PREFACE.

THE very kind reception given to this collection by the Press has emboldened the Editor to allow it to be republished. There are other very excellent collections of Highland Music and Songs, but as this book contains several melodies not printed elsewhere (for example, Nos. 3, 8, 16, and 31 of Part I., and Nos. 2, 4, 5, 6, 8, 9, 11, 12, 15, 16, 18, 19, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, and 32 of Part II.), and as there is as yet no other collection of Highland Sacred Music, it is perhaps not desirable that the book should remain out of print.

Cordial thanks are here tendered to the many friends who have kindly assisted in collecting or revising either tunes or words.

HIGHLAND SONGS, HYMNS, AND MUSIC.

HE Songs of the Scottish Highlands form a literary heritage that will well repay study. They are remarkably rich in the lighter graces of poetry—endless variety of metrical form, and opulence of rhyme, and melodies that are both striking and sweet. Their characteristic beauties and their limitations are perhaps both alike due to their being so intensely native. The feelings expressed are simple, and scenery and incidents are redolent of the Highlands. At a period when the popular songs of other countries were stilted and artificial, the songs of the North were natural and true. English versifiers might affect longings after the myrtle groves and artificial poses of classic times, but the Gaelic bards delineated with loving art the beauties of the mountain landscapes, and the deep, simple emotions of Highland hearts.

The LOVE OF NATURE in all her moods is indeed the deepest characteristic of Highland song, which in this anticipated the loftier flights of Burns and Wordsworth. A good example of Duncan Ban Macintyre's appreciation of Nature will be found in No. 17 of this collection, "Coire Cheathaich," and it pervades the muse of his contemporary, Alexander Macdonald, whose praise of the moorland heather is worth translating—

The bonny, clinging, clustering
Dear heather growing slenderly,
With snowy honey lustering
And tassels hanging tenderly ;
In pink and brownish proud array,
With springy flexibility,
With scented wig all powdery,
To keep up its gentility.

In more dignified strain we have the ode to the sun by Ossian, or some unknown bard—

Thou movest in thy might alone,
For who hath power to travel near ?
The ageless oak shall yet fall prone,
The hoary hills shall disappear.
The changing main shall ebb and flow,
The waning moon be lost in night,
Thou only shalt victorious go,
Forever joying in thy light.

The LOVE SONGS, numerous, full of headlong passion, and set to very attractive melodies,

INTRODUCTION.

form the largest class, and their fervour and naiveté give them a certain piquancy which is not unpleasing. But the graces and felicities of the HOME are not forgotten; there are many poetic addresses to newly-made brides and frolicking boys and girls, and lullabies to the babies. One of the most popular songs in the Highlands is a lilt to a little Highland lassie—

O, my darling Mary, O, my dainty pearl !
O, my rarest Mary, O, my fairest girl !
Lovely little Mary, treasure of my soul,
Sweetest, neatest Mary, born in far Glen Smole.

The PATRIOTIC SONGS are a large class, for the Highlanders love their barren land—her very dust to them is dear.” Her historic scenes and the Highland dress, language, and music are never-failing themes, in discoursing on which the bards occasionally added such half-serious and wholly forgiveable touches of exaggeration as the following—

Now, let me tell you of the speech and music of the Gael,
For Gaelic is a charming tongue to tell a bardic tale,
Fain would I sing its praises—pure and rushing, ready, ripe,
For Gaelic’s best language, the best music is the pipe !

But of all the Northern songs the elegies and other LAYS OF SORROW are the most striking and characteristic. The Highland Lament is a thing by itself, having no exact counterpart in any other language, its wild, rich music presenting a perfect picture of the weird and grand scenery in which it had its origin. The Gaelic race has been cradled into poetry by suffering, and its spirit has been bathed in the gloom of lonely glens and northern skies. Hence its songs have always given superb expression to what Ossian calls “the joy of grief.” There is, however, this difference, that while in the older songs the sadness is unrelieved and oppressive, the more modern introduce a chord of sweetness to form a very luxury of sorrow. Thus a bard laments the death of a child—

She died—as dies in eastern skies
The rosy clouds the dawn adorning ;
The envious sun makes haste to rise
And drown them in the blaze of morning.

She died—as dies upon the gale
A harp’s pure tones in sweetness blending.
She died—as dies a lovely tale
But new begun, yet sudden ending.

In bright contrast to these lays of grief are the HUMOROUS SONGS—serio-comic ballads, parodies, and biting satires, the latter being far too numerous.

With the exception of the wickedness in these satiric outbursts and a passing wave of depravity that swept over Highland poesy in the end of last century, the songs are pure and noble. Their ETHICS are remarkably high, and their continued popularity and influence among the Gaelic population must be regarded with satisfaction.

INTRODUCTION.

The LANGUAGE in which these lyrics have been composed is one that is unusually well fitted to be the vehicle of sentiment, readily lending itself to those little garnishments in which Celtic poets delight. It is rich, mellifluous, and copious in poetic terms, especially adjectives, which the bards used with lavish but discriminate profusion. Of its expressiveness and natural poetry, these bards had the highest opinion—

This is the language Nature nursed
And reared her as a daughter ;
The language spoken at the first
By air and earth and water,
In which we hear the roaring sea,
The wind, when it rejoices,
The rushes' chant, the river's glee,
The valley's evening voices.

From a literary point of view one great charm of Gaelic verse lies in the extraordinary diversity and complexity of its METRES. Abundant use is made of the ordinary measures familiar in English poetry—the iambus and the trochee—but recourse is also had to the difficult anapaest and the high-strung daecyl, and all four are woven into numberless combinations, such as would delight the soul of an English poet, but of which English itself is unfortunately incapable on account of its limited selection of dissyllabic and trisyllabic rhymes. A common device of the Gaelic bards was to make the latter half of each stanza the first of the next stanza, as in No. 12, Part I., of this collection. Of course, that arrangement required the same rhyme to be maintained throughout the whole song, but such is the wealth of Gaelic assonance that this was accomplished with ease. Indeed, it is no unusual thing for eleven out of twelve lines to rhyme, and sometimes one rhyme is carried through twenty verses. The most common form of verse in all Gaelic poetry—Scottish and Irish, ancient and modern—is one in which the close of one line rhymes with an accented syllable in the middle of the following line. This leonine rhyme may be exemplified by the opening verse of the ancient poem known as “The Aged Bard’s Wish”—

Oh, lay me by the burnie’s side,
Where gently glide the limpid streams,
Let branches bend above my head,
And round me shed, O Sun ! thy beams.

But in many songs every line bristles with rhymed words, often words of more than one syllable, as in the song No. 16 or hymn No. 4. This free use of intricate rhymes, combined with the headlong sweep of rhythm found in the best songs, can only be imperfectly reproduced in English, but an imitation of one of Macdonald’s stanzas may illustrate some points of the literary structure of Gaelic verse—

Clan Ranald, ever glorious, victorious nobility,
A people proud and fearless, of peerless ability,
Fresh honours ever gaining, disdaining servility,

INTRODUCTION.

Attacks can never move them but prove their stability.
High of spirit, they inherit merit, capability,
Skill, discreetness, strength and featness, fleetness and agility ;
Shields to batter, swords to shatter, scatter with facility
Whoever braves their ire and their fiery hostility.

Neither is the aid of apt alliteration neglected in the adornment of these songs, which indeed possess, in an unusual degree, all the attractions of form and colour found in the best lyrical poetry.

The Music of Gaelic Songs bears a family resemblance to that of the Scottish Lowlands, but with all its peculiarities accentuated. In point of fact, the music of South and North was originally the same, for the Scottish Lowlanders in discarding the ancient language of the Scots had the good sense to retain their melodies. Further, it is well known that from the days of Burns, and probably from a much earlier date, the national music of Scotland has been increasingly enriched by the adaptation of Gaelic tunes to Scotch or English words. These tunes follow closely the rhythm of the Gaelic words, and therein lie much of their undoubted power and originality. But this very connection has a peculiar effect on the English songs, to which many of the airs are wedded. All Gaelic words are accented on the first syllable, and in consequence lines end with an unaccented, or sometimes two unaccented syllables. Of course, the melodies follow this peculiarity—the tunes, or parts of a tune, seldom ending on the note after the bar. In the English and Scotch dialects, however, the range of dissyllabic and trisyllabic rhymes is extremely narrow, and Scottish poets have been compelled to eke it out by using diminutives and plurals, and adding numerous “O’s” at the ends of lines, in their efforts to bend the intractable Saxon tongue to the cadences of Gaelic music. Similarly the characteristic of Scottish airs, known as “the Scotch snap,” is to be attributed to the greater difference made in Gaelic between vowels that are long and accented and those that are short and unaccented. The absence of the seventh note, B (te), in the ancient Scottish scale no doubt added to the quaintness of the national airs, but a much more striking feature was, and is, its modal character. The old harpers are said to have been extremely fond of the major mode, an Lù, but that mode does not obtain in Gaelic tunes, as now sung, the predominance which it has in other modern music. One of the stumbling-blocks which the ordinary musician finds in Scottish music is that, not content with the ordinary major or even the more uncommon minor, it must wander away into the rough and unfamiliar Dorian mode. But in Gaelic music this peculiarity is emphasised, the tunes in the mode of the second (ray) being, if anything, more numerous than those in any other mode, while it is not unusual to meet with melodies in the modes of the third, fourth, and fifth notes of the scale. Probably, however, the intrinsic beauties of Gaelic airs will be found sufficient recompense for these and other singularities which, in the eyes of many admirers, are but additional beauties.

The HYMNS of the Scottish Highlands have hitherto attracted little notice ; nevertheless they are fairly numerous and many of them possess great merit. They are never used in public worship now, but they were certainly used in early times, and a few hymns of the ancient Columban Church have been preserved in monastic libraries—antique compositions in Latin or Gaelic, or both. In the middle ages the sacred poetry would seem to have been of a lower type—imaginary conversations like the so-called “Prayer of Ossian,” preserved in the Dean of Lismore’s Book (1512), and verses to be used as charms. The modern sacred poetry of the North began with Dugald Buchanan by the shores of Loch Rannoch about the middle of last century, but the most voluminous and popular writer of Gaelic hymns has been the Rev. Peter Grant of Strathspey, whose collection, first issued in 1809, is highly esteemed throughout the Highlands and the Gaelic districts of Canada, under the name of the lays of Padruig Grannd. Besides these poets there have been many hymn-writers in the North—MacGregor, MacLean, Morrison, and others, some of whom have contributed but one successful hymn to the sacred anthology of their country. In that anthology it will be found that, along with undoubted orthodoxy, there is a certain echo of the secular songs, which is particularly noticeable in the use of poetic phrases such as Dia nan dùl, “God of the elements,” Dia nam fèart, “God of (many) attributes,” Slànnighear nam buadh, “Saviour of (many) victories.” The hymnology of the Highlands shows little trace of the religious currents of the present century, and its chief characteristic is a sad earnestness, rising at times into a passionate pessimism. A stern theology harmonises well with the environment and history of the Highlander, and whether as Pagan or as Calvinist he is most like himself when chanting eternal “Misereres” of unutterable pathos. The three great themes of Highland hymns are Sin, Death, and Judgment—a trinity which is very real to the sacred bard, and whose shadow lies across all his thoughts. Hence the solemnity and awe of many of the hymns. What English poet would think of presenting for our meditation a picture such as this—

For mortal man life is quickly past,
The King of Terrors shall hold him fast,
When sick and dying, behold him crying—
“Ah! tell me, friends, is this death at last?”

“What throes of anguish are these,” he saith,
“That rend my bosom and stop my breath?
New terror thrills me, strange horror chills me—
Oh, tell me truly, can this be death?”

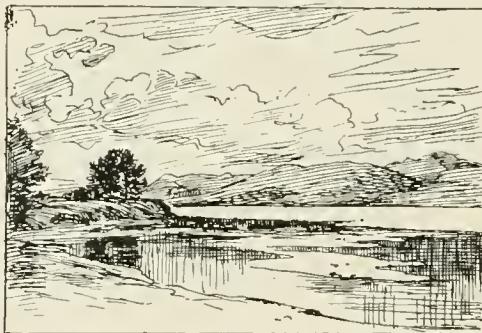

Yet the pages of Buchanan and Grant contain verses even more terrible than these. At the same time it would be a grave misrepresentation to say that all Highland hymns are of this gloomy cast; even in the present collection will be found many Christian songs of the brightest and happiest description, though, happily, the language contains no hymns that show the levity frequently found in popular English hymn-books.

The SACRED MUSIC of the Highlands has a close affinity to the secular melodies, and in some cases Gaelic and other suitable tunes seem to have been adapted to sacred words. But numbers of the hymns have their own proper tunes, many of them sweet, expressive, and in every way worthy to be the exponents of religious feeling.

INTRODUCTION.

Besides the hymn tunes, there is another class of sacred melodies in the Highlands which is very interesting—the Psalm tunes, which differ widely from those familiar to the English-speaking world. This is specially true of the small number of very long and elaborate tunes that have been used in the North for many generations, and which are known as the “old” tunes. Their origin is unknown, for though there is a tradition that they were brought into Scotland by devout Highland soldiers returning from the Protestant wars of Gustavus Adolphus, they bear little resemblance to the Psalm tunes of Sweden and Germany. If, indeed, any such imported foreign music formed the basis of Gaelic psalmody, the superstructure has probably been moulded by the chants used in Highland worship before the importation took place. In the Psalm tunes as we now have them, the predominance of local colouring is very marked, and it may be said that, even more than the unquestionably native music of the hymns, these Psalm tunes express the deep seriousness of Highland religion.

The present collection contains the six “old” tunes, as well as the Highland forms of the modern Psalm tunes, and in preparing it the editor has had the intelligent and valuable assistance of Gaelic-speaking ministers and precentors.

SONGS OF THE GAEL.

1—MO NIGHEAN DONN BHOIDHEACH—MY BROWN-HAIRED MAIDEN.

KEY B^D.—Beating twice to the measure.

A Pheigi dhonn nam blath-shuil,
Gur trom a thug mi gradh dhuit,
Tha d' iomhaigh, ghaoil, is d' ailleachd
A ghnath tigh'n fo m'uidh.

Cha cheil mi air an t-saoghal
Gu bheil mo mhiann 's mo ghaol ort,
'S ged chaidh mi uat air faonradh
Cha chaochail mo rùn.

Nuaир hha ann ad lathair
Bu shona bha mo laithean,
A scalbhachadh do mhàinrain
Is àille do ghnuis.

Gnuis aoidheil, bhanail, mhàlada,
Na h-eigh is caomha nadur,
I suairee, ceanail, baigheil,
Lan gráis agus muirn.

S' ann tha mo run 's na beanntaibh,
Far bheil mo ribhinn gheannar,
Mar ros am fasach shamhraidh,
An gleann fad o shuil.

O maid whose face is fairest,
The beauty that thou bearest,
Thy witching smile the rarest,
Are ever with me.

Though far from thee I'm ranging
My love is not estranging,
My heart is still unchanging
And aye true to thee.

Oh, blest was I when near thee,
To see thee and to hear thee,
These memories still endear thee
For ever to me.

Thy smile is brightest, purest,
Best, kindest, demurest,
With which thou still allurest
My heart's love to thee.

Where Highland hills are swelling
My darling has her dwelling;
A fair wild rose excelling
In sweetness is she.

2—OCH, OCH ! MAR THA MI—OCH, OCH ! HOW LONELY.

KEY F.—With expression.

(. s₁ : s₁. l₁ | d : d . d : r . m | s : l . s : s . m | d : d . d : r . m | l₁ : l₁.)
 { Och, och ! mar tha mi is mi 'nam | aonar, A dol troimh | choill far an robh mi | eolach, }
 Och, och ! how lonely to wander weary Thro' scenes endearing with none beside me !

 { Nach fhaigh mi | ait' ann am fhearrann | duthchais, Ged phaighinn | crun airson leud | na broige. ||
 For all around now to me is dreary, My native land has a home denied me.

Neo-bhinu an fhuaim leam a dhuisg o m' shuan mi,
 'Se tighinn an uasorm o bhruaich nam mor-bheann,
 An ciobair Gallda 's cha chord a chainnt rium,
 E glaochdaich thall ri cu mall an dolais.

Moch maduinn Cheitein, an am dhomh eirigh,
 Cha cheol air gheugan, no geom air mointich,
 Ach sgreadail bheisdean 's a chanain bheurla,
 Le coin 'g an eigheach, cur feidh air fogar.

An uair a chi mi na beanntan arda,
 'San fhearrann aigh 's an robh Fionn a chomhnuidh,
 Cha-n fhaic mi 'n aite ach na caoraidh bhana,
 Is Gaill gun aireamh 's a h-uile comhail.

Na glinne chiatach 's am faigheadh fiadhach,
 'M biodh coin air iallan aig gillean oga,
 Cha-n fhaic thu 'n dingh ann ach ciobair stiallach,
 'S gur duibhe inbeuran na sgiath na rocais.

Chaidh gach abhaist a chuir air fuadach,
 Cha chluinn thu gruagach ri duan no oran;
 Nach bochd an sgeul e gu'n d' shearg ar n-uaislean,
 'S na balaich shnuarach n'an aitean-comhnuidh?

What sounds unsweet have disturbed me, marring
 The long-sought slumbers around me falling?
 The Lowland shepherd, with accent jarring,
 Directs his sheepdog with hideous bawling.

No more are mornings in spring delightful
 With deer soft lowing and woodland warbles,
 The deer have fled from these barkings frightful,
 And loud the stranger his jargon garbles.

 Where Fingal fought and his heroes slumber,
 Are white with sheep now for miles together,
 And filled with strangers whom none can number.

The lovely glens where the deer long lingered
 And our fair youths went with hounds to find them,
 Are now the home of the long black-fingered
 And lazy shepherds with dogs behind them.

The ancient customs and clans are banished,
 No more are songs on the breezes swelling,
 Our Highland nobles alas ! are vanished,
 And worthless upstarts are in their dwelling

O ye bards, make the last bed of Gaul, With his sunbeam of war laid beside him,

{ d : d | m :- | r : d | r :- | d : d | t :- | s : d | f :- | f : r | d :- | r : m | d : d ||
Far am faicear a leabaidh an céin, Agus geuga is airde 'ga sgaile
Where the shade of this great tree shall fall, And its branches from tempests shall hide him.

Fo sgeith daraig a's guirme blath,
Is luath' fas, agus dreach a's buaine,
Bhruchdas duilleach air anail na freis
'S an raon bhi seargta m'an cuairt di.

A duilleach o iomal na tire
Chitear le eoin an t-samhraidh,
Is laidhidi gach eun mar a thig e
Air barraibh na geige urair.

Cluinnidh Goll an ceilear na cheo,
Is oighean a seinn air Aoibhir-chaomha;
'S gus an caochail gach ni dhiubh sc,
Cha sgarar bhur cuimhne o cheile.

Gus an crion gu luathre a chlach,
'S an searg as le aeis a gheug so,
Gus an sguir na sruthan a ruith,
'S an deagh mathair-uise nan sleibhte,

Gus an caillear an dilinn aois
Gach filidh, is dàn, 's aobhar-sgeile,
Cha'n feorainch an t-aineal 'Co mac Moirne?'
No 'Cia i comhnuidh Righ na Strumein?'

This green spreading oak is his bower,
Fair growing and lovely and lasting;
Its leaves drink the breath of the shewer
While the drought all around it is blasting.

Its leaves from afar shall be seen,
And the birds of the summer, swift winging,
Alight on its boughs wide and green—
From his mist Gaul shall hear their sweet singing.

Evirceoma shall hear how her praise
The songs of the maidens shall cherish;
Till everything round us decays,
Your memory from earth shall not perish.

Till this stone has been crumbled away,
Till the streams cease to flow from the mountains,
Till this tree with old age shall decay,
And drought dries from the hills all the fountains,

Till the great flood of ages has run
Over hards, songs and all that is human,
None need ask, Who was Morni's great son?
Or, Where dwells the brave King of Strumon?

When Mary is singing
 The birdies come winging,
 And listen, low swinging,
 On twigs light and airy.
 My heart bounds with pleasure
 To hear the sweet measure
 That's sung by my treasure,
 The maid of the dairy.
 The sunshine soft streaming
 Around her is beaming,
 It's glowing and gleaming
 On the locks of my Mary.
 O'er the moors waste and dreary
 Trips gaily my dearie,
 With foot never weary,
 As light as a fairy.
 The maid of this ditty
 Is charming and pretty,
 She's wise and she's witty,
 She's winning and wary.
 My bonnie bright dairymaid,
 Fairy maid, dairymaid,
 Bonnie blythe dairymaid,
 Maid of the dairy.

5—MORAG—JACOBITE SONG.

KEY G.

The musical score consists of two staves of music in G major. The first staff begins with a treble clef, a key signature of one sharp, and a common time signature. The lyrics are in English and read: "Mhorag chiatach a chuil dualaich Se do luaidh a tha air m'aire, Morag with the tresses flowing, I will praise thee with de - vo-tion." The second staff continues the melody and lyrics: "Agus o Mhor - ag, ho - ro 'sna horo gheallaidh, Agus o Mhor - ag. Then horo, Mor - ag, ho - ro, the lovely lady, Then horo, Mor - ag." The music features eighth-note patterns and some rests.

'S ma dh' imich thu null thar chuan uainn
Gu ma hath a thig thu thairis.
'S cuimhnich, thoir leat hannah ghrugach
A luaidheas an cloth ruadh gu daingeann.
O cha leiginn thu do'n bhualilidh
Ohair thrullaillidh sin nan cailean.
Gur h-i Morag ghrinn mo ghuinanag
Aig am heil an cualein barr-fhionn.
'S gaganaach, bachlagach, cuachach
Ciabhadh na gruagaich glaine,
Do chùl pencach sios 'na dhualaidh
Dhalladh e naisleán le lainmir,
Sios 'na fheoirneinean mu'd ghusaínean,
Leadan cuaicheineach na h-ainfir.
'S iomadh leannan a th' aig Morag
Eadar Mor-thir agus Arrainn.
'S iomadh gaisgeach deas de Ghaidheal
Nach obadh le m' ghradh-sa tarruig,
A rachadh le sgiathan 's le clàidhean
Air bheag sgath gu bial nan canan,
Chunnartaicheadh dol an ordugh
Thoirt do chòrach mach a dh'aindeoin.
A righ, hu mhath 's an luath-lainm iad
Nuair a thàirneadh iad an lannan.
H-uile cloth a luaidh iad riamh dhuibh
Dh' fhag iad e gu ciatach daingeann.
Teanan, tìugh, daingeann, fighte, luaidhite
Daiti ruadh air thuar na fala.
Greas thairis le d' mhìnathan luadhaidh
'S theid na gruagaichean so mar-riut.
Agus o Mhorag, horo, 's na horo gheallaidh.

Far too soon has been thy going ;
Soon come back across the ocean.
Bring a band of maids for spreading
And for dressing cloth of scarlet.
Thou shalt not go to the steading,
Leave vile work to loon and varlet.
Oh, my Morag is the sweetest,
With her lovely locks in cluster,
Coiled and curled in folds the sweetest,
Gleaming bright with golden lustre ;
Glowing ringlets, golden gleaming,
Dazzle nobles who behold her ;
Yellow tresses round her streaming,
Fall in cascades on her shoulder.
Many a lover has my lady,
In the mainland and the Islands ;
Many a man with sword and plaidie
She could summon from the Highlands,
Who would face the cannon's thunder
Armed and for her honour plighted,
Driving hostile bands asunder
Bound to see our lady righted.
Certes, but our maids are clever
When they get their weapons ready,
Many a web they've sorted ever
Firmly handled close and steady,
Thick and close and firm in pressing,
Bloody-red, a dye unfading ;
Come then with thy maids for dressing,
We are ready here for aiding.
Then horo, Morag, horo, the lovely lady

Since the day of my sorrow
I am weary with wailing,
Since the loss of the boatie,
Where the hero was sailing.
Since the loss of the boatie,
Where the hero was sailing,
Oh, strong was his shoulder,
Though the sea was prevailing.
Oh, strong was his shoulder,
Though the sea was prevailing,
Now he lies in the clachan
Whom I am bewailing.
Now he lies in the clachan,
Whom I am bewailing,
Aud a green grassy curtain
His cold bed is veiling.
And a green grassy curtain
His cold bed is veiling,
His sword in its scabbard
The rust is assailing.
His sword in its scabbard
The rust is assailing,
His hounds on their leashes,
Their speed unavailing.
His hounds on their leashes,
Their speed unavailing,
No more shall my hero
His mountains be scaling.
No more shall my hero
His mountains be scaling,
Sitting sadly, I sorrow,
Heavy-hearted and ailing.

Oh! hapless love that sought thee,
 My dear little May;
 Oh! fatal tryste that brought thee
 Along yon green brae;
 We met with words endearing,
 No evil were we fearing,
 When horsemen came careering
 In angry array.
 My heart with anger bounded,
 My dear little May,
 To see us thus surrounded,
 My lady so gay;
 Oh, withered let this arm be
 That ever chanced to harm thee,
 I never would alarm thee,
 My darling young May.
 Oh, fairer wert thou, blooming,
 My dear little May,
 Than lily sweet, perfuming
 Some glee far away,
 Like morning glory gleaming,
 Along the mountains streaming,
 So was thy beauty beaming,
 My bright little May.
 What though my life were spared me,
 My dear little May,
 Now it can never share be
 With kind little May!
 I long to go, and never
 From thee again to sever,
 And there forget that ever
 I wounded my May.

Composed by a Highland officer, who accidentally killed a lady.

Thou movest in thy course alone,
 And who so bold as wander near?
 The mountain oak shall yet fall prone,
 The hills with age shall disappear,
 The changing main shall ebb and flow,
 The waning moon be lost in night;
 Thou only shalt victorious go,
 For ever joying in thy light!
 When heaven with gathering clouds is black,
 When thunders roar and lightnings fly,
 Thou gazest lovely through the rack
 And smilest in the raging sky.
 But oh! thy light is vain to me;—
 Ne'er shall mine eye see thy face behold,
 When thou art streaming wide and free
 O'er morning clouds thy hair of gold,
 When thou art shedding wide and free,
 O'er eastern skies thy hair of gold,
 Or trembling o'er the western sea
 At night's dark portals backward rolled.
 Nay but, perhaps, both thou and I
 From strength to weakness both descend,
 Our years declining from the sky,
 Together hastening to their end.
 Rejoice, O sun, in this thy prime!
 Rejoice, O chief, in youthful might!
 Age is a dark and dreary time,
 Feeble and faint as moon's wan light.
 Struggling through broken clouds in vain,
 While to the hills the mist hangs gray;
 And northern gusts are on the plain,
 Where toils the traveller on his way.

 And trust to the insurance.
 Many a witless wight,
 Sure that he was right,
 Lost his bearings quite,
 All from being heedless;
 Thinking care was needless,
 Land at last despaired of,
 He was lost in night,
 And never more was heard of.
 What though we were packed
 With plenty of equipment,
 And knew what every tract
 And tool about the ship meant!
 Knowledge so exact
 Might as well be lacked,
 If we do not act.
 The anchor to be able
 To keep the vessel stable
 Must have a proper cable,
 The compass all compact
 Must lie upon its table.

Cailleach mhór nam megan liath,
Nam megan liath, nam megan liath;
Cailleach mhór nam megan liath,
Cha 'n fhaca sinne leithid riabh.

Cailleach Beinn-a'-Bhric, etc.

'De a thug thu'n diugh do'bheinn,
Diugh do'n bheinn, diugh do'n bheinn,
'De a thug thu'n diugh do'bheinn,
Chum thu mi gu'n bhein, gun sealg.

Bha thu fein 'do bhuidheann fhiadh,
Do bhuidheann fhiadh, do bhuidheann fhiadh,
Bha thu fein 'do bhuidheann fhiadh
Air an traigh ud shios an de.

A chailleach—Cha leiginn mo bhuidheann fhiadh
Mo bhuidheann fhiadh, mo bhuidheann fhiadh
Cha leiginn mo bhuidheann fhiadh

Cha'n iognadh mi bhi fiuch, fuar,
Fiuch fuar, fiuch fuar,
Cha'n iognadh mi bhi fiuch fuar,
H-uile h-uair a muigh gu brath.
'Sann an and tha bhuidheann fhiadh,
Bhuidheann fhiadh, bhuidheann fhiadh,
'Sann an and tha bhuidheann fhiadh,
seachad an slabh dubh ud thall.

Hag with great gray grisly paw,
Grisly paw, grisly paw,
Such a hag we never saw,
Never, never did we see.

Hag of Ben-a Bhric, &c.

What has brought her to the hill,
To the hill, to the hill?
She has wrought me muckle ill,
Kept her deer away from me.

She was with her flock of deer,
Flock of deer, flock of deer,
Yesterday she had her deer
On the beach along the sea.

The Hag: I would not take my flock of deer.
My flock of deer, my flock of deer,
I would not take my flock of deer
To lick black shells beside the sea.

Ochan! it was weary woe,
Weary woe, weary woe,
Ochan! it was weary woe
Sent me to you wood to dree!

No wonder I am black, horo,
Black horo, black horo,
No wonder I am black, horo,
When I am always out, O hee.

No wonder I am cold and wet,
Cold and wet, cold and wet,
No wonder I am cold and wet,
When out for ever I must be.
But yonder is the flock of deer,
Flock of deer, flock of deer,
But yonder is the flock of deer,
Beyond the mountain you may see.

Said to be composed by a hunter who met the hag.

 Th'a'n sluagh gu léir cho casmhorach,
 Ach aon 'thoirt bhuap' gun aon feur-fuath.
 'S an robh gach buadh chu fasnihorach.
 A phears' gu léir, a dhreach 's a cheàil,
 Anns nach bu léir dhnuin failligeadh;
 Mach bho'n éug bhi 'cur 'an eáill
 Nach 'eil gach cré ach básmhorach.

Second Stanza:
 'S ionnhor cridhe 'thuit a mhàin
 Mu'n cuairt, air là do thiodhlacaidh,
 'Bha'g earbasdhan cinteach ri do him
 'Bhi suidhich' 'an intinn shiobhheartaich
 Bhà ionna cend dhe d'fhàine fein
 A' deanamh féum mar lomhaigh dhiot;
 Ach dhearbh am beum so dhuinn gu léir,
 Nach 'eil fo'n gharçin ach diomhanas.

Third Stanza:
 Oo an dnine thug ort bàrr
 Am breith, 'am páirt, 's an ionnsachadh?
 No eo an t-aon a sheasas d'ait'
 Dhe'n th'air an cràdh ga d'iomndraichinn?

 Le gal, 'us deòir ga'n ceanaosachadh.
 Go triu le bròu 'bhi tuisleach òirun',
 Cha tig an corr le aon dnùin' dheth.

Fourth Stanza:
 It is not private loss or woe
 That makes the blow so rigorous,
 But his sad fate whom none could hate,
 With mind so great and vigorous.
 For none could find, in heart or mind,
 A fault in kind or quality,
 Now he is not, though we forgot
 Our common lot, mortality.

It is not private loss or woe
 That makes the blow so rigorous,
 But his sad fate whom none could hate,
 With mind so great and vigorous.
 For none could find, in heart or mind,
 A fault in kind or quality,
 Now he is not, though we forgot
 Our common lot, mortality.

Oh, many a man was filled with gloom
 That round thy tomb stood silently;
 Hearts that were buoyed with hopes—now void
 By death destroyed so violently.
 By clowns prized and idolised,
 His worth disguised humanity,
 But this fell blow, alas! will show
 There's nought below but vanity.

He was excelled by none on earth,
 Wit, wisdom, worth adorning him;
 And none can fill his place but ill
 Of those who will be mourning him.
 The hearts are wrung of old and young,
 The mourner's tongue is failing him,
 Oh, never more shall we deplore
 One man so sore bewailing him!

14—MO CHAILIN DILEAS DONN—MY FAITHFUL BROWN-HAIRED MAID.

KEY F.

Music score for 'Mo Chailin Dileas Donn' in F major, featuring three staves of music with lyrics in both English and Gaelic.

Lyrics (approximate translation):

Gu ma slan a chi mi a chailin di - leas donn! Bean a chuailein!
Oh ! happy may I see thee, my faithful brown-hair'd maid ! My sweet light-hearted reidh, air an deis' a dh'ei-readh! fonn; 'Si cainnt do bheoil a's binn leam, nuair la - dy, in flow - ing locks ar-rayed; Thy voice, like soothing mu - sic, has bhitheas m'inntiu trom, 'S tul thog-adh suas mo chridh'nuair a bhi'd tu bruidhniu rium.

oft my grief al-layed, Thy words dispelled the woes that up-on my spi - rit weighed.

Gur muladach a ta mi,
'S mi nochd air aird a' chuin,
'S neo-shunndach mo chadal domh,
'S do chaidreamh fada nam ;
Gur tric mi ort a smaointeach ;
As d'aogaistha mi truagh ;
'S mar a dean mi d'fhaotain
Cha bhi mo shaoghla buan.

Suili chorraich mar an dearcag,
Fo rosg a dh' iadhlas dlu;
Gruaidhean mar an caoran,
Fo 'n aodann tha leam ciuin;
Aidicheam le eibhneas
Gun d' thug mi fein duit run;
'S gur bliadhna leam gach la
O'n uair a dh'fhasg mi thu.

Theireadhl iad ma 'n d' fhalbh mi uat,
Gu 'm bu shearbh leam dol ad choir,
Gu 'n do chuir mi cul riut,
'S gun dhuilt mi dhuit mo phog.
Na cuireadh sid ort curam,
A ruin, na creid an sgleo;
Tha d'anail leam ni's cubhraldh,
Na'n driuchd air bharr an fheoir.

My lot this night is dreary
Upon the surging deep,
And comfortless my slumber
When far from thee I sleep.
But back to thee, my maiden,
My restless thoughts shall sweep,
And few shall be my years
If without thee I must weep.

Like berries, 'neath their lashes
Thine eyes are soft and clear;
Like rowans, 'neath thy placid ' row
Thy glowing cheeks appear.
Oh, gladly do I tell thee, love,
That I have held thee dear,
And since I had to part from thee,
Each day has seemed a year.

What though they tell thee that I had Begun my choice to rue,
That I forsook my maiden
And from her kiss withdrew !
Let not the story grieve thee;
My love, it is not true;
Thy fragrant breath is sweeter
To me than morning dew.

15—H-UGAIBH ! H-UGAIBH !—AT YOU ! AT YOU !

KBY C.

 H-ugaibh ! h-ngaibh ! bo, bo, bo ! An doctair Leodach 's biodag air,
 At you ! at you ! bo, bo, bo ! Take care what may become of you,

{ d' : m' . m' | m' , r' : d' . d' | d' . , l : s . s | s . , f : m . , d | d ||
 Faicill oirbh'sautaobh sin thall, Nach toir e'n ceann a thiota dibhl
 The doctor with his dirk may go, And take the head off some of you !

Biodag 's an deaci' an gath-seirg
 Air crios seilg an luidealaiach ;
 Bha seachd oirlich oirr' a mheirg,
 Gur maирg an rachadh bruideadh dhi.
H-ugaibh, &c.

Bha thu na do bhasbair corr,
 'S claidbeamh-mor an tarruinn ort,
 An saighdear 's miosa th'aig righ Deors', Chomhraigeadh e Alasdair.
H-ugaibh, &c.

Claidheamh, agus sgabard dearg,
 'S cearach sud air amadan,
 'Ghearradh amhaichean nan sgarbh,
 A dh'fheadh marbh gun snail iad.
H-ugaibh, &c.

Gu'm biodh sud ort air do thaobh,
 Claidheamh caol 'sa ghliogartaich ;
 Cha'n 'eil falcasg thig o'n traigh,
 Nach cuir thu barr nan itean di.
H-ugaibh, &c.

See on his belt, with rags and dust,
 The dirk with all the rust of it ;
 'Twould kill a man with sheer disgust,
 If he should get a thrust of it.

At you ! &c.

As fencer bold he used to swing
 His sword, but made so small a stir,
 The poorest soldier of the king
 Would dare to fight with Allaster.

At you ! &c.

Claymore and scabbard bright he vaunts
 And clumsy he carries them ;
 He chops the heads off cormorants
 And hews and hacks and harries them.

At you ! &c.

Brave at his side the sword must be
 That he must clank and rattle with ;
 And ne'er a bird can come from sea
 But he will boldly battle with.

At you ! &c.

16—BROSNACHADH-CATHA—ANCIENT WAR-SONG.

KEY A.—Boldly.

 A mbacan ceann, Nan cursa srann, Ard leumnach dàn air magh,
 O high-born son, Let fame be won, Thy steeds for bat - the prance,

{ l, | d . d : m : - . r | f . r : t, : - . r | f . f : s : - . t, | d : - ||
 Faigh buaidh 'san t-stri, Sgrios sios gun dith Ar naimhde, righ nan sleagh!
 Oh, win renown, Our foes cut down. O king of spears, advance!

Lamh threin 's gach càs!
 Cridh' ard gun sgath!
 Ceann airm nan roinn gear goirt!
 Gearr sios gu bàs,
 Gun bhàrc sheol bhàin
 Bhi snàmh mu dhubb Innis-torc.

Mar thairneanach bhaoghal
 Do hhuille, laoich,
 Do shuil mar chaoir ad cheann,
 Mar charraig chruinn
 Do chridh' gun roinn,
 Mar lasan òich' do lann.

Cum suas do sgiath,
 Is crobhaidh nial,
 Mar chiach bho reul a bhàis.
 A mhacain cheann,
 Nan cursan srann,
 Sgrios naimhde sios gu lar!

O arm of might!
 Brave heart in fight!
 With swords and lances keen,
 O'er foes prevail,
 Let no white sail
 Round Innistore be seen.

Thy strokes shall clash,
 Like thunder crash,
 Like lightning flash thine ey'e,
 Thy heart a rock,
 In battle shock,
 Thy blade a flame on high.

Thy target raise,
 And let it blaze
 Like death-star's baleful light,
 O chief renowned,
 Whose chargers bound,
 Cut down our foes in fight!

The watercresses surround each fountain
 With gloomy eyebrows of darkest green;
 And groves of sorrel ascend the mountain,
 Where loose white sand lies all soft and clean;
 Thence bubbles boiling, yet coldly coiling,
 The new-born stream from the darksome deep;
 Clear, blue, and curling, and swiftly swirling,
 It bends and bounds in its headlong leap.

How sweet when dawn is around me gleaming.
 Beneath the rock to recline, and hear
 The joyous moor-hen so hoarsely screaming,
 And gallant moorcock soft-crooning near!
 The wren is bustling, and briskly whistling,
 With mellow music a ceaseless strain;
 The thrush is singing, the redbreast ringing
 Its cheery notes in the glad refrain.

My love to my bride, with dear caresses
 And pride, shall ever be shown;
 Each virtue most rare her soul possesses,
 And fair and sweet has she grown.
 My thoughts used to rove in boyish folly,
 Ere ever her love I had known;
 But, now I'm her own, my heart is wholly
 My darling's alone—alone.

Where woodlands are green with trees well
 A scene of beauty to view, [nourished,
 I found, with delight, one stem that flourished,
 Of bright and beautiful hue:
 That bough from above, desiring greatly,
 With love unto me I drew;
 None else could have moved that tree so stately,
 'Twas only for me that it grew.

 Tha'm bàta fo sheol, ach dhbiul i siubhal;
 Tha gàirich nan tonn le fuaim neo-shubhach,
 Ag radh gun d' fhàlbh 's nach till thu tuille.

Cha chlinnear do cheol 's an Dun mu fheasgar,
 'S mac-talla nam mur le mùirn 'ga fhreagairt,
 Gach fleasgach is òigh gun cheòl, gun bheadradh,
 O'n thriall thu uainn 's nach till thu tuille.

The breeze of the bens is gently blowing,
 The brooks in the glens are softly flowing;
 Where boughs their darkest shades are throwing,
 Birds mourn for thee who ne'er returnest.

Its dirges of woe the sea is sighing,
 The boat under sail unmoved is lying;
 The voice of the waves in sadness dying,
 Say, thou art away and ne'er returnest.

We'll see no more Mac Crimmon's returning,
 Nor in peace nor in war is he returning;
 Till dawns the great day of woe and burning,
 For him, for him there's no returning.

Composed on the departure of DONALD MAC CRIMMON, piper to the Laird of MAC LEOD, in 1745. He never returned. The verses were composed by his sister; translation by L. MACLEAN. This beautiful set of the melody appears, with harmony and accompaniment, in The Thistle.

Bu chrann aillidh mi, threin nan seed,
Oscar chorr, le geugaibh cibhr';
Thainig bàs mar ghaoth nan torr;
Thuit fo sgeith mo cheann fo smùr.
Thainig earrach caoin fo bhraon,
Cha d'eirich duilleag fhaoin dhomh fein;
Chunnais oigh mi fo shamhlchair thall,
Bhualaid clarsaiche mall nan teud.

OISEAN:
Caoin am fonn 'na mo cluwaic fein,
Nighean Lotha, nan sruth fiar,
'N eual thu guth nach 'eil beo 's a bheinn
An aisling, ann do chodal ciar?
Nuair thuit clos air do shuilibh mall
Air bruachan Mòrshruadh nan toirm beur,
Nuair thearuadh leat o sheilg nan càrn,
An latha ciùin, ard ghrian 's an speur.

Chuala tu 'n sin bàrd a nam fonn,
'S taitneach ach is trom do gluth;
'S taitneach, Mhalmhine nan sonn,
Leaghaidh bròn am bochd anam dubh.
Tha aoibhneas ann am bron le sith
Nuaир shuidhicheas àrd strìl a bhròin;
Caithidh cumha tursaich gun blàrigh
Gann an là' an tir uan sedò.

I was once a stately tree,
My fair boughs were Oscar's pride,
But his death soon blighted me,
And my blossoms drooped and died.
Spring returned with flower and leaf,
But no leaf on me was found;
Virgins saw my silent grief,
Struck the harp of softest sound.

OSSIAN:
Sweet the music in my ears,
Maid from Lotha's wiuding streams,
Has the voice of other years
Sounded fondly in thy dreams?
Wheu, descending from the chase,
Thou by Moru's banks didst lie,
Clasped in slumber's soft embrace,
'Neath the calm and sultry sky—

Melodies all faint and low,
O Malvina, round thee stole;
Sweet but sad thy tones, and oh!
Sorrow melts the weary soul.
There is joy in peaceful woe
When subsideth sorrow's strife;
Idle tears should cease to flow,
Grief consumes the mourner's life.

Lines selected from the introduction to Ossian's poem of "Croma," and translation by L. MACBEAN. This beautiful Ossianic air is preserved in Capt. FRASER'S collection.

Gur gile mo leannan
 Na'n eal' air an t-snamh,
 Na cobhar na tuinne,
 'S e tilleadh gu traigh,
 Na'm blath bhainne buaile,
 'S a chuach leis fo bharr,
 No sneachd nan gleann dosrach
 'G a fhroiseadh mu'n bhlar.

Mar na neoil bhuidhe lubas
 Air stuchdaibh nan sliabh,
 Tha cas-fhaill mo ruin-sa
 Gu siubhlach a sniomh;
 Tha gruaidh mar an ros
 Nuair a's boidhche bhos fhiamb
 Fo ur-dhealt a Cheitein
 Mu'n eirich a ghrian.

Nuair thig samhradh nan neoinean
 A comhdach nam bruach,
 Bi'dh gach eoinean 's a chrochd-choill'
 A ceol leis a chuaich;
 'S bi'dh mise gu h-eibhiun
 A leumnaich 's a ruraig,
 Fo dhluth-gheugaibh sgaileach,
 A manran ri m' luaidh.

Not the swan on the lake,
 Or the foam on the shore,
 Can compare with the charms
 Of the maid I adore;
 Not so white is the new milk
 That flows o'er the pail,
 Or the snow that is shower'd
 From the brow of the vale.

As the cloud's yellow wreath
 On the mountain's high brow,
 So the locks of my fair one
 Redundantly flow;
 Her cheeks have the tint
 That the roses display
 When they glitter with dew
 In the morning of May.

When summer bespangles
 The landscape with flowers,
 And the thrush and the cuckoo
 Sing soft in their bowers,
 Through the wood-shaded windings
 With Bella I'll rove,
 And feast unrestrained
 On the smiles of my love.

The first verse of the Gaelic words is the composition of Mrs MACKENZIE of Balone. The rest, Gaelic and English, is by EWEN MACLACHLAN.

Slowly and tenderly

KEY E. ((x) : r ,m | f : d¹ ,l : l ,s .f | m : s .(1) : l ,r | r : d .r : m ,r | r ,d .- : l ,)
 'S tric mi seal tuinn o'n chnoe a's air - de, Dh'fheuch am faic mi fear a bhà - ta,

Seisid.—Phir a bhà - ta, na ho - ro ei - le, Phir a bhà - ta, na ho - ro ei - le,
 Chorus.—O, my boatman, na ho - ro ai - la, O, my boatman, na ho - ro ai - la,

((x) : r ,m | f : s .f : m .r | f : s .(s) : l ,d¹ | r¹ : d¹ ,l : l ,s .m | r : r . ||
 An tig thul diugh no an tig thu maireach? S'mur tig thul - dir gur truagh a ta mi!
 When shall I see thee to-day? to-morrow? Oh! do not leave me in lone - ly sorrow.
 Phir a bhà - ta, na ho - ro ei - le, Gu ma slan duit's gach ait' an teid thu!
 O, my boatman, na ho - ro ai - la, Happy be thou where'er thou sailest!

Tha mo chridhe-sa briste, hrùite;
 'S tric na deoir a ruith o m' shùilean;
 An tig thu nochd, no 'm bi mo dhùil riut?
 No 'n dùin mi 'n dorus, le osna thursaich?

'S tric mi foighneachd le luchd nam bàta,
 Am fac iad thu, no 'm bheil thu sàbhailt:
 Ach 's ann a tha gach aon diubh 'g ráite,
 Gur góraich mi, ma thug mi gràdh dhuit.

Gheall mo leannan domh gùn dhe 'n t-sioda,
 Gheall e siod agus breacan lomhaich;
 Faim' òir anns am faicinn lomhaigh;
 Ach 's eagal leam gun dean e di-chuimhn'.

Ged a thuirt iad gu'n robh thu aetrom,
 Cha do lughadaich siod mo ghaol ort;
 Bi'dh tu 'm aisling anns an oidhche,
 Is anns a mhaduinn bi'dh mi 'g ad fhoighneachd.

Thug mi gaol dnit 's cha 'n fhaod mi aicheadh;
 Cha ghaol bliadhna, 's cha ghaol ráidhle;
 Ach gaol a thòisich nuaир bha mi 'm phàisde,
 'S nach searg a chaoiда, gus an claidh am bàs mi.

Tha mo chàirdean gu tric ag innseadh,
 Gu'm fenn mi 't aogas a chur air di-chuimhn';
 Ach tha 'n comhairle dhomh cho diomhain,
 'S hbi pilleadh mara 's i tabhairt lionaidd.

Bi'dh mi tuille gu thàrsach, deurach,
 Mar eala bhàn 's i an déigh a renbadh;
 Guileag bàis aic' air lochan feurach,
 Is each uile an deigh a tréigsinn.

Broken-hearted I droop and languish,
 And frequent tears show my bosom's anguish;
 Shall I expect thee to-night to cheer me?
 Or close the door, sighing sad and weary?

From passing boatmen I'd fain discover
 If they have heard of, or seen my lover;
 They never tell me—I'm only chided,
 And told my heart has been sore misguided.

My lover promised to bring his lady
 A silken gown and a tartan plaidie,
 A ring of gold which would show his semblance,
 But, ah! I fear me for his remembrance.

That thou rt a rover my friends have told me,
 But not the less to my heart I hold thee;
 And every night in my dreams I see thee,
 And still at dawn will the vision flee me.

I may not hide it—my heart's devotion
 Is not a season's brief emotion;
 Thy love in childhood began to seize me,
 And ne'er shall fade until death release me.

My friends oft tell me that I must sever
 All thought of thee from my heart for ever;
 Their words are idle—my passion's swelling,
 Untamed as ocean, can brook no quelling.

My heart is weary with ceaseless wailing,
 Like wounded swan when her strength is failing,
 Her notes of anguish the lake awaken,
 By all her comrades at last forsaken.

24—AN GAOL TAIRIS—THE FAITHFUL LOVE.

KEY E_b. { M., f | s : d : d | d : - . r : M | r : - : M., f | s : M : s | l : - : s | s : - }
 O! bhuanach sinn tairis 'n ar gaol, Fad bhliadhna bn chaochlach cuairt; }
 Our love has been constant and bright, Nor changed with the changeful years;

 A sealbhachadh aoibhneis a cheil' 'S a measgnadh ar deur 's ar smuairn.
 Each glad in the oth - er's delight, And mixing our cares and tears.

'S nuair dh' fhair' inn-sa mulad no beud
 Ghrad thigeadh o'd bheul dhomh foir,
 Oir dh' iompaicheadh d'fhailte gun phleid
 Gach duilhre gu leus thra-nòin.

'S tric aighear 'us subhachas daond'
 A tionndaidh gu aoigh a bhròin,
 Mar thuirlingeas duilleach nan craobh
 A's t-fhoghar, 's an raon fo chèd.

Ge minic a dh'fhiorsaich sinn daor
 A mhalaire so, ghaoil, fo leòn,
 Gur h-eòl dhuinn le cheil' air gach taobh
 A h-aon nach d'rinn aom o'n nòs.

O! bhuanach sinn tairis 'nar gaol
 Fad bhliadhna bu chaochlach cuairt,
 A sealbhachadh aoibhneis a cheil'
 'S a measgnadh ar deur 's ar smuairn.

Is caidreamaid dochas gun g'eill
 Na shiubhail d' ar ré do'n chòrr;
 Co-phairticheams' acain do chleibh
 'Us gabh-s' air m' uil' eibhneis còir.

Had I ever a trouble or grief
 But your help and caresses came soon?
 Your kindness still brought me relief,
 And changed all my darkness to noon.

Earth's rosiest pleasures one sees
 Oft turn to the pallor of pain,
 As when autumn dismantles the trees,
 And makes barren and bleak the plain.

Our joys into grief thus to run,
 My darling, too often we knew;
 But each of us still knew of one
 That was always found tender and true.

Our love has been constant and bright,
 Nor changed with the changeful years,
 Each glad in the other's delight,
 Aye mixing our troubles and tears.

Then, dear, let us hope the worst part
 Of our life is the part that is flown;
 Let me share all the woes of your heart,
 And make all my gladness your own.

 'S mi 'g ionndrainn an fhiurain,
 Marcaich tñnan steud aluinn.
 Cha teid mi gu bainnis,
 Gu feill no gu faidhir,
 Gur ann toiseach an earraich,
 Fhuair mi 'n t-saighead a chraidih mi!

Marcaich' an eich leumnaich dhuibh!
 Leumnaich dhuibh! leumnaich dhuibh!
 Marcaich' an eich leumnaich dhuibh!
 Reub an t-each bñan thu!
 Eobhain Oig, leag iad thu!
 Eobhain Oig, leag iad thu!
 Eobhain Oig, leag iad thu!
 Gu'n fhiros domh 's mi lamh riut!

Wearing my widow's dress
 While these griefs round me press,
 Mourning in deep distress,
 Sadly I linger.
 Oh, but my heart is wae!
 Oh, how unlike the day
 When first this circle lay
 Fair on my finger!

Under my widow's weeds,
 Oh, how my bosom bleeds,
 Rider of gallant steeds,
 Weeping, I mourn thee:
 Ne'er shall my heavy heart
 Have in earth's joys a part;
 Death, with his fatal dart,
 Sorely bath torn me.

On thy black bounding steed,
 Riding with eager speed,
 Slain by the milk-white steed,
 Where it had thrown thee.
 Oh, my young darling Hugh,
 Slain e'er I ever knew;
 Dead! oh, my dearest Hugh,
 I must bemoan thee!

Composed by the bride-widow of EVAN OR HUOH, Chief of MACKINTOSH, who was killed on his marriage day.
 Translation by L. M. Good settings of this melody are given in LOGAN'S COLLECTION, and PROFESSOR BROWN'S
 "The Thistle."

 Bi' mi feargach riut gu bràth,
 Mur a cord thu nochd ri Donull
 Gabh mu d' chaiseart tòs an la.
 Greas, gabh comhairle, 's cuir umad,
 Bidh an duine so gun dàil,
 Nach biodh aileag ann do mhuineal
 Nuair a chuireas e ort failt.

You'll get jewelry and dresses,
 And you'll never want for cash;
 Better than mere caresses
 From wee John of Dalachash.
 What's the good of being saucy?
 Stop your fussing through the house;
 Take the wealth that offers, lassie,
 And be thrifty, wise, and crouse.

Bella, you will cause me sorrow
 If your chances you abuse;
 You may leave the house to-morrow
 If old Donald you refuse.
 Quick and dress, and show your graces;
 There, your man is coming, Miss;
 Now, don't you be making faces
 When he greets you with a kiss.

On honest men, nor any rent;
To hunt and fish was free to all,
And timber without price or stent.

There was no discord, war or strife,
For none were wronged and none oppressed;
But every one just led the life
And did the things that pleased him best

All lived in peace, there was no sort
Of prey or plunder, feud or fight;
There was no need for any court—
Their hearts contained the law of right.

For gold or silver no one cared,
Yet want and woe were never near;
All had enough, and richly fared,
And none desired his neighbour's gear.

Love, pity, and good-will were spread
Among the people everywhers,
From where the morning rises red
To where the evening shineth fair,

When all the birds in Gaelic sang.

Gaelic song by J. MACCUARAIG.

29—CUIR A CHION DILIS—FAIREST AND DEAREST.

 Do ghorm shuil thairis a mhealladh nam mill-tean, B' amaideach mi 'nuair thug mi dhuit gradh;
 Thy red lips are smiling, thy blue eyes beguil - ing; Would that I ne'er had gazed on thy charms.

{ l | d' : - r' : m' | m' : - m' : f' | m' : r' : d' | t : - : l : s | d' : - t : d' | r' : - de' : r' | m' : - re' : m' | m' : - }
 Rinn deisead do phearsa nach fiacas a thaifirmearas, Gionachd fo'n chnach-chul tha cauagach tòò,
 Thy beauty and brightness and lightness in go - ing Under the bon - nie brown waves of thy hair,

 Rinn dealradh do mhaise 'us lasadh do ghruidhean, Mise ghrad-blualadh thairis gu lar.
 Thy lips red and luscious, and blushes bright glowing, Smote me with love and sweetest despair.

Do dhearc-shuilean glana, fo mhala gun
ghruaimean,

Thy blue eyes soft beaming and gleaming, my treasure,

'S daingeann a bhuaill iad mise le d' ghràdh.

Lips like the rose in the dew of the morn,
With passion have filled me, and thrilled me with pleasure;

Do ròs-bhilean tana, seimh, farasda suairce,
Cladhaicheadh m' uaigh mur glac thu mo lamh.

Death is my doom if I suffer their scorn.

Thoir fuasgladh air m' auam, o'n cheangal is cruaidhe;

By charms are ensnaring, despairing I languish;

Cuimhnich air t'uaisle, 's cobhair mo chàs;

Free me—remember how noble thou art;

Na, biodhams'a'm thràill dhuit gu bràth o'an uair so;

No longer enslave me but save me from anguish:

Ach tiomaich o chruas do chridhe gu tlà.

Love, sweetest love—let it soften thine heart.

Cha 'n fhaodar leam cadal, air leabaidh au
uaigheas,

For me there's no sleeping; but weeping, grief-laden,

'S m' aigne 'g a bhuaireadh dh' oidhche 's a là;

Midnight and morning with sorrow I dwell;

Ach ainnir a's binne, 's a's grimne, 's a's suairce,

But, oh! should my sweetest and neatest young

Gabh-sa dhiom truas 'us bitidh mi slà.

Pity and love me, I soon should be well. [maiden

At a young people's meeting I first got her greeting,
 This fair one for whom I am yearning,
 And her loveliness threw some love sparks in my bosom,
 That still are unquenchably burning.
 The graces displayed in this charming young maiden
 Are past all my powers of relation:
 Her smile that entrances, her bright loving glances,
 Her artless and sweet conversation—
 Each feature and gesture, each fold of her vesture,
 Each word and each motion discover
 She's peerlessly pretty, wise, modest and witty—
 Dear lassie, no wonder I love her!
 Both sleeping and waking my heart it is aching;
 To win her esteem I'll endeavour;
 And if my enslaver deny me her favour,
 My life shall be clouded for ever.

New song by Mr M. MACFARLANE; translation by L. M. The air is known as "Airdh nam badan."

Lullaby, little one, bonnie wee baby,
 He'll be a hero and fight for us maybe;
 Cattle and horses and sheep will his prey be:
 None will be bolder or braver than baby.

Softly and silently eyelids are closing;
 Dearest wee jewel, so gently he's dosing;
 Softly he's resting by slumber o'ertaken;
 Soundly he's sleeping and sweetly he'll waken.

Placidly, peacefully, slumber has bound him;
 Angels are lovingly watching around him—
 Beautiful spirits, his sorrow beguiling,
 Sweetly they whisper, and baby is smiling!

The three first verses of the Gaelic are relics of an old Lochaber lullaby.

But we the Gaels, in lonely vales
 Beyond the frowning Grampians,
 Though clansmen true, are poor and few,
 Bereft of chiefs and champions.
 Though we've been proud and never bowed
 With praises loud to royalty,
 Our Queen and land shall aye command
 Our hand, heart and loyalty.

Long may she reign o'er land and main,
 No loss or pain distressing her,
 Her friends increasing, foes decreasing,
 Health unceasing blessing her;
 Long may her people shower upon her
 Love and honour merited;
 May sons unborn her virtues see
 By kings to be inherited.
 Of every age upon the page
 Of Britain's sage historian,
 For this we claim the highest fame,
 This age we name Victorian;
 And surely none such victories won
 So wisely, bravely, humanly;
 And that our Lady none has been
 More queenly or womanly.

Tha'n truaighean aig cridh, tha cruin air an cinn,
Gu binn th, iad scinn le eibhneas,
Toirt moladh is eliu dh' Fhearr-saoraidh an ruin,
Thug sabhailt 'g a dh' ionnsuidh fein iad.

Now free from all pain, in glory they reign,
With sweetest refrain high swelling;
His praises, who bore them safe to that shore,
Their songs evermore are telling.

Nuair theann iad ri falbh bha'n t-slige dhaibh
dorch,
'S mu'n cuairt dhaibh bha'n stoirm a seideadh
Gu' robh iomadh ni cur eagal 'na cridh
Bha'm peacanna lionmhòr eitidh.

They set out in fear, their journey seemed drear,
And tempests severe distressed them;
Dire trouble they found, dark night on them frowned,
And sins all around sore pressed them.

Chaidh sgapadh 's na neoil bha cur orra sgleo,
Is chunnaic iad gloir an Trenn-fhir:
Le creideamh 'na ghradh 's na umhlachd 'nan ait,
Iad fein thug iad dha le eibhneas.

Their terrors were quelled, their darkness dispelled,
God's light they beheld down-pouring;
With faith in His grace, they came to His place,
And fell on their face, adoring.

The verses are from JOHN MACLEAN'S "Saorsa tre fhuil an Uain," translated by L. MACBEAN. Slightly different versions of the air appeared in the "Popular Gaelic Melodies," and Professor BROWN'S "Thistle." The harmony is by W. H. MURRAY, Glasgow.

A chruinneachadh na ghluais sa' choir
'S d'a thuglasa rinn dòigh is bun.

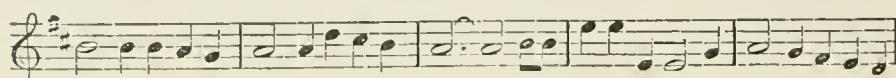

A great archangel on a cloud,
With sounding trumpet, will be seen,
Calling mankind, with accents loud,
To the last Judgment to convene.
Then at that awful trumpet sound
The hills and seas shall flee away,
The dead shall startle in the ground,
The living tremble in dismay.
This solid earth shall rend and rive
By tempest breath, before him sped;
And, like an ant-hill all alive,
The grave shall yield her countless dead.
The righteous dead shall first awake
From restful sleep, and life resume;
Their souls shall down from glory break,
And meet them at the open tomb.
They shall with joy lift up their head,
For their Deliverer is near;
Like blossoms fair on fruit trees spread,
His likeness shall in them appear.
But haughty men who would not deign
Before Almighty God to bow,
Oh, see them on their knees, in vain
Praying to rocks and mountains now!
Then shall a glorious angel raise
Christ's blood-stained banner, waving free,
To gather those that loved His ways
And made His sufferings their plea.

Words from BUCHANAN'S "Day of Judgment." Translation by L. MACBEAN. The air is of Ossianic origin, and a good version of it was recovered by the late J. F. CAMPBELL of Islay. The harmony is by W. H. MURRAY, Glasgow.

Oh ! who can declare how fair and gracious,
 How rare and precious His worth?
 That Branch of Renown with crown of blessing,
 Weighed down and pressing to earth,
 The Faithful and True, the Dew on Sion,
 And Judah's Lion most strong,
 The Arm of the Lord, the Word most glorious,
 With sword victorious o'er wrong.

The love He bestowed long flowed high swelling,
 For God was dwelling in flesh;
 Those streams full and free that we inherit,
 The weary spirit refresh.
 We joy in Thy sight, Delight of Nations,
 Whose might salvation has won,
 Sweet Star, pure and bright, our night adorning,
 Our Light of Morning and Sun.

We praise Thee, O Lord, adored of heaven,
 Whose word has given us breath,
 Thy greatness is ours, Thy powers unending
 Are towers defending from death.
 O Mighty to save ! all favour giving,
 Thon ever-living "I am,"
 Creation shall raise loud praise resounding,
 For aye surrounding the Lamb.

 Thou art a Sun and Shield,
 Thou only ever livest,
 Thy words salvation yield.

O Lord, do not forsake me,
 But guide me as a friend,
 And strong in heart still make me,
 For what Thy love may send.
 When seized by sore diseases,
 Which no kind hand allays,
 Make Thou my bed, Lord Jesus,
 And hear me sing Thy praise.

When friends, with grief high swelling,
 Have laid me 'neath the sod,
 The grave shall be my dwelling,
 Until the day of God.
 Through death's dark vale victorious,
 Oh, let me lean on Thee,
 And let me see Thee glorious,
 Through all eternity.

Then would that loving bosom my trembling forn,
enfold,
I'd hear His words most gracious, more precious far than gold;
I'd feed on living bread, and His loving face behold,
When laid beneath His shadow where John reclined of old.

Nor death nor life could tear me from love so leal and long,
When hidden there I'd fear not the enemy's angry throng,
For then the strength He wieldeth would all to me belong,
And o'er! where John was lying the cords of love are strong.

And when my life is ebbing, my earthly journey o'er,
Thy love shall never fail me when terrors press me sore,
When passing through the valley whence I return no more,
Oh, happy were my death-bed where John reclined of yore.

If I waken in Thy likeness when Thy great day has shone,
With Thee for sun and shield when the earth and seas
are gone,
Oh, this is what my heart would be ever set upon,
To sit beneath Thy shade in the place Thou gav'st to John.

How happy is he

'S an tobair ioc-shlainnt bhruachd a thaobh,
A bheir dhomh beatha as a' bhàs
'S o m' thruailidhachd a ni mi saor.

Seen by those purest eyes of Thine
How dim the stars of brightest sheen !
The holiest angels are unclean
Before Thy majesty divine.

But, oh ! wilt Thou Thyself abase
To hear an earthly worm like me,
Beneath Thy footstool, who can see
But dim reflections of Thy face ?

Lord, when I make my prayer to Thee,
When I my sins with sorrow tell,
And vileness into which I fell,
Let not Thy wrath enkindled be !

My guilt like mountains high appears,
That crush my soul beneath their weight,
It has me pierced with sorrows great,
And from mine eyes brought bitter tears.

The threatenings and the curses dread
Found written in Thy Word, O Lord,
My sins deserve they should be poured
In all their terrors on my head.

Although the skies grew black with gloom,
And all Thy thunders on me fell,
And Thou shouldst cast me down to hell,
I would admit the righteous doom.

But can that flame that licks each flood
Have any power over me,
If Christ's obedience be my plea,
And I am sheltered by His blood ?

Oh, wash me wholly, God of peace,
In healing waters from His side ;
Life from His death shall these provide,
And me from filthiness release !

 In God's holy place;
 And though in flesh remaining,
 My hopes still should be,
 For that day ever straining,
 That brings bliss to me.

If I were made more holy,

Christ's invitation, full and free,
By Book and voice conveyed,
When once accepted as our plea,
On which our hopes are laid,
In spite of sin and inward strife,
We may as firmly claim,
As if within the Book of Life
We each could read our name.

Though heaven and earth shall disappear,
Christ's word abideth sure ;
His loving call, O sinner, hear,
And blessedness secure—
" Come unto Me, ye weary ones,
Who labour sore oppressed ;
Come, all men's heavy-laden sons,
And I will give you rest ;

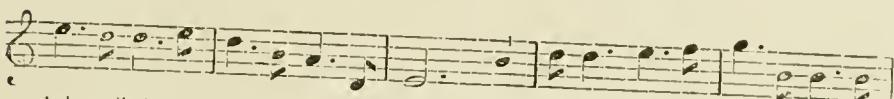

" Take up My yoke, and learn of Me
The lessons I impart ;
My meek and gentle spirit see,
And lowliness of heart ;
So shall your souls for ever live,
At rest from toil and care ;
For easy is the yoke I give,
My burden light to bear."

From a hymn by Dr. M'GREGOR. Translation by L. M. The air appeared in the Gael, to JOHN MORRISON'S hymn, "Maise Chriosd."

Gu'm falachadh o théinn;
Bha nid aig na h-eunlaithe
An gèugaibh àrd nan crann;
Ach e-san a rinn uile iad,
'S gach ni 's a' chruinne ché,
Bha e fèin 'n a fhògarach,
Gun chòmhnaidh aig fo'n ghréin.

Conceived in pure virginity
By God the Spirit's might,
He deigned with His divinity
Our manhood to unite;
He took on corporeity
And flesh the WORD was made,
The mystery of Deity
In Jesus was displayed.

His birth was one of lowliness
Within a stable bare,
Which He, the Lord of holiness,
With cattle had to share.
No retinue attended Him
In robes of brilliant hue,
No tender hand befriended Him
To whom all love is due.

The foxes had their hiding-place
Where they could safely rest,
The birds their own abiding-place
In tall tree-tops possessed;
But He, whose liberality,
Gave them and all things birth,
Was needing hospitality—
A fugitive on earth.

Hymn by DUGALD BUCHANAN. The air is that sung in Rannoch, where the hymn was composed. It was contributed to this collection by a native of that district.

Dhuising mo mliathair le gaoir,
'S thuirt i "M'ailleagan gaoil, Ciod dh'fhairich thu? Cha'n fhaod thu falbh!"
Rinn i greim orm cho teann,
Cha bhithheadh dealachdannin ann,
'S mo chridhe cho fann 's mi balbh.

'Nuair dhuin iad mo shuil
Thaining ainglean na cuirt,
'S thug iad mis' leo cho cluth 's cho luath;
Chaidh sinn troimh na glinn dorch'
Far nach bu leir dhuiibh bhur lorg,
Ach thaning sonas nis orm bhitheas buan.

Nam faiceadh m'athair 's mo mliath'r
Meud mo shonas 's an ait' s'
Bhiodh iad toilicht gun d'fhag mi'n saogh'l;
'S bhiodh gach latha mar bhliadh'n
Gus am faigheadh iad triall,
Gu co-chomunn ta siorruidh buan.

Tha cuid so as gach ait'
Air an tional le gras,
As gach treubh agus pairt de'n t-sluagh,
Ach 's ann aca tha'n gaol
Nach robh 'n leithid measg dhaoine'
'Nuair a bha iad 's an t-saoghal thruagh.

'S ann 's an ait' so tha'n cèòl
Nach teid mhasgadh le bròn;
Tha e fantuinn 'n a oran nuadh,
Cliu is onoir is gloir
Do'n ti bha marbh is tha beo,
\shaor sinne o'n doruinn bhuan.

She awoke with a start,
Crying, "Love of my heart!"
What ails thee? Thou art not dead!
And she fondled me so,
She would not let me go
Till my life, ebbing low, had fled.

When they closed my young eyes,
Angels came from the skies,
And they made me to rise above;
Oh, swift was our flight
Through the valleys of night,
And I now dwell in light and love.

Could my parents conceive
What joys I receive,
They never would grieve for me;
They would long to appear
With the holy ones here,
Where such fellowship dear can be;

Saints from many a place
Assembled by grace,
From each nation and race below;
And such love in them swells
As on earth never dwells,
And pure gladness dispels their woe.

Free from discords of pain,
We hear the sweet strain,
Which shall ever remain a new song;
A new song which we raise
To our Saviour always,
To whom honour and praise belong.

Hymn by P. GRANT; translated by L. MACBEAN. Melody written down from a native of Strathspey.

The sun and all things that exist
 Within its circling light, would be
 From Thy vast works as little missed
 As tiny drop from brimming sea.
 Creation, glorious though it he,
 Brings not the power of God to light,
 For all His works that we can see
 Give but an earnest of His might.

Our shallow minds in vain explore
 This fathomless and shoreless main;
 One letter of God's name is more
 Than human reason can sustain.
 Nought is there like Thyself among
 The works which Thou of old didst frame;
 Nor is there speech on human tongue,
 But Thine own Word, can tell Thy name.

Verses by BUCHANAN; translated by L. M. The air is said to be an old "Oran Sith," or fairy melody.

'S bi'dh iad gu léir dhomh 'n cairdeas gràidh;

A'm Dhia tha còmhlichadh gu léir;
Oir nèamh, is talamh, 's ifrin shlos,
A ta iad do mo Righ s' a' géill'.

Oh, grant an earnest of Thy love,
Which shall me from life's terrors save,
And all the horrors of the grave,
And raise my thoughts to heaven above.

Then let the billows rise in pride,
Let thunders through the heavens roar,
Come earthquakes, plagues, and famines sore,
Dispensing death on every side;

Be Thou the God of my poor soul,
Their friendship I shall then enjoy;
No sea can drown, nor plague destroy,
Nor fire burn, but with Thy control.

While Thou hast power in Thine arm,
From every ill I am secure,
And as my God can ne'er be poor,
Want cannot cause my soul alarm.

My hope, desire, and fear for aye
Shall in my God concentrated dwell,
For heaven and earth and lowest hell
Shall my Almighty King obey.

Words from BUCHANAN'S "Prayer." The tune is a common Gaelic air adapted. A version of it appears in The Celtic Lyre.

My sweetest hope is at last to meet Him
When in the clouds His blest form appears;
That sight most glorious, when I shall greet Him,
Shall wholly banish my griefs and tears.
The love of Jesus, that boundless treasure,
Has depths and heights that can ne'er be known;
Its strong endurance we ne'er can measure,
Though in His sufferings so much was shown;

A Man of sorrows, with none to aid Him,
The scoff and scorn of an evil race,
Who for His love with fierce hate repaid Him
As they pursued Him from place to place;
But such His joy in our soul's salvation,
That He despised all the pain and shame,
And to redeem us from condemnation,
He in the nature of sinners came.

In that same nature that we inherit
From our first father, all stained with sin,
Did Jesus' sufferings, His life and merit,
A great salvation for sinners win.
To reconcile us His flesh was riven
From death to save us He came and died
And to bring brethren from earth to heaven
He bore our sins and was crucified.

Hymn by P. GRANT; translation by L. MACBEAN. The air was obtained for this collection from a Gaelic singer.

 Bidh sinn fo dhion's theid sinn as o phiantaibh,
 A seinn gu siorruidh air cliu do ghras.

With minds in error, they thought with terror
 Of shapes unearthly and dark alarms,
 But sought salvation in incantation
 In spells unholy and mystic charms.
 A people careless, profane and prayerless,
 Were like the beasts in the dewy dale;
 No Bible reading, no praise or pleading—
 Such was the custom among the Gael.
 O King of Nations! our supplications
 Are now directed unto Thy throne;
 Lord, in Thy kindness, remove our blindness,
 For all our hope is in Thee alone!
 Thou only livest, Thou pardon givest,
 Oh, do Thou show us Thy gracious face;
 Forgive us wholly the sin and folly
 That dared despise all Thy love and grace.

For God who made us alone can aid us,
 We have no helper but Thee alone;
 'Tis only Jesus that can release us
 Through the redemption that He has won.
 If we believe Him and so receive Him,
 And Thou shalt hear us through His dear name,
 Thy wings shall hide us whate'er betide us,
 And we shall ever Thy praise proclaim.

From the hymn by P. GRANT; translated by L. M. The tune to which it is sung has been noted down for this collection.

But we trust in Thy love, who rulest above,
For strength till our toils shall cease.

Sore troubled are we, like a ship on the sea,
Amid billows that surge and swell ;
Yet the Lord is more strong than the fierce flood of wrong,
And His voice shall their anger quell.

Their clamour and pride Thy pow'r shall deride,
And men's haughty thoughts abase ;
And Thy poor broken folk, secure from their stroke,
Thou shalt strengthen and guide by grace.

Oh, guide us by grace to that happy place
Where we shall in safety be,
No longer distressed and tossed without rest,
Like a ship on the raging sea.

Leaghaidh na Dùile 'nuas le teas,
Ceart mar a leargas teine ceir,
Na enic's na sléibhteán lasaideh suas,
'S b'ill' teas-ghoil air a chuan gu léir.
An cùrtain gorm tha null o'n ghréin,

Cia mor do shaibhreas Righ nam feart,

The elements with fervent heat
Shall melt like wax in furnace glow,
The flames from hills and mountains meet,
And all the ocean boil below.
The azure curtain of our sphere,
Hung like a mantle o'er the earth,
Shall shrivel up and disappear
Like bark upon the burning hearth.

And still the fiery storm to urge
The four strong winds togethast haste,
And, with the might of angels, scourge
The willing flames to wilder waste.
Thus do destroying powers repeal
Thy six days' work with one accord,
But Thy dominion would not feel
The loss of thousand worlds, O Lord !

Gaelic from BUCHANAN'S "Day of Judgment." English from "Spiritual Songs of DUGALD BUCHANAN." The melody is an Ossianic chant.

 Them with peace that ne'er shall fail.
 There pure glad streams are flowing,
 There the sunshine is serene;
 No tempests there are blowing,
 Bright and happy is the scene.

Let me be onwards pressing
 Still where Jesus' feet have trod,
 In that sweet vale of blessing
 Walking humbly with my God.
 Lord, be my soul's defender,
 Keep me aye from sin secure,
 And through Thy love most tender
 Let my heart be meek and pure.

When faith is failing me,
Dark doubts assailing me,
Be Thou my hiding-place,
My safe abiding-place.

When griefs are numberless,
When cares are slumberless,
Grant me tranquillity,
Faith and humility.

When joys are leaving me,
And death bereaving me,
My foolish fears allay,
Wipe all my tears away.

From doubt's obscurity,
From sin's impurity,
Oh, set me free by grace,
So shall I see Thy face.

For my Saviour most gracious
Is my Husband most tender;
My heart's Treasure most precious,

By His strong intercessions
Peace and pardon He gave me,
And He bore my transgressions,
From their vileness to save me.
Now my faith would enfold Him
Where sin cannot sever;
For I long to behold Him
For ever and ever.

Thou hast brought Him but pain and loss,
For on the cross He paid
The hopeless debt that thou hast owed;
Thy load on Him was laid.
With all the sympathy and love
A man may give his bride,
Thy Lord shall make, while ages roll,
Thy soul be satisfied.

And when before God's throne thou art,
Shall not thy heart rejoice
Thy gracious sentence there to hear
In thy dear Husband's voice?
In all that shall thy Spouse exalt,
Thou shalt possess a share;
Thou hast in all His hopes a part,
And art His fellow-heir.

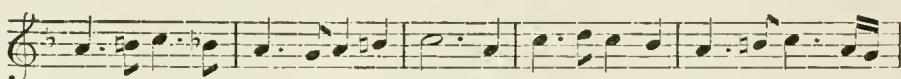

Thou, nearer than the angel band,
On His right hand shalt be;
Thou art His bride in queely state,
And they but wait on thee.
Oh, never shalt thou see among
That glorious throng above
One half so fair or good as He
Who gave to thee His love.

Oh, this shall be of every tree the first and most renowned,
Grandly swelling, sweetly smelling, fresh, and straight,
and sound;
For evermore its living store of graces shall abound,
And no decay or blemish may in all its boughs be found.

A princely stem, the forest's gem, it ever fairly grows,
Its branches broad beneath a load of blossoms far it throws;
When suns are hot it withers not, no drought or thirst it knows,
But beareth fruit, for at its root the living water flows.

That river clear, that floweth near with current pure and bright,
Alone imparts to human hearts a sorrowless delight;
These leaves make whole the wounded soul, and give the weary might,
Bestowing wealth of life and health instead of pain and blight.

This goodly shoot with golden fruit la down from heaven weighed;
Throughout the year its fruits appear, its bloom shall never fade;
To every race it yieldeth grace with vigour undecayed,
And cool retreat for warblers sweet beneath its pleasant shade.

Words from a beautiful hymn by Mrs CAMERON, Rannoch.

Hark! the trumpet-sound blending
With the flame's wild explosion;
See! the dead are ascending,
Yielding lowly devotion!
Graves unnumbered restore them,
All earth's dust is in motion,
And the dark depths outpour them
From the caves of the ocean!

Thousand thunders are rolling,
And mankind is awaking;
Under sounds so appalling
All earth's creatures are quaking.
Ocean's billows are boiling,
Mighty mountains are shaking,
And men's hearts back recoiling,
Every hope is forsaking.

But if Christ's blood avail thee,
O my soul, for ablation,
Let thy heart never fail thee
In earth's final confusion.
See thy Saviour come glorious,
He who gave absolution,
And His right arm, victorious,
Gives His foes retribution.

In all your sufferings extol His name,
To Him who died, your hosannas singing
Whose praise the angels of God proclaim.
Think on the favour of Christ, our Saviour,
Obey with gladness His least command;
Our form He beareth, while He prepareth
Our happy home in His Father's land.

For Sion's sons are a royal nation,
The chosen friends of the Lord most High;
He shall redeem them from tribulation,
And when life leaves them, His love is nigh.
Death cannot chain them, nor grave restrain them,
For these are conquered by Jesus' might;
He shall deliver His own for ever,
And make them glad in His home of light.

'S o ana-miannaibh mi-rianail làdir,
'S o smuaintean diomhain bha riabh 'gan sarach.

Nis tha'm Fear-posd' ac' 's iad beo le lathareachd
'S iad nis cho sgiamhach 's bu mhiann le'n cairdean;
Tha slàinte as ùr tigh'nn o ghnùis an Ard-Righ,
'S iad sona suaimhneach gun luaidh air bàs ac'.

For when He gave them a hope so glorious,
They placed their souls in His gracious keeping;
Through Jesus' blood over death victorious,
Their flesh in grave is but softly sleeping.

When to their eyes all this world was darkened,
Their spirits entered on scenes surprising;
To hallelujahs with joy they hearkened,
And saw heaven's glories around them rising.

They have no sickness, nor sore, nor sighing,
Nor thirst, nor hunger, nor wants distress them;
No death nor sorrow, nor care nor crying,
But peace eternal to soothe and bless them.

They have the Bridegroom, beloved and precious,
The love He giveth their souls adorning;
Their hearts rejoice in His smile most gracious,
And sing the sweetness of heaven's morning.

Is lionmhor cath, is gleachd, is duaidh,
Is buille bhualadh dhòrn,
Is amhgar, trioblaid, teinn is truaigh,
Tha dhaibh an dual 's an fheòil;
Ach armachd Dhè bheir dhaibh a bhnaidh
'S thig iad an nachdar bed,
'S trid neart an Ti rinn sith dhaibh suas

Tha buairidhean a teachd bho'n nàmh
Air iomadh fath mu'n cuairt,
Mar dhiachainn theinteach bhios 'gan cràdh
'S a toirt dhaibh làire cruaidh;
Oha nochd e caoimhneas dhaibh no bàigh,

Ach chum an dearbhadh anns gach càs
Bheir iad tre ghràs làn bhuaidh.

What weary conflicts fierce and long,
What sudden strokes of pain,
What trouble and distress and wrong
Must Christian hearts sustain!
But when in God's own armour clad,
Though foes their path assail,
His mighty strength shall make them glad,
And they shall still prevail.

When sore temptations surge and swell
Around the Christian race,
Assaults of sin and thoughts from hell
That torture and abase,
These cruel foes on every side
The man of God must face,
And he shall be a soldier tried,
And conqueror through grace.

Strong and steadfast, the mountains
Feel no changes of time,
God did lay their foundations,
He hath made them sublime.
He hath clothed them with beauty,
Sweet and lovely and rare,
By the touch of His fingers
They are heavenly fair.
Peace and power and beauty
Vale and mountain disclose,
Dimly showing His glory
From whose hand they arose.
When the mountains have vanished
He shall live evermore,
Still revealing new glories
While we praise and adore.

This beautiful melody belongs to one of ROB DONN'S elegies. The words are by L. M.
