Calling all CWS members to come join the members of the board in Utah for the games in Moab on November 3rd and 4th. A great time and great scenery guaranteed for all who attend.

Planning our trip out to the western U.S. is progressing, but not without a few bumps and bruises. Two of the games we had planned to do have moved to new dates. But that still leaves 8 games on our itinerary. Setting up a 9000 mile trip takes a lot of planning as does running an organization like the Clan Wallace Society.

Shortly council members will be asked to nominate folks to join the board. We have at least 3 board positions coming open, please step up and let us know your interested in helping run the organization.

Todd has done another great job with the Newsletter. If you have an interesting story to share or would like to see an article concerning something you're passionate about, let Todd know.

We also have an excellent Website, with information about upcoming games, and other interesting facts and tidbits. Let our Webmaster know if you have something to share.

For those interested, we still have some of the 50th Anniversary Coins available. See the website or your local Convener for more information.

See you at the games!!

*RussLetter from the Editor

I just wanted to take a minute and thank you for all the kind words regarding the Winter issue! When I agreed to taking on the newsletter, I had no idea that I would have this much fun putting it all together. I've started dialogs with people all over the world and I have several story ideas for future issues.

I would also like to thank Mr. Austin Cavanaugh of Wallace High School in Stirling Scotland for working with me and providing the information about Wallace High School and their tartan for this issue.

Just a note to Conveners, please copy me with your games reports and pictures so that we all can share in your fun. As I said in my last letter, I would like to hear from members as to the kinds of stories you like to read or have interest in and I welcome your submissions. I hope everybody has a great summer and I'm already looking forward to the Summer issue.

FLOWERS OF THE FOREST

William J. (Bill) Wallace

June 5, 1942 – April 15, 2018

The Clan Wallace Society (CWS) is sad to inform its members that we have lost another good friend. William (Bill) John Wallace passed away on the 15th of April at the age of 75 after a year-long fight with pancreatic cancer, departing from "this life to more life."

Bill was born in Waupaca, Wisconsin. At the age of 20, he enlisted in the Army as a private, attended OCS and graduated a 2LT. In 1962, Bill met Norma Hoefer of Freeport, Illinois. They were married on June 6, 1964. Norma was the bedrock of his life. In the Gaelic, Norma was known as Bill's anam cara (soul friend). Many times at CWS annual meetings and gatherings, you could see Bill and Norma walking hand-in-hand like they had just started dating, and they did so for their 53+ years of marriage.

With Norma at his side (sometimes figuratively), Bill completed two combat tours in Vietnam; one as a 1LT Infantry Heavy Mortar Platoon Leader; and one as a helicopter pilot with the rank of CPT. He also completed a three-year assignment to Saudi Arabia. Bill retired as Chief of Concepts and Studies Division, Director of Combat Development after 24 years in the Army with the rank of LTC.

Bill then worked in the Aerospace industry with McDonnell Douglas/Boeing for 16 years in management. He and Norma settled in Bend, Oregon in 2006.

In Central Oregon, Bill developed skills as an amateur photographer thanks to patient coaching by local professional photographers.

Bill was a Council Member of the Clan Wallace Society and was elected to the Board of Directors. During his nine (9) year tenure on the Board, he was the Treasurer, Executive Vice President, and President from 2007 through 2009.

Bill is survived by Norma and their sons William Wayne Wallace and family Raffi Jouejati and grandsons Adam Wallace and Ramsey Wallace of Virginia; and CSM Douglas Dwight Wallace and Nicole Nikrandt Wallace and grandson Cayden Wallace of Wisconsin.

A celebration of Bill's life took place at the First Presbyterian Church Sanctuary in Bend, OR on Saturday, April 21, 2018. Bill will be interred in the columbarium of Arlington National Cemetery in Virginia at a future date to be announced. Bill will be greatly missed by his loving wife Norma and their family and friends. He will also be missed by his CWS family. We bid farewell to a good man and a good friend.

Wallace High School

A Brief History of Wallace High School

Compiled by Mr. Craig Mair, former Principal Teacher of History

In the late 1960s a new government policy of fully comprehensive non-selective schools began in Scotland. At the same time, Stirling University opened in 1967 and Stirling's population began to rise. A new high school was needed to replace the former Riverside Junior Secondary School (which became a Primary School), and Wallace High duly opened on a green-field site at Causewayhead in 1971.

The first Rector was Tom McIntyre, who served in that post to 1983. Realising the importance of winning public and parental confidence for this new school, he led Wallace High through its formative years and ensured high standards and achievements from the start. The school's first uniform was a purple blazer with gold trim - purple still features in the school's dress code today.

The school quickly achieved both academic and wider success. The Music department became especially noted for its excellent annual operas, and many pupils went on to distinguished careers in music. Early sporting strengths were in canoeing, fencing and rugby.

In 1983 Mr. McIntyre retired, to wide praise for his great work in having seen the school so well established in the area. He was followed by Bill Brodie, who served as Head Teacher to his retirement in September 2002. During this time the school continued to grow stronger. Two teachers, Mr. Sandy Gauld of the Technical Department and Mr. Charles Lees of the Chemistry Department, were voted British 'teachers of the year'.

In further diverse examples of success, from our Creative and Aesthetic department came Angela Donald, who is Head of Design for the fashion company Yik Yue (H.K) Commercial Ltd. Alison Kilgour (Dowell) our Head Girl from 1996 had a great career in Scottish Construction, she also founded a charity 'So Precious' supporting the neo natal unit for sick kids in Forth Valley.

Rugby player Kenny Logan went on to win 70 Scottish international caps, footballers Gary and Steven Caldwell found similar success, winning 55 and 12 Scottish caps respectively, while slalom canoeist Campbell Walsh won an Olympic silver medal at Athens in 2004.

During the 1990s - 2000s the school was especially noted for its excellent debating teams, science innovators, musical shows, the success of its Ochil House pupils in many swimming and athletics events, its annual ski trips and many other overseas visits etc. In rugby, the team won the Scottish Schools 7-a-side quair tournament at Murrayfield, and regularly won the Central Schools 15-a-side league and cup. One young player in more recent teams was Finn Russell, now enjoying a Scottish international career.

In September 2002 Mr. Brodie retired and was followed as Head Teacher by Mrs. Linda Horsburgh. She led the school's move in 2008 to its present location on Airthrey Road, to an exciting new building, the result of a public-private funding partnership. Since then the school has evolved further. It is now an award-winning Scottish School of Sport with a focus on Football, Rugby, Swimming, Dance and Basketball, as well multiple rich activities across creative industries, STEM disciplines and the arts. In December 2012 Mrs. Linda Horsburgh retired as Head Teacher and was succeeded by Mr. Scott Pennock. The school continues to evolve in the twenty-first century, constantly seeking to adapt and to ensure that our many youngsters go on to have happy, successful and fulfilling lives in an ever-changing world.

Wallace High School Tartan...

Tartan #11,663 : Wallace High School

Thanks to excellent work by our Heritage Team the past term, led by Mr. Austin Cavanagh, Wallace High is delighted to have registered its own tartan with the Scottish register of Tartans, part of the Scottish Government's National Records of Scotland.

Our tartan was officially registered by Mrs. Jan Draper (Art department) as number 11,663 in the national records with the following description:

'Wallace High School is based in the heart of Scotland, near Stirling, very close to the Wallace Monument. The school decided it was time to have a tartan that not only reflected it as a community now but that reflected its heritage. The base colour is the purple of the school tie. Threaded through the design are silver, dark grey and two different tones of purple that reflect the school's uniform from previous eras.'

We look forward to the tartan becoming an important part of the school's heritage. Full details of our tartan can be found at:

<https://www.tartanregister.gov.uk/qResults.aspx?searchString=wallace%20high%20school>

Mrs. Laura Sinclair displays the school tartan.

Mrs. Laura Sinclair is the acting Head of Art, she also makes clothing and fabric items. Laura has made cushions and other items such as gifts to recognize staff from the Tartan material that the school has ordered. The tartan is now used by our senior prefects (pupils) in tie form. It has also been used, in printed vinyl form, for windows and display areas.

WALLACE and BARNWEIL MOMUMENTS

The National Wallace Monument and Barnweil Monument

By Todd Wallace

My family and I visited the National Wallace Monument for the first time this past August. I really did not know what to expect. I could see it off in the distance from the wall of Stirling Castle. The monument itself was quite impressive with its Gothic revival architecture and height of 220 ft (67m)! It seemed to be a spire to the heavens.

We entered the monument and began the 246-step ascent, stopping at different levels to view the treasures that were held within, such as the William Wallace sword. It was a relief to finally reach the top where the views were amazing!

I had heard of another Wallace Monument near Ayrshire about 62 miles away (101km) also known as the Barnweil Monument which is 60 ft. tall. This Gothic structure was also built to commemorate William Wallace. It predates the National Wallace Monument by about 15 years. A rumor exists that the name came from when William Wallace, stood on this site and said that the Barns of Ayr (that contained English soldiers) "burn weil". Although it has been recorded that he did say that, the actual reason for the name is that it's situated near the ruins of the medieval church of Barnweil. After visiting the Wallace National Monument, we set out to find the Barnweil Monument. If you go, make sure you have a good GPS. It is way off the beaten path and not easy to find. The Barnweil Monument sits on private property and is not open to the public but is still worth the trip.

NEWS FROM WALLACE MONUMENT

William Wallace Signs Up To Become A Friend Of The National Wallace Monument

6 March 2018 - Stirling - Mr. William Wallace, from Mount Melville, St Andrews, becomes one of the first friends of Stirling's famous landmark, The National Wallace Monument, as it officially launches its membership programme.

The namesake of the Scottish hero that the Monument commemorates joined the newly launched membership scheme that gives visitors the opportunity to pay admission once and enjoy visiting as many times as they wish over the next 12 months. Relying on public admission fees to maintain and operate The National Wallace Monument, Stirling District Tourism will also be able to reclaim 25p on every £1 that is spent via the membership programme at no extra cost to the visitor, when UK tax payers choose to Gift Aid their membership.

William Wallace commented: "I am proud to share a name with a Scottish icon and to be invited to become a member of the important landmark. I have regularly visited The National Wallace Monument over the years with family and friends and look forward to many more visits!" All income generated is re-invested into the attraction and its facilities for the enjoyment of all visitors who come to discover the story of Scotland's National Hero.

Mr. William Wallace is welcomed as a member of the National Wallace Monument by staff member Rebecca Irvine

The new membership scheme has been introduced specifically to encourage regular visitors to come to the historic monument more often, and to bring their friends and family.

Ken Thomson, The National Wallace Monument Marketing Manager added: "Giving our visitors the opportunity to visit as many times as they like throughout the year with just one entry fee is our way of saying thank you for all of the support we've received over the years.

"It's an exciting time for us right now as we make plans for investment and improvements at the National Wallace Monument."

Visitors can follow the 'Wallace Way' up to the 220ft tower and discover more about Stirling's fascinating history, told through a collection of exciting woodcarvings. In the Monument itself they can trace the story of Wallace's life and legacy in three galleries, one of which features his legendary battle sword.

On the third-floor visitors are able to discover the facts and figures behind the building of the Victorian tower and children can build their own miniature version of the Monument before reaching the Crown - which offers breath-taking 360-degree views across central Scotland and the Highlands to the North.

A top visitor attraction, The National Wallace Monument also features the family-friendly Legends Coffee House and free onsite car parking.

The National Wallace Monument Seeks Volunteers

24 April 2018 - Stirling - The National Wallace Monument has launched its 2018 volunteer programme as the tourist attraction welcomes a new Learning and Volunteer Co-ordinator, Catherine Morrison to the team.

Enthusiastic individuals are being sought to join the team as The National Wallace Monument in Stirling, that welcomed over 140,000 visitors in the last 12 months, enters its busiest period.

Responsible for helping to meet and greet visitors, volunteers are integral to maintaining the attraction's high standard of service. With no qualifications required, the opportunity enables individuals to help with the smooth running of a popular visitor attraction, while meeting people from all over the world and gaining invaluable experience working in the tourism sector.

Starting her new position in March 2018, Catherine was previously Libraries and Culture Assistant at Clydebank Museum. She has first-hand experience of volunteering, having previously spent her time volunteering at the National Railway Museum in York and for West Dunbartonshire Council.

Speaking about the volunteer search, Catherine said:

"Volunteering is a great way to gain experience in the heritage sector and to support the local community. I can't wait to work with our existing volunteers and new recruits to build new and exciting roles which enhance the overall visitor experience."

The visitor attraction would like to hear from prospective volunteers with friendly personalities who are happy to talk to visitors. Full training will be provided, however a passion for Scottish history or the ability to speak another language would be an added bonus.

Catherine added: "We hope that volunteering gives people who are passionate about Stirling and who have a love for the Monument the opportunity to share their enthusiasm with others. The National Wallace Monument is an iconic building which draws in visitors from all over the world, and we're looking for friendly volunteers to help ensure that visitors leave us with special memories of the fantastic time they have had in Stirling."

Anyone interested in volunteering at the popular heritage attraction should email volunteer@nationalwallacemonument.com

The 25th Annual Rural Hill Loch Norman Scottish Festival

By Marcia Harper

The Rural Hill Loch Norman Scottish Festival (NC) was held on April 21-22, 2018. Sunny skies greeted the 57 clan tents participating along with Clan Wallace. Other participants included the SAMS (Scottish American Military Society), Council of Scottish Clans and Societies, New World Celts, and St. Andrews Society of North Carolina. Russ and Marcia Harper hosted the Clan Wallace tent.

These games are held at Rural Hill Farms in Huntersville, North Carolina. Rural Hill is the homestead of Revolutionary War patriots Major John and Violet Wilson Davidson and is located in the Catawba River Valley in northwest Mecklenburg County. The Davidson family is representative of the thousands of Scots and Scots-Irish who contributed to the growth of the Carolinas and put a unique cultural stamp on the American South.

The parade of tartans was held at noon on Sunday. Clan Wallace waited patiently as 57 clans marched before us. Dr. Joseph Morrow, QC, Lord Lyon King of Arms greeted everyone as they came off the parade field for a job well done.

Dr. Joseph Morrow, QC, Lord Lyon King of Arms, Russ Harper and Marcia Harper

Special guests that stopped by our tent were, Dr. Joseph Morrow, QC, Lord Lyon King of Arms and Malcolm Sinclair the 20th Earl of Caithness, Chief of Clan Sinclair.

On Saturday for the opening ceremony 15 pipe bands took the field. What a glorious site and sound to behold.

The Scottish American Military Society (SAMS) Post 1775 conducted a Flag Retirement ceremony on the main field in accordance with the flag code.

Our thanks to all that came out and enjoy the weekend with us.

2018 Phoenix Scottish Games

By Bob Wallace

Some 50 clans and societies populated the Clan Village over the weekend of March 3 and 4 at Steele Indian School Park, located in central Phoenix, hosting a large turnout of visitors to this year's event on both days. Record numbers are said to have come through the gates on this, the 54th year. Given the steady stream of visitors to clan tents, that sounds accurate!

Entertainment tents were in place at opposite ends of the main event space, heavy athletics taking place in the center of the field between them on both days. Several world records were broken by women in competition, despite a not so gentle breeze blowing on much of the day on Sunday. Near the clan tents, several venues were put in place for the weekend: Learners Arms, and genealogy research for novice and experienced attendees.

The several pipes and drums bands in attendance played throughout both days, the Glendale (AZ) Pipes and Drums stopping by our triple-tent setup on Sunday to serenade both visitors and clan members. Needless to say, the replica William Wallace sword garnered much of the attention from those coming by the tent on Saturday and Sunday.

Staffing of the tent was undertaken by the usual suspects: Tim and Sue Wallace, Bob and Lois Wallace both days, joined by Hamilton Wallace on Sunday. Local weather was very good on Saturday, somewhat cool and breezy for Phoenix tastes on Sunday.

The 26th Annual Panama City Beach Highland Games

By Marcia Harper

The Panama City Beach Highland Games (FL) was held on March 3, 2018. These games are held at Frank Brown State Park in Panama City Beach, Florida. Sunshine and wind met the 40 clan tents participating including Clan Wallace. Russ and Marcia Harper hosted the Clan Wallace tent.

The entertainment included the Santa Rosa Pipes and Drum, Emerald Coast Pipe and Drum, Tallahassee Pipe and Drum, Panama City Pipe and Drums, McGuire's Pipe and Drums, the Blarney Girls and the Seven Nations. The Games included heavy athletics, children's Highland games competition, British car show, Border Collie demonstration and Highland dancing. The vendors at the games included, Celtic Store, Cameron British Food, The Wren's Nest, Scots Corner, Scots den and Near and Far Scottish.

At the end of the day Clan Wallace was awarded 1st place in Best Clan tent. Clan Kennedy took 2nd place for Best Clan Tent, and Clan Johnston/e in America took 3rd place. Thanks to all that came out and enjoyed the day with us.

The 8th Annual Tartan Day South

By Marcia Harper

The 8th annual Tartan Day South (SC) was held on March 24, 2018. Sunshine and cold temperatures on Saturday greeted the 14 clan tents participating and Clan Wallace was one of them. Russ and Marcia Harper hosted the Clan Wallace tent.

Tartan Day South is held at the Historic Columbia Speedway, where Richard Petty had his first NASCAR race.

The Carolina British classic car show, medieval encampment, kids rides and Quidditch were just some of the things you could enjoy. The festival included both men's and women's athletics, Scottish and Irish dancing, children's games, face painting, storytelling, and 3 pipe bands.

What a great weekend we had! A special thanks to Ned Wallace who came out to enjoy the day with us.

The 2nd Annual Tartan Day North Carolina

By Marcia Harper

The 2nd annual Tartan Day North Carolina celebration was held on April 6, 2018 at the Raleigh Museum of History. North Carolina has a rich history of Scots relocating to the new world. During troubled times, many Highlanders and Lowlanders relocated to the Cape Fear River Valley, Ulster Scots settled throughout the Piedmont and Southern Appalachians.

Clan Wallace, Clan McLean, Clan Donald and SCOT (Scottish Association of the Triangle) were invited to the Raleigh Museum of History to help educate folks on how important Tartan Day is in North Carolina. Along with the three clans were Wake District Pipe and Drum, Our State magazine, weapons and sword dancing.

Russ and Marcia Harper set up a display of things that related to Scots in North Carolina and Clan Wallace. We also handed out packets we created for teachers to help students better understand what it is to be Scottish and how it relates to North Carolina. It was estimated that 300 home school children visited us for Tartan Day. While many of the folks that visited had no Scottish connection, they were interested in finding out about Tartan Day.

Thanks to all that came out and enjoyed the day.

The 18th Annual Bethabara Highland Games

By Marcia Harper

The Bethabara Highland Games (NC) were held on May 5, 2018. We had overcast skies and 80 degrees. There were 17 Clan tents participating along with Clan Wallace. Russ and Marcia Harper hosted the Clan Wallace tent.

The Highland Games at Historic Bethabara Park in Winston-Salem, North Carolina are held to pay respect to the heritage of the early Scots and Scots-Irish pioneers who helped and guided the Moravians in their settlement of the Wachovia tract. This game is free and open for the enjoyment of the public. Russ and I along with Linda Tyrell and Grandson Adian marched in the parade of Tartan.

The entertainment included the Jamestown Pipes and Drum and North Carolina State Pipe band. The Games also included heavy athletics, children's Highland games competition, children's Colonial Games and storytelling and Border Collie demonstration. The vendors at the games included Lady Susan's Shortbread, Near and Far Scottish, Scottish Leather, Kelpie Pottery, Carolina Celt, and Lumpy's Ice Cream.

Thanks to all of our special visitors.

Clan Wallace, Texas Scottish Festival

The 32nd Annual Texas Scottish Festival

Frank & Lynne Leslie

The 32nd Annual Texas Scottish Festival & Highland games was held at a new venue: the Wise County Fairgrounds in Decatur, TX and was considered a success. Twenty-two Wallaces signed the Guest Register during the weekend of May 11-13, 2018. A number of them are not members but took information to join Clan Wallace. Brandon Wallace marched with me, as his wife and daughter watched the Calling of the Clans. When Clan Wallace was announced, we both, without rehearsal, yelled out "Freedom", which echoed throughout the building. We had sunny weather for the weekend. Wind gusts up to 32 MPH on Friday damaged a number of Clan tents, mine being one. Repair parts are on order. Saturday and Sunday were both breezy but nothing like Friday. I informed the Festival Clans Coordinator that Clan Wallace Society will be back next year.

Our next venue is the Kerr County Celtic Festival in Ingram, TX, October 6 and 7, 2018. Look for the red topped 10 x 20 tent in the Clan village.
