Scottish Clans to march at the Royal Edinburgh Military Tattoo 2017 season!

The 2017 Royal Edinburgh Military Tattoo will occur from August 3 through 26, 2017. This famous event is seen live by over 184,900 people each year and millions more see it broadcast round the world.

The Standing Council of Scottish Chiefs was approached by the organizers of the Royal Edinburgh Military Tattoo to see if there was interest among the Scottish clans to participate on the field at the annual event. The answer was "yes". The concept is a "go" and Clans have been "assigned" specific nights to show up and march.

The list of Clans scheduled to march as of now consists of two groups per night from 1 August through 25 August 2017.

The Clans so far are - and subject to change: Macnab followed by Macaulay, Campbell followed by MacArthur, Gunn followed by Fraser, Macdonald followed by Macdonald of Keppoch, Hunter followed by MacMillan, Macpherson followed by Ewing, Wood followed by Broun, Henderson followed by Napier, Leslie followed by Stewart, Oliphant followed by Wallace, Macneil followed by Robertson, Forbes followed by Sempill, Mackenzie followed by MacRae, Sinclair followed by TBA, Borthwick followed by Skene, Graham followed by Moffatt, Colquhoun followed by Matheson, Macleod followed by Maclea, MacGregor followed by TBA, Kincaid followed by MacLaine, Elliott followed by Agnew, Carmichael followed by MacThomas, Bruce followed by Durie, Hamilton/Douglas followed by TBA and Cameron followed by Clan Ranald and MacLaren.

Please watch this publication. We will bring you details of this stunning addition to the Tattoo as they are available.

A letter from your editor...

Reunions!

Reunions of all kinds have seen a revival in recent years, perhaps due to the renewed interest in family history and genealogy.

Besides the "regular" family reunions, you see notices and invitations from class reunions - high school and college, from military reunions of all the branches of our United States Armed Forces, from people who have worked together for years - be it working on a railroad, a bus company or at a certain company.

So many times, families or other groups, will work and plan and then, when the big day arrives, the reunion is simply a gathering of people, many who do not know each other. They will have a meal together - and that's about it.

Guests leave with a feeling of disappointment.

No matter what the group is who is reuniting, you can have a successful and memorable reunion. Of course, this involves that "other" four letter word - WORK...and lots of it.

A successful and memorable reunion requires thought and imagination - more of those than a large budget, although some funds are needed.

The same principles apply if your group is small or large, although in the family reunion context, there are no small families...just families who don't know about aunts and uncles and cousins and other "kith and kin."

One of the most enjoyable experiences in my life was working with the Descendants of Simon Gay Family Reunion down in Moultrie, Georgia. For many years, a group of family members spent most of the year planning, plotting, laughing and enjoying the monthly meetings in preparation of the BIG weekend.

As I remember, we always had about 1000 folks in Moultrie for the Saturday and Sunday events.

I will never forget the long row of tables groaning with food brought by everyone. I will never forget what fun it was to meet new kin and to welcome back those who came every year with hugging, kissing and huge smiles.

In this particular case, it was also the "Gathering of Clan Gayre" in Moultrie.

We made a quilt most every year to auction. We had door prizes. We had folks dressed in all the uniforms of wars from the Revolutionary War to the War Between the States and family members proudly marching in our opening program in their own military uniforms.

We always had a bagpiper. We tried to have something from Scottish culture each year - Scottish Highland Dancing or perhaps a Clarsach performance.

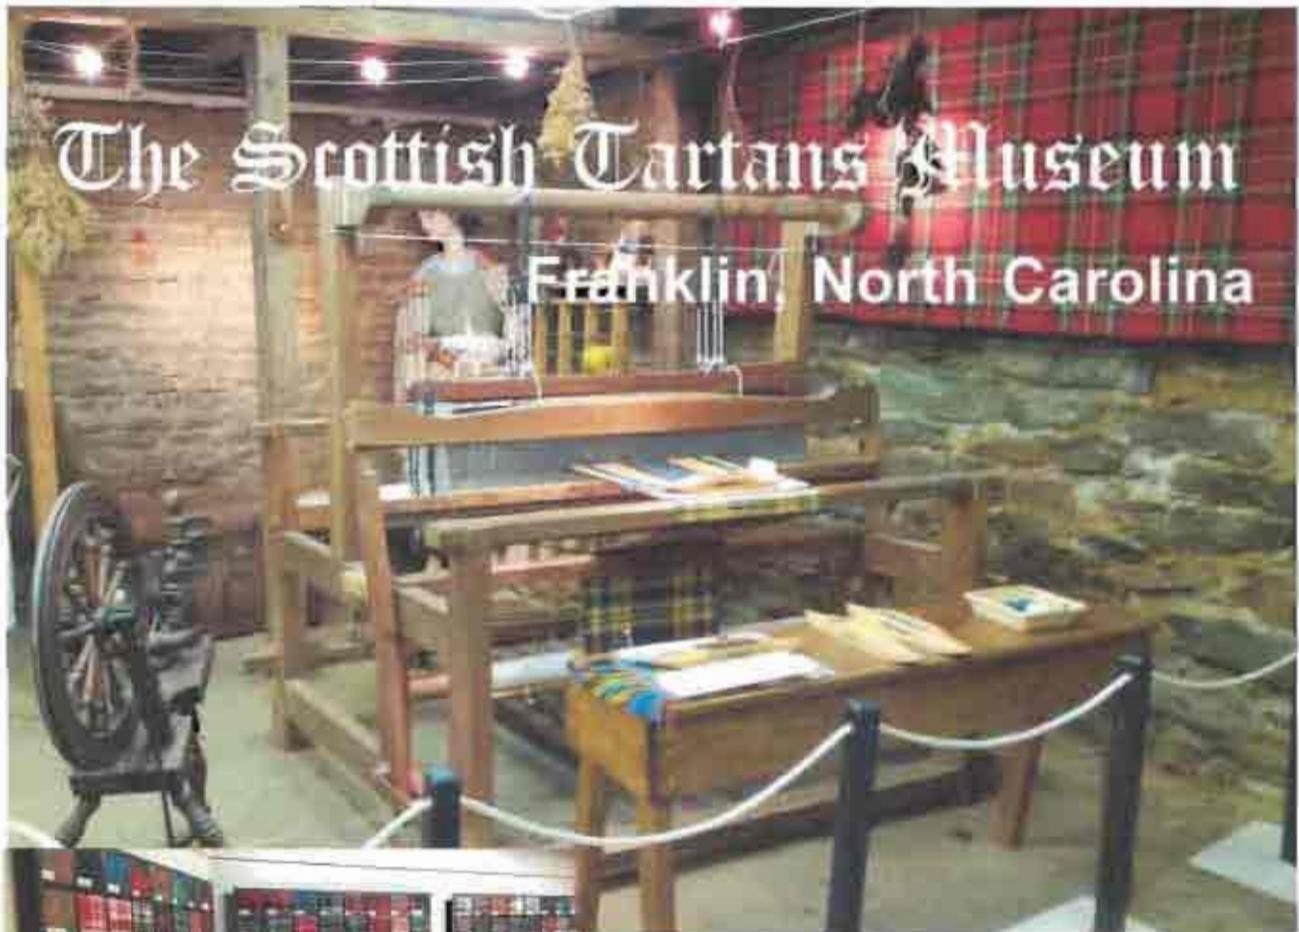

One year we had as our guest, George Gay, the author of Sole Survivor.

We had a HUGE family chart on the walls of our venue tracing the family from Isle of Wight County, Virginia to present day...and we worked on getting even more information from those who came to the gathering.

I made a little reunion booklet - and would be happy to send you one. It's typed, not on computer, so, I will have to copy the about 50 pages and mail it to you. I would be delighted to do so.

Just email me at <bethscribble@aol.com> and I'll get busy.

The Scottish Tartans Museum & Heritage Center is located in downtown Franklin, North Carolina.

This tartans museum is a non profit organization operated by a Board of Directors and the only tartan museum in the United States.

Our museum is located downstairs which shows the evolution of the kilt and the history of tartan.

Our gift shop, which supports the operation of our museum, is located upstairs and our volunteers are trained to look up surnames and provide customers with a bit of history and what tartan their family should wear.

We offer our gift shop online and brick and mortar. Here you can order custom made kilts, ladies kilted skirts, sashes, scarves, neckties, fabric by the swatch or by the yard, kilt hose and all quality accessories to accent your highland wear.

Admission is $2.00 per adult and $1.00 for Children 6-12.

We are open Monday through Saturday 10-5 pm (Winter hours are 11 AM until 4 PM) It is always a good idea to call first if you are planning a trip to our quaint wee mountain town because we might have snow and ice.

Documenting Mayflower Descendants for the 400th Anniversary

In four years we will be celebrating the 400th anniversary of the Mayflower's arrival in the New World in 1620. To honor that special anniversary, I'm working hard to document all the Mayflower descendants I can find.

Recently I found another Mayflower descendant: Merton Chesleigh Lane (1893-1975), formerly of Tacoma, Washington. He wasn't in the large online family tree sites – but he is now.

I spotted him because he was interviewed in the Seattle Daily Times when he was “recently elected governor of the state (Mayflower) society.”

The article noted that he was the “tenth (generation) from John Alden and Thomas Rogers and ninth from William Bradford, William Brewster, Edward Doty, George Soule, Richard Warren, Edward Winslow and William White.”

Great – that makes us related via almost all of these Mayflower passengers. With that information I added him to my online family trees and began the process of reconfirming and documenting his multiple lineages back to the Mayflower.

Are you doing your part?

Pay it forward and take the time to search for Mayflower descendants in GenealogyBank's Historical Newspaper Archives and document your discoveries in your online family tree sites.

I want to make it easy for all genealogists to discover their Mayflower roots – and GenealogyBank is helping me do just that.

For complete information on GenealogyBank, call 1-866-641-3297 (Monday - Friday, 10 AM - 7 PM EST)

Roxanne Sittlow writes today: I am a documented direct descendant of ABRAHAM PERRY – my Great-Great Grandfather. My great-grandfather was CHARLES, ABRAHAM'S only son, on whom we have much information. The article in your publication (link above) has some compelling information that our family historian has been researching for many years. Namely, the information about ABRAHAM PERRY (PERRETT), the son of ABRAM PERRY (PERRETT), being born in France (April 1, 1779) and leaving France to go to Switzerland before immigrating to Canada, Selkirk Colony, Red River Valley. (See below) If you have documents, such as birth certificate, newspaper articles, etc that refer to this new information, would it be possible to send us copies of what you have so we can include it our family tree information. Also, any other family tree info from Alfred's family line would also be welcomed.

This is the line of PERRY as it relates to

An intriguing tale of two lives

With thanks to the Clan Leslie publication, Grip Fast Journal.

Amy Leslie (October 11, 1855 – July 3, 1939) was an American actress, opera singer, and drama critic who was the first wife of Frank Buck.

She was born as Lillian West in West Burlington, Iowa. She studied at the Conservatory of Vocal Music, St Mary's Academy, Notre Dame, Indiana, graduating in 1874. After more study in Europe and at the Chicago Conservatory of Music, as Lillie West she became a singer in operettas.

In 1890, she began contributing to The Chicago Daily News, signing her stories as Amy Leslie, and became drama critic for the paper. She was one of the few women drama critics of her time, the only one in Chicago, and came to know and write of the stars of the day. Amy Leslie retired in 1930.

While playing Fiametta in La Mascotte she was married to Harry Brown, an opera singer, who abandoned her.

Their son, Francis Albert, died of diphtheria in 1889.

After obtaining a divorce from Harry Brown, Leslie was the mistress of Stephen Crane and lived with him in New York in a house at 121 West 27th Street.

In 1901, the 46-year-old Amy Leslie was married to 17-year-old Frank Buck, who was at the time a captain of bellboys at the Virginia Hotel in Chicago, where she was living.

Buck described her as "a small woman, plump, with keenly intelligent eyes, the most beautifully white teeth I have ever seen and a red, laughing mouth," adding that she was "always good-natured."

In 1913 Amy Leslie and Frank Buck divorced.

To digress for a moment, note that Lillian West (pen name "Amy Leslie") at the age of 46 married a 17-year-old captain of the bellboys named Frank Buck, a man 29 years her junior. Does the name "Frank Buck" prod your memory?

Frank Howard Buck was born in Gainesville, Texas in 1884.

He apparently commenced making trips abroad in 1911 when he won $3,500 in a poker game.

He went to Brazil and brought back exotic birds to New York, and was surprised at the profits he was able to obtain from their sale.

He then took trips to Asia and Africa bringing back live specimens for zoos and circuses. He co-authored several books, beginning with the 1930's Bring 'Em Back Alive which became a best seller. He was often known as "Bring 'Em Back Alive Buck."

Later and for a brief period of time he was the director of the San Diego Zoo.

He toured with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus. The Frank Buck Zoo in his hometown of Gainesville, Texas, is named after him.

He died in Houston, Texas in 1950.

Suffering from diffuse arteriosclerosis and a brain tumor, Amy Leslie died in her home in Chicago's Parkway Hotel in 1939. Her remains were cremated.

Contact the Clan Leslie by emailing: Linda Flowers at <lflowjingo@sbcglobal.net> or Laura Messing at <designinvasion@gmail.com>.

Clan Bell International

This old West Marche Clan, one of Border clans since the early 1100s, were retainers of the Great House of Douglas and also allied with the best border families through blood and friendship. Their land holdings were extensive, and to survive, they engaged in the "rieving" of the period and participated in many battles against the English.

Dedared "unruly" by the Scottish Parliament, many of the Clan emigrated to the Ulster Plantation after 1610.

After William Bell, called Redcloak and Chief of the Clan died in 1628, the chiefship became dormant, and without leadership, the Bells ceased to exist as a viable clan.

Clan Bell International (CBI) in the United States represents Clan Bell world-wide with a coordinated network of 20 International Representatives, each representing the Clan in their own country.

CBI is a charitable organization of Scottish descendants and friends of Family/Clan Bell dedicated to the study of Bell genealogy and Scottish history and the perpetuation of family tradition.

CBI cordially invites membership inquires from persons Named Bell (all spellings), their descendants and friends. Quarterly newsletter published. Tents hosted at major Scottish festivals from coast to coast.

Bowled Over!

Your editor writes: I am a true and card carrying pack rat. Sometimes, I am also a neat freak - a combination that is somewhat bewildering - even for me.

This morning, I was cleaning out an old metal chest of drawers which had not been opened in more than 10 years. To make matters worse, it has been on the back patio which is covered, but still outside.

Spiders had loved the outside as the perfect place for building magnificent webs (Uggggg!)

I had to use a screwdriver to pry open the drawers...but was amazed to find everything in very good condition.

Ah...the things I found which I thought I had lost!

Amongst the most precious things were these photos of my AKC Newfoundland friends.

There's Chuckie - the bronze Newfy whose real name was Charlotte's Playguard Squall and her daughter, the black Newfy, called Ruthie. Her name was Black Ruth of Melbeth Hold (after the White Dragon in Anne McCaffrey's Dragonriders of Pern books). The Landseer (black and white) Newfy is Nite Sky's Mnementh...always called Walter. He was named for one of the wonderful dragons in Ms. McCaffrey's books. Newfys are the closest we have on this earth to dragons!

When I had my three Newfoundlands, I also had an old MGB British convertible. Walter would sit in the passenger seat and the two "girls" would ride in the almost nonexistent back seat...and we would "tool" about Colquitt County, having the best time!

I lived at the time, just down the highway from one of those now "old fashioned" country stores. Folks would arrive there by tractor, horse, bicycle, motorcycle, pick up truck and foot.

The foot travelers would always change their travel to the other side of the road...as the Newfys could be seen from the road in my fenced backyard.

The motto for Newfoundlands is "Courage Without Ferocity." So true. Gentle, kind and loving to their people. Just don't try to hurt their people.

They are all gone now. Back then, Newfy lifespans were mostly in the single digits.

What wonderful friends they were. How I miss them. I'm so glad the photos were there and that I found them!

Being a pack rat is sometimes a good thing!

Fun things to know!

* The American White House might well have been called the Red House today if Thomas Jefferson had had his way. Jefferson wanted to build with red bricks, but he was voted down.

* In 1900, only 4% of Americans lived to age 65 years.

* In effect, the United States has already had a woman President. When President Woodrow Wilson suffered a stroke late in his term in 1919, his wife, Edith, served as an Acting President, making many decisions in her husband's name.

* Christmas trees were virtually unknown in America until after the War Between the States. The holiday trees did not become popular in the United States until Prince Albert introduced them in England from Germany in the 1860s.

The new flag, adopted in 1606 was first called the "King's Colours," but later became known as the "Union" flag.

The "Union" flag features two crosses, the red cross of the English "St. George" flag with narrow borders of white superimposed on top of Scotland's "St. Andrews" flag with its white cross running diagonally in a field of dark blue.

A smaller version of the "Union" flag was flown on the jackstaff of the bow of English and Scottish warships in order that they could be more readily seen head-on.

The smaller flag became known as the "Union Jack," over time the larger "Union" flag was likewise referred to as the "Union Jack."

Both flags were red, white and blue. The "Union" flag was brought to America in 1607 when English settlers founded Jamestown, Virginia.

Its colors were adopted for the American flag during the Revolutionary War.

* Oddly, one of the inventors of the airplane, Orville Wright, never traveled by airplane the last 33 years of his life. Wright had a nerve injury that caused him discomfort when he flew. From 1915 until he died in 1948, Wright never stepped inside an airplane.

* The custom of wearing a wedding ring on the third finger of the left hand came from the ancient belief that the nerve in that finger connected directly with the heart.

The tale of the Clan Buchanan Society Black Lion

Lloyd Gibson, First Vice President, The Clan Buchanan Society, International

The child asked her mother, "Mommy! Everyone else has a yellow banner with a red lion on it. Why did those people change their lion to black?"

Sharp eyes! Good question!

Just why did Clan Buchanan change the color of the lion on our banner?

Answer: we didn't.

The first Laird of Buchanan, Anselan Buey O'Kyan, was an Irish prince, the son of the provincial king of southern Ulster and a fun-loving lad, who emigrated under pressure to the northern coast of Argyllshire and entered the service of Scotland's King Malcolm II. Dane-baiting was a favorite of the several services Buey and his "bhoys" performed for King Malcolm.

Canutus, King of England and Denmark, to celebrate his birthday, had ordered the Irish nobility and gentry to send to the Danish stronghold in Limerick a thousand of Ireland's most beautiful daughters to dally with the Danish officers at the birthday festival.

A thousand young fresh faced men gathered instead, including our Anselan, dressed in women's habits, each with a sgian dubh, or "dagger" hidden in their clothes. They had orders to slaughter the Danes and seize the guardhouse and open Limerick to the marauding Irish.

The plan worked, but the Danish King attacked in 1016 and either killed the raiders or drove them out of Ireland, among them Anselan and some of his attendants.

For his service to King Malcolm, he awarded Anselan with very considerable lands of considerable value, and also with very splendid arms. "The arms assigned by that king to this Anselan, upon account of his heroic achievements are, in a field or (golden), a lion rampant Sable (black), armed and langued Gules (clawed and tongued crimson), holding in his paw a sabre, or a crooked sword, proper (held in his right paw)"—this according to the historian William Buchanan of Auchmar in his account of the family, The Family of Buchanan, published in 1732.

The lion has sheathed his sabre, but otherwise unchanged in more than 950 years. This is one of the oldest arms still almost unchanged since it was awarded. It is quite proper for it to be displayed by the Clan Buchanan.

The Black Lion Rampant can be contrasted with the more often seen Red Lion Banner. The Red Lion is the property of the King of Scotland and is properly borne by him only.

Many of Scots ancestry in America fly the Red Lion Banner as an alternative to the Saltire as the national flag.

We Buchanans, still obedient to the command of King Malcolm, proudly bear the Black Lion by right of grant. That sharp eyed child had failed to notice, however, the five tears falling from our lion's eye added in mourning for the last laird of Buchanan, John, who died without children in December 1682 and left the clan without a hereditary chief to this day.

The 2017 Clan Buchanan Society, International AGM will be held at the Sacramento Valley Scottish Games & Festival, April 29-30 next year in Woodland, California. Check out their FaceBook page at <https://www.facebook.com/Sacramento-Games>. April 2017.

Henderson elected to Scots Trad Music Hall of Fame

Murray Henderson, the only piper in history to win the Clasp at the Northern Meeting at least once in four separate decades and a native of New Zealand, has been elected to the Scots Trad Music Hall of Fame for Services to Performance.

Along with the likes of famed accordionist Iain MacPhail, legendary Celtic folk group the Battlefield Band and the late renowned singer Andy M. Stewart, Henderson goes into the Hall of Fame at a gala dinner on November 11th at Caird Hall in Dundee.

From Timaru, New Zealand, Murray Henderson immigrated to Scotland at the age of 20 in 1973, and in 1974 his piping career was off and running after winning the Highland Society of London's Gold Medal at Inverness, and the next year picked off the first of his six Clasps.

He won just about everything there is in competitive solo piping, including four Glenfiddich Championships before retiring only a few years ago.

Henderson is a tireless teacher and is a professional reed and bagpipe maker, and the designer of the popular Strathmore pipe chanter.

He lives in Kirriemuir, Scotland.

Recently he has collaborated with fellow solo piper John Mulhearn on The Big Music Society, working to orchestrate arrangements of piobaireachd with other instruments.

Other Highland pipers in the Scots Trad Music Hall of Fame are John D. Burgess, Gordon Duncan, Ian Duncan, Rona Lightfoot, Iain MacDonald (Glenuig), Donald MacLeod, Roddy MacLeod, Donald MacPherson, G.S. McLennan and Iain MacLellan.

The Scots Trad Music Hall of Fame is run by the Hands Up For Trad organization, which also runs the Scots Trad Music Awards on December 3rd also at Caird Hall.

Sixteen categories, including Pipe Band of the Year, will be announced after a period of public voting that starts in October. Shotts & Dykehead Caledonia was voted Pipe Band of the Year in last year's awards.

Hamish's Marriage Seminar:

While attending a marriage seminar in Stonehaven, Scotland dealing with communication, Hamish and his wife, Fiona, listened to the instructor.

"It is essential that husbands and wives know each other's likes and dislikes," he said to the man.

"Can you name your wife's favorite flower?"

Hamish leaned over, touched Fiona's arm gently and whispered, "It's Pillsbury, isn't it?"

Hamish is now recovering at hospital nursing a swollen black eye.

Halloween/ Samhain is an ancient festival

Halloween, or Hallowe'en (a contraction of All Hallows' Evening), also known as Allhalloween, All Hallows' Eve, or All Saints' Eve, is a celebration observed in a number of countries on 31 October, the eve of the Western Christian feast of All Hallows' Day.

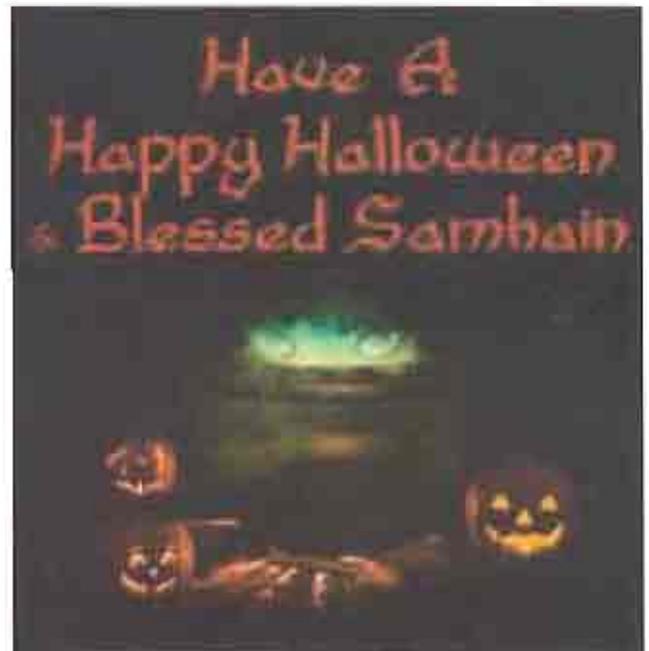

It begins the three-day observance of Allhallowtide, the time in the liturgical year dedicated to remembering the dead, including saints (hallows), martyrs, and all the faithful departed.

According to BBC Online, it is "widely believed" that many Halloween traditions originated from the ancient Celtic harvest festival Samhain, and that this Gaelic observance was Christianized by the early Church.

Samhain and other such festivals may have had pagan roots. Some academics, however, support the view that Halloween began independently of Samhain and has solely Christian roots.

Halloween activities include trick-or-treating (or the related guising), attending Halloween costume parties, decorating, carving pumpkins into jack-o'-lanterns, lighting bonfires, apple bobbing and divination games, playing pranks, visiting haunted attractions, telling scary stories and watching horror films.

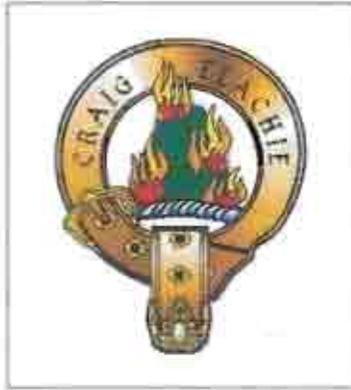

In many parts of the world, the Christian religious observances of All Hallows' Eve, including attending church services and lighting candles on the graves of the dead, remain popular, although elsewhere it is a more commercial and secular celebration.

Some Christians historically abstained from meat on All Hallows' Eve, a tradition reflected in the eating of certain foods on this vigil day, including apples, potato pancakes and soul cakes.
