

Clatt War Memorial.

The war memorial stands in the churchyard of Clatt Parish Church. The memorial commemorates the dead of WW1 and was made by Robert Warrack Morrison from polished Aberdeen granite. It is made from a large engraved square block of granite standing on a two-step granite base surmounted by a doric pillar with a elaborately carved finial. On the base carved in relief is a rifle and a sword. It is engraved "TO THE GLORY OF GOD AND IN GRATEFUL MEMORY OF THOSE WHO WENT FROM THIS PARISH AND WHO MADE THE SUPREME SACRIFICE FOR GOD AND RIGHTOUSNESS IN THE GREAT WAR 1914 - 1919", and also "Their name liveth for evermore". A second much smaller memorial commemorating the dead of WW2 can be seen on the church wall.
