident for evincing the intrary, and a more probable reason for that denomination is found out, for it is clear that Macmethlan can be otherwise pronounced in Irish, than as the Macmillans conounce their name.

This Methlan is not found to have left his native couny, but having a great many fons, one or two of these ent to Kintyre- upon account of a friendship then much shivated betwixt the samilie's of the great Macdonald, and Buchanan, the former being some small time before lied with the principal person of the Okyans, of the hich samily that of Buchanan was for the most part origi-illy descended.

rlia the

who

th

men

S.

Septe

gene

t nam

know

ie, an

the c er cad

nt in

s Sep

out or

ancel

ame

n rega

en doo

illustr

Gilmo

reign

uchan

furnat

or of rithstan

ir obta

By this means Methlan's fons being Buchanan's grandildren, met with a very kind reception from the lord acdonald, who, for his fervice, allowed one of them a nsiderable estate in Knapdale, in the south-west part of intyre, who for his heroick atchievements, was termed egreat Macmillan of Knap, as is afferted by an account his family conveyed to my hands by Macmillan of unmore of Knapdale, being the principal man, of that me, or Sept. Who further adds, that in all times byne, as also at present, he, and his whole Sept did, and own themselves to be descended off the family of Bucnan; and that one of his ancestors caused to be built a y pretty Chapel in Kilmorie of Knap, for devotion and rying place, in which there is a fine crofs, with diverfe ures neatly cut in stone, and a great many other chaters engraven thereon fearcely legible, which intimate founder's name to have been Æneas Macmillan, who, some of his ancestors, built a large tower in addition to Alleuin, or Macsuin's castle; the other part of that casaccording to tradition, being built by a progenitor of Maxwells, upon his first coming from Ireland, and setig for sometime in Knapdale, being descended of the at clan Maseuin in Ireland, and then naming the castle scuin's castle or Castlesuin, as now termed. It seems y probable, that upon Mascuin's leaving that country fettling in the fouthern parts, his neighbour Macmi!.

Ian got possession of the castle, and upon that occasion go who built the additional tower thereto, which he termed Margarat millan's tower, as the first was denominated from Masses onte in. There is a tradition, that a brother of Macmillan he was who went first out of the country with him in the time obliged the civil wars after the death of King Alexander III. were generated from Argyle shire to Galloway, and settled in that country, being the progenitor of the Macmillans of Galloway and so the principal man of these is Macmillan of Brocklod millan. There are also diverse other heritors, and a good number and of the vulgar fort of the name in that country, who are not knowledge their origin to be the same with the Macmillans of Argyle-shire.

knowledge their origin to be the fame with the Macmi ham of Argyle-shire.

The cause of the Macmillans losing the greatest part of their estate in Knapdale, is reported to have been their joy. The ning the lord Macdonald their superior, in aindig Jam and Earl of Douglas in that rebellion against King James I epute in the year 1555. Another of Methlan's sons, being been their to Macmillan sirst of Knap, went to Perth-shire, as as sefettled in Lawers. This Macmillan had ten sons, who being Chalmers then laird of Lawers, offering by force to displant to set of these lands possessed by them, could not get it same effectuated till he obtained from King David secon unful setters of fire and sword against them, which orders with the assistance of the sherist of that shire, he with the utmates the affistance of the sherist of their friends in Argyle-shire whence some of these returning in process of time, obtained a part of their ancient posessions in Lawers, and we then the only ancestors to the Macmillans, though much do soft the only ancestors to the Macmillans, though much do soft the only ancestors to the Macmillans, though much do soft the only ancestors to the Macmillans of Galloway, in the grant safferted by a brieve (of which I had transfeript) obtained some years ago by one sergeant Macmillans account is afferted by a brieve (of which I had transfeript) obtained some years ago by one fergeant Macmillans and of the stript of the stript in the stript of the stript in the stript of the stript in the stript of the stri the laird of Lawers.

A sen of the great Macmillan of Knap, who resided it red no certain place of Kintyre, called Kischammag, having k worst of ed one Barralach Foir, a certain stranger of great account

nd up

my who had fettled in those parts, and seems to have been a many treat oppression of his neighbours, which gave rise to the contest betwixt him and his neighbour Macmillan; for this illar he was with fix of his friends, his associates in that action obliged to take boat, and slee to Lochaber, and in this extense gency having recourse to the laird of Locheal, he was recourse eived into his protection, and allowed posessions in his own ands. These changing their surnames a little from Macdod millan, into that of Macgilveil, to this day retained, some mail time after their settlement in Lochaber, there came he of them, and settled in a place called Badokennan at the head of Lochsyne in Argyle-shire, being progenitor of the Macgilveils of Glenera, and Glenshira, with others are in those parts. ırt ( n those parts.

rjoy

d in gr k

cou

There was another of the family of Knap, called Archiam ald Baan Macmillan, who having killed a certain man of es I epute, was so closely pursued after committing the murby ler; that coming by the Earl of Argyle's residence, he has forced into the kitchen for resuge, where the cook who being at the same time baking,) hastily caused Macmillist as to exchange cloaths with him, and fall to bake, which revented his being apprehended, or discovered by the unsters. After which this Macmillan, and his progeny will samed the name of Macbaxter, yet retained by them. Those of this name reside mostly in Cowal in Argyleshire, at the principal man of them being Nivin M'Baxter in Glenshire arowal. They term themselves in English Baxter Whenester those of that name in the more. Lowland parts be of her those of that name in the more Louisian her fame stem (tho' it seems probable,) is more than I can do offitively determine.

The principle person of the Macmillans of Argyle-shire,

The principle person of the Macmillans of Argyle-shire, tras Duncan Macmillan of Dunmore, his interest and re-dence is upon the fouth side of Lochaber, in Knapdale in the shire of Argyle. There are also Macmillans of Courra and of Clochbrecks, with a very considerable number of the vulgar fort dispersed through that shire.

The Macgilveils of Lochaber are mostly planted upon bothsides of Lochaber are mostly planted upon ette bothsides of Lochaber, and live mostly under, and are close dependants upon the laird of Lochaber and upon all expeditions make up a company of an hundred men, with officers all of that Sept. not reputed the red men, with officers all of that Sept, not reputed the worst of Locheal's regiment, being generally employed in any desperate enterprise that occurred. These had a controversy not many years ago with another Sept, about the most desperate in all these parts termed Maclonvies, dependants also of Locheal, these last having murdered one of the M'gilveils, the actors being twelve in number, betook themselves to the mountains, being outlaws before, upon which fome of the Macgilveils addressed Locheal, telling him, if he would not allow them to revenge this murder upon the actors, they would destroy the whole Sept without distinction, Locheal granted their request, upon conditions they would only purfue the guilty, which they so effectually did, that in a few days they either killed or brought to justice the whole number of them, having not loft one man of their own number, though diverfe were wounded. The principal persons of this Sept are the Macgilveils of Murlagan, and of Caillie, and of Glenpean.

There are a great number of the Machinans in rishes of Leud, and Armuy in the country of Antrim, year and other places in Ireland. The persons of best account muste of them in that kingdom, is lieutenant John Macmillan of ed, w Killre in the County of Derry, having an estate of 500 kman. I have also Dr. Macmillan in Lisburn, a personance also Dr. Macmillan in Lisburn, a p There are a great number of the Macmillans in the pafon of good repute and circumstances; and Macmillan of Glenseise and others.

Micmillan of Dunmore carries Buchanan, for diftinction, upon a chief parted per Barr, Gules, three Mollets, Argent.

AN

ACCOUNT

OF THE

ACOLMANS.

HE ancestor of the Macolmans was Colman, third fon to Anselan, third of that name, and seventh laird fume tor to Chri Colm terw: quha oratio reign

TI Argy ble to tle fp try, v motiv A ML a cha lan, o

> Alex: which ing it near ! writte rears me b that S Maco

that

with y edgu anar der al urna

radit

Th blood

laird of Buchanan being brother to Gilbert, who first affumed the furname of Buchanan, and to Methlan anceftor to the Macmillans. Colman was an ancient Scottilli Christian furname of old in this kingdom, as for instance, Colman Bishop of Lindisfara in Northumberland, and aftr, terwards Abbot of Icolmkill, in the reign of King Ferquhard I. also one of the Scottish nobility, who made an oration against concluding the league with France, in the reign of King Acchaius,

ut

s,

e,

al,

1:5 ole

ilt,

ch 11-

V.

n-

of

o l.

er.

of 16.

ol-

nird

ath

ed

The time and cause of this Colman's son going to Argyle-shire is not very evident, but it seems very probable to be in the reign of King Alexander III. within a little space of his cousin Macmillan's going into that courtry, whose good reception there might have been the only motive of his cousin Macolman's following him. The ona charter or life rent right, granted by Duncan M'Pharlan, of a part of his lands to Chindian Change to Sir Colin Cambol of Lochow, his lady, dated in the m, year 1395, and in the reign of King Robert III. The rustees employed by Sir Colin to see this right compleated, were John Cambel, Dean of Argyle and John M'Colman.

I had an account of the M'olmans transmitted to me by that judicious and learned gentleman, The Reverend Mr. Alexander M'Colman, minister of Lismore, and Appin, which justly deserves the greater regard and credit, seeing it agrees with that fent me by Macmillan of Dunmore tear the fame time, in relation to his clan, as also with a written document, which came not to my hands feveral years after receipt of the faid account. That delivered me by Mr Alexander M'olman concerning the origin of hat Sept, afferts, that the ancestor of the Macmillans, and Macolman's were brethren of him who first assumed the furname of Buchanan, but by a continued and inviolable radition handed down from one generation to another, with which they are fatisfied, always chearfully acknowedging their original descent to be of the family of Bucanan, though they cannot fo very distinctly tell the manher and circumstances of the same.

There is also a very great evidence of the Macolman's cloud relation to the name of Buchanan, from this that notwithstanding of the great distance betwixt the respective residences of these two names, and upon that account the seldomness of their mutual converse or correspondence with one another, yet they have the same inviolable love and entire respect for the name of Buchanan, that they have for one another of their nearest relations, although not any preceeding acquaintance or good offices interveen.

S

fithe

aditio

anan

enera

me, i

pittel

The

uchan

ing A

e fur

der c cks,

ntury

an re

Jeru

racou

A Ch

ders

r pre

built

ience

ces w ofs, fo

rpot

rms,

she r Simor

of K

Moreover, although the M'Colmans have refided in Mucarn, and other adjacent places in Argyle-shire, upwardsof 400 years, yet they never gave any bond of mande, or other acknowledgment to, or had the least dependence upon any person, or clan in these parts, they there is no other Sept in the same circumstances in all those countries but what are obliged to give some such bondor acknowledgement. The principal places in which these reside are Mucarn, and Benedera Loch in upper Lorn, in the shire of Argyle, The men of best account of them are Mr. John M'Colman, son to the said Mr Alexander who hath a little interest in Lismore, also another Mr. John, brother to the said Alexander, who hath ten sons, all men of good repute. Besides these there are fixty estective men of that name in these parts.

There is another Sept of these M'Colmans in Kintail, in the Earl of Seasorth's land, descended of oneMr. Murdo, (or as the Irish term it) Murcho M'Colman, who went from Argyle-shire into that country near two hundred years ago. These are termed in Irish, Macamhaissirs, or Mastersons, but term themselves in English Murchisons, from Murcho their ancestor's ancient name, the principal man of these is Murchison of Ouchertyre, in the parish of Locheilg in Kintail, these term themselves Dowes, when in the lowlands, and affert the Dowes upon Forth and other places to be descended of them, which Dow of Arnhall the principle person of that name in a great measure owned, there being upon that account great intimacy betwixt the late laird of Buchanan and him, but both their estates being gone to other families, through want of male issue, that correspondence betwixt the two names are ceased.

ACCOUNT of the ORIGIN

OF THE

I S P T E L S.

THERE is no written document to evince the circumstancs of the descent of the name of SPITTEL, the family of Buchanan, though an uncontroverted adition, and a continued pretention by thef amily of Bucman to the name of Spittel, and the acquiescence of the merality of that name in the pretenfions made to the me, in a great measure clear the origin of the name of pittel to be as is generally afferted.

11

.

9

e

T e

Π, m

er

r.

S, .

1,

r-

nt

ed

or

is,

al

of

en

0-

n-

2-

cy

eir

ile

ire

The ancestor of that name was fon to Sir Maurice chanan of That-ilk, who flourished in the reign of ing Alexander III. The reason given of his assuming e furname of Spittel being that he was admitted into an der of Knighthood called Knight Templers, or Cruchcks, which order was instituted about the eleventh ntury of the christian epocha, for the defence of the chim religion more especially of the Temple and Cross Jerufalem, which as the Roman legend has it, was racoulously found by Helena mother to Constantine the A Christian Emperor, after much search made by her ders in and about the place of our Saviour's crucifixion. r preserving it the Empress caused a stately Temple to built at Jerusalem, and dedicated to the holy cross, ence in after ages a great many, if not innumerable ces were fent by the Popes of Rome of that supposed is, for good fums of money, to Popish Princes and orpotentates, infomuch that one of their own Writers rms, that if the thousand parts of these pieces had been she real cross, it would have soon broken the back Simon of Cyrine in carrying it. However the above orof Knights was chiefly instituted for defence of that

r da

kin

Thi

hich

ma

at n

nver

port

d m afon

mori

ous 1

for l mori

ate b

into

clinat

od e at Se

at na

this

MAC

H

feren

fe Se

ite so

nan,

d beg

d upo

cha Cele

C

erofs, and having the potraiture thereof betwint the shoulders, upon their upper garments, they were then termed Crofs-backs, or cruch backs, and from the Ten ple in which the crofs was kept, Templars. There wer a vast deal of lands throughout Christendom mortified this order, for keeping up hospitality, in entertaining such poor Pilgrims, as in those days of superstition were going to the holy land, to perform their devotions; when their order obtained the name of the hospitallers, an their lands Spittals, many of which yet retain that name And though the Templars, and they feem to have been originally of one order yet they afterwards were define the templars being afterwards known by the name knights of St. John, afterwards Rhodes, and now of Ma However that, the hospitallers became in process time fo fcandalous for their wicked lives that the Po upon the Pope's pretence thereof, or as some fay, instiga ed by Phillip the Fair, king of France who had forms a defign of getting his fons invelled in a great part these Knights lands, in the year 1330, sent his possiti orders or buils to extreminate this whole order, and f questrate their lands. These orders were for most part of ferved, most of these Knights being without mercy put the fword except fuch as were preferved by some pote friends. The Pope shortly repenting his orders in gi ing fo many lands devoted once for facred, to be no bestowed on feculiar uses, recalled his promise of givin the same to the French king, and others, and thereaft mortified these lands to the Knights of St. John, abo mentiond. Nevertheless a great part of these lands despite of all the Pope could do, were kept by those land who first seized the same upon the extinction of the hospi talers.

Among others who kept their part, was this fon of Be chanan, who from these Spittal lands posses by him a fumed the surname of Spittal, (his son being Adam Spittal of Ledlewans) besides which, he had easter Baleu Blairwhoish, and other lands in the parishes of Strathblan and Killearn, being a considerable estate with the Spittlands. All which, having made a purchase, as it were seem, some other place, the said Adam Spittel dispose in favour of his cousin Walter laird of Buchanan, by the dated in the year 1394, and fourth year of the reign king Robert III.

This Adam was ancestor to Spittel of Leuchart in Fife, sich family fince that of Buchanan was extinct, has kept manner of correspondence with any of the name, for at neither by perufal of any of his evidences, nor by nverse with the gentleman himself, could I have the portunity of obtaining a distinct account of the time d manner of his acquiring his present estate, nor the morial bearing with what he now bears. The most obous reason to me of his so doing is, that his predefor being in orders, and by that means prohibited an morial bearing, his fuccettors, it they are match-ate by marriage assumed those of the family they match-igate into; if by purchase, arms most suitable to their own dination. Spittal of Leuchat, being a gentleman of a od estate in the shire of Fife, is the principal person of at Sept; there being besides those in Fife, diverse of at name in the straith of Monteath, and other places this kingdom.

.

vla

110 litir

df to

utt ote gi

no

ivin eaft

abor

ds, laid

olpi

of B

im a

Spi

aleu

ablan

Spitt

TYCU

ipon

y cha

KA

ACCOUNT of the ORIGIN

OFTHE

MACMAURICES, MACANDEOIRS, MACCHRUITERS, and MACGREUSICHS.

THERE are two feveral fepts of these Macmaurices, descended off the family of Buchanan at two erent junctures of time. The ancestor of the first of le Septs for any thing can be found, was an illegitite son of Maurice, second of that name laird of Buctan, in rhe latter part of the reign of king Robert I. beginning of king David II. The first of these I dupon record is, Arthur Macmaurice, being witness charter by Eugen M'Keffan of Garchel in favour Celestin M'Lachlan, and Arthur M'Neil, of that par of the estate of Garchel Achintroig, Gartelach, &c, in the reign of king Robert III. Those of this race resident mostly in the heads of Straithern, and Straithallan, and few of them in the parish of Callender. The other Sep of these Macmaurices is descended of one stooping Main rice, illegitimate fon to Walter, fourth of that name lain of Buchanan, in the reign of king James III. I his Man rice is reported to have been of a very huge stature bu withall fo very course and unhandsome as gave occasion for his being little regarded; fo that in the time of king James IV. the laird of Buchanan wirh most of his name having gone to the battle of Flowdon, left Maurice will fome other invalids to overfee affairs at home; there be ing at that time fome feud or variance betwixt M.Ken zie laird of Kintail, and Buchanan, Kintail thought thi a fit time to carry on the fame, and fending for that e fect one Kenneth M'Kenzie, a brother or some other nea relation of his own, with eighty men, to harrass Bucha nan's lands, these came to a hill betwixt Drymen an Buchanan, in fight of the latter, and being fatigued, la Buchanan, in light of the latter, and being fatigued, he down among the heather, to take some little repose Mean while Maurice getting some notice of the advance Mean while Maurice getting some notice of the advance of his party went to get surer intelligence, and passing a hanal cidentally near the hill in which the party lay, Keaned the use the captain, observing him went alone to him, to get in pertain formation of the country. Maurice seeming to take he decay the notice of him went still on, giving no satisfactory and wished wer to any of his demands; which at length so exaspend with ted McKenzie, that he gave Maurice a stroak with himmans sword, not being at the trouble of drawing the same per, which was no sooner done, than Maurice gave him surer so a stroak with his battle-ax, as clave his head to the teet. The whereupon he returned instantly to Buchanan, and ala heir a med the country. The party in a little time awaking, as shence sinding their Captain in that bad posture returned wishes, all speed back, without doing the least violence. The plane he makes this action was done yet retains the name of Kenneth's plain. A grand-child of this Maurice having kill a both a servant of my Lord Glaincairn, who residing in known that was obliged to leave he native country of But maronock was obliged to leave he native country of But hanan, and go to the village of Scoon, north of Tay. He same postertty in these parts are termed Morreises, or Moriso so a first sure that are termed Morreises, or Moriso so a first sure that are termed Morreises, or Moriso so a first sure that are termed Morreises, or Moriso so a first sure that are termed Morreises, or Moriso so a first sure that are termed Morreises, or Moriso so a first sure that are termed Morreises, or Moriso so a first sure that are termed Morreises, or Moriso so a first sure that are termed Morreises, or Moriso so a first sure that are the sure that are the sure than a sure termed Morreises, or Moriso so a first sure that the sure that are th

So tivi the laft anc ber. 1

rept

of p

with the king nam our This the v of Lo princ Kilm of A his la Th

Some of these came thence, and settled upon Forth, betwixt Stirling and Culrofs, of whom are descended most of the Morisons in those parts. There are also some of this last Sept in the parish of Buchanan who retain their ancient name of Macmaurice, but very few in num-

The ancestor of the Sept of the MACCANDEOIRS is also reputed a cadet of the family, being reported to be a man of prudence and fagacity, who went to Argyle-shire along with Walter laird of Buchanan's daughter, married in the reign of king James III. to Campbell, laird of Ardkinglass; who, in regard there was no other of his furname in that country, was thence termed Deoir, or a fojourner, whence his posterity were termed Maccandeoirs. This Sept refide mostly in a place called Arskeotnish, near the village of Kilmichael in Glafrie as also upon the side of Lochow in M'Lachlan of Inchchonnell's lands. The principal person of these is Maccandeoir of Kilchoan, near Kilmichael in Glafrie. These are dependants of the laird of Ardkinglass, seeing their ancestor went first there with his lady.

The MACCHRUITERS were of a long time reputed Buchanans, having for diverse ages resided in these lands in he upper parts of the parishes of Buchanan, and Callender pertaining to the lairds of Buchanan, but are now wholly lecayed in those parts. The few of that name now extant, the in Argyle-shire, but maintain no correspondence with the surname of Buchanan. They obtained their irname from some one of their ancestor's being a Harer, and were thence termed Macchruiters or Har-

101

be

thi

ef

nea

cha

an

la

oole

and

ga

net

t in e li

an pera

h b

lam

fuc teet

ala , at wi

pla Ke

The Macgreusicus are fo denominated from one of heir ancestor's being a cordiner, termed in Irish Greusich, shence his posterity were thereafter termed Macgreuichs, or Cordiner-sons. These are of the same origin with he Maccandeoirs; that Buchanan, who went to Argyle-hire with the laird of Ardkinglass's lady, being ancestor kill o both Septs. These M'Greusichs reside in Guannans, in K spon the west side of Lochong, and betwixt that and Loch-st soyle in Ardkinglass's lands, being, as their friends the Lacandeoirs, dependants on that gentleman. There is saiso so a small number residing upon Lochgoyle-side, termed 103 ed M'Nayers of Even Glass, or gray Hugh's race of the fame origin with the M'Greufichs, and own themselves Buchanans. Those already mentioned are all the eadets of other denominations directly or immediately descended of the family of Buchanan.

As for the M'Watties, Macaldonichs and M'Robs being all those of other denominations descended of the family of Lenny, I made mention of them in the account of that family. Those cadets of other denominations defeended of the family of Drumikill are the Rifks fo named from their ancestors being born upon the Risks of Dr. These mostly reside in the parishes of Drymen, Balfron, and Killearn, and fome few of them in the Strait of Monteath. The fecond cadets of this kind are the M'Kinlays, so named from a son of Drumikill called Finlay; those lately in Blairnyle and about Bellach ared this fort, as also those in Benachra, and about the water of Finn in Lufs parish. The M'Kinlays in some of ther parts of these parishes are MePharlans. The thin of these cadets was ancestor of the M'Thomases, it named from one Thomas, of Drumikill's family. I is also pretended that the Yuilles are descended of son of Drumikill's born upon Yuill day. This preten fion is adhered to by some of the name of Yuille, byo

BRIEF ACCOUNT OF

Martial Atchievements of the family of Buchanas and others that name in the publick fervice of their prince and country, it upon other occasions.

HE nature of publick history not permitting note to be taken of all the gallant actions of private me many very fingular atchievements of persons bearing the deligname of Buchanan have by that means been passed over ad su filence, so as to be capable of being vouched no other was usy in than by private memoirs, or traditional accounts. How e me ever hana emin ment prog the S veter ainii ng o adhe terest nage of wl Ragr out t vas · ount ounc i g d fo nan's achir

Engl

ry, h as co mor Th

bunti at n terir

he c an v him

Cha antic Bur nin,

ever we find from these, that many of the name of Buchanan have not been wanting to fignalize themselves in as eminent a manner as any of their station. For not to mention the vigorous effects and constancy of Anselan, progenitor of that furname, in the quarrel and fervice of he Scottish, king, and nation against the Danes, the inveterate enemies of both, which was the cause of his obaining that first and splendid part of the armorial bearag of Buchanan; our historians also celebrate the signal adherence of Sir Maurice, one of his fuccessors, to the in-erest of his country during a great part of the wars maaged after the death of king Alexander, a clear evidence of which (as already hinted) is his not having figned the Ragman roll, violently imposed by king Edward the 1st. of England upon most of any considerable account throughout this kingdom, though this gentleman at the time vas honoured with knighthood, and upon diverse acounts much preferable to a great many whose names are ound at that bond of allegiance to the faid tyrannical ig who allowed none to refuse it but such as adventuran's fuccessor of the same name of less bravery and atwhinent to the welfare and honour of his native counry, having accompanied his loyal patron, Malcolm Earl f Lennox, in all the dangerous adventures the Earl a concerned in during the reign of K. Robert I. and the inority of his fon K. David II.

The next who fignalized himself for the honour of his buntry was Sir Alexander, eldest son to John, second of at name laird of Buchanan, who procured the addition termentioned to the armorial bearing of Buchanan, he circumstances of the adventure in which this gentlean was concerned, and the action by which he fignaliz-himself being briefly this.

d

e-2.

a. nt

ed

ry-en,

ith the 134

e of ater 0

hird

, fe of i

eten

byo

Trers

ry, 20

Charles the first of that name king of France becoming antick, and his queen, with the affistance of the Duke Burgundy, making up a party against Charles the Dauong the d belong, and who was therefore the more favoured to the fupported by his country-men; this created fuch jear was usly in the adverse party as put them upon all imagination there is methods of supporting their own interest; in order

Frei

Ipo

hirt

lefe

is C Ken

nou

f B

t th

lear

le. eth

with

ifh v

er a

cots

he h

he I

oun

o hi

our

is ar

lanti

nd 1 Buch et, : ried

as a

he E nitted

ed of

ther

des

cots,

ide.

whereto they had recourse to Henry the fifth of England an aspiring young king who had not quite lost thoughts of the old pretention of King Edward III. his great grand. father to that kingdom. He therefore readily accepted of the Queen's invitation not to invade but to except ina manner of the kingdom of France, of which the Dauphin, by her influence was difinherited by his father. Up. on the view of these advantages king Henry went to France with a good army, and having defeated the Dauphin's army at Agincourt, and afterwards proceeded to Paris where he married the French king's daughter he was conflituted not only regent of France, during the kings indisposition, but also his successor in the kingdom. Thus having ordered matters in France to his fatisfaction, he returned in triumph to England, leaving his brother Thomas Duke of Clarence his Vice-Gerant and general of the English army. The Dauphin upon this es igency fent Ambaffadors to Scotland, in the year 1419 being the last year but one of the regency of Robert Dul of Albany, imploring aid against the English. In com pliance with this request the regent in the beginning the year 1420, fent over a fupply of feven thousan volunteers under command of John Earl of Buchan, hi own fon, and Archibald Earl of Wigtoun, eldest font the Earl of Douglas. These forces arriving in Franc some sew days before Easter, (which sestival was the and is yet very religiously, if not superstitiously, observe by the Romanists) upon which account there was a cell tion of arms agreed upon for some days betwixt the Sa and English, in confidence whereof the former remains in much fecurity, of this the Duke of Clarence being formed by one Fregofa an Italian, who deferted fromt Scottish army, he upon the intelligence, resolved, no withstanding of the cessation to take his advantage the Scots fearing more harm from the experienced valo of that small number, than most of the French forces be fides. So keeping his design secret, upon Easter-Sabba he English the ordered all his horsemen to arms, judging these sufficient for the enterprize, and by a hasty march arrived in reates few hours at the Scots quarters, in a little town in the province of Anjou, called Bauge, near which was a nit ther province with a stone-bridge, and guarded by a party scular d

the

led

iter

the

om.

lac-

his

and

s er

419

Duk

com ig 1 nian n, hi on t rano

French who upon Clarence's arrival deferted the post, Ipon this alarm Hugh Kennedy a Scottish Captain, with hirty archers. advanced to the bridge, and for some time defended the same, 'till Clarence ordered two hundred of his Cuirassiers to dismount, and with push of spear, beat we kennedy, and his small party desired. Kennedy, and his small party, destitute of defensive arp. Shour from their post. But while this was a doing the Earl to Buchan, with two hundred Scottish horsemen, arrived the bridge, which Clarence observing left the passage lear to the Scots, and drew up his men in order of batle. The Scottish General as soon as he got his men toether, advanced towards the enemy, and charged them with very great bravery, which was received by the Engih with no less resolution, being superior both in numer and experience. So that after a tharp dispute, the cots were fcarce able to maintain their ground; till in he heat of the action, Sir Alexander Buchanan, meeting he Duke of Clarence, who was very conspicuous upon acount of a coronet befet with a great many jewels affixt ohis helmet, with his coucht spear with the utmost vi-our made towards him; the Duke in the same posture met is antagonist, upon whose breast-plate the Dukes spear lanting Buchanan pierced at once through his left eye and brain; whereupon he instantly fell from his horse. Buchanan in the mean time getting hold of the corothe et, and putting the same upon the point of his spear sied to his country-men to take courage, for that there cell as a token he had killed the English General; which he English noticing, made no further resistance but committed their safety to their horses heels, there being killings and of them besides Clarence, twenty six Officers, and there persons of quality, and near 3000 souldiers, besides 2000 taken prisoners, with years little loss to the d, no ides 2000 taken prisoners, with very little loss to the age icots, theer being none of account killed upon their value ide.

This victory, as it gave a great check to the affairs of

This victory, as it gave a great check to the altairs of Sabba he English, did no less erect the drooping circumstances of sufficient he French, of which the Dauphin was to sensible, that he read it reated the Earl of Buchan his master of horse, and in the Wigtoun high constable of France, and rewarded all the said ther persons of distinction according to their merits, parounty cularly Buchanan, whom he bountifully rewarded, and

one

ivil

egil

oldi

un

he

lof

opp

ome

ad a

tirli

ch

lou

ab

hic

ent

omp

est p

s re ad 1

the

fifta

eces

This

Bu

g m nue

051.

It r

ers (

any

this

rs Ca

onie

evic

d co

As t

It w

they

ral c

vate

for preservation of his heroick atchievement, added to his former bearing, a second tressure round the field, slower'd and counterslower'd, with Flower-de-luces of the second, and in cress a hand coupee, holding a Duke's coronet, with two laurel branches wreathed surrounding the same, which addition was retained by the family of Buchanan in all times thereafter.

Mr. George Buchanan, who fcoms never to have been very carefull in advancing the honour of his name, affert that the common report was, that Clarence was first wound ded by Sir John Suinton, and afterwards beat from his horse by the Earl of Buchan. But the affertion of the book of Pluscarden, and the additional arms, being h plain a morument of that action, clears the truth thereo as above related, beyond all manner of controverly. But hanan is reported to have fold the coronet to Stewart of Darnly for 1000 angels of gold, and Darnly to have paun ed the fame to Sir Robert Houston for 5000 angels, this gallant gentleman, with a great many more of his coun trymen, was killed by the English through the treachen defertion, or cowardice of the French, in conjunction with all of them, at the fatal battle of Vernoille in the year 1424.

The next of that family who lost his life in the service of his prince, was Patrick second of that name, lairded Buchanan, who, with most of his name, was with Kin James IV. at the battle of Flowdon, in which Buchana himself, John laird of Lenny, and diverse others of the name were killed, in the year 1513. Though our publick histories give no account of this gentleman's death that occasion, nor of a great many others of quality, who lost their lives in that fatal engagement, nevertheless the are accounts to be found of the same in most of the same lies, whose principal men were lost at that unhappy juncture.

George laird of Buchanan, with his name and dependants, was at the battle of Pinkie, in queen Mary's minority, in which Buchanan of Arnpryor, and diverse other of the name, lost their lives. The same George was all at the battle of Langside, in which he behaved very her ourably; and no less so did George, third of that name laird of Buchanan, father to the late laird, who being O

onel of Stirling-shire regiment during the whole of the wil wars, in the reign of King Charles I. was with his egiment (most of his officers, and a good many of the oldiers thereof being of his own name) at the battle of ounbar, as also at the fatal consist of Ennerkeithing, at he last of which Buchanan with Sir John Brown Colonlof Mid-Lothian regiment, with their two regiments, opped the passage of the English army over Forth for one days, and would have continued so to do, till relief ad come from the King's grand army, then encamped at tirling, had not Major General Holborn, commander thief of that party of the Scottish forces, byassed (as is ought) with English gold, commanded these gentlemen abandon their post, and allow the English free passage, hich when effected, the general drew on these two regients, with that of brave Sir Hector M'Lean, mostly omposed of his own name, to an engagement with the of part of the English army; Holborn himself, with is regiment of horse, wheeling off without firing one shot ad leaving these three regiments of foot to the mercy, or ther merciless rage of the enemy, they after a valiant fillance were in the end overpowered, and mostly cut to eces. The laird of M'Lean, with most of any account This name, was killed, as also a vast number of the name Buchanan, the laird himfelf, with Sir John Brown, beg made prisoners, in which condition Buchanan con-med unreleased till the day of his death, in the year 51.

It may upon good grounds be prefumed, that diverse oers of the lairds of Buchanan, were concerned in a great any other battles, and other grand transactions managed this nation, though a particular account of these matis cannot be so easily obtained. However the above ininces, of which there are accounts, are fufficient testionies of these gentlemens willingness upon all occasions evidence their duty in behalf and service of their prince d country.

un-

g for

Buc

to

aun

thi

oun hen Aio n th

ervio

irdo

Kin hana of th

pub ath

y, wh

is ther

e fami

y june

deper

s mind

other

As the lairds of Buchanan were ordinarily among the the who appeared in the publick fervice of their country. they were frequently obliged, according to the too gent name ral custom of the name reascient times, to maintain some ling 0 ivate quarrels with some neighbouring names, and be-

ha

not

W

cla

Dri

wi.

n :

hee

ag

7

ind

pec

hat

ifty

occa

urn

heft

an.

TI

eca

r f

f he

v de adet

rith,

he n:

luch

ext i

ead

fthi

f Le

erito

arbe

he h

nd S

anan

polt c

ing for the most part unjustly provoked, came very rare.

ly off with difadvantage.

The first of these private quarrels that is reported to have been, was with the Arrals, then a numerous name in the Lennox, and whose perverse and insolent disposition was very singular, insomuch, that upon report of an quarrel or slaughter in these parts, in which that name resided, those not present, upon hearing thereof, ordinally asked, Who besides the Arrals? judging, whoever were seconds, the Arrals behoved to be first in any such adventure. Nevertheless in that contest already glanced a betwirt the Buchanans and that name, the same me brought so low, that there scarce remained thereasterthe least memory of it.

Their next controverly is reported to have been with the Galbraiths, in the reign of King James II. being the most numerous and potent name of the Lennox in the age. The reason of this contest is said to have been if laird of Buchanan's marrying a gentlewoman of the name of Galbraith, heiress of Killearn, Bamoir, and Auchim och. The Galbraiths grudging very much that fo go an estate should be carried off by a stranger, and in gard they could not justly withhold these lands, they folved to take the advantage of these times, which beit very turbulent favoured fuch projects, to detain them fro Buchanan by violence. This began the quarrel, whi continued for fome time with mutual flaughter, and in the end terminate not only with the loss of what Galbraiths fo much struggled for, but also of diverte themselves in the action; the last of them being Galba of Benachra, and Benraes, who resided in a litttle a fituated in a little island of Loch-lomond, called yet Galbraiths ifle, whence he committed a great many hole ities, upon most of the neighbouring gentlemen, and it any time deprived of his boat, he would fwim, with cloaths and arms tyed behind his back, and in that me ner take a boat from the next adjacent shore, and ca the same into his isle. Of this practice Buchanan be informed, caused a ambush to be planted in the next ille Galbraith's, which intercepted him while in his fwimm posture, and dispatched him, to the no small satisfaction his neighbours. condition process

rare-

ed to

nam

Ipoli

of an

nam

inari

Wen

dven

d 20

e m er th

wit

g th

n th

n th

nam

him

go

n 1

ey !

beit

n fru

whi

nd d

at t

erle

lbni

Cal

yett

hol

nd if

ith

ma

cat

be

t ille

mai Elion There were diverse other hostilities carried on betwixt that of Buchanan, and some other neighbouring samilies not necessary here to be mentioned; as there were also betwixt the samily of Lenny, and two several neighbouring clans, at two different junctures, betwixt the samily of Drumikill, with the like number of clans; and also betwixt Carbeth and a certain clan in their neighbourhood. In all which contests, tho' after a great deal of bloodhed, those came off with the same honour and advantage that the principal family were wont to have in their accounters.

The name of Buchanan was so numerous in heritors, and the castle of Buchanan so centrally placed in repect of the interests, and residences of these heritors hat the laird of Buchanan could in a summer's day call sity heritors of his own name to his house upon any iccasion, and all of them might with conveniency remem to their respective residences against night, the surbest of them not being above ten miles from Buchanan.

The name of Buchanan fince the principal family ecame extinct, confifts of or is classed into four classes r families, the first of these being a certain number f heritors, and their dependants, who are immediatedescended off the family of Buchanan, or the latest adets thereof, who though they keep entire friendship ith, yet have no dependance upon any other family of te name. The principal person of these is Buchanan of auchmar, there being of this class ten heritors. ext is the family of Drumikill, the principal person or ead of which, is Buchanan of Craigievairn, there being fthis family seventeen heritors. The third is Buchanan f Lenny, of which family himself included there are ten eritors. The fourth is the family of Carbeth, of which arbeth himself included, there are fourteen heritors. he heritors of the Macauselans, Macmillans, Macolmans nd Spittels, all immediately descended of that of Bucanan being added to the first class, make the same the nost confiderable of the four.

BRIEF ACCOUNT

OF

Some learned men of the name of

BUCHANAN.

THERE have been some learned men of the name of Buchanan, besides No. GEORGE of whom already mention has been made. particularly.

Mr Thomas Buchanan of Ibert nephew to Mr. George upon whose demission the said Mr. Thomas succeeded in the office of Lord privy seal; before which he was a preacher, and a learned and eminent divine, being a great promoter of the reformation he was consulted in all points any ways difficult that occurred in those times, upon which account he is very often mentioned in the historis of Knox and Calderwood.

There was another Mr. Thomas Buchanan, fon to Thomas fecond of that name young laird of Drumikill. He was minister of Syres in Fife in the reign of King James VI. and was of the greatest learning and esteem of any of his time.

Mr. Robert Buchanan Provost of the Collegiate Church of Kirkheugh in St. Andrews in the beginning of the reign of King James VI. was very famous for philosophy and theology, being for anything I can find, of the old family of Arnpryor.

Mr. David Buchanan second son of William Buchanan of Arnpryor, was a gentleman of great learning, he flourished in the latter part of the reign of king James VI and beginning of the reign of king Charles I, he wrote a large natural history which was not compleated at the author's death, and therefore never printed, to the great loss of the learned and curious. He wrote also a large etymoogy of all the shires, cities, rivers, and mountains, in Scotland, which was printed, tho' not in many hand, from which I find Sir Robert Sibbald quotes some passages in his history of the shires of Stirling and Fife.

[ 112 ]

FINIS.

ame liom

orge ed in as a great

oints upon ories

Tho-He King

reign and ami-

anan flou-VI.

ote a e aut los tribe ther able very in th of, a of a

fpea foldi

that vince this i y th

740, and i gove All t

vern Phyl

or, a

quite

trate

verne

notif

and S

which

n reg

being ande:

Capta

han

n reg

orap

utho

d fie

uch 1

ants

erms

heir

BRIEF ENQUIRY

INTO THE

Genealogy and present state

Ancient Scottish

U S R N E M

TNTENDING to give an account of the original fome of the most considerable clans in Scotland I think it necessary to advertise the readers in the entry that they are not to expect fuch distinct and well vouche relations of things transacted at so great a distance of tim as in matters of more recent memory. The history of a nations and people in their origin, depends upon the at thority of immemorial tradition, which if it be not good one, is at least the only one can be obtained in a fuch cases. I have therefore made use of it in the end ing treatife, wherever more authentick documents, a wanting, and when other circumstances give the strengt of probability to the traditional accounts.

The existence of any furnames as now used before the reign of King Malcolm Canmore, which commenced the year 1057, is vigorously controverted by a great man of this age, and that the first furnames which commence in, or shortly after that reign, were local furnames, assum ers of these surnames. This supposition upon due examination, will be found of no great weight, if the least regar which be had to our publick histories, and some other records under there being no defignations more frequently mentione in our histories, than that of Phylarchae, or chiftains tribes, which in all rational probability can admit of no o. ther construction than chiefs of furnames, or clans agreeable to those of that station in those modern ages. It is very abfurd to affert, that there were chiftains of tribes in these times, and yet allow them no tribes to be chiftains of, and the same thing in effect, as to call one by the name of a king, and yet allow him to have no kingdom, or to speak of a general, and at the same time deny him any foldiers, Tho! it may be urged against this affertion, that these Phylarchae, were the king's governors of provinces, inhabited by tribes of different denominations, yet this is no way probable, it being evident from our hiftoy that in the reign of Eugenius VIII. about the year 740, Murdac was governor of the province of Galloway, and in the reign of King Solvathius Anno 770, Cullan governor of Argyle, and Duchal governor of Athole. All these being designed by the particular provinces governed by them, and existing in the same ages, that the Phylarchae were not only existing, but in their full splendor, as they continued for many ages thereafter, and of a mite different office and defignation, fufficiently demontrates the Phylarchae to have been different from the governours of provinces. Nor could these have been gover-nours or captains of the two or three tribes of Brigantes and Silures, to which by some the Iceni are added, into which the Scottish people were in ancient times divided, a regard the Phylarchae are faid to be very numerous, ing counsellors in civil, and captains in martial affairs, inder our Scottish Kings. Whereas if there had been Captains of these tribes, their number had been no more han three, which is highly improbable, and the more fo a regard only the first of these three tribes is mentioned, or applied ordinarily to the Scots, by any unexceptionable the distributions. Much less are we to rely on these newly inventionable addictitious names of Gadeni, Novantes, Ladeni, and mence such like names of tribes assigned to the ancient inhabitation and of each province, or shire in this kingdom, to be met with in diverse, especially our modern writers, none of regard which hath the least signification in, or affinity with the cords indeniable native language used by those to whom these ations are given, whereas the term of Gathelians denoting their origin, and Albineeh importing their country, the

in d

ntry

che tim

of a e au

not

n a enfu , 41

engt

re th

ced i om

R

rin

Flan

ient

hat

ells

hem

ing helia

ed i

TI

ncel

enr

ing

hrift

avin

as g ove

ege

the

ligne

digr

in g

me o

eir co

ran

dmu

ts in d fur

The

tiquit

vate

rds,

ng Da

mes i

t par

uld n

t, it b

her to

far more ancient terms than any of the other are as yet in the native language, retained by the progeny of the ancient Scots. So that it may be prefumed the above names of the feveral tribes had not been fo wholly differed, had the fame ever been really in use, or of any import in their language, these terms seeming to have been invented by such as had little knowledge of the language and other circumstances of those to whom they assigned them and therefore no great reason to sign the Phylar, chae who had a real existence to these tribes, which in all appearance had no other than a fictitious one.

Nor can it well be imagined with what shew of refon it can be denied, that the ancient Scots were composed of diverse furnames in common with other nations, such as the Grecians, who though called by the general denomination of Grecians, and more particularly by their feveral provinces, as Beotians, Spartans, &c. yet at the fame time furnames were in use among them; as the Heraclidae, from their progenitor Hercules; Pelopida from Pelops; Mirmidons, so denominated from their for gality or laboriousness. Also among the Romans distind furnames were no less frequent than among the former as the Fabii, from their ancestor Fabius; the Manlii Tor quati to denominated from their ancestor Manlius Torquatus. Among the English the ancestor of the surname of Piercy, ancient Earls of Northumberland, obtained that furname upon account of their ancestor's piercing king Malcolm III. his eye with a spear at Alnwick. All the Turnbulls in Scotland are faid to have first got the furname from one of their anceltor's turning of a mad but which made an attempt upon king Robert I. Nor wer furnames in these more ancient times only used among the more polite nations, but also among the more barbari ous; as the Acmenidae among the Perfians; Arfacida among the Parthians, and so in general among most of the known world. And it is very remarkable, that not withstanding of the various revolutions, and grand mu tations which have fallen upon the country and people of Italy, fince the declination, at least extinction of the Ro man empire, yet some remainder of the ancient surname with little variation continue as yet in that country;

Roman emperour. And we find Chiapinius Vitellius, a rincipal officer under the prince of Parma in the wars of the landers, not much above an age age. landers, not much above an age ago, being of that anient furname. The Irish also contend in their histories hat they can carry down the descent of the Oniels, Odonells, Olachlins, Obryans, Macrories and otherstermed by em the Mileian progeny, from certain fons of Mileius ing of Spain, being Captains of the first colony of Gaelians, or Scots which from Spain first arrived, and seted in Ireland.

rt

n.

ge

ed

ar. all

ea-

fed

uch

no: ie-

the

the

idae

fru

tind mer Lot-

l'or-

ame

inec

cing

Alfo the

1 bul

Wer

nong

barr

cidae

ofto

t not

mu

people

e Ro

name

try;

The Welch and some English writers affert, that the mestor of the furname of Tudor, of which was king enry VII. was originally descended from Cadualladerlast ing of the Britons, who flourished about the 668, of the hristian epocha. To instance the fondness of people's wing the origin of their most famous men scrued up as great a pitch of antiquity as possible, yea sometimes ove measure, I observed in Harrison, an English Writer, tgenealogy of Hengist first king of Kent, and planter the Saxons in Britain, carried up to Noah, and names igned to each of his progenitors through all that long digree. The indeed I in no manner approve of fuch in glory; I as little do fo of the opinionativeness of me of our writers, who endeavour all they can to deprive ir country of that which other nations efteem their hon-rand which a great many upon much worse grounds, dmuch less satisfying authorities, use their utmost efts in afferting, by extolling the antiquity of their nation d furnames.

The principal reason of some people's decrying the tiquity of the last is, that those Writers will not allow vate evidences, judged by them the only infallible reds, to have had any existence before the reign of g David I. and therefore what is recorded of any furmes is not to be relied on before that time. But as the t part of that supposition is not so infallible as these uld make private evidents, so no more is the last part t, it being well known, that there is lately found among publick records a charter of king Duncan I. Grandher to king David, as also a charter by Ethelred, one of g Malcolm the third's fons, of lands called Admor

0

fe

D

m

Ro

wh

101

nar

rid

nur

F

gus

ars lulí

fur

f ti

ate

uin

hann

lum

hat

orefa

ing o

V. t

lainl

ur h

ne pr aptai

bver

eing :

on of

to the Culdees of St. Andrews, granted in his fathers time and to which he is witness. And as these, so diverie o. thers of equal if not greater antiquity might be found upon due disquisition in our publick records, and some private hands. Yea Speed, and other English historians mention that there is a charter in the publick records, of tha nation granted by king Athelstan to one Paulan a Saxon gentleman, of the lands of Rhodham in York shire, will divers others by king Edgar Ethelred, and other Saxon kings, long before the reign of King David. So that i these Saxons kings be allowed to have granted charters these more ancient times, who received both their religi on and letters from the Scots, I fee no reason of denvin those of this kingdom the same matter; though probably great many of the most ancient have been cancelled, ando thers carried into foreign parts in the time of the war after the death of King Alexander, and at the reforma tion.

And though there were no other record than our put lick histories concerning divers of our furnames, at other affairs, if no credit must be allowed to any thin recorded therein before the reigns of king Malcolm II and king David I. the lofs would be found much great er than could readily be compensated by any supposition newly advanced, however specious, tending to the subve fion of an history as well founded in all circumstances as requifite for any of that kind.

To this therefore I shall appeal in relation to what am to offer in further profecution of the above mention fubject, and by the fame will endeavour to illustrate good many of our most considerable furnames, whose pr geny of the same denomination is found in this age have existed in several junctures, and different reigns, vers ages, before the time prefixed, by those mode Writers.

My first Instance is of the furname of Murray. Our h tories relate a people of that denomination to have are leaded in this kingdom in the reign of king Corbred I.a larr, we for possessions to have got Murrayland, retaining the area in mame yet of which tribe in regard of their armorial bearing, being mollets, accounted by heralds the most a ceient, and that the ancient and once numerous surnamed p of Sutherland is reputed a branch of the fame, the prefent furname of Murray may without the least inconsistency be not only prefumed, but even admitted to be origipriginally descended; especially seeing in the reign of king Donald V. Anno 900, there is mention of a controversy maintained with much flaughter betwixt the Murrays, and Rosses, both being considerable surnames at that time with which is more than two centuries before the time afaxor figned for the commencement of furnames. And that which in a great measure confirms my allegation in relaion to the Murrays, is that among the first of our furnames that of Murray is found upon record by private e-ridents, and is thereby known to have been a potent and numerous name.

me

e 0-

up-

nen.

that

TXOI

TSI

eligi ring

bly

rido

pub, and thin

n II grea

ofitio

ubve

es as

what

tion

rate

le pr

age

ns, mode

For further instances we have the Grahams in king Ferwar gus the fecond's time. Anno 404. of which, with the Dun-orma pars, there is again mention made in the reign of king Infulfus. Now as it was before observed of the furname of flurray, the furname of Graham within fo small a tract fitime after this reign being found upon record by priate evidents leaves no room to doubt of its being the genuin offspring of those already mentioned. In the same namer also the Dunbars, of which the potent name of lume is a branch, may be afferted to be the progeny of hat confiderable perion of that name mentioned in the presaid reign, notwithstanding of some late Writer's affering one Gospatrick, a Saxon, who left Northumberland, and settled in the Mers about the reign of king Malcolm V. to be ancestor of the Dunbars. But the contrary lainly appears by the concurrent testimony of divers of or historians, who maintain that furname's descent from ne properly called Barr, one of king Kenneth the great's aptains, who in the wars against the Picts, and upon the abversion of that people, obtained an estate in the Mers, our hand of those lands named the same Dunbarr, which in the ancient language imports the Fort or habitation of arr, whence his progeny assumed the surname of Dunbarr. Nor does it infer any inconsistency, that the principal be all person of that name had besides his estate in the Mers and the estate of Bengelly in Northumberland, of which he research possession till the Scots were disposses of that whole eing a part of the Picts dominion, and upon the acquisi-

rei

of

and

def

fuc

oth

cav

quii

beir

renc

145 the in th

7 mor

or t

hefe

o ha

ime

ume

xpr

vere

han

nanr

ofe

erni

ed a ncon

d th

Ne

ame

nenc

nost:

ame.

lat t

es, a

om

rfron nd fu

province, by the unjust avarice of king Henry II.

England.

The third and most clearly documented instance of a. ny hitherto advanced is that of the illustrious furname of Douglas in king Solvathius time in the year 770. Of which furname Sir William Douglas went lieutenent to Prince William, king Achius's brother, in the army fent by that king to the service of Charles the great, first emperor of the west, and king of France upon the conclufion of the league betwixt France and Scotland, after which the faid Sir William, having fettled in Tufcan, was ancestor of the family of the Douglassii there, and in the low countries, who have always retained the ancient furname, and bearing of the family of Douglas in Scotland, and also a close correspondence therewith, as may be feen by the exquisite history of that surname here as also by the history written by Umberto de Lorato of those others abroad, which could not have been very practicable to be so exactly done, had not the surname of Don glas been fo denominated in the reign in which that bran gentleman, a branch thereof, left this kingdom. The progenitor of the furname of Douglas is reported by fome antiquaries to have been a fon of M. Duff, Thane of Fil who upon his fo much fignalizing himfelf in the battle against Donald Baan, obtained his furname not from hi black gray armour alone, as is commonly afferted, bu from his furname of M'Duff, or Duff, termed in Irish Du or Duy, from whence and his gray armour he was upo that occasion termed Macduiglass, and thereafter mo briefly and properly Douglas.

However this be, there are not other instances wanting to confirm what has been advanced on the present subject such as the ancestor of the surname of Hay, who with his two sons by their valour gained that signal victory so the Scots against the Danes at the battle of Loncarty, the reign of king Kenneth III. He by our historians expressly afferted to be surnamed Hay at that occase

on.

The ancestor of the furname of Keith is also memorable in our history for killing of Camus the Danish general in the reign of king Malcolm II. We have also an account of Duncan McDuss, who was Thane of Fife in the reign of M'Beth, and is recorded to have been a person of great power and authority, and chief of a numerous and potent furname, as the many confiderable branches descended of that family near those times clearly evince fuch as the Weemfes, M. Intoshes, and Shaws, with divers others. The first of these derive their surname from caves, with which the fea-coasts of those lands first acquired by the progenitor of that name, abounds; caves being termed in Irish Uaimh, which can be no other way rendered in English than Weems. The surname of Hume has also the same etymology, all the difference being that he H, or note of aspiration, is more plainly pronounced in the last of these surnames.

a.

of

Of

to ent

firft

du.

fter

ing,

d in

ient

cotmay

icre.

0.0

race Dou.

ran

The

fom Fife

pattle m hi , bu h Du upa mor

intin ubje

Jrw C

ry fo ty, ans occal

These above adduced being not only of a date much more ancient than the period by some Writers assigned or the commencement of furnames in general, but also in hefe times in which the faid are found upon record both otent and numerous, which cannot be in reason thought, o have been affected in an instant or even a small tract of ime; It feems therefore much more reasonable to preume that they with some others long ago extinct, or not expressly recorded, and others hereafter to be mentioned were the genuin progeny of the Philarchae, and others meiently planted at feveral junctures in this kingdom, han to conclude them and all our other furnames in a nanner upftarts, in regard each of them cannot (as I supple few others can) produce such distinct evidents contraining their several origins, as may satisfie such as result all that suits not their particular humours however aconsistent with reason or the nature of the matter convasiaconfistent with reason or the nature of the matter convastthe fame may fometimes fall out to be.

Next falls to be confidered that affertion of local furames derived from the lands of the affumers to have comnenced in the reign of king Malcolm III. and to be the nost ancient surnames, and that there was no other, surame, or method of distinguishing persons in use before hat time but what was assumed either from bodily properes, applicable to particular persons, as Roy, or Baan, com the red or slaxen coulour of a person's hair; Balloch com spots on the face; Bacach from a halt in ones leg. an at from the quality of mind, as Coich mad or passionate, in the d such like. It is also afferted that these names then used were sometimes derived from a person's father's Chail. tian name, as James fon of John, with others of that kind none of which were of longer duration than the perion's own time fo denominated. And fo there was room left for new furnames each generation. All which, if true, would argue us to have been a more confused and rude fet of people, than our very enemies could have with'd, or ever gave us out to be.

As to local furnames it is to be observed, that the great ter part of them are derived from proper fignificant terms in the English language, terminating mostly in town, or fome other term in that language; which language cannot be documented to have commenced in the reign of king Malcolm III. even in England, much less to have been either spoken or understood in Scotland, over all which, Irish was the native language, used by the inhabit num ants then, and for some ages thereaster, it being severely chasted, that none should use or learn the Saxon, or Tentonick, which was that used in England, lest by that mean there should be any correspondence with the Saxons when enemies. Yea so far the mixture of Tentonick, and of ime Cimbrick, or Danish from being either perfect, or pleasant, that William the Norman Conqueror, upon his confuction of the successors king Malcolm III. even in England, much less to have distance after his time ere that compound of the said thre alged languages, and the Latine, termed now English, was in troduced, and longer time ere the same was brought to affert that surnames which in the least can lay any just that to antiquity, could be derived from any significant term in a language scarcely known, and far less used in this kingdom before the reigns of king Alexander II. and the last the single of the kings of England, their frequent commerce and correspondence with that kingdom, and the resort of dispersions. English to, and settlement in this, made that language, tho' even in those times very unpolite, to be in some ere age, tho' even in those times very unpolite, to be in som le re rei affi onl bef cell cha fo a

na

Ale hav king fum carr

ofelli om t ind

n's

left

rue,

ude

, or

rea-

rms

, 00 can-

n o have

Nor will it be found upon record, that thefe local furnames are generally of a more ancient standing than the reign of the first of these two kings, and even then the assumers of these local surnames had other surnames not only at the time, but also a good many for diverse ages before the assumption of the local ones; as Houston's ancestor had that of Padvinan before that of Houston, Buchanan that of M'Aufelan before that of Buchanan, and fo a great many others. However in the reigns of king Alexander III. and king Robert I. the English language having become pretty much in use, it is probable those lings (as did some of their successors,) encouraged the asfumers of new furnames from their lands, in order to carry off fome dependants and cadets from the too numnot fumers of new furnames from their lands, in order to have carry off fome dependants and cadets from the too numbers and potent clans, by that means diminishing their nabit numbers and weakening their union, so formidable to he kings themselves, who rationally concluded that sew were so free of ambition, and careless of their own interneated, as not to chuse to be a kind of chief of his own Sept or at least expected some one of his progeny in a little lime would be so, and to be in the king's favour and proceedion, rather than be subject to the imperious commands of their chistains, which often tended to the ruin of themselves and their dependants. Moreover many of English which the time of the wars betwixt the death of Alexander long ll. and the beginning of the reign of king David II. In the line of the wars betwixt the death of Alexander which their interest to change their former, and assume two surnames from their lands, or some other occasion; by that means, in some small process of time, to bring in culou blivion their extract and nation, both so justly odious at that time to the people they resided among. So that as instant in the probable time of the commencement of these surficed ames is hereby pointed out, so also the extract of II. and the mupon a due disquisition all of them will be found to agreed to, by our historians, that upon the subversion langs the Picts being more than two hundred years before in some the reign of King Malcolm III. a great part of the land offised by the said people, obtained new denominations, om the proper names of those brave Captains, to whom om the proper names of those brave Captains, to whom king Kenneth affigned the lands in recompense of the conquering the ancient poseffors thereof, as for inflance f B conquering the ancient poseffors thereof, was then called Fife Ircl from the proper name of a nobleman called Fife, who furname was Macduff, and whose progeny continue Thanes of that country, for diverfe ages thereafter. A was at the fame time the country called anciently Horel tia, termed afterwards Merns, and Angus, from the pro per names of two brethren betwixt whom that country was divided.

nd

or

fac

ofe

not

as,

th

nde

WOO

at t

Bu

the

ing

ays

by

ve

Per

Dr

me !

the

rum

I ha

gns

the t

dely

perf

nces

age

ble to om: this

Don

nalc

Nor feems the other supposition concerning epithetic furnames to be much better founded, as derived from for properties of person's bodies, or qualities of their mind These epithetical designations, must be owned to have been in use some preceding ages, and even in the present in all places where the Irish language is used, or prevai though at the fame time there is not the least reason of a lowing these epithets to have been ever used in place furnames, or that persons so designed had no other su names fave them, which indeed are mostly to be met wit in private evidents, the clerks of which being mol churchmen, were fo stupid, and supinely negligent, a fo careless of the instruction or advantage of future age as for the most part to neglect all defignations of oth persons, except those epithetical ones so much used the and by which perfons were well enough known, the' of longer duration than their own time; which feems neith to have been regarded nor confidered by those unthinking clerks, more than their frequent omission of inserting da in these charters, and other evidents written by the So that if it be argued, that furnames did not comment or that persons had none because not designed by them most of those reputed private unerring evidents, it may well be argued from the omission of inferting dates. those evidents in which the same is omitted. As the private records or evidents so much at present relied of are most frequently defective in respect of the particular spreadove mentioned and some others, so neither are our publick histories wholly free of such imperfections in relations on to sull designations of persons, as, for instance Domanda Baan in King Solvathius's time by most of our historia ms of is no other ways designed and therefore by our mode place. 13 niters judged to have no other furname than the epithet riters indeed to have no other in flame than the epithet of Baan assigned upon account of his slaxen hair, yet in it is rehdean Ballenden, translator of Boetius's history fully not not truly design's him Donald Baan Macdonald, governoted or of Jura. He seems to have been tutor to the great accounted while minor, or his deputy in some parts of ord note vast territories that belonged unto him Also nother Donald is no other way designed by our historinother Donald is no other way defigned by our historis, than Donald Balloch, or spotted Donald, who lived the reign of King James I. and was brother to Alextown to be Macdonalds for a great many ages before at time. Malcolm Beg who fucceeded to Gilbert laird Buchanan in the office of Senercall, or chamberlain the Earl of Lennox, in the latter part of the reign of ing Alexander III. and beginning of Robert I. is alays designed in all charters in which he is inserted grantby that Earl, Malcolm Beg, or little, yet he is found very authentick documents in the hands of the Earl with Perth, and in the publick records, to have been furnam-Drummond, and one of the Earl's ancestors. The me Malcolm's Father in a charter by the Earl of Lennox the reign of King Alexander II. is defigned Gilchrift rummond.

pro

ntr

tica

fom

nind

hav

esen

evail

of a

ace

molt

, an age

oth

d the

of of neith

ninkir g dat

tha

men them

may dates

is the

I have observed charters of no earlier dates than the gns of King James V. and Queen Mary, with others the two preceding reigns, to be the most carelesly and dely written, most confused and unexact in designations persons inserted therein, and in divers other circumaces of any of the kind to be met with in any preceedage, some being therein designed from epithets applible to their fathers, as John, son of black William, omas, fon of long or tall Donald, and fuch like. Yea this present age, there are two gentlemen of Donald Donald's family, and Kepoch's termed Gorm, or blue lied o mald, whose progeny if existing an age or two after ricular is present, would with a deal of reason judge it most ricular purpur culous in any to assert, that their ancestors were not of a relative furname of Macdonald, because more frequently depoint and at least termed, by the epithet Gorm. So that it issues that it is the asserters of epithets mode place of surnames, refuse the existence of any other

th

or

me

def

tha

cial

cal

reig

auti

bett

hal

owi

Pias

Gar

ron

cour

he c

r to

d N

erec

ater

effor

vhon

xanc

fth

han

lame

Bute.

Bar

lugh

Macb

Vale:

uf.

furnames in these three last ages, in which these epithets are most frequent in evidents, or otherways allow persons to have had other surnames together with them in more ancient times.

HAT people known by the denomination of Scot of which our Scottish nation is at present composed may in respect of the origin of the same, be divided into four different diffinct classes or divisions. The first these classes confists of these furnames whose origin is purely Scottish, being the genuine progeny of the an cient Scots, which from Ireland at different junctures and occasions arrived and settled in Scotland. The fecon class is composed of such as came from south Britain England, at the time of the four grand conquests of the kingdom, and upon fome other accounts, and fettled her The third class or division consists of such French, upon account of the mutual amity and correspondent commenced by the league betwixt Scotland and Francei Charles the great and king Achaius reigns, and continu ed for a geat many ages thereafter, upon which and d vers other accounts, a great number of French fettle in this nation of whom are descended a great number of very confiderable families. The fourth and last divid on, being the least of the four, confists mostly of su Danes and Norveyans as were naturalized by our Scott kings, and obtained possessions in this kingdom upon vers occasions, being upon the above accounts permitt to continue in this kingdom, after their country-men we obliged byking Alexander III, to yield or quite their pu fession of the northern isles of Scotland of which they is got a grant from Donald Baan the usurper, for the affiltance in supporting himin his usurpation, and by tue of that grant, retained possession for 200 years, t obliged to abandon those isles by king Alexander, abo the year 1280. However divers of Danish extract, ha ing by alliance, and other means, before the faid tim obtained confiderable estates, were allowed to continue the benevolence of king Alexander, and the fuccess kings of Scotland. So that these with some few other in conjunction with them, of different extracts from the three classes above-mentioned, make up the fourth class or division of Scottish furnames.

The first example by which I shall illustrate the class first mentioned, shall be the furname of STEWART, being not only of an extract and descent purely Scottish, but also the only Scottish surname whose ancestor was an immediate fon, or lineal descendant off the race of our ancient Scottish kings. The time and manner of whose descent tho' treated of by diverse of much greater abilities han I can pretend to, nevertheless agreeable to the account given by our Seneciones or Shanachies, but espetally according to that delivered by a certain genealogical account of that illustrious family, composed in the reign, and dedicated to king Charles II. by an unknown author, (which little pamphlet is as well vouched, if not better, than any thing ever I could find on the subject) I hall deliver the origin of that family in the manner fol-

owing.

hets

fons

nore

Scot

ofed

inte

ft o

rigit

e an

s and

econ

in o

fthia

here

h, 2

dend

ncei

ntinu

nd di

lettle

ber o

divil

f fuc

cotti

one

mitte

n we eir pu

ey ha

r the

by VI

ars, t

abo

A, ha

d tim

inue

ccessi

othe

Kenneth the great, king of the Scots, Subverter of the lids, had three fons, Constantine, his successor, Ethus, and Gareth. This last had one fon, Dorus, whom Mr. Aberfromby makes fon to Ethus the swift, being by that acbount, grandchild to king Kenneth, as well as by the other he difference being concerning his father. Gareth, fathr to Dorus, was first Thane of Lochaber. Doire or Jorus had two fons, Kenneth, by fome erroneously term ; d Murdae; and Ferquhard, father to Donald, who murered king Duff, for which he, and his progeny were sterminated, Kenneth had two fons, Murdac, his fuceffor, Dunclina, daughter to King Kenneth III. by shom he had two fons. Bancho his fuccessor, and Alrander; also four daughters, the first married to one f the ancestors of the Douglas's, another to Donald hane of Sutherland, the third to Angus, ancestor to the lamerons, and the fourth to Malcolm Macrory Lord of bute.

Bancho, with three of his fons, and his brother-in law lugh Douglas, was murdered by order of the tyrant lacbeth, hisfourth fon Fleance having escaped, fled to Vales. Bancho's two daughters were married to Macluff, I have of Fife, and Frederick ancestor of the Ures

Fleance by Maria Mnesta, daughter to Griffith ap Lewellin, Prince of Wales, had Walter first of the furname of Stewart, being married to Christian, daughter to Allan Lord of Bretaign in France, by whom he had Al. lan, his fuccessor, who had two sons, Walter his successor, founder of the abbey in Paifley, Anno 1160. And Simon ancestor of the Boyds. Walter's fuccessor was Allan the fecond, whose fuccessor was Walter the third, high Justiciary of Scotland. He had two fons, Alexander his fucceffor, and Robert Lord Torbolton, who by marriage of the heiress of Sir Robert Croc, obtained the lands of Cruixftoun, and Darnly, and was ancestor of the family of Darnly, afterwards of Lennox, notwithstanding that Mr. Abercromby, makes Allan, fon of John, commonly termed of Bute, ancestor of that family. Alexander had two fons, James his fuccessor, and Walter, who by marriage of the heiress of Cumin, Earl of Monteath, got that Earldom, and thereupon changed his furname to Monteath He had two fons Murdo his fuccessor, and Sir John Monteath of Rusky, ancestor of the surname of Monteath, and who betrayed Sir William Wallace. Murdo Earl of Monteath, had one fon, Allan, who by marriage of the heire of Macduff, Earl of Fife, obtained that Earldom, who having one daughter, conveyed those estates by marriage to Robert Stewart, fecond fon to king Robert II. and find of the Stewarts. Both estates through forfaulture of Duke Murdo his fon, fell to the Crown. Alexander third fon, by Jean Macrory heiress of Bute, was John, kill ed at the battle of Falkirk anno 1298.

James high Stewart had one fon, Walter, married to Margery Bruce daughter to king Robert I. by whom h had one fon, Robert, named Bleareye: his mother when big with child of him being killed by a fall from her hor at that place of Renfrew-moor ealled queen bleareyes croll the child by a doctor there present was cut out of her bell and the instrument with which the operation was perform ed having touched his eye, the fame continued to be alway tended thereafter, which gave him the epithet of blearey Upon the death of his Uncle king David II. without mal issue he obtained the Crown of Scotland, by defignation *king Robert II. of whom and his fuccessors there may b account had from our publick histories.

The the fa lord T lord 1 Allan the L of M ed tha only t Duke Lenn wes 1 their Joh ceffor Lord her fa iffue that t whofe Charl gitim ing or of Tr Earl Duke Kobe Of gin, t menti

menti touch ticula than antiqu fume duff argur

Fr hinter therec

nume

[ 17 ]

The fecond principal branch of that great family was the family of Lennox, lineally descended from Robert lord Torbolton, already mentioned, his son being Allan first lord Darnly, who had two sons, John his successor, and Allan, wha acquired the lands of Faslane, and others in the Lennox. Allan of Faslane's son Walter, by marriage of Margaret, heiress of Donald, Earl of Lennox, obtained that Earldom, whose son, Duncan Earl of Lennox had only two daughters, Isabel the eldest married to Murdo Duke of Albany, who, with his father in law the Earl of Lennox, and his own two sons, Walter, and Alexander, wes by order of king James I. executed anno 1424, and their estate forseited.

John fecond Lord Darnly had two sons, Allan, his successor, and Robert first laird of Aubigny in France Allan Lord Darnly married Lilias, second daughter to the last mentioned Duncan Earl of Lennox, and by her by gift of her father's forfaulture got the Earldom of Lennox, whose issue enjoyed the same till the reign of king James VI. that the Earldom was conferred upon Esme lord Aubigny whose grandchild died without issue in the reign of king Charles II. The Earldom having devolved upon an illegitimate son of that king, he sold the same lately, reserving only the title. Of this family are descended the Earls of Traquair, and Galloway with a great many others; the Earl of Murray being descended of a Son of Murdo Duke of Albany, and the Earl of Bute of a son of king Kobert III.

Of all other ancient furnames of Scottish descent or origin, the heroick surname of Douglas justly merits to be mentioned next to that of Stewart, but having briefly touched on that surname already, and there being a particular history of the same, I shall insist no surther thereon, than to declare that I agree with the sentiments of those antiquaries who affert the progenitor of and who sirst assumed the surname of Douglas to have been a son of Macdust Thane of Fife, for which there are divers different arguments used not necessary in this place at all to be enumerated.

her

orfe

rof

ell

rm

vay

eve

nal

n o

y b

From the same ancient surname of Macduss, as already hinted, is descended the surname of Weems, the ancestor thereof being Eugenius son to Constantine third Earl of Fife in the reign of King Alexander I. it is afferted the Leslie's and Abernethies are of the same Stem with Weems but I could not obtain any exact account of the time and manner of the descent of either of these two last off that of Macduss.

The next instance is of the surname of Campbell, which is of ancient Scottish origin, however otherwise afferted by some of our historians. I thall briefly glance at the genealogy and fome other matters relating to the furname, conform to two accounts of the same in manuscript, the one of these composed by Mr. Alexander Colvil, from evidents and other records belonging to the family of Ar gyle, the other account by Neil M. Ewin, who and his an cellors for divers ages, have been Seneciones or genealog ists of the said samily. From this last derives the ancien furname of Oduibhne, now Campbel, from Mervie Moiro Mervin the great, fon to the famous Arthur King of the Brittons, and of Elizabeth daughter to the king of France which behoved to have been Childobert the fifth in de fcent from Pharamond, who was Contemporary with kin Arthur.

Mervin is reported to have been a wild untractable man and upon that account rejected by the Brittons, tho' neither this nor any other circumitance relating evento the exit cenc of fuch a person is any way confistent with probability for though there be no great reason of so doing yet there ar a great many who doubt of the existence of king Arthurhim felf, in regard fome of his countrymen in their writings ha to much blended the account of his life and actions, with many ridic'lous and monstrous fables as have very much m judged the credit due to his existence and heroick a chievements. This brave king is recorded to have beg in the year 518, and in a reign of twenty four years to have gained twelve victories, with the affiftance of Gorant king of the Scots, and Lothus king of athe Picts over the Saxons, till in the end he expelled most part of them, an obliged fuch as flayed in his kingdom, to be in subjection to him. but much prosperity having rendered him and h fubjects too insolent, they endeavoured to defraud Mode king of the Picts of the Brittish Crown, which through feet of Arthur's iffue justly belonged to him which was occasion of a bloody battle betwixt them, in which be the B till in only v others of w! cabett lemai gans, Troy. thur, fuch I as ma nor w who i hiltor tance would have

and c thefe

who h Modr germ pertai name from from princ taine but a in Iri groun furna by an name ried t > from rathe than fubject great

Irela

these kings lost their lives, and so shattered the state of the Brittons, that it could never be retrieved thereafter, till in the end ruined by the Saxons. king Arthur was not only very much esteemed by the Brittons, but also by most others, being accounted one of the world's nine Worthics, of which three were Jews, Joshua, David, and Judas Maccabeus. Three Chritians, Arthur of the Brittons, Charlemaign of France, and Godfrey of Bulloign. Three Pagans, Alexander the great, Julius Caetar, and Hector of Troy. But as for Mervin this pretended fon of king Arthur, their is no probable ground for the existence of any fuch person, it being plainly recorded by all such histories as make mention of this king, that he never had any iffue nor was never married to any but his queen Gwyvanor, who furvived himfelf: nor would the Brittish nor French hiltories have wholly omitted a matter of fuch great importance, were there the least ground for the same, neither would the Brittons however wild or foolish he might be, have past by that king's fon whom they so much valued, and confer their Crown upon one Constantine, a nobleman who had no manner of pretence thereto, much less wou d Modred the Pictish king, being only king Arthur's cousingerman, contend for a Crown, which by fo plain a right pertained to another. So that by this account, the furname of Oduibhne, is faid to have got that denomination, from the marriage of Ferither Olla, the fourth in descent from Mervin with a daughter of Diarmuid Oduibhne, a principle nobleman of Ireland; and to have not only obtained from this Diarmuid the denomination of Oduibhne but also that of Siol Diarmuid, by which that surname is in Irith frequently defigned; yet this supposition is wholly groundless, there being no instance of any Scottish or Irish furname obtaining their ancient or principle denomination by any fuch means. Some of the progenitors of this furname are by the faid account reported to have been matried to grandchildren of Con Centimachus, and Neil the great, two of the most famous kings that ever reigned in Ireland, fo that if they were used to take denominations from fuch family's as they married into, the fame would rather be assumed from names of one of those kings than from that of any individual nobleman who was their Subject.

int

an Lio

dr

brate

Irish

ning !

rear

ie be rmu

btain

rmu

ing !

oto t ed A

lescer

mon

lance

a or ore t reat

ient

he fa

heref

hyla

nnea

ount

augh

he pr

ras f

Fer

he gr

e is I

evera

t vai

nd o

is fue

an n

irthu

augh

narri

hyfic

muid

eady

altde

o a g

But passing this topick, I come to the account most confistent with probability, in relation to the origin of that fur-The ancestor of the same was Diarmuid Oduib. hne, who as one of the principal Phylarchae or Captains, came from Ireland with some of the Scots, who either in king Fergus's time, or in that of one of the two colonies, which at different junctures came from that kingdom, and fettled in Argyle and the ifles adjacent. For though the generality of our historians, more especially genealogists rather to please the talke of those of the modern times than in any great measure to promote the truth, or at least probability, use their utmost efforts to assign some plausible manner and stated period concerning the origin of ancient furnames; yet all amounts to no more than probable conjecture, supported only by propable and folid tradition, of which that most consistent with found reason and probable lity ought most to obtain: fo that in the accounts of the origin of this, or any other of our ancient Scottish fur names, there is a little abfurdity in prefuming the fame to be the offspring of those who first fettled here, as by a spe cious kind of story to affert them descended at such a time and from fuch a person, some eight or nine hundred or thousand years ago, there being as few written document to confirm the last as the first of these accounts. Nor is in reason to be supposed, as I have hinted already, that the whole progeny of those Scots, who are reported to have fettled before, at, and in some process of time after the com ing of king Fergus I. here, to be fo totally mouldered away and extinct, as that few or none of these surnames now being, and of an ancient Scottish extract. can be pretend to be their genuine progeny, but that each furname mu be put to the shift of framing a latter origin for themselve which when effected is no better founded, nor more fatisfac tory to people of understanding than the former method to which left I appear too closely to adhere, I shall relat the account most agreed to, conform to the more moder method of genealogizing, in relation to the origin of the bove mentioned furname.

Thus in place of Mervie, or as others term him Smeri Moir, supposed son of king Arthur, these other genealog ists, with a greater shew of probability, mention Diarnus Oduibhne, a very samous Irish nobleman, and much cele brated for valour, and other heroick atchievements, by the rish historians, who having come to Scotland in the begining of the reign of king Geranus, or Coranus, about the ear 512. married a daughter of the faid king, of whom te begot Ferither Uor, or Ferither Dun. From this Dimuid, according to the above antiquaries, the furname btained the two defignations of Oduibhne, and Siol Dirmuid, who flourished in, or some little time after that of ing Arthur, which gave rife to the story of his being fon oto that king, as also of divers of his posterity's being cald Arthurs, whence no inference can be deduced of their escent from king Arthur, that Christian name being used mong the Irish long before king Arthur's time as for inance, Cormac M'Arthur, fon of Arthur, tonamed Ulfaa or long beard, king of Ireland, a great many years beore the time of Arthur king of the Brittons, as also a reat many others of account in that kingdom in very anient times. This Diarmuid feems either to have been of he fame origin with the Sept of Scottish Oduibhns, and erefore to have been by them at the juncture assumed for hylarchae or chieftain, or which is more probable to be nneally descended from the first Diarmuid, and upon acount of the grandenr by marriage of the Scottish king's aughter, and other atchievements, to have been accounted he progenitor of that furname, and from whom the fame ras first so denominated.

ıbi.

the

fur

e to

ipe

nie

ora

ent

is i

the

hav

com

away

w i

ndec

mul

elve

isfac

thod

relat

oden

the a

nervi

ealog

rmu

h cele

Ferithar Uor was married to a great grandchild of Neil e great, tonamed Naoighealla, or nine hostages, whom eis recorded to have had in his custody at one time, from weral Spanish and Brittish princes, with whom he had been t variance, being thence termed keeper of nine hostages, nd one of the most famous of the Irish kings, Ferither Uor is fuccessor was Duibhne, or Duina, an ordinary Chrisan name in those times. Duina's successor was called arthur, whose mother was Murdac Thane of Murrays aughter, there is no account of what family this Murdac harried into ,however his fuccessor Ferither Olla, or the hytician, is reported to have been married to one Diar. muid Oduibhn's daughter, which is a grand mistake as aleady observed. Ferither Olla's successor was Duibhne altdearge, or Duina red hair, he is faid to have married a grandchild of Neil the great, which is no less an er-for than that above mentioned, as appears from the val distance of time betwixt these two. His successor was Ferither Fionruadh, or whitish red. His fuccessor was Duina Dearg, or red, his fon being Duibhne Doun or Du ina the Brown, from the colour of his hair. His fucces for is reported to have been Diarmuid Macduine or fond Duina.

This Diarmuid Macduina had two fons, Arthur, with the red armour, either from artificial colour or colouring there of with blood, the fecond fon was Duina white tooth, the eldest of these called Art Armdhearg, or Arthur red ar mour, had three fons, Sir Paul Oduine or Macduine Knight of Lochow, of which estate all his progenitors wer proprietors. This Sir Paul was termed Paul Anspera or Paul with the purse, being treasurer to King Malcoln III. as is commonly alledged. His two brethren wer Arthur Dreinuch, of whom descended Macarthur of Inch dreiny, and others of that name upon Lochow-fide. Th other brother was also called Arthur of whom descende the family of Darleith, in Lennox lately extinct. Of the firstof these two Arthurs descended also the samily of Stra chur, which though recorded to be descended of one of h Knights of Lochow. Some generations after the assump tion of the furname of Campbel, yet is not fo probable a the above descent, in regard of the above long continue pretention of the family of Strachur to more antiquity no that of Argyle, which could not possibly be founded on an ground than that above mentioned.

Diarmuid Macduibhne's fecond fon, Duina whitetoet had one fon called Gillecollum, or Malcolm Oduibhne. first married the lord of Carrick's Daughter, by who he had three fons. The eldest of these Gilmorrie was at cestor of the Macneachts of Lochaber, and other parts Argyle-shre, iThe second fon was Corcarua, ancestor the Macuillins, or rather Macailins in Ireland, The thir fon Duncan Drumanach, in regard he resided beyon Drumalbin, was conform to this genealogy, ancestor of the flor of Drumonds. But that Surname refuse this, and affert the ancestor to have come to Scotland with Queen Margan did Queen to king Malcolm III. and while the ship, in while the Queen was happened to be in very much danger by the development of the company of the company that the development of the company ftorm, that the dexterity of that gentleman in piloting it sting fam and mon illaff thre M

Fr

25 II Nori Arcl the , Dion or or of w Fra Anno her c of No c66. Eva ( avin effor ime, ame, ccafi Thi

Paul

el, h ne ca f the as fi fking ty aff ited! euten dest f

fame was a great means of the preservation of the ship and passengers, whence he obtained the surname of Drummond, importing the top of the waves, as is very much illustrated by the armorial bearing of that surname, being three barrs waved or undee.

0 6

th

ere

th

ver

rait

oln

ven

nch

Th

idec

the

f h limp

e a

nue

y 110

an

octh

. 45

110

s an

rtso

or d

thir

you f th

the

rgan

which

r by

ngth

Malcolm Odiun, after his first Lady's death went to Fr nce, and married the Heiress of the Beauchamps, or is in Latin Campus bellus, being neice to the duke of Normandy. By her he had two fons, Dionyfius, and Arch bald, who from the inheritance got with their mohe; changed their furname from Odiun to Campbel. Dionyfius the eldest continued in France and was ancesfor of a family defigned Campbel in that kingdom, of of which family was Count Tullard, a Mareschal of Fra ce, carried prisouer to England in the reign of Queen Anne, and diverse others of quality. The second broher came to Scotland as some say an officer in William duke f Vormandy's army, at his conquest of England, Anno c66. And coming to Argyle-shire, married his cousin Eva Oduin, only daughter to Sir Paul Oduibhne, or Paul Ansporian. She being heiress of Lochow, and he aving retained this furname of Campbel, as did his fuceffors, the whole clan of Oduibhne in a small tract of me, in compliance with their chief, assumed that surame, as did many others in this kingdom upon the like ccasion.

This Archibald, who first assumed the surname of Campd, his fuccesfor was called Duncan, who by marriage of ne called Dorothy Macfiachir, heireft of the upper part the barony of Lochow, united these two estates. as succeeded by Colin the Bald, who married a neice fking Alexander I or as others with no less probabity affert of king Alexander fecond. This Colin was inftitted Maller of the houshold to the king, and the king's cutenant in the shire of Argyle, and west isles. Colin's dest fon was Archibald. He had a second fon Hugh anflor of the old house of Lowdon in the shire of Ayr, ley having got that estate by Crawford heiress thereof, did her ancestor acquire the same by marriage of the dy daughter of Sir James Lowdon, heiress of that eate. The race of the old Campbels of Lowdon termitting also in an heiress in the reign of King Charles I.

Campbel of Lawers, descended of a son of Clenurchie, by marriage of the said heiress, obtained that estate, being afterwards chancellor of Scotland, and grandsather to Hugh the present earl. Colin the bald had also two illegitimate sons, the eldest Taus Corr, or Thomas the singular; he was ancestor of the Mactauses, or Thomsons of Argyle-shire, and some other parts. The name of the other illegitimate son was Iver of whom the Macivers of Glafrie, and other parts.

Colin the Bald was succeeded by his son Archibald who had two fons, Duncan his fuccessor, and Douga ancestor of the old family of Craignish. Archibald was fucceeded by his for Duncan, whose successor was Doug His fuccesfor was Archibald, who married the lord of Carrick's daughter by whom he had Colin Moir or the great being so both in body and spirit. He married daughter of one Sir John Sinclair, by whom he had his fuccessor Sir Neil. This Colin Moir was killed by his neighbour John M'Dougal lord of Lorn, at a place called the Streign being a ridge of Mountains betwixt Lorn and It's thought the family of Argyle derived the defignation of Maccuillain Moir from this Colin; but am more apt to believe that delignation was derived from Colin first earl of Argyle, and chancellor of Scotland is the reign of king James II. Sir Neil was married to lad Marjory Bruce, fifter to king Robert, which was the oc casion of the close adherence of Sir Neil, and his son Si Colin to the interest of that prince, and performing many fignal fervices to him and king David II, his fon. Si Neil had a fon called Dougald or rather Duncan ance tor of M'Donachy now Campbel of Inverraw, and other gentlemen of that name, the faid Duncan's mother being a daughter of Sir John Cameron, Locheal's ancestor and 2d. Lady to Sir Neil he had another fon Sir John of Moulin, afterward earl of Athole. The further account of this furname is fet forth at large in Mr. Crawford's peer age to which I refer the reader.

There is also of ancient Scottish descent the surname of Ogilvie, descended of Bredus a brother, or rather son to the famous Gilchrist Earl of Angus who flourished in the reign of king William of Scotland, and was married to that king's fifter.

tiqu once whice name king

TI

for the feet from now now now

Th

furna

ome

from the ar the th of his countr were heir a ers of

Donal

on to s, and emain erfon Dun teatel the lan legith di l the pece A

That tofe p daug ate th ng n babil The furname of Kennedy is in like manner of great antiquity in this kingdom, being originally descended of that once potent surname of the M'Kennedys of Ireiand, of which surname was that brave king Brian Kennedy, tonamed Boraimh, or taxer, being contemporary with our king Malcolm II.

Thus having adduced a certain number of Instances for the illustration of surnames of an ancient Scotish descent, being the first class of Scottish surnames, I shall next proceed to give instances of these whose descent is from England, being the second class of those Surnames, now reputed Scottish ones.

led

and

t l

com

lip

ady

Oc-

ma-

Si

cel

the

eing

ftor

n o

nt o

cer

ne of

on to n the

d to

The first Instance I shall adduce of the same is the furname of Graham, which according to Buchanan, and ome others of our historians and antiquaries, is descended from one Fulgentius, a nobleman lineally descended from he ancient kings of the Brittons who in the beginning of he third century of the christian epocha, with an army fhis own country-men, attempting to free themselves and ountry from the Roman servitude, their just endeavours tere nevertheless frustrated by the superiour power of heir adversaries, in which exigency Fulgentius, and diers of his afforiates were obliged to flee for refuge to lonald, first of that name king of the Scots then at war ith the Romans, who not only gave a very kind recepon to these strangers, but bestowed estates upon Fulgentis, and some other principal men of them, whose posterity mained always thereafter in Scotland. The principal rion of Fulgentius' progeny, having after the fatal bat-Dun, in which Eugenius king of the Scots, with the eatest part of his Nobility and others of any account the Scottish nation, were killed by Maximus the Roan legate, in conjunction with the perfidious Picts, gone th divers other Scots into Denmark, he continued there the restoration of king Fergus II. Anno 404, or as Dece 423.

That person of Fulgentius' race who went to Denmark, of proper name was Graeme, married in Denmark, and daughter was married to king Fergus II. tho' others ate that Graem's daughter was mother to king Fergus, ng married to Erthus his father, which carries little bability, in regard Graeme was not only a principal a fiftant to king Fergus in his own life time, but was af ter his death elected governour, or regent of the king dom, during the minority of his fon Eugenius, and have ing in that time broke over the wall of Abercorn greatly harrassed the dominions of the Brittons; so that from that adventure that wall is faid to have obtained the denomination nation, retained as yet of Graham's dyke, which denomination others affert to be taken from emperor Severus who repaired that wall, which was first begun by Julius Agricola in the reign of the emperor Domitian. The reason given for the last is, that Severus being born in Africa was of a very black and fwarthy complexion, and that thence the dyke was termed Grims dyke, Grimin Irish fignifying black or swarthy, whence the Scottill word Grim is derived. However this be, the first feems most probable, nor can these great atchievements in Eugenius's minority be imputed to Graeme, by reason of his too great age, whereas the translator of Boetius calls Fergus's mother Rocha daughter to a nobleman of Denmark called Roricius, or rather Rodericus. And that which very much evinces Graem's origin as above afferted is, that his grandchild Eugenius upon affumption of the government, (as our hiltorians relate) gan for pretence of the war commenced by him against the Brittons, the restitution of his grandfather Graham's

Our history gives no account of the posterity of this Graeme for fome ages The first to be met with of them is that Graham who with Dunbar, and the forces of Lothi an, appeared in rear of the Danes, when in battle with L. Indulph, and his army, which was the occasion of the defeat of the the first. The next was Constantine, married to Avila daughter to Kenneth one of the ancestors of the Stewarts in the year 1030. And in the year 1125, William de Graham is witness to the foundation charter of Holyrudehouse in the reign of king David I. The said William's fon Sir David, got charters of Charletoun, and other lands in Forfar-shire, in the reign of king William of Scotland; as did his son another Sir David, from Malduin earl of Lennox of the lands of Strablane, and from Patrick Dunbar earl of Dunbar, or March, of the lands of Dundaff and Straithcarron, in the reign of king Alex king ande Kind tile I mesi have land have set i quir fonic gain, to Ja king TI

the r

corn.

Scoti liol a famo the y Patri to Si king of I king mal. dom tinue liam his el 1694

Earle

Th of K of an of Ga Th

the R Seato priva

and v

[ 27 ]

ander II. as did his fuccessor, also David, the lands of Rincairden from Marie Foreteth Earl of Strathern, in the reign of king Alexander III. Before all which lands mentioned in the above charters that furnance seems to have been in possession of abercorn, Eliestoun, and other lands in Lothian. And though one Moor is reported to have had Abercorn in the reign of king Alexander III. yet in all probability he had but some part thereof acquired from the Grahams, which after having continued some little time with Moor returned to the Grahams again, and went from them with Margaret heiress thereof to James brother to the Earl of Douglas in the reign of king James 1.

no

us.

ius

ind

in

tilli

ms

Euhi

ils,

en-

12 ert-

ave

the

m's

his

em thi-

K.

the ied

the

lli-

of

ind

am al-

om nds

ex.

There were two principal families of this name in the reign of king Alexander III. the one being of Abercorn. Both their are mentioned among the Magnates Scotiae in cognition of the debate betwixt Bruce & Baliol anent the Scottish kingdom, as also inserted in that famous letter, written by king Robert I. to the Pope in the year 1320. These two thereafter were united when Patrick Graham of Eliestoun and Kilbride, second fon to Sir Patrick Graham of Kincairdin, in the reign of king Robert III. married the only daughter and heirefs of David Earl of Srathern, and by her obtained that Earldom, whose son Malife was deprived of the same by king James I. in regard that estate was entailed to heirs mal, but he gave Malife in lieu of Strathern, the Earldom of Monteath in the year 1428, whose posterity continued for nine generations for to be Earls thereof. William the ninth Earl, having never had any iffue, disponed his estate to the Marquis of Montrose died in the year 1694.

The first cadet of this family was Sir John Graham of Kilbride, Gartmore's ancestor. And the last Cadet of any repute was Walter Graham, ancestor to Graham of Gartur.

The next in antiquity of surnames thus descended, and who were obliged to leave their native country by the Romans, are by some antiquaries reported to be the Seatons, though there be little to be found in any of our private records concerning that surname till the reign of ting David I. when Alexander de Seaton is mentioned, for the most part that family enjoyed till in the reign of king William. The famous and loyal Sir Christopher Seaton, who was married to Christian Bruce, fister to king Robert I is very much celebrated in the account of the wars managed after the death of king Alexander III. and no lets is that heroick action of his fon Sir Alexander, in keeping of the town of Berwick, though at the expense of the lives of his two sons both executed by the orders of that rigorous prince king Edward III.

Those furnames which were obliged to abandon England through the tyranny and oppression of the Normans upon the conquest of England, they being in general so very numerous, that I can only mention some few initances of the fame.

As first the Levingstours, derived from Levingus, 4 proper name frequent among the Saxons, as also Alphin. gus, or asit is ordinarily exprest Elphingus, ancestor of the Elphingstouns. These with a great many others, anceftors of divers of our principal furnames, came to Scotland with Edg r A heling, and his fifter Margaret, queen to our king Malcolm III. some little time after the Norman conquest, and were all courteously received, and many of them endowed with estates by that magnificent The ancestor of the Levingstouns, having settled in West-Lothian, denominated these lands first acquired by him Levingstoun, from his own proper name, which continued to be for some descents. The first of that furname found mentioned in any private record is ealled Levingus in the reign of king David I. this name was aggrandized, by two feveral means, first by Sir William Levingstoun's marriage with the heires of Callender, and with her obtaining that estate, in the reign of king David II. fecoadly by Sir Alexander, this Sir William's grandchild's being governor of Scotland, in the minority of king James II.

As the Levingstouns gave denominations to their land in west Lothian, so the ancestor of the Elphingstouns after the same manner denominated the lands first acquired by him in Mid Lothian, which by an heires in the reign of King James I. came to the Johnstouns, that part of the estate in Stirling-shire, called formerly Airthbeg (as

Mr. C and c Th

others alread is only
which far th
thoug
more ith Pe

am, an opinio taining Earl of Bardo of those

Rober

d Ga

who water con, Intesthe

able,

eftor's

Forents hat far 8 years harter not uently the ngdon

The escent art of ese is ree str Mr. Crawford afferts) being retained by the heir male, and changed into that of Elphingstoun.

1.

12.

nt

et-

IC-

ie,

of

me

red

ign

of

(as

The Hamiltouns, Hepburns, Grays, and a great many others are of a more late descent from England than these already mentioned. All I shall observe concerning them is only in relation to that of Hamilton, the descent of which from England feems to be of greater antiquity by far than what is generally afferted, by our historians, and hough not much to be valued on other accounts, I am' more apt to joyn fentiments with the author of the Engh Peerage, who affirms the ancestor of the Hamiltons have come to this-kingdom in the reign of king William, and that which in a great measure confirms me in this pinion, is a charter in the register of Dunbartoun, peraming to Hamilton of Bardowie, granted by Duncan Earl of Lennox, to John Hamilton of Bathernock, now bardowie, upon refignation of John Hamilton his father of those lands in the year 1394, and in the reign of king Robert III. fo that the Lord Hamilton's fon, who marrid Galbraith heiress of Bathernock, being named by all tho write of that furname David, and owned to be a ater cadet than the ancestors of the Hamiltons of Preson, Innerwick, Bathgere, and a great many others evinesthese writers either to be in an error in relation to he descent of these of Bardowie, or which is more proable, in that of the furname in general as to their aneffor's coming to Scotland in the reign of king Robert For though ir be evident, that by some several deis ents Bardowie's ancestor is later than divers cadets of at family, yet by the above charter in 1394, being only il. Byears posterior to the coronation of King Robert 1st. ene grandfather of that John in whose favour that cf larter was granted must be allowed to have existed at. il. not before the coronation of the faid, and confethe nently before the time allotted for the first coming the ancestor of the furname of Hamilton to this ind ngdom. at.

The next class of Scottish surnames is those whose scent is from the French, being also a very considerable at of our Scottish surnames. The first instance of ele is the furname of Frazer, so denominated from the ree strawberry-leaves, termed in French Frazes, which that furname tile for armorial bearing, some other for names of French extract have also obtained denomina tions from the same cause, as the Sharps, Purvelles, and others, The Frazers are faid to be descended of Pete Count of Troile, who came to Scotland fome little tin after the league betwixt Scotland and France. furname is not only founded upon record, but to have reigns of King Malcolm V. and king William, one of which in the reign of the latter, was chancellor of a land that land, that great man and loyal patriot Sir Simon, fofa mous in the reign of King Robert 1st. was lord of Twel dale and refided in Oliver calle in that country. The Tweedies now posessors of that castle, and adjacent estar are supposed to be descended off the ancient Frazers Lovat's ancestor was also called Simon, his mother being filter to king Robert 1st. From this last Simon th Lords Lovat are always termed Machimes, or contractedly Macimmey, the same with Simpson, whose fa mily is by far the most numerous, of any other of tha

The Sinclairs are also of a French descent, being Earl of Orkney afterwards of Caithness William or ratha Henry Earl of Orkney and Caithness being Chancel lor in the reign of king James 2d. and of the greatef grandeur of any noblemen of his age. Also the Mongomeries, as their arms and motto evince, are of a French or as others affert of a Norman origin; as are also the Bruces, and the Bailies thought to be descended of the ancient Baliols, and the Browns, with a prodigious number of other furnames too numerous to be in this place mentioned.

The fourth and last and indeed the least class of Scot tish surnames is those whose descent is from Denmark and some other northern regions, Some antiquaries more especially our heraulds, presume the Ramseys. Carneygs and Monroes, to have come originally from Germany by reason of their armorial bearings the Grants affer themselves to be of a Danish descent from Aquin de Grand or Grant, Sir John de Grant is one of these mentioned in the debates which fell out after the death of king Alexander 3d. the Menzies also contend to be of a Dan from

tish e clans Ha

claffes accou with ! treate touch M. rv doug of cor hall r myfe! conjoi

of a

ancier

we le

infitt t

MA

great ther c

the m

mean:

valou

ons h

of th

nane

Th

tish extract, as also some others, more especially of the clans as shall hereafter be specified.

and

th 2 0 cob fa ved

Th

tan

ers

th

on nch

the

the

m'-

act

ot

ing

an

Having thus briefly illustrated by instances the feveral daffes of Scottish surnames, I shall proceed next to an account of the clans or those whose surnames commence with Mac, of which fuch as are nobilitated being fo fully reated of in the Scottish peerage, shall nor therefore be Mervains, McGuffocks, McGullos, and some others, who hough of ancient Scottish extract, yet having no manner of correspondence or agreement in language had a ther circumstances with those most properly termed clans hall not here be is fifted upon. I shall therefore confine. syfe'f wholly to the highland clans, which are ordinarily conjoined in our old record and Acts of Parliament.

AN

ACCOUNT of the

MACDONALDS

HAVING already offered fome few arguments for evincing of some of the clans, and other furnames of a Scottish extract, to be the genuine progeny of the mcient Scots, who at different junctures planted the we tern parts of Scotland, I shall not in this place further infilt upon that fubject, but proceed to an account of the MACDONAL D's, who for many ages were of the greatest esteem and deservedly had the precedency of othe most remote corners of this kingdom, and by that means no object or occasion offered of exerting that valour and vigour so very natural to them, their actide ons had been recorded in as bright characters as those of the Douglasses, or any others of our heroick sur-

The Chieftain or Phylarchae of this tribe or clar, and from whom the principal men thereof are descended, acfording to Mr. Welsh, and some other Irish, also some of our Seneciones or genealogists, about a century before Christ's Nativity, was Coll tonamed Vuais, who had two cousin-germans of the same name, they being by three feveral fons grand-children to Con Cenchathach, or Constantine Centimachus, King of Ireland, so named from his fighting a hundred conflicts in his time against foreign invaders of his kingdom, and homebred rebels, as the Irish history afferts. From these three Colls some of the most ancient of the clans deduce their descent, and as these are termed descendants of the Mileian stem so they are also designed Cliochd nan Colluible, or the postering of the Colls in like manner as the Campbells are defign. ed both Clanoduibhne, and Siol Diarmuid, the children of Duina, and progeny of Dermud, two of the most famed of their ancestors.

Coll Vuais's fon was called Gilebreid, as our histories name him Bredius, this Bredus, in the reign of king E. derus about 54 years before Christ's Nativity, with an army of his islanders entered Morvern and the other western continent, which having with great barbarity depopulated, he was in his return met by king Ederus with an army, and entirely defeated. Bredius hardly escaping by absconding himself in a cave, was thence termed Bredius or Gillebreid of the cave, however after the king's departure he obtained new forces, by which he obliged the inhabitants of these parts to become his tributaries, in which he was not disturbed by king Ederus, then under some apprehension of an invasion by Julius Caesar, who at that juncture had invaded the fouth parts of Britain.

Bredius's fon was called Sumerledus, from whom the Chiftains of that clan were for tome ages defigned Macfeirles, or Sumerledsons, as Richard Southwell an English writer, in his account on the petty kings or Reguli of some of the British isles, while under the dominion of the Norvegian kings, afferts, who fay that those Reguli possest all the isles round Britain, at least Scotland, except Dor those possest by the sons of Sumerledus, being most of our and A Ebudae, or western isles then possest by the clan of Macdonalds.

was c celliv their illes f the ye Finde being ny m of the rign inent by the The l the if for tw > made the ye ld ma enius where The

Cratli

ceffor

irit of f Ih pon : hiefs lalo he tw

sthe

ing N he la Rai aifley n wa him Dor

ire. ade 1 f Pair 33

:

1.

n

n

ie

10

18

Y

n-

cn

n.

ies

E.

17-

ft.

00-

an

ng

re-

Tac-

ummerled's fon was called Rannald, Rannald's fon was called Donald, which name continued for feveral fuccessive generations, and from which that clan obtained their denomination. The first of these Donalds of the illes found upon record, was that Donald who about the year 248. of the christian Epocha in the reign of king Findoch, made a descent, of the continent of Argyle, but being defeated by the king, was killed with a great mamy more of his men, for revenge of whose death, his fon of the same name in the year 262, and first year of the rign of king Donald II. with an army entered the conment, and being encountered with an army halfily levied by the king, that prince was defeated by the islanders. The king dying of his wounds in a few days, Donald of he isles usurped the government, and retained the same for twelve years. at the end of which he was killed by Cratlinth, king Findoch's fon, who kept down his fucreffors, as did also some of the succeeding kings. made no great disturbance for a considerable time, till in he year 762, one of these chiefs of the isles, called Don-Id made an insurrection, but was defeated by king Euenius. That infurrection made by Donald Baan is elfewhere mentioned.

The chiefs or principal persons of this furname as soon ged int of our nobility dignified therewith, by the title first frames of the isles, and afterwards The far, hiefs of that furname, besides Kintyre, and Knapdale, of land the sea-coast of Argyle far, of land the sea-coast of Argyle shire. te two successive Sumerleds mentioned in the reigns of the ing Malcolm VI. and king Alexander 1. of Scotland fac. he last of these two Sumerled's successor was Reginold.

Rannald, mentioned in the records of the abbey of, vull aisley, being founder of the abbey of Sanda. Rannald's m was Donald, mentioned also in a mortification made guli thim to the abbey of Paisley.

Donald had two fons Angus or Aeneas, his fuccessor our and Alexander progenitor of the Macolasters in Argyle-facture. This Angus upon account of a mortification ade by him is mentioned in the records of the Abbey Paifly. Angus had also two sons, Alexander his succeffor, and John ancestor of the Maceans of Arduamur. chan, now al nost extinct. To Alexander, mentioned in fome old records of Argyle fucceeded Angus Moir, or the great who with two thousand men was with king Robert Bruce at the battle of Bannockburn. Angus fuccesfor was also called Angus, being married to daughter of Okeyan lord Dunseverin in Ireland. fuccessor was John who very much aggrandized his family ly by marrying of lady Margaret Stewart, daughter to king Robert II. as is evident by two charters by the king in his favour, by defignation of his beloved fon i law, of the lands of Moidert and Croydert. This Joh had four fons Donald his fuccessor; John of Glins, ance tor of the earl of Antrim in Ireland; Alexander, by fom faid to be ancestor of the Macdonalds of Keppoch, bu both by what I can find are errors; and Allan, who was ancestor of the captain of Clanronald; whereas Keppoch ancestor is reported to have been Rannald fon to Alexan der of Argyle and the isles in the reign of king Ale ander III.

Donald lord of the ifles married a daughter of Walt Lefly, who in right of his, wife's daughter of William la earl of Ross, was earl of that estate. He had one so who left only one daughter, heirefs to that earldon which daughter having become a Nun disponed here tate to John Stewart, earl of Buchan, fecond fon to R bert earl of Fife and Monteath, then governor of So land. The lord of the ifles judging himself prejudg by the faid right, applied to the governor for redress, b to no purpose, whereupon resolving to affert his right arms he for that effect levied ten, or as most affert, twel thousand men, and marching through Murray was countered with an army of equal number by Alexand Stewart earl of Marr, the bravest general of his age, a village called Harlaw in the year 1411; betwixt who was fought the most bloody conflict that for many ag had been observed to have been fought betwixt nati Scottish men, till night parted them. Next morni observing their mutual loss, they marched off with fmall remains of their feveral armies. However the of the isles in a little time thereafter took possession the earldom of Ross, and left the same to his success or wor in I. to lord ing ! engage Cart. with rals:

ces,

Line

Alex

the ed a had dom of ki our of al for V.-to the a acco ifles iffue, after who mily firms in K king genc hold

alfo :
fon to
who
that mily
feein
accord

Alexander defigned earl of Rofs, Kintyre, and Inchegal, or west isles. He had also another son Donald Balloch, or spotted Donald, who upon the accession of king James I. to the throne, and his depriving his brother Alexander, lord of the isles of the earldom of Rofs, and imprisoning him, levied an army of ten thousand men, and being engaged at Ennerlochy by the Stewarts earls of Marr, and Cathness, their army was deseated by that of Balloch with the death of the earl of Caithness one of their Generals: but upon the king's approach with another army, Donald Balloch was deserted by a great many of his forces, and was obliged to slee to Ireland, where at king James's defire he was executed.

h

m

bu

w: ch

ler

ilte

la

io

om

r e

Sco

dg

, b

ht

vel

s e

and

re,

who

7 29

nati

th t

on

Alexander earl of Rois and the ifles was married to the earl of Huntly's daughter, of which marriage he had three fons, John his fuccessor; John earl of Ross, married a daughter of James lord Levingstoun, by whom he had no iffue, and being deprived by forfau ture of the earldom of Rofs, for fome difloyal practices in the minority of king James III. his other estate was conveyed in favour of Donald grandion to this John by Angus his natural fon. This Donald also dying without issue, king James V. took the citate into his own hand; but this does not hold with the affertion of the Sceneciones, who record the affairs of this furname. They controvert the above account by afferting, that this Donald last lord of the isles died in the reign of king James VI. and leaving no issue, the king took the estate into his own hands and afterwards disponed it to a brother of the earl of Argyle who dying without iffue, all those lands fell into the family of Argyle, as they yet continue. that which confirms this opinion is that the lord of the ifles is mer tioned in Knox's history to have received pay from Henry VIII. king of England, in the time of the earl of Arrans regency, which was after the death of king James V. its also afferted, that the ancestor of M'Donald of Slate was fon to Angus lord of the illes, and brother to that John who was married to a daughter of king Robert II. And that the ancestor of M'donald of Lergie, came off the family of M'donald much about the same time time. But feeing there are more who adhere to the first than the last account, I shall leave the same to be determined by those better feen in the concerns of that name; observing only that M'donald of Slate hath always been reputed the chief family of that furname fince the extinction of the lords of the isles, and as such is always designed by way of eminency Maconel, or M'Donald, without any further distinction.

This furname was formerly and at present divided into fix different families, which retain the surname of Macdonald and othersix families which pass under other denominations, yet own their descent to be off the the family of

M'Donald.

M'donald is that of Slate, being not only the latest des scended, but also possessed of the most plentiful estate of a ny other of that surname both in the isse of Sky, and the western continent of Morver and Croidert. The present M'Donald of Slate is a boy, being son to James M'Donald of Orinsay, second brother to the late Sir Donald. The next principal man of that samily is William M'Donald present tutor of, Slate, and youngest brother to the said Sir Donald. The principal residence of that samily is the castle of Duntuilm, situated in the north part of the isle of Sky. They have also another place of residence adorned with stately edifices, pleasant gardens, and other regular polices, called Armodel, upon the south coast of the same isle.

The second family of that furname of most repute, next to that of Slate, in respect of estate and all other circum-Rances, is that of Clanronald; the principal man of which is defigned Captain of Clanronald, and in the Irish language Macmhicaillain, or the fon of Allanson; is feeming that his proper name who was progenitor of this Sept and came first off the family of M'Donald was Allan, The whole tribe is also termed Siolaillain or the progeny of Allan. The person of best repute of this family, next to the Captain, is Macronald of Beneula. This family having an old quarrel with the furname of Frazer, determined the fame by a formal conflict in the time of the regency of Queen Mary of Guife, mother to Queen Mary of Scotland, at the village of Harlaw, famous for the battle fought formerly thereat by Stewart Earl of Marr, and M'Donald earl of Ross. There were faid to be up-which tal con as ir ed the wives who c of Mo

Th

MDo his fa the ircun

r the the ot be

The lepochonal Local Local here teen inter a lity a litoth och is ow arren il Cap ian t oth, a te de avin ounc

as d

waids of two hundred thousand men on both fides of which scarce a hundred are said to have survived that fa-al consist. The northern branch of the name of Frazer as in a manner entirely cut off but providence favoured them so far, that eighty of their principal men, left gives with child, all of whom were delivered of fons the came to age. The principal residence of the Capain of Clanronald is Castletirim, in the western continent of Moidert, where a good part of this gentleman's effate s, the other part lying in north and fouth Uists in the ift of which isles the Captain ordinarily resides.

The third family of best repute of that furname is Dougald of Glengary. The next principal man of his family to Glengary is Angus M'Donald, a brother the late Glengary, a gentleman of good account and reumstances. Glengary's interest lyes mostly in that art of Lochaber within the shire of Inverness. Glenary in their native language is defigned Macmbicallester the fon of Alexander. This gentleman's relidence the castle of Innergray in Lochaber, but that castle ot being now in repair he resides in an island in a Loch, alled Locheawich in the faid country

i

a he

e.

nes

d.

00.

the

nily

ol

1100

her

t of

next

um-

hich

lan-

em-

Sept

llan.

geny

next

mily

de-

The fourth principal family of this furname is that of epoch, ordinarily defigned Macbicraneil, or the fon of lonaldson. His residence is in Kepoch in the lower part Lochaber, which together with Glenroy, the property hereof belongs to the laird of Macintolh, being a large act of land is possest by the present Kepoch, and hath ten fo for divers ages by his ancestors, without any oter acknowledgement to Macintosh, than such a gratuity as they thought fit to give. The late laird of Mactoth in the year in 1687 endeavouring to disposses Keoch of these lands by force raised twelve hundred of sown men, and obtained from the government the conmence of a company of regular forces under command Captain M'Kenzie of Suddey, Kepuch with a few more an the half of that number, encountered with Macinf the th, and his party, and entirely defeated the fame, with Mary e death of Captain M'Kenzie, and a great many others r the aving taken Mintosh prisoner and obliged him to refart, ounce his pretentions to those lands, for which Kepoch, upas denounced rebel, but the revolution coming on the

í 38 j

his fequent year, he was not further profecuted for that affair, and the prefent laird of Macintosh having given him a new grant of these lands, he continues in possession of the same. Next to this faintly are Ronald Alexander and Angus, brethren to the present Coll Macdonaid of Kepoch.

The fifth principal family of this furname, is that of Largy. This gentlemans refidence is in the fouth part of the Peninfula of Kintyre, within four miles of the Mule, or cape of Kintyre. The next man of account to this family is Macdonald of Sanda, refiding in the faid country.

of Glencoe, his relidence being in Polliwig in Glencoe. The next principal man of this family is Macdonald o

Attritatian in the same count y.

The first of those families of another denomination which derive their origin from that of Macdonal, is that of Macallester, the principal man of which is Macallester of Loup, whose principal place of residence is a Airdpatrick upon the south side of the west loch family in Knapdale, in the shire of Argyle. The next principal man of this family is Macallester of Tarbit in the same shire.

The second principal family of those of another de nomination: is that of Machab, his principal refidence i in Kinnally in Braidalbin, in the thire of Perth. This gentleman is recorded to be descended of a sin of the first abbot of Inchaffery whose furname was Macdona'd in the beginning of the reign of king Alexander II. th lairds of Macnab had of old a very good interest in thos parts, but loft the greatest part thereof upon account of their affilting of Macdougal lord of Lorn, against king Robert Bruce, at the conflict of Dalree, there are Mac habs of Incheun, and Acharn, with feveral other lander gentlemen; belides the principal family in those parts there is also a pretty numerous Sept of the Macnabs it the county of Dunegale in Ireland, who term themselve Macnabanies, but own their descent from the Scottill Macnabs or Abbottons.

The third family of this kind is that of the Mintyre the principal person of these being Muciniyre of Glen

itor Cru

who

of C fam by unjurinter part Lor T

who mile that perfe

Kint Be

clans

have ining inney and

fon o vers name walri

alfo,

of Li dants being

of G1 dants the C

The bearing Lion Dexte Sable.

Sable, Arger noe, in Glenurchie, in the shire of Perth The other heritors of that name are the Macintyres of Corries, and Cruachan.

The fourth family of this kind is that of Macaphie, whose ancestors for many ages were lairds of the isle of Collinsay, which was violently wrested from that family in the beginning of the reign of King Charles I. by Coll Keitach, Macdonald, who lost his life, and unjust purchase in the time of the civil wars. But the interest was sever restored to Macaphie. The greatest part of that furname relide in Lochaber, and upper Lorn.

The fifth of these families is that of Mackeeboirn, whole principal relidence is at Killellan, within two miles of the cape of Kintyre. The fixth and last is that of the Macechnies. The interest of the principal person of these was at Tangay, in the south part of

Kintyre.

hai

ven

ion

de 0

0 art

the

uni

the

ald

03

0

101 il.

s is

in

th

de

e i

hi

th

ı'd

th

of

o

ac

dec

rls

븰 ve

till

gre

len

Besides these mentioned, there are divers other small dans, who tho' not descended from, yet of a long time have been dependants upon the Macdonalds, as the Macmings of the ifle of Sky, whose chief is the laird of Macinneys, a gentleman of good estate in that isle, and in Mull and depending on the family of Slate, the Macwalricks, allo, who derive their origin from one Ulrick Kennedy, a im of the family of Dunures, who for flaughter fled diiers ages ago to Lochaber, his progeny from the proper name of their ancestor deriving their furnames of Macwalricks, the principal person of whom is Macwalrick of Linnachan, in Lochaber, who with his Sept are depentants on the family of Kepoch, as are the Macenricks, being originally Maenauchtans, dependants on the family of Glenone. The Macgillmories, and others are dependants on the family of Glengary, as are the Millrevies on the Clanronalds, with divers others not mentioned.

The M Donalds, in their atchievements or armorial bearings have four feveral kinds of bearings, as first, or a Lion rampant, azure arm'd and Langu'd Gules, 2d. a Dexter Hand Coupee holding a Crois Croflet, fitchee, Sable, 3d. or, a Ship, with her fails furted falterwise, Sable, 4th. & Salmon naiant, proper with a chief waved Argent. and to radigue a at of Padenoch, cloud of tight potenteend attenerous,

ACCOUNT of the SURNAME]

OF

MACDOUGAL

particularly of Lorn.

HE furname of Macdougal, tho' now fomewhat low yet in respect of the ancient power, grandeur, and antiquity thereof deserves in justice to be mentioned next to that of Macdonald, the chiefs or principal men of that furname, being for fone confiderable time dignified with the title of lords, of Lorn, a country of very large extent, and of old valued a 700 merk land. These lords of Lorn from the beginning, of the reign of King William the Lion, till the reign of King Robert I. were of the greatest power of any other of the highland clans, the family of Macdonald being very much depressed in those times, by reason of the insurrections made against the Government by the two fuccessive Sumerleds, chiefs of that furname. It might be rationally prefumed that the Macdougals of Lorn, are originally descended of the family of the Macdongals of Galloway, if not absolutely at least among the most ancient familys of Scotland, the armorial bearing of both these familys, which is the most authentic document can be adduced in this case, differing very little in any material circumstance, making it from one of these Colls already mentioned, in the genealogy of the Macdonalds, as least from the Mileian race, of the ancient kings of Ireland, in common with some others of the most ancient highland clans.

The first to be met with in record of these lords of Lorn, is Duncan, who in the latter part of the reign of King William, sounded the Priory of Ardchattan, in Lorn, who had two sons, Alexander, his successor, and Duncan. Alexander married a daughter of John Cumin lord of Badenoch, chief of that potent and numerous sur-

his inve

fuch bell alists

party fore with and lofa fo fa flict l

L rn ways foldic hold

fastne hand the h memoral assaul

Maca of the third inpar princ ind e

of that in a contact das davin de contact

afety Th

btair

name. of this mariage, he had John Bacach, or halting his fuccesfor. This John, Lord of Lorn, upon king Robert I. his killing John Cumin, Lord of Badenoch Lorn's coulin, at Dumfries, became upon that account an inveterate enemy to that king, and his interest, and as fuch used his utmost efforts in molesting Sir Neil Campbell of Lochow, the king's brother in law and other loyalists in those parts. For relief of whom the king with a party of his friends, marched for Argyle-shire, but before he could joyn his friends there, the lord of Lorn, with an army valtly superior to his, encountered him and his small party at Straithfillan upon a plain, and did for far overpower the king's forces, that after a sharp confift he entirely defeated the fame. The king himself parrowly escaped either being killed or taken, one of L rn's foldiers having taken hold of his fcarf, worn bendways over his shoulder, and tho' the king knocked the foldier dead with a steel mace, yet he did not let go his hold till the king was obliged to loofe the buckle which faltned the scarf, and to leave the same in the foldiers hands, which large filver buckle was of late extant in the hands of the laird of Macdougal, if not as yet in the memorial or trophy of that victory The king was again affaulted by three robust fellows, of Lorn's men, called Macanorsoirs, who encountering him in a strait pass, one of them feized his bridle, and another his leg, and the third jumpt on behind him, nevertheless such was the inparalelled valour and presence of mind of that heroick prince, that in the end he dispatched the three Russians, and escaped, but was necessitated to quit his horse, coming on foot upwards of two miles very bad way, to the opper end of Lochlomond, and for twelve miles more brough woods and precipices, all alone along the north of that Loch, having slept the night the battle was fought n a cave in Craigoltane, in the parish of Buchanan, calld as yet the kings cave, and as is afferted by tradition, paving come next day to Maurice laird of Buchanan, te conducted him to Malcolm Earl of Lennox, by whom he was preserved for some time, till he got to a place of afety.

WO

nd

ext

hat

ith

ex-

rds

lil-

the

the

ofe

the

OF

the

fa-

ely

fer-

it

eal-

, of

ers

of

ign

, IA

and

min ur-

This John lord of Lorn, as foon as king Robert had btained possession of his kingdom, had his estate forfaulted, and given to Stewart of Innermeth, and Dining descendant of the family of Darnly who (as many of or historians say) married a daughter of the lord of Lor which if he did, it was upon the fame account that Le ingstoun of That-ilk married a daughter of Patrick lor of Callander, forfaulted at the fame time, both bein done for the better fecuring of their rights to those estate against the pretences of the nearest of both these jurname to the fame. This lordship continued with the Stewar for four descents till in the reign of king James III. fame was conveyed by marriage to the three co heirest of John last lord Lorn, to the Earl of Argyle, and t Campbells of Glenurchie, and Ottar,

There are none now remaining of the male iffue Stewart lord Lorn, at least in those parts, except Stewart least of Appin, whose ancestor was Dougal, son to Stewart least of Appin, whose ancestor was Dougal, son to Stewart least second lord Lorn, of which estate he got that of Appin one retained as yet by his representative, who with those Eng his family always associates with the other clans. No Aste to Appin is Stewart of Ardsheal, who with a good num gate ber of gentlemen, and others of that family reside in the first contraction.

hat

Que

17,1 nore

o fa yro

f th

parts.

similarie in Juni The dependants on the furname of lMacdougal, a of his the Macoleas, Macakeirs, and others. The principle is But fidence of John prefent laird of Macdougal is the call ime of Dunolich in middle Lorn, being one of the ancietive mansions of that family. The person of best account countext to the laird of Macdougal is Macdougal of Gallar non, ach, there being divers other Gentlemen of that name is sing liding in those parts.

The armorial bearing of Macdougal of Lorn is quarterly, first and fourth, in a field azure, a lion rampan who Argent for Macdougal, 2d and 3d or a Lymphad fab he is with flames of fire issuing out of the topmast proper, is Robert.

one come next Sign to Berrick laint of Backacher, conducted leaves to be from order to the best have was argument tor your tires. It is a cat to a cat to a caca a that John lord of Lord, as Romaring Robert had should policinia ob his kingulan, backing business lettaids

ing

of or

Lon

Lev k lor

bein

itat

name war 1. th

d t

811 13

ACCOUNT of the SURNAME

a vind to different of beers, at es as aguas de Rad, habassa esta facto de Raspa es est

MACNEIL.

d t HIS furname of M'Neilbeing one of the HIS furname of M'Neilbeing one of the most ancient Lof our Scottish clans, is originally descended from Appi Dueils. The first of these for a great many ages, until the English conquest, were provincial kings of north Uster.

Ne After the English, conquest the title of king being abronum rated throughout that kingdom, the successor of the kings of Duein Blizabeth, Shaan Oneil, Earl of Tyrone with other that were provincial kings of the kings o Queen Elizabeth, Shaan Oneil, Earl of Tyrone with other of his countrymen, made an infurrection against that queen ble but her better fortune prevailing, this samily in a short cast ime thereafter became extinct, the lineal representative of it being John Oneil, Esq; of Shaan castle in the country of Antrim, a gentleman of the protestant reliable mon, and of one of the most considerable fortunes in the new singdom, he is manager to the Earl of Antrim's affairs he Earl himself being minor, who is a nobleman of the qua greatest estate of any of Scottish descent in that kingdom whose ancestor was John, second son to John lord of sab he isles, by the lady Margaret Stewart, daughter to K. This John's lineal successor was Sorley buey, or fair Sunerled M'Donald of Glins, who went to Ireland, as some lay, in the reign king Henry VII. of England, or as others ly, in the reign king Henry VII. of England, or as others more probable in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, where he o far fignalized himself in the Queen's service against Tyrone and others in arms against her, that at the end those wars, the Queen, in recompence of his services, a Suddies, in 1815, Amer. 3th Or, a by ophart ?

gave him that estate, of which his representative is ye in possession.

Ketine, and other Irish historians, derive the origin of the Oneils from Nell fon to Mileus, king of Galicia in Spain, who with Hiber, Etimon, and Ir, his three brethren, came with the first Gathelians, or Scots, who by conquest of Ecta, Ketur, and Tectius, kings of the De dannins, the ancient inhabitants of that kingdom, obtain ed the fovereign possession of the same. The M'Neils of Scotland a branch of those of Ireland, are reported to have come here with the first Scots who from Ireland plante Argyle-shire, and the western isles, being for some age by past divided, into two considerable families, these of Barra, and Taynish, who of a long time have contend ed for chiefship, or precede cy; but the matter is ge nerally determined in favour of M. Neil of Barra, who o all other Highland chiefs of clans, retains most of the magnificence and cultoms of the ancient Phylarchae. H is in possession of the ille of Barra, which is of a pretty large extant, also of some small isles round it. Mr. Mar tine composer of the history of the western isles, afferts that M. Neil of Barra can produce evidents for thirty in descents, of his familie's possession of that isle, besides great many old charters, most of which are not legible However this be, he is accounted one of the most ancien cheiftains of the Highland Clans, His principal refid ence is the castle of Keismul, situated in a small island of the fame name is devided by a small Canal from Bar ra, and of no more extant than what the castle, and large quadrangular area or closs round it occupyeth M'Neil of Tainish, the next principal person of this sur name, resides in Knapdale in Argyle-shire, in which have the control of Collection and Parkers. There is are also M'Neil of Gallachoil, and Tarbart. There i also another gentleman of that name, laird of the isl There are a good many more gentlemen of the furnam in the western isles, and the continents of Kintyre and Knapdale.

The armorial bearing of M'Neil of Barra is quarterly sile (1). Azure, or as others, Gules, a lyon rampant Argent are de 2d. Or, a hand, coupee fessways, Gules holding a cross reconstitute, in pale, Azure, 3d. Or, a lymphad Sa affiste to

arge

nce t act i ns de or C nero iralo om ere h

Gir

A G

ith fo ent einst Atile ad of ary: llows

In t rela ovinc

its to le, 4t. parted per fels, Argent, and Vert to represent th a, out of which iffueth a rock, Gules. Supporters, two arge Fishes.

ICI re a he De iin

5 0 dV ite ge e o

end ge 0 0

th

H

etty

Mar

erts

T fit

les

ible

cien

efid

Dane

Bar

nd I

yeth fur

phic

re i

e iß

hies

nami

and

ACCOUNT of the SURNAME

M'LEAN or M'GILLEAN.

THIS brave and heroick furname is originally dedescended from that of Fitzgirald in Ireland, being ace the most potent surname of any other of English exaft in that kingdom, Speed and other English historias derive the genealogy of the Fitzgiralds from Seigor Giraldo, a principal officer under William the conperor, at his conquest of England, Anno. 1066. This iraldo got from the conqueror the lordship of Windsor, om which he was afterwards defigned of Windsor as ere his posterity, from his proper name, Fitzgiralds Giraldsons. Maurice Fitzgirald, grandchild to this A Girald, by orders of Stranghow Earl of Pembroke, th four hundred and ninety men, in the year 1169, ent in aid of Dermud Macmurcho, provincial king of einster to Ireland, being the first Englishman, who in a skile manner invaded that kingdom, whatever Atwood, in dother obscure English Writers affert to the conkile manner invaded that kingdom, whatever Atwood. d other obscure English Writers affert to the conary: the ground of Fitzgirald's invafion being briefly as lows.

In the reign of Roderick Oconor, last principal king reland, the faid Dermud took away by force Crork, ovincial king of Meath's, lady or Queen, which injury rterl sile Orork endeavoured to resent, he, and his party gent se deseated by the Leinstrians; in which exigency haveroff recourse to the principal king, he was so effectual assisted by him, as obliged Macmurcho, after some dets to abandon Leland, and betake himself to the court of king Henry II. of England, to whom relating his mich fortune, he implored his aid for recovering his principality which upon being done he offered to relight in his favour. King Henry being a prince who measured the justice of most causes if in any way beneficial to him by the length of his fword; would willingly have complyed with M'Murcho's request had he not been ingaged in a war with France. However he issued out proclama tions anthorizing any of his subjects that pleased, to adventure in behalf of that juilly distressed prince, promifing to maintain them in possession of what they could to quire in that kingdom; upon which Richard Strangl Earl of Pembroke, a nobleman no less powerful than no pular in Wales condescended to go to Ireland with Demud, upon condition that upon recovery of Lensler. should give him the same, and his only daughter in mar riage, which being readily agreed to, Pembroke fent and over Maurice Fitzgerald, as already mentioned, and went afterwards himfelf, with greater forces; and having defeat ed rhe Irith in a conflict, recovered Leinster, and marris ed Macmurcho's daughter. King Henry hearing of his subjects success, patched up a peace with France, and in the year 1170, or as others 1171, went over into that kingdom, with an army of twenty thousand men, and by the affiftance of the treacherous Leinstrians, obtained victory over Oconor the principal king, who in a thort time thereafter died. After his death the king of England fettled his conquest of that kingdom, as the fame hath continued ever fince, notwithstanding of the many efforts at divers junctures used by the native Irish for fhaking of that yoke. ..... A sale was sample and

[ -46 ]

The family of Stranghow in a little time became extinct to which in grandeur fucceeded that of Fitzgerald, being divided into two powerful families, the Earls of Deimond, and Kildare, concerning each of which two I shall relate a certain remarkable passage, ere I proceed to my designed subject. The first is in relation to that of Desmond, of which family were seven brethres in the beginning of the reign of Queen Elizabeth, or rather Queen Mary of England, who being accused of some practices against the government, were by the Queen's orders carried into England, and relying either on their

innos peare board the fl ing o fudde told t ven b once which ed ve accor ing e and t nishin is, th that comp that a Ther Upor of th effect

> TI desce kenzi Defa gain ande the N of K desce ed co ald, 1 kenz Gille ther have with > > the l

ful a

innocence, or the interpolition of powerfull friends, appeared very chearfull for fome hours after they went on board, till at length enquiring at the Captain the name of the ship, they were told it was named the Cow, upon hearing of which they all fell a weeping, the reason of which indden change being demanded by the Captain, he was told there was an old prophecy among the Irish, that seven brethren, the most noble of the kingdom, should be at once carried into England in the belly of a Cow, none of which should ever return, and now the the thing appeared very ridiculous, they were afraid that it would be accomplished; as accordingly it was, none of which have ing ever returned, some of them banished, others executed, and their estate forfaulted, so that in a short time that flounishing family was ruined. The other relating to Kildare is, that in the reign of king Henry VII. of England, that Earl was ungovernable, against whom frequent complaints were made to the king, concluding with this that all Ireland could not govern the Earl of Kildare. Then faid the king shall that Earl govern all Ireland. Upon which he fent hima commission for being lieutenant of that kingdom, which unexpected favour had fuch effect upon him that he continued afterwards a very dutiful and loyal fubject to that king.

There are divers other good families of this kingdom descended of those two honourable families, as the Mackenzies, of Colin Fitzgirald, fon to the fecond Earl of Defmond, who for his fervice at the battle of Largs, against the Danes, anno 1264, obtained from king Alexander III. the lands of Kintail, from whose son Kenneth the Mackenzies are denominated, by contradiction in stead of Kennethfons. The Adairs, and divers others are also descended of the Fitzgiralds, as are the M'Leans so term ed contractedly, but more properly M'Gilleans, Fitzgirald, brother, as some say to Colin ancestor of the Mackenzies. But others with more probability affert, this Gillean to have been a fon of the Earl of Kildare, and either at, or in a little time after his cousin's coming, to have come to Scotland, where falling into great favour with Macdonald lord of the isles, he obtained from him the lands of Aros, afterwards in a small time the whole 'ses of Mull, Tyree, Coll, and others, being a very large

X

Estate. While the family of Macdonald continued in grandeur, Maclean was always his lieutenant in martial expeditions, as in the battle of Harlaw, in which McLean and Irwin of Drum, upon account of some ancient quarrel betwixt their families, and not knowing one another till they had got it from their armorial bearings or coat of arms, painted as was usual in those times upon their shields, engaged hand to hand and died both upon the spot.

M'Lean with his name and dependants, was at the battles of Flowdon, and Pinky, as was Hector M'Lean, and his regiment, confisting of fix hundred men, at the conflict of Ennerkeithing, in the reign of king Charles II. in which he and his regiment, after a valiant refiltance, were killed by the English, few or none escaping. furname has been known for fome ages by gone in brav. ery and loyalty to be inferiour to no other of this king. dom. The laird of M'Lean's estate was evicted for debt by the present duke of Argyle's grandfather, and is now in the Duke's hands. Hector the present laird, is abroad. The principal residence of the lairds of M'Lean, is the frong castle of Dowart, situated on the north shore of the ifle of Mull. There was another impregnable fort belonging to this family, at a little distance from Mull, called Kerniburg.

The next to the laird of M'Lean, is M'Lean of Brolois. The person of best estate now of that name, is M'Lean of Lochbuy, who hath a good caltle and eltate There is M'Lean of Coll, being a confiderable island at some leagues distance from Mull. There is also upon the opposite continent to Mull a gentleman of good account, defigned M'Lean of Ardgower. He is defigned ordinarly Macmhicewin, or the fon of Hughfon, his ancestor, a son of the laird of M Lean, being properly termed Hugh. There are also a great number of other gentlemen of that name in those parts. There is a gentleman termed Macgure, of Uluva, being a pretty large ifle to the fouth west of Mull of which this gentle. man is proprietor, and was a dependant on the family of M'Lean, while in a flourishing condition, but fince the decline of the family, continues peacable in his own island not much concerned with any affairs that occur in any other p ther n of whi

Div of Mu cient : fo upo clans. ments two fi are a the ve great Aruct other ered. marb fome' bony. in an ifland Colm kill.

Croff Sable two er e Supp

T 49 ]

ther parts of this kingdom. There is in Athole, and other northern places, a Sept termed the Macolays, some of which are in Stirling-shire, termed McLays, descended also of the family of M'Lean,

Divided by a small arm of the sea from the west point of Mull is the ifle Iona, or Icolmkill, famous for the ancient monastery and church situated therein, and no less to upon account of the burial place of 48 of our highland clans. The ruins of these once stately edifices and monuments evince their beauty when in repair. There are two fingular kinds of stones to be found there, of which are a great many tombs, and croffes and which composes the very mold round that church and of which confifts a great deal of the more ornamental parts of all these fructures, the one of them being of a crimfon colour, the other white, the nature of which cannot be eafily discovered. These stones in outward appearance resemble marble, but are much harder, and not so brittle, and are somewhat porous, and fully as light as any Ivory or Ebony. There is none of that kind of stone to be found in any other part of Britain, or Ireland, but only in that illand, and another little ruinous church, dedicated to St. Colm, close by the mule of Kintyre, called Killchollumkill.

The laird of M'Lean, for armorial bearing hath four coats quarterly, 1st. argent a rock Gules. 2d. argent a dexter hand fessways, coupeed Gules, holding a cross Croslet sitchee, in pale azure, 3d. Or, a Lymphad, Sable, 4th. argent a salmon naiant proper, in chief two Eagle's heads erased afronte. Gules, Crest a tower embatteled, Argent. Motto, Virtue mine honour. Supporters on a compartment, Vert two Selchs proper.

ber and set in self flam are many again that regular english disch Tip bertadt. An der alle english Barring den der die english de Long Liberty en der an

and all all lands or with out the golden of the actual can be also be

PERCENCE OF THE PROPERTY.

pulsed to mentioning district of the I

ACCOUNT of the

MACLEODS

HE Origin of the furname of M'Leod is evidently found, and by that name always acknowledged to be Danish, one of the ancestors of the same in king William's reign, being the king of Denmark or Norway's Vicegerent over the isles belonging to that king along the coals of Scotland from whose proper name of Leodius that furname derived the denomination of Macleods from two fons of Leodius called Torquil and Norman, that furname was divided for a confiderable time into two principal families of Siol Torquil, and Siol Tormaild or the progeny of Torquil and Norman. The first of these was proprietor of Lewis, and the second of Harile from which two estates these families were designed Which families at the expulsion of the rest of their country-men by king Alexander III. were in fuch favour with the king, and some of his principal nobility, that they were allowed to continue in possession of their large estates, and also obtained the benefits of being naturalize After which they continued for divers ages in flourishing condition, till in the reign of king James VI that Macleod of Lewis, had the misfortune of falling into some disloyal practices, for which he was forfeited King James having a defign of civilizing and improving that large and fertile island, thought that a fit opportunity of falling on that project, and in order thereto, gave a grant of the Lewis to certain gentlemen of the shire of Fife, for payment of a small sum of seu-duty, and some other cafualities. Macleod of Lewis dying, these gentlemen thought to get their design with all facility accomplished, but were very far disappointed, for notwithstanding that they built pretty good houses, near one another in the form of a village, for their mutual defence, yet Murdo Macleod, baftard fon to Macleod of Lewis, with lome o Fife la oblige vation to aba tually not do Lewis upon t and th died a fion, daugh fession ance. princi of Ha of our castle the m > of oth M'Gi Raar nume shires these Camp more reaso

great

next

Th

from to b
M·L
in th is th

ed. :

Stirli

some of his father's tenants and dependants, affaulted the Fife lairds in their village, and having fired their houses, obliged them all to become his prisoners, and for prefervation, of their lives, to fwear with the utmost diligence to abandon the island, and never return, which was punctually performed. The king finding this method would not do, gave in a short time thereafter, a grant of the Lewis to the Earl of Seafort, who, with his clan, refiding upon the opposite continent, obtained possession thereof, and the more eafily, in regard the faid Murdo M'Leod died about that time, afterwhich, for fecurity of his poffeffion, Seafort, or as others fay one of his fons, married a daughter of the last Macleod of Lewis, and retained posfession of that estate in all time thereafter without disturb-Since the extinction of the family of Lewis, the principal person and chief of that furname, is Macleod. of Harife, being a gentleman of the greatest estate of any of our highland clans, his principal refidence is the strong castle of Dunveggan in the isle of Sky, in which place the most part of his numerous clan reside, of whom are a great number of gentlemen of good account.

n,

to ld of

ſe.

d

n

u

al

2.

1

d

ng 11

Vd

of

ne

e-

n

d-

er

The person of that name (for any thing I can find) next to M'Leod's family, is M'Leod of Talisker, Those of other denominations descended of that surname, are the M'Gillechollums, the chief of which is M'Gillechollum of Raarfa, a confiderable island near Skye. He hath a pretty numerous clan, not only in those parts, but also in the shires of Perth, and Argyle, tho' some in the last of these shires term themselves M. Callums, pretending to be Campbells; but its generally thought these are led so to do more by interest than by justice, there being no satisfying reason given by them of their being of a different Stem from those others of that furname, who own themselves to be M'Leods. The fecond Sept descended of the M'Leods, is the M'Criomans, whereof there are divers in the above mentioned two shires. The third Sept is that of the M'Liews, some of which are in the shire of Stirling.

M'Leod carries for arms, azure, a castle triple towered and embattelled, argent, masoned sable, and illuminated Gules.

ACCOUNT of the

MACINTOSHES,

AND

M'ACPHERSONS.

HE furname of Macintosh, as a genealogical account thereof in my hands, and all other account of the same affert, is descended of that ancient and her oick family of Macduff, Thane, and afterwards Ear The ancestor of that name, according to the above account was Sheagh, or Shaw Macduff, fecond for to Constantine, third Earl of Fife, and great grandchild to Duncan Macduff, last Thane, and first Earl of that This Shaw Macduff went with king Malcolm IV as one of his Captains in that expedition, he made against the rebellious Murrays, and other inhabitants of Murray land, in the year 1163. After the suppression of that rebellion, Shaw Macduff, in reward of his eminent fervice upon that occasion obtained from the king the constable ship or government of the castle of Inverness with a confiderable interest in land in Peaty, Breachly, and other ad jacent places to that castle, with the forrestry of that for rest, of Straithherin, all which formerly belonged to some of the rebels. The country people of these parts upon notice of Shaw's descent, gave him the name of Macin toshich, or Thane's son, the old title of Thane, by which his ancestors were so long designed, obtaining more am ong the vulgar than the new one of Earl, fo lately brough into use. So that he continued not only himself to be if denominated always thereafter, but transmitted the same as a furname to his posterity, which is yet retained, tho as it would feem there was one of his fons who instead of Macintosh, chused rather to derive his surname, from this Shaw's proper name being ancestor of the Shaws of

Rothin Ferquh the Fer Ferquh There many to These

There
the the that that he bat

Ang ied the Clanch was co for a lo The p Macin lfo M reat 1 urnan eckon kende bout liffers he oth ind af fife. The Geri before roun enomicount leriver from I

ame, bristia ardch

Rothimurchass in Badenoch, one of whose fons called Ferquhard Shaw, having fettled in Marr, was ancestor of he Ferquharsons there, the principal person of which is Ferquharion of Innercauld, a gentleman of a good estate. There are also Ferquharsons of Inverray, and a good many more gentlemen of that furname in those parts. These are termed in Irish M'Kinlays, from Finlay Moir: me of their ancestors, who bore the royal standard at he battle of Flowdon, or Pinky, in which he was killed. There are divers gentlemen, and others of the vulgar fort the northern parts who retain the furname of Shaw. that it is pretty clear, the fouthern Shaws of which shaw of Greenock is chief, are of the same Stem.

or

16

for-

ome

por

cin

hick

75 O

Angus, the fifth in descent from Shaw Macduff, maried the only daughter and heirefs of Gilpatrick, son of. Clanchattan, whose estate and chiefsship by this marriage was conveyed to the family of Macintosh, whence he was for a long time designed Captain of the Clanchattans. The principal person of that name next to the laird of Macintosh, is Brigadeir Macintosh of Borlum. There are life Macintoshes, of Aberarder, Stron, Connidge, and a reat many others of good account, of that numerous irname. Macintosh of Monnywaird, by this account is not be the first cadet of the family of Macintosh, deretended of Edward, fon to the second laird of Macintosh, the bout the year 1200, but Monnywaird refuses this, and ble differs both in his furname and armorial bearing from the other Macintoshes, always defigning himself Toshach, nd afferting that his ancestor was a son of the Earl of adlife.

The Clanchattans derive their origin, from the Chatti. German tribe, which is faid to have come here long efore the expulsion of the Picts, there being no other round for this allegation, than the affinity of the enomination of this furname to that tribe. But the acount of the family of Macintosh, with more probability terives, the origin of that name M'Cattan or Gilchattan, ame, that of Cathan being an ancient Scottish proper ame, as for instance St. Cathan, one of our primitive hristians or Saints, to whom was dedicated the priory of adchattan in Lorn, and some others in this kingdom and from the proper name of this Saint, was named Gillecattan, as Gillecollum, and Gillepadrick, were from the proper name of St. Colm, and St. Patrick, with a great many more of that kind.

ri 53 1

The principal person or chief of the Clanchattan in the reign of king David I. dying without male iffue, his brother Murdo, in Irish termed Muriach, Parson of the church, of Kinguisty in Badenoch, was assumed by the clan for Captain, or chief, who had two fons, Gillecatta his fuccessor, and Evan Baan, or Hugh the fair, his sec end fon, who had three fons, Kenneth ancestor of the Macphersons, of Cluny, John, ancestor of Pitmean, and Gilchrift, ancestor of Inveresty. Some of this Eva Baan's posterity, assumed the surname of M'Murrichs, o Murdosons, from their ancestor's proper name, others of Macphersons from his function, but both acknowledg one chief, being Macpherson of Cluny, whose estate and residence, as also that of his clan is in Badenoch. principal person of that surname next to that of Cluny is Macpherson of Nuid. There are also Macphersons Invereffy, Pitmean, with a good many other gentleme of both the above mentioned Septs in Badenoch, and the adjacent places, being accounted fo many of the best me of the clans. The principal residence of the laird Macintolh, is in an iffe of a loch upon the border of Lock aber, called Lochinoy, and thence the iffe of Moy. hath another castle called Delganross, upon the nor fide of the river of Spey, in the head of Murray or this of Invernels:

The laird of Macintosh carries quarterly, Or, a liorampant, Gules, as cadet of M'Duff. 2d. Argent, a deter hand couped sessways, grasping a man's heart, pale ways Gules. 3d, Azure, a Bear's head, coupeed, 0 4th. Or, a Lymphad, her Cars erected, in Saltyre, Sablupon account of the marriage with the heiress of Clarehattan. Crest, a Cat saliant proper. Supporters, two Cats, as the former, Motto; touch not the Cat Gloves.

Macpherson of Cluny carries parted per fess, Or, as Azure, a Lymphad, or Galley, her sails surled, her Oa in action of the first, in the dexter chief point a has coupee, grasping a dagger pointing upwards, Gules, s killin crofle those of the l did of oth Robe name So the receive not I fame. of good are in nomin English

The Familian killing pany killed motto

name

king .

thatk

killing Cumin lord Badenoch in; the sinister point, a cross crosset sitchee, Gules. Motto and crest the same with those of M'Intosh.

3:1

the

eat

the

hi

th

tar fecth

lg an

ny

S O

ne

th

ne

ch

ort

hi

lio

le

ald

0 bl

21

VO

AN

ACCOUNT of the

ROBERTSONS

OR

CLANDONOCHIE.

THE furname of Robertson is descended of one Dun-L can Crosda, or crosgrained, a son of M'Donald lord of the ifles, about the reign of king William the lyon, but I did not enumerate this furname among the descendants of other denominations of that family, in regard that of Robertson hath for diversages been reputed a distinct surname and had no dependance upon that of M'Donald. So that altho' this above account be the most generally received in relation to the descent of that Surname, I am not positive how far it is acquiesced in by those of the fame. However this furname of Robertson hath been ofgood repute for some ages by gone; those of that surname are in Irish termed Clandonnochie, or Duncansons, so denominated from the proper name of their ancestor but in English termed Robertsons, from one Robert chief of that name who fignalized himself very much in the reign of king James I. And apprehended Robert Graham, one of that king's murderers.

The furname Skein is faid to be descended of the Family of Strowan, and obtained the name of Skein, for killing a very big and fierce Wolf at a hunting in Company with the king in Stocket forest in Athole, having killed the wolf with a dagger, or Skein, as the arms and motto of that surname pretty clearly evince, also the Colliers are of this furname, one of the fame being closely purfued for flaughter, did hide himself in a coal-pit and so escaped. Of this are Collier Earl of Portmore, and divers others of good account in Holland. Robertson of Strowan is chief of that name. His residence is with most of his clan in Athole, at Strowan castle. His arms are, three Wolf heads erazed, Gules, with a monstrous man in chains, for compartment, upon account to have of one of his ancestor's seizing the above mentioned Ro. reigns. bert Graham.

V

56

AN

ACCOUNT of the SURNAME

MACFARLANE.

THE laird of M. Farlane (whose ancestor Gilchrist, ood gration to Aluin brother to Malduin, both Earls of ation Lennox, obtained the lands of Arochar about the year left in 1200, in the reign of king William) being now reputed their male of that great and ancient family, it will not be a discount of his family, to premise something concerning the antiquity and origin of the old Earls of Lennox, from whom he has the hon-larger to be descended. our to be descended.

Peter Walsh, in his animadversions on the history of Alla Ireland, derives their descent from Mainus, son of Corus, he old provincial king of Leinster, who is said to have come male to Scotland in the reign of king Fincormachus, and rist to have married Mungenia. that king's daughter. This ind of Mainus being surnamed Lemna, the estate he obtaining them the said him and the sai Mainus being furnamed Lemna, the citate he defended and ed from the faid king was called Lemnich, or Lennox, which in after ages became a furname to his posterity: (2) E but this account seems too fabulous to deserve any mlin seros I

Our is alfo derive or Alc land, descen rary w > s defig n the lent f ind de acys, bbacy His, Lenno

His

libera inds o eal of onour argai

[ 57 J

Our antiquaries with far greater probability which is also confirmed by a constant and inviolable tradition, derive the origin of this ancient family from Aluin, or Alcuin, a younger son of Kenneth III. king of Scotland, who died in the year 991. From this Aluin descended in a direct male line Arkil, who was contemporary with king Edgar, and king Alexander I. and seems to have been a person of considerable note in both these reigns.

His fon Aluin M'Arkill, i, e, the fon of Arkill, as he s designed in old charters, was a great favourite at court in the reigns of king David and Malcolm IV. as is evident from his being so frequently witness to the grants, and donations of both these princes to churches and abacys, particularly to the church of Glasgow, (a) and the

bbacy of Dumfermlin (b)

OI,

His, fon and successor called also Aluin, next Earl of lennox, was according to the devotion of those times liberal benefactor to the church, for he mortified the ends of Cochnach, Edinbarnet, Dalmenoch, with a great eal of other lands to the old church of Kilpatrick, in onour of St. Patrick. (c) Which mortification is on very od grounds supposed to have been made before the soundation of the Abbay of Paisly, Anno 1160. This Earl Alueral left issue (besides others whose posterity is long since the tinct) two sons, Malduin his successor in the earldom, be ad Gilchrist, ancestor to the laird of M'Farlane. Mally, in was succeeded by his son Malcolm, and he again by son of the same name, who was father to Donald the start of Lennox of that family whose only daughter largaret was married to Walter Stewart of Faslane, son Allan of Faslane, 2d. son to Stewart lord Darnly. us, he old family of Lennox being thus extinct for want me male-issue, and having produced no cadets since Gilmid came off the same, it is pretty evident that the this ird of Macsarlane is latest cadet, and consequently in-male of that ancient family. Having thus cleared ty: (2) Extract of the register of Glasgow. (b) Chartulary of Dumany mlin see also Sir James Dalrymple's historical collections. (c) recr of Dumbarton.

my way I proceed to the account of the furname of Mac,

the

who

AIT

tog

Ifla

of this

it is

by 1

whe

mer

for

Bel

M'

a cl

ner

at I

of N

to S

lord

For

of I

con

of N

Sir

Can

char

Dui

fer :

ried two first

M.I

tart

And

F

Gilchrift ancestor to the laird of M'Farlane, obtained by the grant of his brother Malduin Earl of Lennor, Terras de superiori Arrochar de Luís, very particularly bounded in the original charter, which is afterwards confirmed in the records of the privy feal. (d) Which land of Arochar fo bounded, have continued ever fince with his posterity in a direct male line to this day. This Gil christ is witness in a great many charters granted by his brother Malduin the Earl of Lennox to his vasfals, particularly to one granted by the faid Earl of Lennox to Anfelan laird of Buchanan, of the ifle of Clareinch in Lochlomond, dated in the year 1225. As also to another granted by the faid Earl of Lennox to William, fono Arthur Galbraith, of the two carrucates of Badernock dated at Fintry Anno 12;8. In both which charters he is defigned Gilchrist Frater Comitis.

He left issue a son Duncan, designed in old charter Duncan Filius Gilchrist, or M'Gilchrist, who had a charter from Malcolm Earl of Lennox, whereby the said Ear ratisses and confirms Donationem illam quam malduinus Avus meus comes de Lennox secit Gilchrist Fatri suo, de Terris de superiori Arrochar de Loss. This Duncan is witness in a charter by Malcolm Earl of Lennox to Michael M'Kessan, of the lands of Garchel and Ballat. He married his own cousin Matilda, daughter to the Ear of Lennox, by whom he had Maldonich, or Malduin his successor, concerning whom their is a little upon re cord.

Malduin's fon and fuccessor was Partholan, or Parlan from whose proper name the samily obtained the patronimical surname of M'Pharlane, or Parlansons, being a is afferted, for three descents before the assumption of this, surnamed M'Gilchrists, from Gilchrist already mentioned. Some of these last have retained that surname as you who nevertheless own themselves to be cadets of the samily of M'Farlane.

Parlan was succeeded by his fon Malcolm McPharlan who got a charter from Donald Earl of Lennox, upo (d) Charta in retulis privati figilli.

ed

rly

on-

ith

Fil

his

ar

to her

ck

e is

ten

rte

nus, d

ı i

ich H

Ear

lui

re

lan

pa g a

0 nti

ye fa

lan

ipo

the refignation of his father Parlan, son to Malduin (e) wherein he is confirmed by the said Earl in the lands of Arrochar, formerly called the carrucate of M'Gilchrist together with sour isles in Lochlomond, called Island vow Island-vanow, Island-row-glass, and Clang, for sonr merks of seu-duty, and service to the king's host. Although this charter, as many other ancient ones, wants a date yet it is clearly evident, that it was prior to another granted by the same Earl to the said Malcolm laird of M'Farlane whereby the Earl discharges him and his heirs of the sour merks of seu-duty payable by the sormer charter, both for bygones, and for the time to come. This is dated at Bellach, May 4. 1354. (f)

To Malcolm succeeded his son Duncan, sixth laird of M. Farlane, who obtained from Duncan Earl of Lennox, a charter of the said lands of Arrochar, in as ample manner as his predecessors held the same, which is dated at Inch mirin in the year 1395. (g) This Duncan laird of M. Farlane was married to Christian Campbel, daughter to Sir Colin Campbel of Lochow, sister to Duncan sirst lord Campbel, ancestor to the present duke of Argyle. For clearing of this, there is still extant in the register of Dumbarton, a charter by Duncan Earl of Lennox, consirming a life-rent charter, granted by Duncan laird of M. Farlane, in favour of Christian Campbel daughter to Sir Colin Campbel of Lochow his wise; of the lands of Canlochlong, Inverioch, Glenluin Port-cable &c. This charter is dated also in the year 1395.

For brevitys take I omit giving an account of this Duncan's fuccessors for several descents, it being sufficient for my present purpose to take notice, that in the reign of king James IV. Sir John M'Farlane of That-ilk married a daughter of the lord Hamilton, by whom he had two sons, Andrew, his successor, and Robert M'Farlane first of the branch of Inver-snait He married 2dly, a daughter of the lord Herries, by whom he had Walter M'Farlane of Ardliesh, ancestor to the family of Gartartan. To Sir John M'Farlane of That-ilk succeeded Andrew his son, who married lady Margaret Cunning ham

(e) Register of Dumbarton,

(f) Ibidem. (g) Ibid.

[ 60 ]

daughter to William Earl of Glencairn, who was lord high treasurer in the reign of king James V. by her he had iffue, Duncan his fuccessor.

This Duncan laird of M. Farlane was one of the first of any account, who made open profession of the christian religion in this kingdom. He joyned the earls of Lennox and Glencairn at the fight in Glasgow moor Anno 1544, against the earl of Arron, who was governor in the minority of Queen Mary. He was afterwards together with severals of his name and followers, slain valiantly sighting for his country at the battle of Pinky, September 10.1547, leaving by Anne his wife, daughter to John Cotchoun of Luss, only one son, Andrew.

This Andrew laird of M'Farlane inherited not only his father's estate, but also his zeal for the protestant religion which he evidently shewed on several occasions, particularly when Queen Mary after her escape out of the castle of Loch-levin, endeavoured to re-establish popery, and for that end had got together a great deal of forces: he hearing thereof immediately raised no less then five hundred of his own-name and dependents, with whom joyning the earl of Murray who was then regent they encountered Queen Mary's forces at the village of Langfide May, 10. 1568. where the laird of M'Farlane and his name behaved so valiently first galling and then putting to flight Queen Mary's Archers, that they were acknowledged by all to be the chief occasion of obtaining that glorious victory. (b) In confideration of which figual piece of fervice in defending the crown, he got among other rewards that honourable creft and motto, which is still enjoyed by his posterity, viz. A demi-favage proper, holding in his dexter hand a sheaf of arrows, and pointing with his finister to an imperial crown, Or. motto, This I'le defend. He married Agnes Maxwell, daughter to Sir Patrick Maxwell of Newark, by whom he had three fons, John his fucceffor George M'Farlane of Mains, who got a disposition from his father to the Mains of Kilmaronock, but died without issue, and Humphrey M'Farlane of Bracheurn.

John chanar mothe teath, Helen, Marga gus, b John pand Ge mastrow; His

Ardefs
Lamon
Robert
icceecharry
ad by your ard o

ter to

wo fo

ert long ins, Valexand The illy of the well

lugh

ue. I

I. Frau ore w

ne of ne of ch in ullich n of V mes I

(h) Petrie's church history. Godscroff's history of the Doug-

61

John next laird of M'Farlane married firft Sufanna Buchanan, daughter to Sir George Buchanan of That-ilk, her mother being Mary Graham, daughter to the Earl of Mengeath, by whom he had no iffue. He married fecondly Helen, daughter to Francis Stewart Earl of Bothwell, by Margaret Douglas his wife, daughter to the Earl of Anus, by whom he had Andrew M'Farlane of Drumfad, ohn predecessor to George M'Farlane of Glentalach, nd George, ancestor to M'Farlane of Clachan. Fourthly e married Margaret daughter to James Murray, of trowan.

His fon and fuccessor, Walter married Margaret, daugher to Sir James Semple of Beltrees; by whom he had wo fons, John his successor. and Andrew McFarlane Ardefs. Which John married Griffel daughter to Sir Coll lamond of That-ilk, by Barbara his wife, daughter to lobert lord Semple. But having no male iffue, he was acceeded by his brother next laird of M'Farlane, who narrying Elizabeth daughter to John Buchanan of Ross, ad by her two fons, John, his fuccessor; and Walter, youth of great hopes, who died unmarried. John late and of M. Farlane married first Agnes, daughter to Sir high Wallace of Wolmet, by whom he had no furviving ue. He maried 2dly lady Arbuthnot, daughter to Roert lord viscount of Arbuthnot, by whom he had three ns, Walter, present laird of M'Farlane, William and llexander.

n

m

n• g•

is

ng 1-

at

ce

d.

ng

his

Sir

ns,

ta

ck,

ra-

oug-

The other families of this furname are, first. The faily of Clach-buy, severals of which are dispersed through the surface islands. Their ancestor was Thomas, son to uncan laird of M'Farlane, in the reign of king Robert I. From whose proper name they are frequently called Causes or Thomas-ions. Secondly the family of Kenore who are pretty numerous; their ancestor was John, younger fon of Duncan M'Farlane of That-ilk, in the ign of king James I. Of this family is Robert M'Farhe of Auchinvenal-more in Glenfroon, James M'Farne of Muckroy, and Walter M'Farlane of Dunnamath in the north of Ireland. Thirdly, M'Farlane of illichintaull, whose predecessor was Dougal a younger of Walter M'Farlane of That-ilk, in the reign of king mes III. Of this family are descended John M'Farlane 62 of Finnart, Malcolm M. Farlane of Gortan, and Mr. Ros bert Macfarlane minister of the gospel at Buchanan, Fourthly M'Farlane of Gartartan, whose Family is pretty numerous in the shire of Perth. His ancestor was Walter M'Farlane, eldest fon of a second marriage to Sir John M'Farlane of That-ilk, by his wife a daughter of the lord Herries, in the reign of king James IV. Of this family is John M'Farlane of Ballagan. Fifthly, M'Farlane of Kirktoun, in the paroch of Campfy and shire of Stir. ling, whose ancestor was George M. Farlane of Merkinch, younger fon to Andrew laird of M' Farlage, in the reign of king James V. Which George went afterwards and fettled in the North, where his posterity continued till they bought the lands of Kirktoun. Sixtly there is also one Parlan M'Farlane or M'Walter, of little Auchinve. nal, who pretends that his ancestor Walter, was a natural fon of one of the Earls of Lennox, a long time after M'Farlane came off that family. But this account is controverted by the laird of M'Farlane, who afferts his predecessor to have been a cadet of his family, which is also owned by all the furname of Me Walter Auchinvenal himself only excepted, who also never denied it till of late.

The furname of M. Farlane is very numerous both in the west and north Highlands, particularly in the shires of Dumbarton, Perth, Stirling, and Argyle; as also in the shires of Inverness, and Murray in the western isles, the fides there is a great many of them in the north of Ireland. There is also a vast number of descendants from and dependants on this furname and family of other denominations, of which those of most account are a sept ter med Allans, or M'Allans, who are so called from Allan Macfarlane their predecessor, a younger son of one of the lairds of M'Farlane, who went to the north, and fettled there feveral centuries ago. . This Sept is not only very numerous but also divers of them of very good account fuch as the families of Auchorachan, Balnewgown, Drum min, &c. They refide mostly in Marr, Strathdon, and o ther northern countries. There are also the M'Nairs M'Eoins, M'Errachers, M'Williams, M'Aindras, M'N ters, M'Instalkers, M'locks, Parlans, Farlans, Grus machs, Kinniesons, &c. All which Septs own themselve

T part of the those

to 1

of N

Mil

in whi

furp

pret

loch

Inve

beau

of A

of tl

whe

forts

faltic

is th

two

broa

hold

ing"

This

Loch

Guer

T

1

[ 63 ]

to be M. Farlanes, together with certain particular Septs of M. Nuyers, M. Kinlays, M. Robbs, M. Greufichs, Smiths, Millers, Monachs, &c.

n.

ty

er

n

he

a-

ne

r-

h,

gn nd

ill

fo

ve-

ur-

ter

rts

ily

er

ied

in

res

the belreand

terllat the tlee

unt ume d o

airs

·Ni

ruz

elve

The laird of M'Farlane had a very good old castle in an island of Loch-lomond, called Island-roglass, which was burnt by the English during Cromwel's usurpation, and never since repaired. He has also another pretty good house and gardens in an island of the same loch called Island-vow. But his principal residence is at Inverioch or New-tarbat, which is a handsome house beautisted with pleasant gardens, situated in the paroch of Arrochat, and shire of Dumbarton, near the head of that large loch or arm of the sea called Lochlong, where there is excellent fishing for herring and all other forts of sea-sish.

The laird of M Farlan's armorial bearing is Argent, a faltier engrail'd, cantoned with four roses Gules, which is the arms of the old samily of Lennox. Supporters, two Highland-men in their native garbs, arm'd with broad swords and bows proper. Crest, a demi-savage holding a sheaf of arrows in his dexter hand, and pointing with his sinister to an imperial crown Or. Motto, This I will defend. And on a compartment, the word Loch Sloy, which is the M Farlans slughorn or Crie de Guerre.

AN

ACCOUNT of the SURNAME

OF

CAMERON.

THE most ordinary account delivered of the original of the surname of Cameron is, that in the latter part of the reign of king William, or the beginning of the reign of king Alexander II. a principal person of those Danes, or Norvegians, then in possession of most 7

Th

the fa

dition

tinctio

to an

for th

cheal

ried C

of Br

fuccel

forme

in the

at one

mann

two C

low c

up hi

his da

of the

Charl

that g

terest

daug

he malfo in

bel of

fbn,an

is alfo

built

Ther

on,an

tates,

name

M'La

M·Cl

are of

Macn

Th

of our northern Scottish isles, named Cambro, did marry the daughter and heiress of Macmartin, proprietor of that part of Lochaber now possess by Locheal, chies of that surname of Cameron. And as M'Intosh did not change his surname upon his marrying the heiress of the principal person or chief of the M'Cattans, but in stead thereof many of that surname went into that of M'Intosh so also in this case the above mentioned Cambro not only retained his own name, upon his marriage with the heiress of the principal person or chief of the Macmartins, a very old clan in that country, but also from his own proper name transmitted the surname of Cameron to his posterity, which in a short tract of time becoming the more powerfull the whole remains of the Macmartins went into that surname.

I find it afferted in the genealogical account of the furname of Campbel, that Sir Neil Campbel, who flourished in a part of the reigns of king Alexander III. and king Robert I. for his second lady married a daughter of Sir John Cameron, Locheal's ancestor. But that account cannot hold, in regard Sir Neil was only married to Mary Bruce, sister to king Robert, who survived him, and was after his death married to Fraze lord Lovat. But others with more probability affert that Sir John Cameron's daughter was second lady to Sir Colin, successor to Sir Neil. This Sir John Cameron upon very good grounds may be presumed to have been one and the same with him designed John de Cambron, or of Cameron, who was one of his subscribers of that letter sent by king Robert I, and his nobles to the pope Annotation.

The Camerons, or Clanchameron seem to have been a name of considerable antiquity before the reign of king James I. in regard of the figure that clan made in that king's reign; for being in conjunction with Donald Balloch brother to the lord of the isles, they with very considerable loss defeated an army sent aginst them by the king; but in a short time thereafter, the desertion of that clan, with the Clanchattan so broke Balloch's measures, that he was obliged to disband his army and see to Ireland.

65

lie

no

the

ead

oth

nly

nei

, 4 10

hi

10

in

the

fh-

ind

ter

ac-

ri

iv

zer

Sir

on

n

0 te

no

na

ng

12 ald

n

h

a

The Cameron's, as most other neighbouring c sins, while the family of M'Donald continued in a flourithing condition were dependants on the fame; but after the extinction of that great family, each of these clans came into an independent state, setting up upon all occasions for themselves as at this present time. The laird of Locheal in the latter part of the reign of king James VI.married Campbel of Glenurchy's daughter, aunt to the late earl of Braidalbin. Of this marriage he had Sir Ewan, his fuccessor a very well accomplisht gentleman, who per formed a great many fignal fervices against the English, in the reigns of king Charles I. and II. having defeated at one conflict with very much loss to the enemy a party of two hundred English, and at another wholly in a manner cut off a party of eighty, there escaping only two Centinels. In one of these adventures a robust sellow of the enemy grappled with Sir Ewan, and tript up his heels, and while the Englith-man was fearthing for his dagger, to stab him, Sir Ewan got hold with his teeth of the Englishman's throat, and in a few minutes deprived him of his life. Upon the restoration of king Charles II. he bestowed the honour of knight hood upon that gentleman who always continued faithful to his interest. This Sir Ewan married the laird of M'Lean's na daughter, by whom he had John his fuccessor. 2dly, he married Barclay of Urie's daughter, by whom he had also issue. John present laird is abroad, he married Campbel of Lochnell's daughter, by whom he had Donald his bn, and several other children. The nearest to that family is Captain Allan Cameron, brother to Locheal, who is also abroad. Locheall's principal residence is in Auchincarry in Lochaber, where he hath a large house, all built of fir-planks, the handsomest of that kind in Britain. There are also the Camerons of Glendelhary Kinlochlyon, and a good many more gentlemen of confiderable eftates, and a great many of the vulgar fort of this furname in Morvern and Lochaber.

The dependants on this furname are a Sept of the M'Lauchians the M'Gilveils, M'Lonvies, M'Phails and M'Chlerichs or Clerks, who with the M'Phails, or Pauls are originally Camerons with some others. There is also Macmartin of Letterfinlay, in Lochaber, being the prin-with that whole Sept own themselves to be Camerons. The Camerons also contend that the surname of Chalmers is descended of a cadet of their surname, who having gone some years ago into the French service, assumed the name of Camerarius, or Chalmers for that of Cameron, as more agreeable to the language of that country. One of this Chalmers progeny having continued in France, was ancestor to the lord of Tartas, and others of that name in that kingdom: another of that name having returned to Scotland, was ancestor to the Chalmers of the shire of Aberdeen, and other parts of this kingdom.

[ 66 7

The Camerons of old, as some heralds record, carried for arms, Cr, two barrs Gules. But now argent, three pallets Gules, or as some Argent pally bary Gules, as I have seen a seal of Lochealls cut.

AN

ACCOUNT of the SURNAME

OF

MACLAUCHLAN.

THE furname of M'Lauchlan hath been of a long time reputed one of our ancient Clans, being originally descended of the surname of the Olauchlans of Ireland, the principal person of whom according to Mr. Walsh, and other Irish historians, was in the second century of the christian epocha, provincial king of the province of Meath, which dignity his successors enjoyed for many descents, till some little time before the English conquest, the family of Orork obtained that principality. This surname is afferted to be of the Mileian stem, or that of the ancient kings of Ireland, and the progenitor thereof to have come to Scotland with the first who from Ireland planted Argyle shire. I have heard some of this name affirmeftate to an tiqui fuch there nam befo babil tate large part in th The laird lauc herit laucl of C Earl Mac tors, eigh ther vern Mι ML that

Or, gent fitch place a fall Mot aber

tion

[ 67 ]

affirm, that the laird of M'Lauchlan had a charter of his estate from king Congallus II. but cannot assent too far to any such assertion, there being no evidences of that antiquity, as yet found out, at least any mention made of such in any place, or record of this kingdom, though there may be a traditional account, that the above surnam was in possession of their cleate in that reign, or before the same, which is no way inconsistent with probability.

ong

ing

s of

tury

e of

de

iest,

fur-

f the of to land ame

The laird of M'Laughlan, chief of that furname's eftate of Straithlauchan, and principal residence being the large and ancient castle of Castlelachan, are in the lower part of upper Cowal, near the north fide of Lochfine, in the shire of Argyle, in which most of his clan reside. The next to that family is Colin M'Lauchlan, the present laird of M'Lauchlan's Uncle. There are also the Maclauchlans of Craigintairrow, Inchconnel, and divers other heritors of that furname in the faid shire, as also Maclauchlan, of Auchintroig, in the thire of Stirling, in favour of Celestin M'Lauchlan, one of whose ancestors, Duncan Earl of Lennox, confirms a charter granted by Eugen Mackessan of Garchels to one of the said Celestin's ancestors, which confirmation was dated in the year 1394, and eight year of the reign of king Robert III. there is another numerous Sept of the M'Lauchlans residing in More vern, and Lochaber, the principal person, of these being M'Lanchlan of Coryuanan in Lochaber, of this family is ML'auchlan, of Drumlane in Monteath, with others of that furname there. Those of this Sept residing in Lochaber, depend upon the laird of Locheal, as already mentioned.

M'Lauchlan hath for arms, four coats quarterly, 1st. Or, or as some, Argent, a lion rampant Gules. 2d. Argent, a hand coupee, sessways, holding a cross crosset, stchee, Gules. 3d. Or, a galley, her oars in saltyre, sable, placed in a sea, proper. 4th. Argent in a base undee Vert, a salmon naiant proper, supporters, two roe-bucks proper Motto, Fortis et sidus.

AN

ACCOUNT of the SURNAME

OF

MACNAUGHTAN.

THE furname of M'Nauchtan, tho' now low, hath been a furname of very great antiquity, and for a long tract of time of much effeem, and possessed, of a very considerable estate in Argyle-shire. This surname was so denominated from the proper name of Nauchtan, being that of one of the progenitors of the same, and an ancient Scottish proper name. The ancestors or chiefs of this surname are reported to have been for some ages designed Thanes of Lochtay, and also to be possessed a great estate betwixt the south side of Lochsine and Lochow, Parts of which are Glenera, Glenshira, Glensine, and others.

The first of this name mentioned in our publick histories, was Duncan laird of M'Nauchtan, an affiftant of M.Dougal lord of Lorn, against king Robert Bruce, at the battle of Dalree, for which he loft a part of his estate, but afterwards he, or rather his fon, was a loyal fubject to that king, and to king David II. his fuccessor, The present laird of M. Nauchtan's father, Sir Alexander Macnauchtan, was one of the bravest and best accomplished gentlemen of that age, and a very close adherent to the interest of king Charles I. and II. in all their difficulties, fo that in recompence of this gentleman's loyalty and fignal fervice, king Charles II. at his refloration not only bestowed the honour of knighthood upon him, but also a liberal pension upon him during life, the latter part of which having spent at court, he died at London.

There is a very considerable gentleman of this name in the county of Antrim in Ireland, whose ancestor was a son of the samily of M. Nauchtan. He hath a good estate, called Benbardin, and a pretty castle in which he refide efta de enr the Me ant of of bein fud

con

no j go l ther ther nau Cap ago Cuft tan's litale

cipa

little

tigio

quar hold gent Cref [ 68 ] fides, there being also divers of his name, residing in his estate, and other parts of that country. Those of other denominations descended of this surname, are the Macenricks descended of one Henry Macnauchtan, a sept of the M'Nuyers, especially those of Glensine, the M'Neits M'Eols, and others. It is a clear demonstration of the antiquity of a surname, that many branches, especially of other denominations, are descended off the same. It being evident that in order of nature such things are not suddenly brought to any bearing, but gradually, and in a considerable progress of time.

h

a

e

1, ın

fş

es

of

h.

le,

10-

of

ce,

his

yal or,

an-

ni-

difloy: tion nim, lat-

was ef-

The present laird of Macnaughtan is in possession of no part of his estate, the same being evicted some years ago by creditors, for Sums no way equivalent to the value thereof, and there being no diligence used for the relief thereof, it went out of the hands of the family. Macnauchtan's eldest son, being a very sine gentleman, was a Captain in the Scottish foot guards, and was some time ago killed in Spain, his only surviving son, John, being a Custom-house officer, upon the eastern coast. Macnauchtan's estate, called Macnauchtan's letter, being a pretty good estate, lyes upon the west side of Lochsine, within a little way of that loch in the shire of Argyle. His principal residence is the castle of Dunaraw, situated upon a little rocky point, upon the west shore of Lochsine, contigious to his own estate.

The armorial bearing of the laird of Macnauchtan is, quarterly, 1st. and 4th. a hand fessways coupee, proper, holding a cross Crosset fitchee, Azure. 2d and 3d. Argent a tower embatteled, Gules, and a demy tower, for Crest Motto. I hope in God.

ACCOUNT of the SURNAME

of

cal the chu tate

tha mig Lo a g

Ma

eve

of (

to S

the

reig

Ear

chy,

no it

fon (

tor t

VI.

forfe

alfo 1

in th

time,

the la

branc

Char

grego

mily,

Willi

 $M'G_1$

and t

mean

fon c

Thi

nam

E

HE furname of M. Gregor once a numerous name and in possession of divers considerable estates, hath of a long tract of time been accounted one of, the ancient Scottish furnames or claus, being denominated from the proper name of Gregor, ancestor of that furname, being a known ancient Scottish proper name. Those of this furname affert their progenitor to have been a fon of one of the Scottish kings of the Alpinian race, more especially of king Gregory, but our historians are generally agreed that king Gregory never married, and was not known to have any iffue, either legitimate or illegitimate, Howevea that be, that this furname is descended from one properly fo called, a fon, or fome other descendant of another of the kings of the Alpinian race, is no way inconfistent with probability. But that furname having lost their estates at different junctures, and by various contingencies, is a means also of the loss of any evidents relating to the manner and time of acquiring those estates, and that were conducive for eyincing the descent of the family, the best document now extant in their custody being their armorial bearing, which infinuates pretty clearly, that the faid name was either descended of some of the Stem of the Scottish kings, or that they had done fome piece of fignal fervice for fome one of the kings, and kingdom, though the circumstances of either of these cannot at this distance be fully cleared. I find in the form genealogical account of the furname of Campbell that for M. Sir Colin Campbell of Lochow, who had divers great for of offices from king Malcolm II. had a daughter married to M. Gregor laird of Glenurchy, and that of this marriage ies. was Sir John, M'Gregor of Glenurchy, a person of very good account in the reign of king Malcolm III. the chief of that name is very well known to have been for many generations lairds of Glenurchy, and to have built the castle of Balloch, or Taymouth, at least to have had their residence there, and also to have built castle Caolchuirn, in the west part of that country. How this estate was lost is not very evident, but it is very probable, that the name of M'Gregor, being fo near neighbours, might be induced or obliged to join M'Dougal lord of Lorn, against king Robert I. and upon that account lost a good part of their estate, as the Macnauchtans and Macnabs, loft a part of theirs for the same cause. ever the first of the name of Campbell who got that estate of Glenurchy, was black Sir Colin Campbell, fecond fon to Sir Colin Campbell of Lochow, in the latter part of the reign of king James II. or in the latter part of the reign of king James III. being ancestor of the present Earl of Braidalbin. Besides the chief family of Glenurchy, there was also M'Gregor of Glenlyon, who having no iffue, nor near relation, disponed his estate to a second ion of Sir Duncan Campbell of Glenurchy being anceffor to Campbell of Glenurchy, in the reign of king James There was also M'Gregor of Glensre, who was forfeited in the same reign, the laird of M'Gregor having also near the same time fold the last lands the family had in those parts, called Stronmiolchon, so that fince that time, viz. the latter part of the reign of king James VI. the lairds of M'Gregor had no estate, till the principal branch of that family became extinct in the reign of king Charles II. the chief-ship devolving upon Malcolm Macgregor, descended of a collatteral branch of the chief family, whose fon Gregor M'Gregor, in the reign of king William dying without iffue, was fucceeded by Arch b 11 M'Gregor of Kilmanan, whose male issue being all dead, and those few who pretend nearest relation to him, of the aformal renounciation of the chief-ship in favour of Grichat for M'Gregor of Glengyle, who is linealy descended of fon of the laird of M'Gregor.

60

This surname is now divided into four principal familiant.

ne

th

nt

he

ng

his ne al-

a.

ot

te,

om

of

in-

ing

ous

nts

tes, t of

ody

etty

me

one

igs,

very

lage ies. The first is that of the laird of M'Gregor, being n a manner extinct, there being few or none of any account of the fame. The next family to that of M'Gree gor, is Dougal Keir's family, so named from their ancestor Dougal Keir, a son of the laird of M'Gregor, the principal person of that family, is M'Gregor of Glengyle whose residence and interest is at the head of Lochcattern in the parish of Calender, in the shire of Perth. The third family is that of Rora, the principal person of which is M'Gregor of Rora, in Rannach, in the shire of Perth. The fourth family is that of Brackley, so denominated from Brackley, of which the principle person of that ancient family was not long ago proprietor.

Those of other denominations descended of this surname, are the M'Kinnins, being a pretty numerous clan in the isle of Sky, the principal person of that clan hath a pretty good estate in the isles of Sky and Mull. How far this pretension is acquiesced in, I cannot determine, but am consident, that gentleman's armorial bearing differs very much from that of the surname of M'Gregor. Another branch of another denomination, is that of Maccarras, a pretty numerous sept in the north parts of Perthshire; there are also the M'Leisters M'Choiters, and divers others descended of that surname, of which the ar-

morial bearing is,

Argent a fir-tree, growing out of a mount in base Vert, surmounted of a sword bendways, supporting on it point an imperial Crown, in dexter chief canton proper importing the descent of that surname from one of out kings, or the same having done some signal service to the Crown, Motto, Undoe and spare not.

Earlin to I the obtained form four ing defi fam

den

acq

ed l

nor

mer welland nor fuci Ma con tho

ACCOUNT of the SURNAME

an.

, the

The

n of shire kley

orin.

pro-

furclan

hath

How

nine.

dif-

gor. Iac

erth

di

ar-

pafe

n its

per

) the

OF

COLCHOUN.

And the ancient lairds of Luss before the assumption of that surname.

HE ancestor of the furname of Colchoun was Humphrey Kirkpatrick, in whose favour Malduin Earl of Lennox grants charter of the lands of Colchoun in the reign of King Alexander II. that of Kirkpatrick; or Kilpatrick, always reputed the place where St. Patrick the Apostle of Ireland was born, is presumed to have obtained that denomination in very ancient times, as is evident by a charter by Aluin Earl of Lennox, mortifying fome lands to the old church of Kilpatrick before the foundation of the abbey of Pailley, anno 1160. that being then, and as it would feem for a long time before, fo defigned, from which and the adjoining village of the fame denomination, was an ancient furname in those parts denominated, of which was that Humphrey, who first acquired the lands of Colchoun, which lands were fo named before he acquired the fame, the import of which denomination, being a fea coast or point, to which the former, fituation, of those lands, especially of that now termed Dunglass, the ancient mansion house thereof, very well agrees, rather than to that from Connaucht in Ireland, or any other to that purpose pretended for the denomination of that furname. The first who assumed the furname of Colchoun, was Ingram the above Humphrey's fuccessor being so designed in the charter of Luss by Malcolm Earl of Lennox, to Malcolm laird of Luss, confirming John laird of Luss his charter to his son of those lands in the beginning of the reign of King Robert 1. This Ingram's successor was Robert of Colchoun A a 2 who is mentioned, as also his successor, of the same name in divers charters, by Malcolm the second, and Donald Earls of Lennox.

[ 72 ]

To Robert the second of that name of Colchoun, succeeded Humphrey of Colchoun, who in the year 1394, and fourth year of the reign of king Robert III. married the daughter and heiress of Godfrey, laird of Luss however otherwise afferted, that at that time the laird of Luís married the heiress of Colchoun, it being evident, that the family of Luss of Thatilk, or as others, Lennox of Luís was the greater family both in respect of antiquity and estate, than that of Colchoun, so that being the greater, it cannot be prefumed he would have quitted his furname, and assumed that of the lesser npon his marriage with the heiress thereof; as for instance, M'Intosh, Locheal, and Shaw of Greenock, with many others, whose ancestors, though married to heiresses equal to themselves retained their furnames, and so may be thought would Lufs upon marrying the heirefs of Colchoun. For further illustration of this matter, Godfrey laird of Luss, is witness to a charter granted by Duncan Earl of Lennox in the year 1394. As also Humphrey of Colchoun, is witness in an another charter of the same date, by the fame Earl. And in the charter of Camstroddan, confirmed by the same Earl, in the year 1395, being the very next year, the fame Humphrey Colchoun is defigned of Luss, and Robert, Camstroddan's ancestor, is designed Robert Colchoun his brother fo that by the above charter the time and manner of the marriage of thelaird of Colchoun with the heiress of Luss is fully illustrated.

The most ancient charter now extant of the lands of Luss, is a charter by Malduin Earl of Lennox, to Gilmore son of Muldonich, of the lands of Luss, this Muldonich, or another of Gilmore's ancestors, is upon very good grounds presumed to be a son of the Earl of Lennox and to have retained the surname of Lennox, or as others assumed that of Luss, and retained the same till the marriag of the heiress of Colchoun. The above charter was in the reign of king Alexander II. but its ihought the estate was given off to one of the ancestors of that family before that charter, tho the same be the oldest now extant in their hands,. To Gilmore succeeded Maurice being only me ter by Auch whose of the adjac tin, an succe that i on of reign can i ter, a > gavin whice breth ferib Lenn day of Rob ment

gran

H

parle M·L ifles-Jam tread Sir

the l

Dun

Sir chy laire batt Si

ed t

ly mentioned witness by designation of Luss in a charter by the Earl to Maurice Galbraith, of the lands of Auchincloich Maurice's successor was Sir John of Luis, in whose fayour Malcolm Earl of Lennox grants charter of the lands of Lufs, and superiority of Banra, and the adjacent isles belonging in property to Gilmichal, Gilmartin.and Gillocondad, furnamed Galbraiths. To Sir John fucceeded Malcolm, in whose favour Malcolm second of that name Earl of Lennox grants charter of confirmation of Luis, with the property of jeaster Glinn, in the reign of king Robert I. Malcolm's successor was Duncan in whose favour Donald Earl of Lennox grants charter, and he is a frequent witness in others of that Earl's The last laird of Luis was Godfrey already charters. mentioned.

Humphrey Colchoun, first of that name laird of Luss, granted charter of the lands of Camstroddan, and Auchigavin, to Robert Colchoun, his brother and his heirs male which failing to another Robert, and Patrick, his other brethren; which charter was written at Luss, and subscribed by the laird, and confirmed by Duncan Earl of Lennox, at Inchmirin, his mansion house, upon the fourth day of July 1395, being the fifth of the reign of king

Robert III.

X

.

e

S

e

.

e

d

r-

15

n,

r-ry of

ed

er

h-

of

h, od

nd

af-

ag

in

ite

ent

n-

To Humphrey succeeded Sir John, who was married to the lord Areskin's daughter. He was first governor of Dumbarton-castle, afterwards of the castle of Inchmirin, and being enticed undersa shew of friendly conference, or parley, to come out of his garrison, by means of Lauchlan M'Lean and Murdo Gibson, commanders of an army of isles-men who harrassed Lennox in the minority of king James II. was by an ambush planted for that purpose treachearously slain with 120. of his men. I have seen this Sir John designed in old Scottish chronicle in manuscript Sir John Colchoun of Luss and Sauchy, the lands of Sauchy and Glyn being reported to be given to Malcolm laird of Luss, by king Robert I. for his service at the battle of Bannockburn.

Sir John's fuccessor was called Sir John who was married to the lord Boyd's daughter. He was for some time treasurer to king James III. His successor was Sir 11 am.

(

t

g

0

Pifa

of

ba

ki

pa for

TI

pa

mi

Cr

rea

dec

the

Stin

Col

ry 1

nur

call

a fa

coll:

Mot

7

phrey married to the lord of Houston's daughter. second fon was Patrick of Glyn, who had a daughter married to Murray of Tullibairn, who had to him feven. teen fons. To Humphrey succeeded John, who married the Earl of Lennox's daughter, by whom he had John his fuccessor, and James ancestor of Colchoun of Kilmardinny, of which family is Colchoun of Craigton; and two daugh. ters, married to the lairds of Houstoun and Kilbirny. John fourth of that name laird of Luss was married to the Earl of Monteath's daughter, by whom he had Sir Hum. plarey his fucceffor Alexander, afterwards laird of Lufs, and John. Sir Humphrey was married to the lord Ha. milton's daughter, by whom he had one daughter, married to Campbel of Carrick. This Sir Humphrey fought the conflict of Glenfroon, against the M'Gregors, and was afterwards killed in Benachra-castle by the Macfarlanes, through influence of a certain nobleman whom Luís had disobliged. He was succeeded by Alexanderchis brother, who married Helen daughter to the laird of Buchanan, by whom he had five fons, Sir James, his fucceffor, Sir Humphrey of Balvey, Alexander of Glins, Walter and George. Sir Humphrey, Walter and George died without iffue.

Sir James of Luss, married the Earl of Montrose's daughter and had by her Sir John his successor Sir James of Corky and Alexander of Tullichewn. Sir John married Bailie, heiress of Lochend, by whom he had three sons who died all unmarried, and eight daughters three of which only had issue, being Lilias the eldest married to Stirling of Keir. Christian to Cunningham of Craigends, and Helen to Dickson of Inverask.

To Sir John fucceded his brother, Sir James of Corky, who was manied to Cuningham of Bellyechan's daughter, by whom he had Sir Humphrey, his fuccessor, and James. Sir Humphrey was married to the laird of Houstoun's daughter by whom he had no children, that came to age but one daughter, Anna, who being heires of that estate was married to James Grant of Pluscarden, second fon to Grant of That-ilk, who npon the death of Si Humphrey succeeded to the estate of Luss, and in a little time thereafter through decease of Brigadeer. Alexander

Grant his eldest brother, without issue, succeeded also to the estate of Grant, being now in possession of both those great and ancient estates designing his eldest son for laird of Grant, and his second son for laird of Luss. The principal residence of the lairds of Luss is Rosdoc, pleasantly situated in a little Peninsula, upon the south shore of Lochlomond, in the parish of Luss, and shire of Dumbarton.

The next to the family of Luss, of that name in this kingdom is Colchoun of Tullichewn. There is also in the parish of Luss Colchoun of Camstroddan, descended of a fon of the faid family in the reign of king James V. There is Colchoun of Garscaddan in the parish of Kilpatrick, descended from the family of Camstroddan in the minority of Queen Mary. There is also Colchoun of Craigtoun, a cadet of the family of Kilmardinny, as already mentioned. Those of other denominations descended of this furname are the Cowans, pretty numerous in the shire of Fife, and in the east parts of the shire of Stirling. The chief person of that name is Cowan of Courstoun in Fife. Also the Macmainesses, who are not very numerous. There is also a Sept of this surname very numerous in Appin, and other places of upper Lorn, called M'Cachounichs.

The armorial bearing of Colchoun of Luss is Argent, a faltyre engrailed, Sable. Supporters, two hands Sable, collared Argent. Creft, a harte head coupee, Gules.

inality and the second in the second in Classic of the feet of the said took Spine Mis Field of market in the Service

Motto, Si Je Puis.

1

5

.

n

1.

s,

1.

т,

ey

rs,

om

his

ac-

or,

ter

ied

fe's

mes

ried

fons

e of

d to

nds,

rky,

louf

f that econd of Si little

ande

of w la: Bi

in be lar

da

tha

bei

to the of l

Lai

Tov

his fide

tlen

Lar

and The

Bur

havi

fome

a inc

ordin

ant;

pereu

T

estate

tereff

coun

Ratio

L

ACCOUNT of the SURNAME

OF

L A M O N D

HE furname of Lamond did not upon most occasi. ons affociate with most others of the more "remote clans, nevertheless upon very solid grounds it hath been always accounted a furname of greater antiquity and ef. teem; the fame for divers ages being in possession, and the chiefs thereof lairds, or rather lords of all lower Cowal. a very fertile Country, and of a large extent though most part thereof at several junctures and occasions (of which the circumstances cannot in this age be discovered) was wrested out of their hands. The name itself did also sustain very great loss, or diminution in the time of the civil wars, in the reign of king Charles I. having joyned with the Marquis of Montrose's party, who stood for the kings interest. Upon the defeat of the Marquis at Philiphaug and suppression of that party the Lamonds for fome time defended themselves in their chief's castle of Towart, but being belieged by a party of the parliament's forces, were obliged to yield themselves prisoners of war and as foon as they came into the enemies hands, were all put to the fword; as were also near the same time a great number of the M'Dougals, and M'Neils, who defended themselves for some time in the fort of Dunabarty in Kintyre against lieutenant General Lesly, after the defeat of Alexander M'Donald's army at Largy: Lefly having given quarters to a party of Irish, who with the above clans defended that fort, did put all the Scots without distinction to the fword, of which the most part were of those mentioned with some M. Donalds, after they had furrendered at discretion; so that none of these furnames are any thing fo numerous ever fince as formerly.

· [ 77 ]

The surname of Lamond is asserted to be descended of Lamond Oneil, a son of the great Oneil provincial king of North Ulster. The chiefs of this surname were allied with very honourable samilies both in Scotland and Ireland as with the samilies of Argyle, McDonald, Luss, Buchanan, Okyan, lord Dunseverin, and other samilies in Ireland. I find Duncan McLamond who seems to have been laired of Lamond, mentioned witness in a charter granted by Duncan Earl of Lennox in the reign of king Robert III. This surname is always in Irish termed Maclamonds, or Clanlamond..

ñ.

ote

en

ef.

nd

W.

gh of

(d)

lid

of

n-

for

at

for

of

it's

ar

ere

a

de-

ın-

ter

y:

ith ots

art

ter

ese

or.

Archibald late laird of Lamond married Margaret daughter to Collonel Henry, by whom he had no iffue; fo that the estate went to Dougal Lamond of Stinlaig, as being nearest heir male. He married Margaret fifter to James Earl of Bute, by whom he had five daughters, the eldest whereof, Margaret, is married to John Lamond of Kilfinan, whose eldest son is to succeed to the estate of Lamond. There are many families of other denominations descended of this furname the M'Lucases or Lukes M'Inturners, or Turners, M'Alduies, or Blacks M'Ilwhoms, and The laird of Lamond fince the demolition of his castle of Towart, by the abovementioned siege, refides in Ardlamond, in upper Cowal. The principal gentlemen of that name are the Lamonds of Silvercraig Lamond of Willowfield, who with some other gentlemen, and most others of that furname, reside in lower Cowal. There is also descended off a son of the laird of Lamond, Burdon of Fedale, in Straithern, with others of that name having got that estate by marriage of the heiress thereof some ages ago.

Lamond for armorial bearing carried fometimes Azure, a mond, or globe argent; but the most ancient and more ordinary bearing of that family is Azure a lyon rampant; Argent. Crest, a hand Coupee proper. Motto, Ne-pereus nec spernas.

There is also in Argyle-shire a gentleman of a small estate designed Macorquodale, of Faintislands. His interest lyes upon the south side of Lochow, and he is accounted one of the most ancient gentlemen of his own station in that shire, or probably of any other in this kingdom, it being with assurance asserted that the cause of his ancestor's getting that estate was for taking down the head of Alpin, king of the Scots, by night off the walls of the capital city of the Picts, where these had affixed it and upon bringing the same to king Kenneth the great he was for that service rocompenced with that estate possessed by his successor as yet, and that there was a charter granted of the same estate by king Kenneth, which is reported to have been sent upon his earnest request to Sir George M'Kenzie to be perused by him, some little time before the revolution, and that the same was not got back. However this be, that gentleman is reputed to be of very great antiquity by all in these parts; but I could not obtain any exact account of the same, or of his armorial bearing.

Bb

T 78 ]

There was also a gentleman of a good estate in Kintyre, designed McKay of Ogendale which samily continued in very good repute for a good many ages. The principal samily is lately extinct. There, continues a considerable number of that surname, as yet, in Kintyre, and the north of Ireland, so that I am very apt to think that the ancestor of the Northern McKayes, of which lord Rae is chief was descended of this ancient samily of that name in Kintyre, rather than from one Forbes, a son of Forbes of Ochanocher, as is afferted by some modern writers.

atomostic produce and distributed who extract the contract of the contract of

ACCOUNT of the SURNAME

OF

MACAULAY.

As divers of the most ancient surnames in the western part of the Lennox derive their origin from the samily of Lennox, so also the surname of M'Aulay, may upon good grounds be presumed to be descended off that ancient samily. For confirmation of this allegation, in a charter by Malduin Earl of Lennox, to Sir Patrick Gr. ham, of the Carrucate of Muckraw, one of the with neff cha bra cate can tion the fon ter,

Da ma and Ar Lei Dr gra

> Ari the fur gro gan Du > rec

the ma in ref in

. Digit and the

gy na the ed to

G of ch

L 79 ]

6

it

at 0.

er

e-

to

le

ot

to

I

his

in.

ti.

he

n-

re,

ink

ich

ily

es,

me

tern

the

may

that

111 rick

wit-

nesses in Aulay the Earl's brother, as also in another charter by the same Earl to William son of Arthur Galbraith, of the two Carrucates of Bathernock, and Carrucate of Kincruich, now Culruich, the witnesses are Duncan and Aulay the Earl's brethern. This Aulay is mentioned in divers other charters of the faid Earl, as also the faid Aulay's fon, and fuccessor, designed Duncan, fon of Aulay, or M'Aulay Knight, is inferted in a charter, by the same Earl to Walter Spreul, of the lands of Dalquhern, and in a great many others, I find no mention made of this Duncan's fuccessor. The next to be met with and to be prefumed of that family, is Arthur defigned of Arncaple, being witness in a charter by Duncan Earl of Lennox to Murdac fon of Arthur Dinin, of the lands of Drumfad, and Kirmichal, fo that this Arthur might be grandchild to Duncan last mentioned. There is a currant tradition that this family, or furname was defigned Arneaples of That-ilk for sometime, untill from one of the chiefs of that family, properly called Aulay, the whole furname was fo denominated. But there is much more ground for the first than last of these suppositions, in regard of the small interval of time betwixt the above Sir Duncan Macaulay and that furname's being found upon record to be fo denominated

The next of that name to the family of Arncaple, is the representative of Major Robert Macaulay, a gentleman of a good estate in Glenerm, in the county of Antrim, in Ireland, in which county a great many of that surname reside. There is also a numerous sept of that surname in Caithness and Sutherland. The M'Pheidirans, of Argyle-shire, own themselves to be originally of this surname, the principal residence of the laird of Arncaple is the castle of Ardincaple, in the shire of Dumbarton, situated upon the north side of the Firth of Clyde, opposite to the town of Greenock.

The armorial bearing of Macaulay of Arncaple is Gules, two darts, their points conjoined in base, in form of a cheveron reversed argent, surmounted of a sessent checky the 2d. and 1st. crest boot coupee at the ancle with a spur thereon proper, Motto, Dulce Periculum.

INDEX.

Of the Names of those particularly mentioned in the treatise of the surname of Bughanan.

	Page	Bankel -	ib.
Buchanan of Auchmar,	- 3	Orchard -	ib.
Spittel	44	Auchnieven -	83
Arnpryor	44	Milntoun -	84
Gartinstarry		Cashill .	ibid
Drumikill	50	Arduill -	ibid
Graigievaira		Sallochy -	ibid
Moss	ibid	George Buchanan	. 41
Ballachruin	52	Macauselans -
Drumhead	56	Macmillans -	- 90
Tullichewn	59	Macgilveils .	- 83
Cattermiln	58	Markantan	- 94 - ib.
	ib	MAIC.
Balfunning	the contract of the contract of	Murchifons .	- 95
Cameron	59		97
Ross	60	Spittels -	- 98
Carbeth	65	Macmaurices -	100
Gartfarrand		Macandeoirs -	ilid
Ballat	ib.	Machruiters -	ibid
Gartincaber	70	Macgreusichs -	ibid
Boquhan	71	Risks	103
Ledrishmore	ib.	Mackinsays	- ibid
Lenny	72	Yuils	ib.
Mochastel	-78	Macwatties	- ib.
Gartichairn	79	Macildonichs -	ib.
Aucklessy	ib	Macrobs .	- ib.
Torry	79
Sandfide	80

AN

N.V. 185"

INDEX

Of the names particularly mentioned in the treatise of the Highland Clans.

Macdonalds	31	Cameron -	64
M'Dougals	40	M'Lauchlan	66
M'Neil	43	M'Gregor	69
M'Lean	45	M' Naughtan	67
M'Gillean	ibid	Colchoun	71
M'Leods	50	Lamond	75
Robinsons	55	M' Aulay	77
M'Farlans	56	A Charles
	A STATE OF THE REAL PROPERTY AND ADDRESS OF THE PARTY AND ADDRESS OF TH		