PREFACE.

OR many years the Records, Writs, and Documents of the Town have lain in a state of confusion, and the contents of important papers been unknown to the members of Council, and even to their officials. The late Mr. Christopher Kerr, while in discharge of the duties of Town Clerk, feeling deeply this inconvenience, employed Mr. John Davidson not only to endeavour to put the papers into a sort of order, but to decipher and transcribe some of the ancient Records and Acts of Council. Mr. DAVIDSON made considerable progress in this direction, and after his death the Council engaged Mr. JOHN M'LEAN BEATTS to continue the assortment, which he did with great care and discrimination. When the New Record Rooms were fitted up sometime afterwards, and the papers to be transferred thereto, the work of assortment was continued by Mr. J. C. JAMESON, my Assistant, and this, along with the Inventories made by Mr. BEATTS, has enabled me to make up the annexed completed Inventory of the Writs and Charters of the Town now presented to the Council (see Appendix). I have added some Notes at certain Writs of particular interest in the Inventory, which may be useful for reference. The Records of the Burgh have also been arranged in the Rooms, and both Records and Writs are now in a satisfactory state of arrangement.

Besides the Inventory, the Council very properly desired to have some knowledge of the Charters and Writs of the Burgh, and resolved that a selection of these Writs of importance, and of the Acts of the Council of a public nature should be printed for general information.

In early and troublous times, and amid continued national controversies, Dundee, being an important centre of conflict, suffered severely. A history of Dundee, therefore, cannot be of local interest merely, but would, to a considerable extent, be a history of Scotland in its most trying and critical times. The many conflicts in and around Dundee, and the hostile occupation to which the Town had frequently been subjected, have no doubt been the cause of many of our ancient Writs and Charters being abstracted or destroyed. The Records prior to the year 1520 have been altogether lost to us, but from that year onwards the Records of the Burgh are in a good state of preservation. Notwithstanding these misfortunes, there are still extant many of our original Charters and Documents of historical interest and importance. The rights and privileges of Dundee as a Royal Burgh extend back long prior to any Charter now left to us. The right of ROBERT THE BRUCE to the throne was in 1309 acknowledged by a National Council of the Clergy held in Dundee, and BRUCE himself was afterwards frequently in the Town, and seemed desirous to restore to the Burgh these ancient rights and privileges. evidenced by his Commission of Enquiry, on the report of which his Charter of Confirmation in 1327 mainly proceeds, and which probably is about the earliest Charter of any Royal Burgh now extant. Enough however remains to indicate and shew not only the extent of the ancient rights, privileges, and possessions of the Town, and the part taken by the community for centuries in the conduct of our national affairs, but also the heavy penalties paid for their public spirit, loyalty, and patriotism. I have here, therefore, at the request of the Council, selected and printed several of the more important of our Charters and Documents calculated to throw light on the ancient rights and privileges of the Town, and have added a few explanatory observations on some of these, and also on several public questions which have come under my own notice while connected with the Council, with statistics of the Burgh as contrasted with former times. Some Excerpts of public interest from the Ancient Laws of the Royal Burghs of Scotland are also given, shewing the multifarious duties for which the Bailies of the Burghs in earlier times were held responsible, and the care taken for the protection of the Inhabitants, and at sametime indicating the habits and customs of the people in an early age.

On the occasion of the Queen's visit to Dundee, in 1844, Her Majesty addressed the Chief Magistrate as Lord Provost, and some discussion took place as to continuing the title. In the subsequent written communications by the Secretary in attendance it was not repeated. It will be seen, however, from the Excerpts that the title of Lord Provost has in bygone years been sometimes assumed by, and accredited to the Chief Magistrate of Dundee; and nearly two centuries ago it was admitted by the Convention of Royal Burghs, in general meeting assembled, where their minutes bear that James Fletcher, Lord Provost of Dundee, was elected Chairman of the Convention. Looking to the history of the Burgh, and its position among the Municipalities of Scotland, it appears to me that no community had a better right to the title.

In translating the early Orders of the Kings of England, I have to acknowledge the assistance of Mr. Adam Wilson, M.A., Classical Master in the High School, who kindly undertook their revision. In two or three other instances advantage has been taken of the translations of these Writs in our local Histories edited by Mr. M'LAREN and Mr. Beatts, but the others have been for the first time translated with the assistance of persons well versant in such work.

By authority of the Council, Similes of a number of the original Charters and Writs have been given, along with the translations. These Similes (from photographs taken in Edinburgh) have been most successfully executed, and are of peculiar interest as bearing the signature of several of our Scottish Monarchs and celebrated public men. An impression, also, of the Ancient Seal of the Burgh, prior to the Reformation, is given, taken from the only old Burgh Charter containing the Seal extant in the Town's Repositories.

It is to be hoped that the publication of these Documents may be interesting and useful not only to the Magistrates and Council but to the Inhabitants generally, as affording some information concerning the Town of Dundee from an early period of its history.

WILLIAM HAY,

Town Clerk.

No. 1. Order by Edward I. of England, styling himself Lord-Superior of Scotland, declaring John Ballol the legitimate King of Scotland, and ordering the Castles of Dunder, Forfar, Jedburgh, and Roxburgh to be delivered to him, dated 18th November, 1292.

TRANSLATION OF FOREGOING ORDER OF EDWARD L

EDWARD, by the Grace of God, King of England, Lord of Ireland, Duke of Aquitaine, and Lord-Superior of the Kingdom of Scotland, to his beloved and trusty Brian, son of Alan, Governor of the Castles of Forfar, Dundee, Gedworth (Jedburgh), and Roxburgh, greeting. Whereas John de Baliol, lately in our Parliament held at Berwick-on Tweed, came before us and petitioned that we should assign him the foresaid Kingdom of Scotland, and have possession of the Kingdom itself delivered up to him by the legal right of succession, as being nearest heir of MARGARET, daughter of the King of Norway, Princess of Scotland, and deceased grand-daughter of ALEX-ANDER, last King of Scotland; and having heard and considered the petition and the reasons urged in behalf of the said John De Baliol, as well as those of other candidates for the said Kingdom, and having carefully examined the same petitions and reasons, we have found that the said John de Ballol is the nearest heir of the said Margaret as regards the possession of the said Kingdom of Scotland. We have therefore delivered the same Kingdom of Scotland, and possession of the same, to the said John de Baliol, but reserving our own rights and those of our successors; and we command you to cause the possession of the said Castles of Forfar, Dundee, Gedworth, and Roxburgh, with all their pertinents, together with everything else handed over to you, per inventory, and in the same condition as when you received the said Castles into your custody, to be handed over without delay to the said John de Baliol, or to his Attorneys bringing these letters. In testimony whereof we have caused to be issued these our letters patent. Witness my hand, at Berwick-on-Tweed the eighteenth day of November, in the year of our reign the twentieth (1292).

We likewise grant and bestow, and by these presents ratify, for ourselves and heirs for ever, that our burgesses in the said burgh shall enjoy, exercise, possess, and hold their privileges as freely and fully, peaceably and honourably, as our burgesses of Berwick have, hold, and exercise theirs—the privileges of other Burghs being held inviolate, and that they may be free and exempt over our kingdom from tolls, pontages, ferries, pier-dues, pannage, kane, and petty customs on articles of sale, in buying or selling, and from all customs on their goods, our new custom only excepted. We will also, and grant that all frequenting said burgh may trade in the market with our said burgesses, to the helping of our revenues towards the public burdens, whoever they be, reserving to them whatever royal privileges may have been granted to them. We grant also and confirm to the same their merchant's guild, as freely as ever our burgesses of Berwick have and enjoy theirs; and that those frequenting the markets of the said burgh, and the fairs thereof, may hereafter enjoy our peace and protection in coming, remaining, and departing, we strictly prohibit any one from molesting or interfering with them under pain of our high We likewise prohibit any one within the sheriffdom of displeasure. (Ex Registro Magni Sigilli ROBERTI Tertii, Regis Scotorum, Rot. X., c. 21.)

[The substance of the foregoing Charter is, that ROBERT, while confirming the Grant by Sir James de Lindsax to the Holy Trinity of his tenement in Nethergate in the Burgh of Dundee to be an Hospital and Maison Dieu for them, gave, it will be seen, a farther endowment to the Hospital of the Church of Kettins and its fruits and revenues (but reserved the prior right thereto granted to the Hospital of Berwick, then in the hands of the English). Nothing more, however, seems to have been known of this grant of the property of the Teinds of the Church of Kettins. It is doubtful whether the Hospital ever enjoyed that Grant, and it is not enumerated among the Hospital Rentals commenced in 1581, which the Supreme Court in the recent litigations held as authentic.]

No. 22. Award by ROBERT, Duke of Albany, Earl of Fyf and Menteith, Regent and Chamberlain of Scotland, in the disputes between the Burgesses of Perth on the one part and of Dundee on the other part, regarding the freedom and right of the people of Dundee to load and unload ships in the River Tay and Haven of Dundee, which was disputed by the people of Perth, who alleged their exclusive right to the trade in the River, dated and sealed at the Friar Kirk of Edinburgh, 19th May, 1404. (Simile of this Award is given.)

[The Duke, after narrating the circumstances and the pleadings before him and the Officers of State, disposes of the question by the Award.

He concludes thus—"We pronounce, determine, and decreete that the Burch and ye Burgeses of Dunde and yair successours have freedom to by ony schip or schipps yat com in the water of Taye on a venture yat lyke to loss at yair haven, nochtagainstandand ony privileges alleget before us in the contrary thruch the procurators of the burch of Perth. Quhairfore we put to silence to yem of Perth and to yair successours upon ye saide question for evermair."

Note.—Notwithstanding this Award, the Burgh of Perth, in the reign of James VI. in 1600, procured a Charter from the King which recognised all the claims so long put forth by the Burgesses of Perth to the exclusive rights of shipping in the Tay. This obliged the people of Dundee to raise a reduction of the Grant, and on 31st December, 1602, a Decree was pronounced by the Court of Session fixing that the privileges of Perth to have free ports on he Tay was limited to that part of the River along the County of Perth, and a like privilege was awarded to Dundee on the River opposite Forfarshire, not only on the north side but also on the south side of the Tay—the limits being on the north from the Burn of Invergowrie on the west to the Gaw of Barrie on the east, and on the south side from the Abbey of Balmarino on the west to the Sands of Drumlaw on the east. These are the present limits of the Harbour of Dundee, and were so confirmed and declared in the Charter of Charles I. in 1642.

Translation of Indenture between the Abbot of Lindores and the Town of Dundee, dated 10th March, 1442-3, regarding the Church of St. Mary.

BE it known to all and sundry who shall see or hear this present Indenture, that when lately upon occasion of the reformation, sustentation, and reparation of the vestments, books, chalices, coverings of the Great Altar, and other ornaments in the choir of the Parish Church of St. Mary's of the Burgh of Dundee, in the diocese of Brechin, belonging to the Venerable Father in Christ, Lord James DE Rossy, Abbot of the Monastery of Lindores, in the diocese of St. Andrews and Convent of the same, which the rectors of the said Parish Church occupy, and the fruits of which belonging to the said rectors they receive, a frequent and earnest complaint many years depending was brought by those honourable men the Burgesses, Council, and Community of the said Burgh of Dundee, before the Reverend Father in Christ, Lord John, by divine permission Bishop of Brechin, and his Officers and Ministers in the office of Visitors at the said Church, on account of which, not only the said fruits belonging to the foresaid religious rectors were often the subject of litigation, but also very great discord, contention, and altercations frequently arose between the foresaid religious rectors and the burgesses of the said Burgh, and, when afterwards treated of, diverse conferences and communications between the before-named religious persons and burgesses were often held, had, and continued, and endured for many years without any agreement. At length, mutually agreeing to a settlement of the foresaid complaint and discord between the beforewritten religious persons on the one part and the foresaid burgesses on the other part, they, by unanimous consent and mature and digested deliberation, have peaceably come to the agreements, treaty of union, and final conclusions which are set forth in the following form, vizt., that the burgesses, council, and community of the said burgh and parish of the said Parish Church assume and shall undertake the sole burden of constructing, sustaining, supporting, reforming, and repairing the Choir of the said Parish Church in its walls. windows, pillars, window-glass, wood-work, roof and covering, as well above as below; as also of the vestments, books, chalices, palls, and cloths of the Great Altar, and other ornaments whatsoever in any manner belonging to the Choir of the said Parish Church-of all and sundry which things, as well not expressed as expressed, they shall exoner, free, and exclude the foresaid Abbot and Convent, and their And from henceforth they assume and take upon themselves such burden, and exoner, free, and exclude the said religious rectors, and their successors, in all things as aforesaid, wholly and entirely, for ever. But, and on the other part, and on account of all such assumption, construction, sustentation, support, reformation, and reparation of all and sundry as aforesaid in the stone walls, windows, pillars, window-glass, wood-work, roof and covering of the said Choir, as well above as below, within and without; as also in the yestments, books, chalices, palls of the Great Altar, and other ornaments, in whatever things they consist, belonging in any way to the Choir of the said Church, as well not expressed as expressed, in manner before specified, the before-named Abbot and Convent, rectors for themselves and their successors, have given, granted, and by this present writing under the form of indenture, in place and name of a solemn charter, confirm, the sum of five merks of annual rent out of the tenements and lands underwritten, lying within the Burgh of Dundee, belonging to the foresaid religious rectors, to be uplifted annually by the burgesses, council, and community foresaid, and their successors, vizt., from the tenement of Thomas de Spalding and David de Spalding, brothers german, twenty shillings, and from the tenement of WALTER DE ABERKERDER, twenty shillings, which two tenements foresaid lie contiguous within the said burgh in the Market Street, on the south side of the same, between the tenement of Thomas pr Leis on the west side on the one part and the tenement of JAMES SKIRMGEOURE on the east side on the other part; as also from the tenement of ROBERT BANE, lying in the said burgh in the street which is called the Flukergate, on the south side of that street, between the tenement of the late JOHN MORTYMAR on the west side on the one part and the land of the late DAVID WILDE on the east side on the other part, twenty shillings; and from the field lands which belong to the burgh roods of Nicholas Elye, son of the late Thomas Elye, six shillings and eightpence,—which lands are held in fee and heritage of the said religious persons, and lie on the south side of the street which is called Ergailisgate, and extend towards the south from the Cross, which is vulgarly called the Heding Cross, down to the sea, and have the lands of James Elye on the west part until at the middle, and then are the Chapel or Hospital Lands of Blessed John the Baptist, and on the west part lie the lands of the said NICHOLAS ELYE,—which lands were acquired by the late Thomas ELYE from Walter Spanyke, and entered as at the middle of the said lands, and then lower are the lands of the said Nicholas Elye. Which annual rents a noble gentleman, Sir John Skirmgeoure, Knight, Constable of Dundee, having power and special mandate under the common Seal of the Chapter of the said Monastery, upgave, and purely and simply resigned, by way of perpetual Sasine, into the hands of an honourable man, WILLIAM STRATHAIKIN, at that time Provost of the said burgh, in name and on the part of the burgesses, council, and community of the same, and all groundright and claim which the foresaid Abbot and Convent had, have, or could claim to the said annual rents for themselves and their successors, for ever, by tradition of earth and stone, upon the soil or ground of the tenements and lands foresaid,—to be holden and to hold the said annual rents taken and levied annually from the grounds of the foresaid tenements and lands, and applied and committed for the use foresaid, and not to any other use, by the foresaid burgesses, council, and community of the said burgh, and their successors, in fee and heritage for ever, as freely, quietly, honourably, well, and in peace in all and for all points as the foresaid Abbot and Convent and their predecessors had held, levied, and possessed the foresaid annual rents before such resignation thereof, without any impediment or contradiction whatsoever. As also, that if the foresaid tenements, or any of them, shall by any accidental circumstance be destroyed, wasted, or demolished, and become so ruinous that they shall not be sufficient for paying and rendering the annual rents or annual rent due from them, or any of them, and shall become indistinguishable, then it shall be lawful for one of the burgesses of the said burgh, having power under the privy Seal of the said burgh, to that effect to institute a legal process at the head Courts of the said burgh by presentation of earth and stone of the soil or ground of the tenements or tenement which are deficient for payment of the annual rents or annual rent as before set forth, and to recover the said tenements or tenement by force of such process, and to appropriate, apply, convert. and unite them for the uses foresaid, as in the foresaid cases the said religious persons, if the said annual rents had remained in their hands. could have done before the said resignation was made by such process. And for faith, efficacy, evidence, and confirmation of the composition. treaty, agreement, and final conclusion thereof, and of all and sundry before written and recited, there is appended to the part of this indenture which remains with the said Abbot and Convent the common Seal of the Burgh of Dundee, together with the Seal of an honourable and potent Lord, DAVID, Earl of Crawford, and of a venerable man, RICHARD DE CRAIG, licensed by warrant of the Vicar of Dundee; and to the part thereof remaining with the said Burgesses, Council, and Community the common Seal of the Chapter of the Monastery of Lindores is appended, at Dundee the tenth day of the month of March, in the year of God one thousand four hundred and forty-two.

[This Indenture was confirmed by the Archbishop and Chapter of St. Andrews by Charter of date 3rd and 4th May, 1443 (No. 29 of Inventory), and there is given a simile of the testing clause of that Charter, with a lithograph of the Seal of the Archbishopric attached, which is in excellent preservation.]

[There is a copy also of an ancient Indenture by the Burgesses and Council of the Burgh of Dundee to the Abbot and Convent of St. Mary's Church. The date is awanting, but obviously it has been entered into shortly after the date of the foregoing Indenture of 10th March, 1442. It was made for the purpose, as it bears, to define the obligations arising under the first Indenture, and to settle disputes which had arisen as to some of the obligations under it. It is as follows:—

K NOW all and sundry to whom this Indenture shall be read or seen, that for the reformation, sustaining, and repairing of the vestments, books, cups, palls of the Great Altar, and other ornaments in the Choir of the Parish Church of St. Mary of the Burgh of Dunde, in the diocese of Brechin, "certain funds were of old made over, but discord having arisen," it was agreed as follows, that the Burgesses, Council, and Community of the said Burgh and Parish Church, for the construction, sustentation, reformation, and repair of the Parish Church in walls, windows, columns, and whole wooden fabric, as well above as below, as well as for the vestments, books, cups, &c., of the said Parish Church, of whatever nature belonging, take upon themselves the whole burden,—of all which things, expressed as well as not expressed, the Abbot and Convent, and their successors, are exonered, freed, and excluded.

But, and on the other hand, for this burden the Abbot and Convent confirm an Indenture by which they were to pay five merks yearly of annual rent from certain lands in the Town of Dundee.]

THE ANCIENT NAME OF THE OVERGATE.

[Note.—It will be observed that, as regards one of the properties conveyed in the foregoing Indenture, it "lies on the southside of the Street which is called 'Ergailisgate,' " (now Overgate,) and the comparatively more modern translators name this Street as Argylesgate, probably assuming its origin as after the Argyll Family. This, I think, is a mistake. Among the more ancient Writs in the Charter Chest (Box 10) there are two which would go to shew this mistake—

- (1.) A Charter by UTRED, son of JORDAN DE MONIFIETH, late Burgess of Dundee, and MARIOT his wife, daughter of PETER DE CUP', Burgess of the said Town, to ADAM DE PYLMOR, of one of Burgage Land in the Street called Ergaydilisgat in the Burgh of Dundee. It has no date, but appears to have been written about the first half of the 14th century; and
- (2.) There is an Agreement between ADAM DE PILMOR, Burgess of Dundee, and ADAM CARPENTER, by which the former conveys to the latter a piece of ground in the Town of Dundee in the Street called Ergeylisgat, on the east side of the vennel leading to the way called Flokergat (Nethergate), dated on Wednesday next after the feast of St. Luke the Evangelist, Anno 1331.

In the history of "The Scottish Nation" it is recorded that the CAMPBELLS first assumed the title of Argyll about 1420.]

[These Feu-Charters seem to throw light on the differences which have for a long time existed between the Town and the Proprietors of Craigie regarding the rights to the banks and shore of the Tay along the lands of Craigie. It would appear from these Charters that Craigie was held by the Church under old Mortifications, all confirmed by the Charters of Queen Mary and James the Sixth,—that the Chaplain, in order to increase the revenues, resolved in 1540 to feu the lands, and did so by the foresaid Charters; and the feu duties payable under these Charters continued to be drawn by the Town and Hospital until the same were sold by public sale to Mr. Guthrie of Craigie in 1780 for £500.

- It will be seen from the Charters, that the subjects feued are specially bounded, and that there is an important reservation from the subjects feued of the southern slope or banks of the property ex adverso of the River, and between the public road to the Ferry and the River; and these were reserved from the grant for the use and utility of the Town of Dundee.
- A dispute arose, about a century ago, by reason of the Proprietors of Craigie claiming the whole of the Craigie Muir, and also the Roodyards and Carolina Port properties, as parts and pertinents of the Craigie Estate. This the Town disputed, and claimed the properties. A submission was entered into, and after full enquiry, a decreet arbitral was pronounced, dividing the Muir of Craigie, and apportioning to the Town what is now known as Stobsmuir, and finding that the Roodyards, Oliver's Crofts, and Carolina properties were not parts of the Craigie Estate, and that these pendicles remained in the Hospital of Dundee—the original superior and owners of the Milton of Craigie under the ancient grants to the Church, confirmed as aforesaid. The ancient Writs were during the discussion in the submission stated to have gone amissing, and the rights of the parties therefore not easily ascertainable, but the arbiters found that, according to the admission of the Proprietors of Craigie, they only rented the subjects and paid £25 6s. 8d. Scots of yearly rent to the Hospital for the same; but as they long held the occupancy, and in the absence of the Titles, the arbiters ordained the Hospital Patrons to grant a Feu-Charter in favour of Craigie of said Crofts, the feu-duty being fixed at the said rent; and this feu-duty is still payable to the Hospital Fund for these separate lands. The Submission and Decree Arbitral, Pleadings, and Proceedings are in the Town's Repositories (see No. 21 of Inventory—Hospital), and shew fully the pleas and contentions of the parties.]

No. 72. Charter by Sir James Scringeour of Dudhope to the Town of Dundes of a Third part of the Meadows, dated 27th August, 1591.

[This Charter conveys to the Town "All and Whole his Third part of the Common Meadows of the said Burgh lying on the north side of the houses in the Murraygate, between the houses of the Wellgate on the east, the Meadow of the said Burgh called Andrew Barrie's Meadow on the west, and that part of Sir James' Lands of Dudhope called Chappelshed on the north part, reserving six feet of the said Meadow in breadth contiguous to the Chapellsched, for carting feal for the upholding of the dyke dividing the Lands of Dudhope from the said Meadow only" (now Bell Street).*

After the Reformation, with the exception of the Earl of CRAWFORD and SCRYMGEOUR of Dudhope, no one seriously opposed the right of the Magistrates under Queen MARY'S Charter to the full enjoyment of the Church properties and rents therein conveyed by the Queen for behoof of the Poor and the Ministry of the Hospital. The Earl of CRAWFORD laid claim to a portion of these lands on the plea of a Grant by the Friars prior to the Reformation, but he agreed to compromise his claim, and granted a Conveyance of his right to the Hospital for 1800 merks, or £1200 Scots, which sum was accordingly paid out of the Hospital Fund.

No. 17. of Inventory (Hospital).

These subjects, as thus conveyed by the Earl to the Hospital Master in 1594, comprehended what were anciently known as Meadows occupied by WILLIAM KINLOCH, JAMES LOVELL, and Andrew Barrie, and are correctly stated by Mr. Cosmo Innes in his Report to the Court of Session in the "Stipend Cases" to have been "the Gardens and Meadows of the Franciscan Friars, and formed part of the Ecclesiastical properties conveyed to the Town Council by the Queen's Charter for behoof of the Ministry and the Hospital. But the Earl of CRAWFORD also laid claim to them, and to much other Church property, founding upon a Deed of Gift which he alleged to have obtained from the Friars on the eve of the Reformation. These competing claims were brought before Parliament, and the result was a compromise among the parties in October 1594, under which the Earl agreed to give up all claim to these lands, and to the other properties to which he alleged right, upon receiving a sum of money—1800 merks (£1200 Scots), which was accordingly paid to him out of the Funds of the Foundation. The Hospital Master thereafter took a Conveyance from his Lordship to the whole properties, consisting of tofts, crofts, yards, and meadows." The subjects here conveyed were "All and Haill the toftis, croftis, zeardis, and meadowis quhilks sumtyme appertenit to yo Cordelier Frieris of the said Bur: of yo whilks meadowis ane sumtyme was occupyt be umql James Lovell, burges of ye said Bur: ane uyer be William Kin-LOCHE, burgess yof, and the remanent twa sumtyme be umql Andrew Barry, with all and sundry houses, biggings, and pertinents of the samen, quhilkis war of auld possessit be the said Cordelier Friers, by and besyde the Bur. of Dundie win the Sheriffdome of Forfar, beginnand at the eist of ye common dam of ye said Bur. stakis toward the land pertaining to the Constable of Dundie, and on the said Frieris wall zeardis are extendit at the west to the hill called the Tentor Hill and Briery zeardis; and yrrae to Thomas Monorgan's Croft, and frae the said Croft southwart towards the walls of the said Bur. (the Kirk-place and Kirk-zaird* being only excepted)."

These lands comprehend the portion of Meadow Road to the north of the "Howff" and the properties on the north side of Meadow Road, and extend from Constitution Road on the west eastward to the foresaid portion of land conveyed by Sir James Scrymgeour. In short, with Sir James Scrymgeour's portion and the portion of the adjoining Meadow bought by the Town from John Barry, sometime called "Donald Litstar's Medow," comprehending nearly all that was more recently known as the Meadows, and lying between Constitution Road on the west, Bell Street on the north, and Meadowside Road on the east and south sides.

No. 270. of Inventory.

And by Disposition, dated 27th April, 1752, by JOHN MILNE, on behalf of the Hospital Patrons, to the Town of Dundee, for the sum of £931 6s. 8d. Scots of a price (being twenty-two years' purchase of the lands) the Hospital Patrons conveyed to the Town All and Haill these acres or butts of land lying in the East Chapelshade on the north side of the Town's Meadows, adjacent to the Well called St. Francis' Well, all as therein bounded and described. This land with what formerly belonged to the Town comprehended all within the foresaid boundaries known as the Meadows,—the site of old St. Francis' Well being immediately to the west of the High School boundary.

In the various legal proceedings between the Presbytery of Dundee and the Town Council an Action of Reduction, Declarator, and Count and Reckoning was raised in December 1862 by the Presbytery against the Town Council and the Trustees for the Town's Creditors under the Trust then existing, to have it declared that the Town's Meadows to the north of Meadow Road, and the portion of the lands sometime belonging to the Franciscan Friars, and afterwards forming part of the property of the Hospital, situated to the north of the Meadow Road, in so far as not conveyed by the Disposition beforementioned by JOHN MILNE, then Master of the Hospital, should be declared to belong to the Hospital. This claim comprehended the whole grounds known as the Meadows, with the exception of the portion conveyed by Sir James Scrymgrour, as aforesaid, and the lands comprehended in the said Disposition by the Hospital Master, and gave rise to many difficult questions of boundaries. By the settlement of these Actions, and the consequent Churches Act of Parliament in 1864, all these questions were set at rest, and the Town's rights to the Meadows made perpetual by the fifteenth section of that Act, as follows: -- "15. And whereas the foresaid Trust for the Creditors of the Town of Dundee has now been extinguished, and the Town Council has been re-invested in the several Properties and Funds held under the said Trust,-the Portion of the Meadows of Dundee which formed the subject of the Action of Reduction, Declarator, and Count and Reckoning, at the instance of the Presbytery against the Trustees for the Creditors of the Town and the Town Council, as hereinbefore recited, shall be held to have been, and so far as not already sold or feued, to be hereafter the Property of the Town Council, as Part of the Common Good of the Burgh of Dundee, and held by them under the Charters of King James the Sixth and King Charles the First hereinbefore recited, freed and disburdened of the said Trust, anything in the said Agreement to the contrary notwithstanding."

No. 75. Charter of Confirmation and Novodamus by King James VI. to the Town of Dundee, of Inventory.

dated 16th January, 1601.

[This Charter confirms the Charters by King James II. and King James IV., also the Charters by King Robert II. to Patrick de Inverperfix of the Third part of the Lands of Craigie, and the Charter by Queen Mart, dated 15th April, 1567, of the Church Lands and Properties.

TRANSLATION OF THE FOREGOING EXCERPTS FROM CHARTER OF KING JAMES VI.

AMES, by the Grace of God King of Scots, to all good men of his whole territories, clergy and laity, greeting. Know ye that we, after our perfect age and all our general revocations, have RATIFIED, APPROVED, and for us and our successors have perpetually confirmed a Charter granted by the late James the Fourth, of blessed memory, dated the nineteenth day of March in the year of our Lord one thousand five hundred and eleven, and twenty-fourth year of his reign, in favor of the Burgh and Burgesses of Dundee, containing an express ratification, approval, and confirmation of the writs and charters therein specified and inserted made by our most noble predecessors, of the liberties of the said Burgh; of which the first was a Writ granted by the late ROBERT, King of Scotland, constituting his Chancellor and Chamberlain of the realm in his name to examine into the liberties which said Burgesses had or possessed in the time of ALEXANDER, King of Scotland, and his predecessors, and a return thereof by the said Chancellor and Chamberlain on evidence taken of the liberties and privileges which were possessed by the said Burgesses and Burgh of Dundee; also a Charter (dated 4th March, 1327) granted by the said King Robert, renewing to the said Burgesses and their successors all the rights and liberties which they had and possessed in the reign of WILLIAM the First, King of Scotland, and before the said WILLIAM had given the said Burgh to his brother DAVID, and with all the immunities and customs, with free market and fairs, which they held in the time of ALEXANDER, King of Scotland, and with certain other grants, liberties, and privileges as in the Charter are particularly expressed; also the Charter granted by DAVID, King of Scots, granting to the Burgesses and their successors the said Burgh and its privileges and pertinents, and with the special powers and privileges of merchandise therein mentioned. Also confirming the following particular Charters, viz.—a Charter granted by ROBERT (II.),

King of Scotland, dated eighth May, in the eighth year of his reign, to Patrick of Inverperer of all and whole the third part of the lands of Craigie, with the fishings and other pertinents, lying in the barony of Dundee and Sheriffdom of Forfar, at one time resigned by the late Alexander Scrymgeour, Constable of Dundee, sometime superior, and of Walter of Balmossie, sometime proprietor of the said third part of land: Holding of us, and our successors, for service of Burgh use and wont: And the special license to the said PATRICK or Inverperent to mortify said third part of land of Craigie as he should think fit, and for his heirs and successors to hold the said Mortification for such purpose, in full of all exaction and secular service; with the Mortification of the same afterwards made and granted to the Chaplainry of St. Mary in St. Clement's Church of Dundee, and the Chaplainry hold the superiority of the said third part of the lands of Craigie.—[The dominium utile of the lands as specified had been feued by the Chaplain, as already shewn, prior to the date of this Charter, and the superiority was only then held. And also all other lands, tenements, and annual rents belonging to or held by the said Chaplainry of St. Mary and Church of St. Clement, with the pertinents, wherever situated in Burgh or landward, in the persons of the Provost, Bailies, and Council of the Burgh of Dundee, and their successors, for ever. . . And lastly, a Charter made by our late beloved mother MARY, by the Grace of God Queen of Scots, with the advice of her secret Council, giving, granting, and for herself and her successors for ever confirming to the before-named Provost, Bailies, Council, Community, and their successors, All and Singular lands, tenements, houses, buildings, churches, chapels, yards, orchards, crofts, annual rents, fruits, duties, emoluments, eleemosynary farms (the "daill sylver") accustomed and termly, whatever, which belonged or were known to belong to any chaplains, alterages, or prebends in any church, chapel, or college founded within the liberty of the said Burgh of Dundee by any patron, of which the said chaplains or prebends were heretofore in possession, wheresoever they be or were levied respectively, with the manors, orchards, lands, annual rents, emoluments, and duties whatever which heretofore belonged to the Dominican and Franciscan Friars and Monks, the Gray Sisteris of the said Burgh of Dundee, together with All and Singular houses and tenements lying within the said Burgh and liberty thereof, with all annual rents out of whatever lands and tenements within the said Burgh given and founded to any chaplains, alterages, churches, mortifications, or anniversaries, wherever they be within our Kingdom, and with all and singular annual rents and other usual duties, or which can be asked by any other church without the liberty of the said Burgh from the Provost and Bailies of the same out of their common rent for celebrating public prayers, with all the pertinents thereof, to be united and incorporated in one body to be called the foundation of the Ministry and Hospital of Dundee.

This Royal Charter was Confirmed by Parliament in 1606, as follows:—

OUR Soverane Lord, with advyse of the Estates of this $\beta$nt Parlement, Remembering the trew and thankful service done to his Maj^{tie} be the Provost, Baillies, Counsal, and Communitie of the said Bur^t of Dondei, has ratified, approvit, and confirmit the Charter maid and grantit be our Soverane Lord, under his heiness great Seal, To the saidis Provost, Bailies, Council, and Community, In all and sundrie points, heidis, articles, clauses, circumstances, and conditions expressit and contenit in the foresaid Chartoris, with the haill jurisdictions, liberties, salmond feishings, mylnes, myln lands, customis, dueties, privileges, and immunities thairin mentioned, as well by water as by land, with the ports and havenis and herberis of the said Burgh; and also, for his heiness and his successors, Willis, decernis, and declaris that the foresaid Charter, with the Precept and Instrument following thereon, has been continuallie, fra the

THE TOWN'S MILLS AT PITKERRO AND ON DIGHTY.

BY a Charter by ALEXANDER SCRYMGEOUR, Constable of Dundee, he disponed in favor of the Burgesses and Community of Dundee one acre of land lying on that Croft of Pitcarouth (Pitkerro) called the Mills Croft. This Charter is without a date, but from the handwriting and other circumstances it appears to have been granted about the middle of the 14th century.

By Charter by James Durhame, Portioner of Pitkerro, in favor of the Provost, Bailies, Council, and Community of Dundee, he disponed a piece of land on the Lands of Pitkerro selected and marked out for the reparation and construction of a new corn mill for the common benefit of the Burgh. The date is not filled up, but the Instrument of Sasine in favor of the Town on the Charter is dated 8th May, 1589.

By a Minute of Sale, dated 18th September and 27th October, 1621, the Town sold to Mr.

James Durhame, Fiar of Pitkerro, the two Corn Mills of Pitkerro, with house, &c.

(These three foregoing ancient Writs are in Bundle 280.)

The Town had purchased from Scrimorour of Dudhope, Constable of Dundee, in 1612, the Mill and Mill Lands of Baldovan, and these were long held by the Town; and it will be seen from the various early Crown Charters the Town had the right of Thirlage or exclusive right of grinding corn for the Town and district. These Mills and Mill Lands and Thirlage were sold by public roup by the Town on 19th December, 1827, to the Baker Trade, at the price of £4,000, with £100 of yearly feu-duty, and redeemable except to the extent of £8 6s. 8d. yearly. The Mills latterly became the property of Mr. William Harris, and now belong to Sir John Ogilvy, Bart., who holds the same of the Town, for payment to the Town of the annual unredeemed feu-duty of £8 6s. 8d.—the feu-duty of £100 having, except to this extent, been redeemed.

By a Minute of Sale, dated 28th May, 1621, betwixt David Grahame of Fyntrie and Spouse and the Provost, Magistrates, and Council of Dundee, and Deacons of Crafts, he sold to the Town "All and Haill thais his thrie Corne Mylnis of ye Maynes of Erlis-Stradichtie, situat upon ye water of Dichtie, quhairoff ane is presentlie occupyit be Jhone Jackson and James Jobson, and ye uyer twa are presentlie occupyit be James Quhittit and Walter Scott, with the haill geir of ye saidis Mylnis as they are presentlie gangand, with all the damis, leadis, intakkis, and watter gaugis of ye saidis thrie Mylnis, togedder also with the water slousses and previleges yairoff, &c., as also the schelling hill of ye foresaid Myln occupyit be the said Jhone Jackson, lyand upone ye south syed of ye said lead, betwix ye samyne lead and corne land of ye said Maynes of Erlis-Stradichtie: Lykas thrie acris of arable landis of his Maynes of Erlis-Stradichtie lyand contiguous with the saidis Mylnis," with various privileges and passages, all as therein mentioned, lying in the Parochine of Mains, Regality of Kirriemuir, and Sheriffdom of Forfar,—To be holden feu for a yearly payment of £100 Scots.

By Contract of Feu between the Town of Dundee and James and George Kidd of Craigie, dated 12th and 14th May, 1722, and recorded in the Burgh Court Books 22nd February, 1774, the Town disponed to them All and Haill that East Miln of those three Corn Mills on the Water of Dightie disponed to them by the now deceased David Grahame of Fintry, together with the heall lying and going gear of the said Miln, dams, kilns, and parts and pertinents, bounded with the march stones presently erected and sett up betwixt the samen and the Lands belonging to the Middle Miln, belonging to the Town, on the west, and the old march stones and miln lead on the south, north, and east parts, with entry by 12-foot passage besouth the lead, as contained in the Town's rights to the Miln,—for a yearly feu-duty of 60 pounds Scots, with a prohibition that no grain shall be ground at the Miln belonging to Inhabitants of the Town of Dundee to the prejudice of the Town's other Milns on the Water of Dightie, &c.

This Mill is now, it is believed, held by Mr. TYRELL, who pays to the Town the annual feu-duty of 60 pounds Scots, or £5 sterling.

By Contract of Feu, dated 26th May, 1735, and recorded in the Burgh Court Books 8th October, 1756, the Town, for a consideration of 1200 merks Scots, sold to the Wauker Trade of Dundee "All and Haill that our Walk Miln, formerly a Corn Miln, being the midmost of these three Corn Milns purchased by the Town of Dundee from the deceased David Graham of Fintry, and commonly called the Midle Miln, with the arable land belonging thereto, sometime possesset by James Whitter, lying upon the Water of Deightie, as the same is presently possessed by the Walker Trade, with the hail gearage of said Miln as she is presently going, with all and sundry Dams, intacks, leads, water gaugs yrof, wt the privilege of winter slouses upon the east parts and sides of said leads, and with all and sundry houses, biggings, yards, and pertinents of same," for, in addition, a yearly feu-duty of £5 Scots payable to the Town of Dundee therefor.

This Mill is now held by CARGILL & Co., Bleachers, and is still known by the name of the Mid Mill; and they pay the annual feu-duty to the Town of 8s. 4d. sterling.

The Westmost Mill and Mill Lands (known latterly by the name of Fountainbleau) were sold by the Town's Trustees to Mr. Ersking of Linlathen and Fintry in 1852 for £950, and he to be bound to relieve the Town of the feu-duty of £100 Scots payable to the Laird of Fintry by the original Feu-Contract above-mentioned in 1621.

In this way the Town's Mills, which for many years were a source of considerable revenue to the Town, have all been disposed of.

Note.—The foregoing is only one of a series of Protests and remonstrances by the Inhabitants against the pretensions of the Constables. The Constables of Dundee appear to have for centuries been owners of the Barony of Dudhope, with extensive tracts of land adjacent to the Burgh of Dundee. The Constables had long interfered with the authority and jurisdiction of the Magistrates of Dundee, and many unseemly controversies, and even conflicts, had for years taken place between them. About the year 1669 or 1670, Treasurer Maitland of Hatton, and afterwards Lord Lauderdale, succeeded the Scringeous as Constable, and acquired by the female line the Dudhope Estates and other extensive properties in the neighbourhood of Dundee, with the Baronial rights over the Dudhope Estates. He continued to put in force, and to maintain with even more rigour than his predecessors, the rights assumed by the prior Viscounts of Dundee, and in consequence many disputes took place between him and the Inhabitants, who all through endeavoured to maintain the rights of the Magistracy within Burgh. The Constable raised proceedings before the Privy Council against the Provost and Magistrates to have his precedency declared and the Magistrates prohibited from interfering with his alleged prerogatives. The Privy Council, then no doubt very much under LAUDERDALE's influence, decerned in his favor, and in effect rendered the authority of the Magistrates powerless within the Burgh. This state of matters caused a continual irritation and dissatisfaction in Town, and on all occasions the Town Council resented this assumption so derogatory to their municipal dignity. They repeatedly protested against it, and threatened to obstruct the Constable in his attempts to administer jurisdiction within Burgh, but without effect. LAUDERDALE, on the other hand, raised proceedings before the Privy Council against the Provost and Magistrates for contempt of its decree, and also action of Lawburrows against them for forcibly interfering with him in the exercise of his jurisdiction in the Burgh. These proceedings were directed particularly against the then Provost George Brown,* by whose orders the proceedings complained of took place. LAUDERDALE was then in full influence both with the King and the Privy Council, and a severe punishment was inflicted on the Provost, obviously with the object of putting an end to farther interference by the Magistracy with the Constable's position and pretensions. The Privy Council deposed the Provost, and declared him to be incapable of holding public office in Dundee-said suspension to continue during their pleasure, and fined him in the sum of three thousand merks, and ordained him "to be committed to prison in the Tolbooth of Dundie until he should pay his fyne to his Majestie's Exchequer," and farther declared "that he was not to have his relief of the said fyne from the common geud of the Burgh or from any other persons whatsomever." This severity, particularly the provision prohibiting relief from the Town, was no doubt meant by LAUDERDALE to terrify any public man in the future from being a party to interfere with the Constable's actings.

Provost Brown, for his zeal in carrying out the resolutions of the Magistracy and Inhabitants, suffered in his private fortune and civil disability for six years. He then petitioned the Privy Council to have this civil disability removed and the prohibition to get relief of the fine against the Common Good and Community relaxed, on the ground that he was in all the matters only acting by the orders and instructions of the Town Council. The Privy Council, on 25th January, 1683, granted the prayer of his petition, and the following is an Extract of the Privy Council Decree in favour of the Provost:—

The Provost was son of the Bailie BROWN of Horn who was killed defending the Town when stormed by Monce.

AT Edinburgh the twentieth flifth day of January jaj. vi. & eighty-three years, Anent the petition presented by George Browne, late Provost of Dundie, Shewing that the petitioner being for the year 1676 Provost of the burgh of Dundie, and there having some debates fallen in betwixt the Lord Thresaurer Deput, as Constable, and the Magistrates of the said burgh anent their privileges, the petitioner was by the haill Counsell and communitie employed to manadge the defence of the said debate upon the publick expences of the said towne, and did obtain an act of the towne Councill, appointing him to go to Edinburgh, of his expences and all damages and prejudice he should happen to sustain upon that account. Being then pursued before the Privy Councill for some incroachments upon some of the Lord Treasurer Deput's priviledges as Constable, albeit the petitioner did act nothing by himself, but allenarly as Provost and by the unanimous consent of the haill councill and community of the burgh, he was fyned in the sowme of three thousand merks, and imprisoned ay and untill he made payment of the samen, and, as a part of his sentence, he was declared by the Privy Council to have no relieff thereof either out off the common good or from any of the inhabitants within the burgh; as also ordained to be removed from the office of a Provost within the said burgh and discharged to exercise the office of Magistracy therein during the Privy Councill's pleasure: And seeing that it is evident by severall acts of the said Towne Councill and authorities and commissioners that what the petitioner did therein was as Provost, and by the unanimous consent of the haill Councill and inhabitants, and by their directions, and that they obliged themselves to re-imburse the petitioner of what prejudice he should happen to sustain upon that account; and seeing that the foresaid acts and commissions were not under the Lords of Privy Councill their consideration the time of the foresaid sentence, and that the towne councill and inhabitants do scruple and are affrayed to refund the petitioner the said three thousand merks of fyne, albeit they themselves obtained the gift thereof for repairing of their harbour, so long as the foresaid sentence and warrant stands in the way unrescinded, neither can the petitioner pursue for restitution thereof before the Judge competent without a formal act of the Council rescinding the foresaid restraint, and if the same were rescinded, the petitioner is very hopeful that the towne Councill and inhabitants of the said burgh would willingly and readily make payment without any further trouble or words; and seeing the petitioner has this six years lyan under the incapacity of bearing charge within the Burgh, and that it is a talk upon the Petitioner's reputation, and that it would be hard he should ly longer under the samen, being known to be of loyall principles, and both ready and willing to serve his Majesty in any station at all occasiones: And therefore humbly supplicating that the Councill would take off the foresaid restraint discharging the petitioner from having his relieff as said is, that he may be repayed by the said burgh of the foresaid sowme wherein he was fyned, and wherewith they themselves did intromitt, and also to take off the foresaid incapacitie of bearing charge of Magistracy within that burgh in time coming, seeing it is well known that he is of most orderly principles, and has been very usefull in keeping the people in their due obedience to his Majesty's laws, and is still ready and willing to serve his Majesty in any station at all occasions; as also, seeing not only the petitioner himself was robbed of the greatest part of his fortune in his Majesty's service, but also his father was deprived of his life and killed in the said service by the usurpers at the Storme of the said burgh,—The Lords of his Majestie's Privy Councill, having heard and considered the foresaid petition, Doe hereby Repone and Restore the supplicant against the foresaid sentence of Councill incapacitating him to bear publick office and charge within the foresaid burgh, and appoints intimation to be made to the Magistrates of the burgh of Dundie of the supplicant's desire to be refunded of the fyne and expences disbursed by him in the foresaid pursuite by the Magistrates, their order and commission, to the effect they may appear the twenty-two day of March next to come, and give in their reasons why the same ought not to be refunded (if any they have): With certification, The saids Lords will referr the said matter to the Judge ordinarie for the petitioner's restitution, and that they shall not be heard thereupon thereafter before the Councill. Ext. by me,

(S. WILL: PATERSON, Cls. Sec. Con.

The Provost afterwards obtained a Decreet for the fine and expenses against the Magistrates and Council; and, as he was merely the instrument in carrying out the public wish and feeling, no doubt ultimately got his relief from the Town.

The Resolutions regarding these transactions are in the Council Minute Books, and the Decrees of the Privy Council are among the Town's Papers—No. 281 of Inventory.

Major General Graham of Claverhouse subsequently got a grant of the office of Constable, with Dudhope Castle and a portion of the Dudhope Estates, including particularly lower Dudhope, when the arbitrary pretensions of the prior Constables were pushed even to farther extremities by Claverhouse, and his arrogance in attempting to subject the Magistracy and Council to his authority caused an open conflict, and Claverhouse was obliged to leave the Town to escape the vengeance of the citizens. He returned with a military force to overawe the Municipality, but—as is narrated in history—was unsuccessful, and his services in the field being at this time required by the King, his subsequent death at Killiecrankie relieved the Town from farther apprehensions. The office of Constable descended to the Douglas Family, and when Parliament, after Culloden, abolished all heritable and baronial jurisdictions, the Duke of Douglas received £1,800 as compensation for the abolition of the ancient office of Constable of Dundee.

No. 119. Act of Privy Council in favour of the Masters and Seamen of Dundee for srecting of Inventory.

Lights at the mouth of the Tay, dated 24th February, 1687.

Edinburgh, the Twenty-fourth Day of February, 1687.

Corasmuch, as there having been an Address made to the Lords of His Majesties Privy Council, by the Masters and Seamen of Dundee and Tye; Humbly Representing, That whereas the River and Firth of Tay, having a narrow entry betwixt two dangerous Banks, has in all time by-past been Unnavigate and without the assistance of Lights or Beacons, to the great prejudice of Trade, Ruine and Loss of Men's Lives, (as by sad experience is well known within these Five Years by-past:) And now there being an exact Plate and accurate Description of the said River and Firth, by John Adam, Geographer, who has actually Navigate the samen, whereby it may be entred without hazard in Day-Light, but under Night, the best experienc'd Seamen not daring to attempt the same, are ofttimes put to Sea, or constrained to turn all Night with great hazard in the outward Bay, (Strangers ordinarly running Ashoar and loosing all:) Which great hazard and loss may be altogether prevented by erecting One Light or Two upon the Button-Ness. And therefore humbly Supplicating the saids Lords, to grant Warrant for erecting the saids Lights: And that each Voyage, Twelve Pennies Scots for each Tun from all the Ships, Barks, or other Vessels, coming into Tay, be exacted by the saids Masters and Seamen, or their Box-Masters, seeing they, as a Fraternity, are willing to erect the saids Lights or Beacons, and maintain the same upon their own Expences. Which Petition being given up to the Earl of PANMURE, to see and answer in so far as concerned his Interest. And upon the Twenty-seventh Day of January last, It being Recommended to the said Earl by the Council, (after hearing his Answers,) to allow the saids Lights and Beacons, the same being of so great advantage to Seamen and Passengers, coming and going the said River and Firth. And this Day, the said Earl of PANMURE, having declared his Consent to the erecting the saids Lights and Beacons. And there being a Bill given in, by the Magistrates and Town Council of Dundee: Desiring, That the saids Undertakers might be Obliged, to erect and keep up the saids Lights; and Oblige themselves to that effect, in manner Underwritten. Note.—This Crown Charter in favor of the Town proceeded upon a resignation of the Estates to the Crown by the Earl of Lauderdale and Sir Robert Milne, on behalf of the Creditors of the late Earl, for new investiture to the Town to confirm by Crownholding the purchase of the Properties by the Town for the price of "fourtie thousand nyne hundred and nynty pounds Scots." The Disposition by the Earl's son and Sir Robert Milne, following on the sale in favor of the Town, recorded in the Books of Council and Session on 10th April, 1738, an Extract of which will be found under No. 5, Box 3 (Hilltown Writs), besides the Dudhope Properties, Superiorities, and Estates as embodied in the subsequent Crown Charter, proceeds—"sicklyke we hereby Sell and Dispone to the Magistrates, Council, and Community of the said Burgh, for the use thereof, the heall Seats, Desks, and Burial-place which belonged to the family of Dudhope within the Kirk of Dundee, with warrandice from our own facts and deede allenarly."

The Town by this transaction, besides the Patronage of the Parish Church of Dundee, acquired all the Estate and rights in the Dudhope Estates, Barony, and others, held by Lord LAUDERDALE, with the exceptions as specified in the Charter. The properties so purchased by the Town were extensive, and lying on, around, and to the eastward of the Law Hill. It included, besides the Superiorities of the feued portions of the Hilltown proper on both sides of the street, the lands around the Law, which subsequently became to be known as Coldside, Backside, Hospital or Stirling's Park, Easter and Wester Clepington (superiority), Caldrum Green, Hogfaulds, also the Forebank and Laighshed, Seamen's Acres, the lands feued to the Guildry, Kirk Fabric, Shortbank Acres, the Cathcart Mortification, Roger's Mortification, and Poor Widows' Fund, to the westward of the Hilltown.

The Town, about the beginning of the 18th century, became greatly involved in debt, and the Creditors were pressing for payment. The Council were urged to dispose of the Hilltown Property and Barony, with the Feus, but, considering the main object in acquiring the Barony, declined to do so. They however resolved to dispose of the unfeued lands acquired under the purchase and Crown Charter. The resolution in the following Minute of Council, dated 6th December, 1703, was accordingly come to:—

MINUTE OF MEETING OF COUNCIL, 6th DECEMBER, 1705.

"The Councill, with the Conveener and nyne deacones of Trades, being conveened to considere ane proposall by the Comitie of the Towne's Creditors for selling the Lands of Hiltowne and Logie, alswell propertie as superioritie, at and against the first Tuesday of ffebe! next, they approve of the proposall for selling the Lands of Logie, both propertie and superioritie. But considering that the Barronie of Hiltowne, and the superioritie thereof, was purchased by the Towne for weightie reasones, such as the preventing trouble and expenses by want of the Patronage of the Kirk of Dundie, and for hindering persones to sett up in the Barronie of Hilltowne to the prejudice of Merchts residing and trading witin the Burgh. And considering likewise that ther are several Inhabitants in the Hilltowne that are burgesses of this Burgh, and pays stent with the Burgesses yrin, Therefore the ps Council and Trades, after voting, are unanimously of opinion that the superioritie of the Hiltowne and Patronage be not sold, But desires the lands to be feued out to as many people as will take the samen, to be holden of the Towne."

The Lands and Estate of Logie were disposed of to ALEXANDER WEDDERBURNE of Blackness, at the small price of 17,500 merks, or less than £900 Sterling, and a considerable sum was realized from the sale of the other lands of Dudhope and Hilltown towards payment of the Town's Debts.

There is a Minute of the Council, of date 7th September, 1706, in which they divided the cess of the feued portion of the Barony and Lands of Hilltown among the parties who had feued and acquired the same from the Town, in terms of the foregoing resolution of Council, as follows:—

Of the other Properties and Subjects acquired by the Crown Charter of 1697, and not formerly disposed of, the Council, by Minute dated 17th September, 1766, resolved to sell, as follows:—

"17th September 1766.

"The Council taking to consideration that it would be greatly for the advantage of the Town to sell the superioritys and Fews aftermentioned, and providing a good price was offered for the same, which superioritys and Fews holds of the Town, and are as follows, vizt., The superioritys and Fews of Eastor and Westor Clephentowns, one third part of Craigie (held of old under the Contracts of Feu), and the superioritys of Drumgeith and Baldovie and Duntron and Draffen. The Council therefore agree to sell the same in the division as above mentioned, vizt., the said superiority of Easter & Westor Clephentowns in one sett, The superiority of one third part of Craigie in another sett, Superiority and Fews of Drumgeith and Baldovie in another sett, and the superiority and Fews of Duntron and Draffen in another sett, appoints the same to be advertised in the news papers to be publickly sold upon Wedensday the Twenty-nint day of October next—the Roup to be within the Council Room of this Burgh,—and appoints the present and old Magistrates as a Committie to make up Articles of Roup thereanent."

These subjects were accordingly sold at the following prices:—

With the exception of Clepington and Draffin, which belonged to the Town, these subjects belonged partly to the Town and partly to the Hospital, and the prices were divided between the parties conform to their interests, all as detailed in a Minute of the Town Council of date 16th January, 1768.

MAINS OF DUDHOPE. CONSTITUTION ROAD, AND CHAPELSHADE LANDS.

[In 1749 the Town Council, with the view of preparing for the extension of the Burgh, resolved to feu from the then proprietor of the Mains of Dudhope (Mr. Boyes) about forty-four old acres of the Mains adjoining the Burgh, and bounding on the south with the Hospital Wards and the Town's Meadows. These feued lands from the Mains property was a separate and subsequent transaction from the purchase of the Hilltown Lands from LAUDERDALE, and were part of the subjects or dominical lands exempted from the original purchase by the Town from Lord LAUDERDALE, as contained in the Royal Charter to the Town in 1697. These subsequently feued lands of the Mains extended northward from Bell Street toward the Hill to the present Dudhope Terrace Road, including the greater part of Messrs Gilroy's Works, Ferguson & Sons' Works, to Session Street, the present site of the Court Houses, Prison, Constitution Burying Ground, Chapelshade, old Cattle Market, Dudhope Crescent, and Infirmary Grounds, then eastward by the Dudhope Terrace Road, turning northward from the east end of Somerville Place to the northern boundary of the feus of Mr. HEAN and Mr. BEGG, where it bounds with the Hospital Park, and thence southward, including the Bleaching Green and Garland Place, the feus in the Constitution Road to the westward of Dallfield, Chapelshade, the Ladywell, to Bell Street.]

Through the qlks. it was then considered that the said cause wherefore the said Letters were given to ilke ane of yo saids craftes, vizt., for upholding the st Idolatrie, was manifest wicked and ungodly, and express against the Comon Profession; and that then the deacons and masters of y foresaid craftes present had consented and oblidged themselves to give yearly for ye uphold of faithfull ministers in this congregation for preaching of your word of God and administration of y sacraments sincerely y until the soumes of money y in expressit, ilke ane of them for y' own partes, conform to y' particular division contained in the said ratificatione, Extending in the heall to twentysix pound thirteen shilling four pennies, and that at two terms in the year Whitsunday and Martinmas, be equall portiones: Wherefor the then Provost, Baillies, and Councell of this Burgh, for them and their successors, ratified, approved, and confirmed the foresaid letters of Batificatione made and given be their saids predecessors to y' foresaids craftes, and every ane of them, and of all stents, taxes, contributiones, unlaws, liberties, and privileges contained y'intill, Except only the upholding of y said pretended chaplain & altar: In place y of they should pay the saids ministers for y uphold the services befor-mentioned, as God and good conscience would, but (without) obstacle, contradiction, or revocatione, As the foresaid ratificatione, containing in the end thereof ane provisione that ye forsaids letters should not bind the saids craftes perpetuallie to yo pay! of yo soumes above writen for you phold of you saids ministers, But till such time, and ay & while further and good order and generall reformation should be made in such cases throughout the whole realme: And that y' said ratification should stand in the meantime in effect: And that the giving and offering of ye said letter should be no wayes hurtfull nor prejudiciall to ye saids old letters of ye saids craftes, nor na privilege y'of, But the samen to remain in fortification and coroboration y'rof, Except befor excepted: And that y' forsaids letters should not prejudice nor make no innovation to ye Contract made betwixt y Magistrates and Craftes since y date of the saids letters, But rather also fortification y'rof, as is above expresst, Of the date forsaid showen to the saids Provost, Bailies, & remanent members of Councell, in it self more amply proports. and that at two terms in y year, Whitsunday and Martinmas in Winter, be equal portiones—Beginning the first termes pay! at Martinmas next, jaj. vic. nyntie-nyn years, and sua forth yearly and termly y after.

Note.—The Guildry, Nine Trades, and Seamen Fraternity had for many years contributed yearly a share of the Stipend to the Minister of the South Church. It was paid direct to the Minister, but when the then Minister (Dr. TAYLOR), in 1860, refused to take the small Stipend of £105, alleged by the Town to be the legal Stipend, and raised an action against the Town for his share of the Hospital Fund, these contributions were not taken, and arrears accumulated during the course of the tedious litigation. After the passing of the Churches Act of 1864, when the Town and Hospital had to increase the Stipend, and pay up bygones, those sums in use to be paid by the Guildry, Nine Trades, and Seamen Fraternity, and then in arrear, were declared to be payable to the Town as part of the increased Stipend. The Town accordingly made claim for these arrears, but the Incorporations refused, alleging that they were merely voluntary contributions, and that now there was no obligation on them to pay. In 1866, Mr. Kerr, Town Clerk, reported that the parties had been in use to pay since 1624, and he quoted a Minute of Council and Deacons of Trades regarding these payments (29th July, 1624), when Mr. John Duncanson was elected to be one of the Town Ministers for serving the cure of the Kirk of the Burgh, stating that his Stipend was to be 800 merks, with £60 Scots for house Mail. The 800 merks were to be paid-500 merks by the Treasurer of the Burgh out of the Burgh Funds, and 300 merks by the Hospital Master. "Of the 300 merks the said Hospital Master shall be relieved yearly by the Collectors of the Gild. the Mariners, the Litsters, and the Maltmen, of sa mickell as they have been in use to pay of before, viz., the Gild, three score merks; the Crafts, fifty-two merks; the Sailors, thirty merks; the Maltmen, thirty merks, the Litsters, twelve merks." These sums, Mr. Kerr reported, agreed substantially with the modern payments. Mr. Kerr farther reported that he found no special reason given for the payment, but he supposed it must have been by some prior arrangement. It will now be seen from the foregoing Agreement and Obligation that such was the case, and that the obligation is an onerous one. The later Agreement refers specially to the more ancient one, and the foregoing Confirmation by the Council of the Trades' rights is made subject to the payment towards the Stipend. The Obligation seems therefore indisputable. arrears should now be paid, and the contribution continued as in former times. The Guildry have also since paid, having seen the obligation to that effect in the Deed of Discharge between the Town Council and them in 1817, after printed.

Note.—The Trades were in the practice immemorially of electing their Deacons in the Howff, and the practice only ceased when the Trades built their new Hall at the east end of High Street in 1778.

THIS day there was an Act read, dated 15 April, 1695, discharging any of the Town's Servants, from the highest to the lowest, to meddle or have any hand, directly or indirectly, in the Election of Magistrates or Members of Counsell, Deacon Convener or Deacons of

(This was repealed by the Act of Parliament 1819.)

Whilk promises I obliege me to observe & fulfill during all y° days of my lifetime, Be ye holy name of God y° father, sone, and holy ghost. Amen.

The Rebellion suspected.

At Meeting of Town Council, 29th July, 1715,—

BAILLIE ROBERTSON represented to the Counsell that he was informed of a suddain invasion to be made by the Pretender with a forraigne force from parts beyond Sea;—Did therefore think fit to Conveen the Counsell to consult with them what was proper for security of the town; which being considered by the Counsell, they hereby unanimously agree that guards be kept, and receive their orders from Baillie ROBERTSON, Provost GUTHRIE, and the Dean of Gild.

In the Volume of the Council Minute Book, the Minutes stop on the eve of the Rebellion of 1715, and the remainder of the leaves of that volume are not written on. This is accounted for by the Town Clerk (Mr. WEDDERBURNE) and the great majority of the Magistracy and Council being inclined to the Jacobite principles, and siding with the rising of the Earl of Mar in favour of the Pretender. The Town Clerk and most of the Magistrates openly espoused the cause of the Pretender, and indeed administered the Town's affairs for his behoof. On the approach of the Government Forces, under the Duke of Argyll, they fled, and left the Town without a Magistracy or Council. The Duke accordingly issued the Proclamation or Order, as follows (a Simile of which is given):—

To Mr. John Scrymgeour,

JAMES ALISON, DAVID MAXWELL, ALEX. PRESTON, JAMES FAIRWRATHER, and Mr. Mungo Murray.

The King thereupon granted warrant for the Inhabitants electing a Magistracy and Council by the following Order:—

ATT the Court of St. James's the 10 day of March, 1716,—

The King's Most Excellent Majesty in Councill.

PON reading this day at y° board a memoriall from y° Right Honble Sir David Dalrumple of Hailes, Barronet, his Majestie's Advocate; the Right Honorable Adam Cockburn of Ormistoun, Lord Justice Clark, and Sir James Stewart of Goodtrees, Barronet, his Majestie's Sollicitor, dated in Edinburgh the 20th February last, and directed to y° Right Honorable the Lord Viscount Townshend, his Majesty's principal Secretary of State, touching y° most proper method of resetling y° Magistracy of severall towns in North Brittain in such manner as may most contribute to the restoring of the peace of those towns, and to y° securing ỹrof for the future: And whereas it hath been represented to his Majesty that severall Burghs in North Brittain were att Michaelmas last (the ordinar and legall time of their election of Magistrates) entirely hindred from makeing such election, according to their severall constitutions, or that where the formality of election has been observed, being then under the power & inspection of y' Rebells the freedome of such election has been thereby restrained. And the Burgh of Dundie, in particular, having lying under such or the like circumstances befor mentioned. His Majesty in Councill, takeing the same into consideration, is pleased to order, and it is hereby ordered, that a popular election be made by yo Burgesses & inhabitants resident win and bearing a share of yo common burdens of ye said Burgh of Dundie, by poll of twenty-one persones to be common councellours, with powers to them to elect their officebearers, according to the sett and constitution of ye said Brough, to ye end yt ye Magistrates and Counsellours of ye said Brough may continue from that time foreward untill yo ordinar time of yo annuall Change of the Magistrates & Counsellours of ye said Brough in ye year to come; and it is hereby further ordered, That yo Duke of Douglas, Lord-Lievtenant of the Shire of Angus (within which the said Brough lies), and Constable of the said Brough, and his Constable-Depute, ———— Esq., —— HALLYBURTON of Pitcur, Esq., —— Scrymsour of Tealline, Senior, Esq., —— Scrymsour of Tealline, Junior, Esq., or any three of ym, are hereby authorised and required to convocate & assemble (giveing due intimation) the Burgesses & inhabitants aforesaid win ye said Burgh, at a certain convenient day in the month of Apryll next ensueing to be by yem, or any three of them, appointed, and yre and then to oversee and direct y° said election, according to y° rules in use to be observed in such cases, and to form ane authentick Instrument yrupon, under their subscription and manuall, to be reported to his Majesty in Councill for his Royal Confirmation,—of all & qch y persones before named are to take notice, & to pay due obedience to his Majesty's pleasure herein signified.

And on 26th April, 1716, a Magistracy and Council were appointed accordingly, and approved of by his Majesty, as contained in a Minute of the Town Council dated 28th July, 1716.

THE TOWN COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS IN REGARD TO THE REBELLION: 1716-18.

[For several years prior to the Rebellion there appears to have been a strong leaning of those in municipal authority towards the Jacobite cause. Great zeal seems to have been displayed in spreading these views among the people; and when the rising took place, almost all those in authority sided with the Pretender.

They seem to have opened the Town's Churches to the Jacobite Preachers, and the School-masters of the Burgh seem to have aided the Magistracy.

The following Minutes of the Town Council shew the state of the Town at this time.]

Deposition of Mr. ALEXANDER WEDDERBURN, Town Clerk, for aiding the Rebellion, 1716.

T the first meeting of the New Council on 26th April, 1716, an investigation was ordered into the conduct of the Town Clerk (Mr. WEDDERBURN), and on 1st May it was reported that the Committee appointed had enquired anent Mr. WEDDERBURN'S affair, and that WILLIAM GIBB, Maltman in Dundee, informed, and offered to prove that yo said ALEXANDER WEDDERBURN yo sixth of January last accompanyed yo Earls of MAR and MARCHALL, and several Gentlemen that were in the Rebellion, to y' Counsell-house of this burgh, where they were getting a treat and burgess tickets, and acted as Clerk; and was Clerk at rouping of yo pettie Customs of this Burgh under those who exercised as Magistrates in y Rebellion; and yt ye said Alex. Wedderburn went to ye cross of this Burgh with those in the Rebellion at some of y' rebellious solemnities, and y'after he went out with the Pretender when coming to this toune, and that he collected y' excise for the Rebellion for the rebels' behoof.

The Counsell was to consider the information.

On 8 May Mr. WILLIAM GIBB laid before the Counsell two Burgess Tickets, both dated 12 Jany. last, in favor of the therein designed James, Earl of Sinmouth, & y° oỹr in favor of Colonel Francis Bulky, both granted be y° yr designed Sir Alex. Watrson, Provost, Mr. W. Ramsay, Dean of Gild, & signed be Alexander Wedderburn, as Clerk. The Counsell recomend the Provest to write to y° Lord Justice Clerk anent the said tickets and information agt y° said Alex. Wedderburn.

It is well known that a long prosecution followed this information, and that Mr. WEDDER-BURN, who, in addition to his office of Town Clerk, was stated to be also Sheriff-Depute and Sheriff-Clerk of Forfar, was deposed from the office of Town Clerk, and obliged to deliver up the Town's Books and Papers, the following being the grounds of his deposition, in addition to his refusal to attend the Council when cited, on 9th August:—

That the said ALEXANDER WEDDERBURN attended the Counsal with the rebels, treated them there, and distributed Burgess Tickets; went to the Cross to proclaim the Pretender, and also went & mett the Pretender when coming into Dundee, and came in with him and his sword drawn in his hand, and also collected the Excise for the use of the Rebels, and administered the affairs of the Burgh on behalf of the Pretender.

Deposition of Mr. Lyon, Schoolmaster, for favouring the Rebellion.

Town Councill, 1st May, 1716.

THE Councill taking into y' consideration y' information laid before them be y' united Presbetaries of Dundie & Forfar, ag! Mr. Patrick Lyon, Master of the Grammar School of Dundie, mentioning that, whereby Acts of Parliament & Assemblies of this Church by law established, It is ordained that all School Masters and teachers of youth should suscribe the Confession of faith, adhere to the doctrine y'in contained, and attend y' worship of God as established in this national church. Yet notwithstanding yt, Mr. Patrick Lyon hade, even after scribing the said Confession of faith, adopted other principles in opposition y'to, & committed or practices contrair to the same, such as teaching his scholars a Catechism never allowed of nor approven by said Church; secondly, that he deserted the Communion of this Church, & by example encouraged y youth to do so likeways; (3^{to}), That he joined a schismatical meeting-house set up in opposition to Church and State, & y'in officiated as an elder, & (4tio), y' in y' time of y' unnaturall Rebellions y' said Mr. Patrick Lyon joined still in communion with these preachers who prayed expressly for y^o Pretender under the Title of King James ye Eight, &c.; & having called, examined, and heard Mr. Patrick Lyon on y said Information, The Councill finds him to have been a transgressor, & so deposes him from being any longer master of said school, & declares his place vacant.

Act of Council, Fining Members of Council if absent from Church, dated 2nd October, 1718.

THE Councill statute and enact, y^t each member of Councell not attending the Magistrates to the Church on Sabbath-day, and absenting from the Councell when warned thereto, without a relevant excuse, shall be amerciate in twelve shillings Scots; and each Member being long in coming in, within ane quarter of ane hour after the Councell sitts down, pay six shillings Scots to the Collector of the fines; as also, y^t each Member of Councell not attending the Magistrates to burrials, when warned by y^e Councell officer, pay six shillings Scots to the Collector of fines.

A similar enactment appears repeatedly in the Council Records.

Acts of Council against Inhabitants concerned in the Rebellion.

18th September, 1716.

THE Councell resolved to consider what course shall be taken with such of the Inhabitants as were active in the late Rebellion, and continue obstinat and absent from the Church, and instrumental in taking the town.

And on 25th September, 1716,—The Councell, on weighty considerations, statute and enact that in all time coming no Inhabitant of this Burgh that was active and assistant in the late unnatural rebellion, or were frequent hearers of the Pretender prayed for under the title of King James the Eight, be ever capable to carry any publick office in this Burgh for the future.

And on 30th September, 1718,—The Councell, considering ane Act of Councell of date 25 Sept., 1716, anent those that were concerned in the late unnatural rebellion—their being in any trust or publick office within this Burgh; and likeways the inconveniences that may arise from admitting any of those to be qualified, in order to y' being capable of enjoying the said trust or office, and that ane Magistrate may be imposed upon to qualifie such, not knowing those persones circumstances q° desire to be qualified: Therefore the Councell not only hereby ratify, approve, and confirm the foresaid Act of the 25 Sept., 1716, But also statute and ordains that in all time coming if any Inhabitant of this Burgh shall compear before any Magistrate therein and desire to be qualified, the said Magistrate shall not qualifie the st person by himself, but shall inquire into that person's behaviour, and report the same to the Councell, who either shall allow him to be qualified or not, as they see cause.

Act of Council prohibiting Jacobite Preachers from occupying the Town Churches, 1717.

N 28th May, 1717, on a Petition given in to "The Lord Provost, Magistrates, and remanent Members of Council by the Ministers of the Gospel in Dundee, and in name of the Kirk Session," stating that the Magistrates and Council in the year 1713 had allowed Jacobite Preachers to use the Cross Church, and the use therein of the Liturgy of the Church of England, contrary to Law, and craving the said Lord Provost and Magistrates and Council to annul and rescind the foresaid illegal act of the Council, and to affirm the just rights of the Town's Ministers, and prohibit and discharge all others from occupying said Church in time coming—"and the Lord Provost, Magistrates, & Town Councill being well & wysely advised in the said matter, find that the said Act of Councell was illegal, & against the just right of the ministers of the legally established Church government, in so far as the said Cross Church is a part of the West Church of Dundee, & was always made use of as a part of the samen, particularly at the celebration of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, & y' w'out the use of the Cross Kirk the minister could not conveniently dispose of the elements; & likewise that the same was a burial-place, & several gentlemen & Inhabitants had head-rooms in it: And also, considering that the persons creavers of the said Act of Councill, & y^r preachers, were not in the terms of the Act of Tolleration, being in no manner of way qualified in the terms of the said Act, & that it has appeared by the consequences that the same was only designed as a nursery & seminary to Jacobites, & to foment the Rebellion ag. the protestant religion & succession, Therefore the said Lord Provost, Magistrates, & Councillors rescinded, reduced, lapsed, & annulled the said Act of Councill so illegally alienating the said part of the West Church, commonly called the West Kirk. Likeas, they hereby, rescind, reduce, lapse, & annull the st Act, & they hereby decern & declare the samen to have been from the beginning, to be now, & in all time comeing, void & null, and of no effect, strength, or force, any maner of way, in all points as if the same had never been made; & sicklike, the standard Provost, Magistrates, & Councill decerned & declared, as they hereby decern & declare, That before, now, & in all time coming the just right of possession of the said Cross Kirk belonged, & shall belong only to the legally established ministers and Kirk session of this Burgh; & the said Lord Provost, &c., have discharged, likeas they hereby discharge all persons qtsomever to intrude or incroach upon or molest the said Ministers & Kirk Session in the peacable possession of the said part of the West Church, commonly called the Cross Kirk, & that under the pains & penalties contt in the Acts of Parliament against Intrusion, & oğr Acts of Parliament made in favour of the Presbiterian Church in Scotland."

THE OLD TOLBOOTH AND NEW TOWN HOUSE.

Report by Mr. WILLIAM ADAM, Architect, Edinburgh, on the Old Tolbooth of Dundee.

On 27th June, 1730,—

THE Provost produced Mr. Adam, Architect, his opinion and Declaration in writing anent the Tolbooth or Town House of this Burgh, which was read in Councill, the Tenor qrof follows,—

Dundee, the sixteenth of June, Jai. vij. c. and thirtie years, That whereas the Town House of this Burgh being in danger of falling, Therefore the Honourable The Lord Provost and Magistrates of this Burgh having called me to inspect and report the condition ỹrof, and in obedience to their desire, I have viewed and considered all the parts of the said House, from which I see the same to be in a very ruinous condition: The particulars whereof follow.

1st The north side wall fronting the principall street being fourty-one feet high, and the south side wall being fourty-eight feet high from the floors of the shades or area backward, are fifteen inches bending over at the top from the straight line when stretched betwixt the east and west corners on both sides, and so in proportion has seperate and gone from the ffloors of the different storeys even to the foundation or ffloors of the vaults, by which it appears that neither the ffloors nor vaults are now of any manner of use to, or contribute to the strengthening of these side walls;

2nd The roof of the house, by the yielding of the side walls, is now so much raised and disjoyn'd that the pressure from it upon the side walls is much more than formerly, and must increase in proportion as the walls give way, seeing by how much more the walls yield the rooff becomes so much the flatter and the Joynts you find the opener, so that the pressure becomes ellaterall, which in time will infallibly push over the walls; and this might happen when the Inhabitants are not apprized of it;

3d From the whole 'tis evident that this house cannot stand long, nor is it capable of repair: Wherefore I give it as my opinion, that in order to prevent the bad consequences that might attend the falling ÿrof, the same should be taken down without loss of time,—by which the materials, vizt. slate, timber, and stone may be preserved and afterwards become of very good use in rebuilding such a Town House as may be judged proper by the Lord Provost, Magistrates, Town Councill, and Inhabitants of this Burgh. Whereas, if by the delay of taking down, the fall ÿrof might not only occasion melancholy consequences to some of the Inhabitants, But also the timber and other materials rendered unfitt for use. This Declaration given at Dundee date foresaid by (sic subscribitur) William Adam, Architect.

And for which Declaration and opinion the Provost acquainted the Council that they had given Mr. Adam three guineas and spent with him some bottles of wine in Mr. Murray's house to the value of thirteen shillings and threepence sterling, and that he was to send over to the Magistrates two Plans or Draughts of a Town House and estimate of the charges of building yrof, that they may choice either, for which he is to be payed,—whereof the Council approve; and the said Declaration was delivered to Baillie Robertson, who is going Commissioner to the Burrows.

THE TOWN HOUSE

On 25th November, 1730, a Petition, "signed by a great many substantial Gild Brethren, Burgesses, and Inhabitants," was presented to "The Honourable The Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Council," to take down the Prison as ruinous, and to build a new one.

And on 6th December, 1730, Andrew Smarr, Mason, offered to take down the Old Prison for £50 sterling, he declaring "that this was the least he could do it for, he being at all charges thereanent, and to take down sclates, timber, & stones, & iron work as carefully as possible, and to set up the sclates in the Grammar School Closs, and big up the Stones carefully on the Stret & at the back of the said toun house, & to separate the good stones from the worse ones, and to big up all stones that may be useful for rebuilding the said house." This offer was accepted.

The Council acted on the representation of the Inhabitants, and Mr. William Adam, Architect, prepared the Plan for the new Town House, and gave along with it an Estimate of the cost of building it, amounting to £2,852 3s. 1d. sterling. His fee for preparing the Plan and Estimate was Thirteen guineas, which was on 25th November 1731 ordered to be paid.

On 3d January, 1732, the Provost reported to the Council that He and the Comitee appointed last Councill day to converse with ANDREW SMART, Mason, anent building the Town House, had done so. He produced in Councill an Estimate by Mr. SMART, of which the Councill approved, and the prices put on the sd work, and appointed the Contracts to be drawn up and signed by the Magistrates and Councill and the sd Andrew SMART accordingly. And the Provost was requested to ascertain if Bailie Watson would undertake the oversight of the Building and provide all necessary materials, and what compliment he would demand for doing the same.

It was subsequently agreed that Bailie Warson should get £100 for this duty, and a Committee of the Council was appointed to advise with him in anything material regarding said Town House under these Contracts; and application was made by the Council to Edinburgh to ascertain on what terms the Banks would advance the necessary funds for this Building.

The price agreed on with Andrew Smart, Mason, for the hewn stone for the Town House was One shilling sterling per foot. And the Council also agreed to pay the Laird of Craigie £25 for stones from Craigie Quarry required for the New Town House.

THE CLOCK FOR THE TOWN HOUSE.

21st June, 1735.

THE Provost reported that the Committee formerly named for communeing wt ALEX. SMITH anent makeing a Clock to the Town House,—that they had accordingly communed with him, and that he was willing to make a Clock to the Town House of any Dimensions the Councill pleased to name, and to allow them six or twelve months' tryall, and to Referr the sufficiency and price of said Clock to two tradesmen, to be chosen one by the Town and anoyer by him, after said tryall, and if found not sufficient, to take her back. The Councill recommend to the Provost and Bailie Kinloch, when at Edinburgh, to advise what kind of a clock will be best—whether ane eight-day or thirty-hour clock.

On 15th July, 1735, the Provost reported that he had inquired in Edinburgh what clock would be most proper to the Town House, and recommended that a thirty-hour clock was best, and that the wheels were all to be made of brass.

After the Clock had been tried for six months, two referees were appointed to value it, as agreed on,—George Scorr, Clockmaker, Cannongate, Edinburgh, being the Town's Referee,—and they made a Report to the Council on 5th May, 1737, that the referees had valued the Clock at £150, and £8 8s. was allowed between the referees as their fees for the Report,—all which was approved of.

The cost of the Town House, Clock, and Steeple Furnishings, with various alterations, may be stated to have come to nearly £4000.

Gift of the Three Lustres in Town Hull by G. PATERSON, Esq., 1775.

31st Oct. 1775.—The Provost produced in Council a Letter from George Paterson, Esq., of London, addressed to him as Provost, advising that he had sent the Town a present of three lustres, which he beg'd the Council's acceptance of, as a mark of his partiality and regard to the Town,—which letter was read in Council, and they unanimously authorize the Provost to write to Mr. Paterson that they with pleasure accept of so handsome a present made in so genteel a manner, and to return the Council's grateful acknowledgements for a favor on which the esteem and regard they have for the Donor stamped a double value, and to assure Mr. Paterson that it gives the Council a sensible satisfaction that these returns of gratitude are due to a Gentleman whom they are proud to number among their fellow-citizens.

EXCERPTS FROM

ACTS AND PROCEEDINGS OF THE MAGISTRATES AND COUNCIL DURING LAST THREE CENTURIES.

In former times, under what is generally called the Close Burgh System, but which is now abolished, the Magistrates and Council had great, indeed almost supreme authority within Burgh, and certainly their acts, and in most instances their just and reasonable regulations for the health and convenience of the Inhabitants, and good government of the Burgh, were worthy of all praise. The Guildry also, and the Incorporated Trades, had exclusive monopolies of Trade and Merchandize,—this was the universal usage in all our Scotch Burghs at the time, the modern principles of free trade not having then been understood or practised,—but it appears all through that an appeal lay to the Magistrates and Council against any oppression or supposed injustice or exercise of authority by the Guildry or Trades Incorporations, and throughout the Council Records there are frequent instances of application for such redress. The Magistrates and Council supported both the Guildry and Trades in the due exercise of their vested rights and privileges, and granted seals of cause to the several Corporations of their privileges of trade. The Magistrates and Council were strict in supervising all sorts of merchandize-food and drink and clothing of all kinds, and, indeed, from time to time regulated the quality and prices at which all such were to be sold, and had in existence a complete system of oversight and inspection. They regulated, also, the hours when public-houses should be shut, and supervised their measures, and made rules for the good government and for securing the peace of the Town. They appear for centuries to have paid strict attention to the matter of Education, and great care seems, from the numerous Minutes of the Council, to have been exercised to keep the Burgh Schools and Academy in a sound and efficient condition. The Masters or Doctors of the Grammar and of the other public Burgh Schools-all under the Council—had reasonable salaries provided for them from the Burgh revenues, and by law they held their offices as public servants ad vitam aut culpam. Those Burgh and Public Schools continued as a branch of the Municipal supervision till 1829, when those Schools were transferred to a Public Board under the name of the Public Seminaries, conform to rules, copy of which, and of the resolutions of the Council agreeing to the transfer, will be found in the printed Excerpts as to those Schools.

It may be interesting to give a few Excerpts from the Council Records in bygone times as to the acts and proceedings of the Municipal Authorities, illustrative of the system which prevailed in the Burgh for centuries.]

Court of Immoralities.

The Counsell on 27 November, 1716, "appoints ane Court of Immoralities to be kept every Monday afternoon, and the Constables to attend and give account of any Immoralities they know." They also ordered the Ports of the Burgh to be shut on the Sabbath Day, and in time of Divine Service.

A Memorial from the Kirk Session to the Council, anent irregular Marriages and Baptisms, was read, and which "the Councel are to consider of, and give concurrence according to Law."

Public-House Regulations.

The Magistrates and Council for centuries were strict as to Public-Houses, and throughout the Records their ordinances are recorded. A few instances may suffice.

So early as 1558 they made ordinance—

"Item, that na person within this Burgh be found walking in the night season privallie or openlie in the Streets or Yetts of the samin, nor drinking in any wynd or alchouse tavern within this Burgh after ten hours of the night, under the pain of fourtie shillings for the first fault, and for the next fault to be banished the Burgh; and that nane sall sell ale or harbour such persons, under the pain of banishing them the Toune."

Again, 15 January, 1717, "The Councill appoints the Drum to go through the Town discharging all venders of ale or liquors within this Burgh, or liberties yerof, to allow any person or persons to stay in their houses drinking after ten o'clock at night any work-day of the week, and not after nine o'clock on Saturday night, under the pain of fourty Shillings Scots toties quoties, to be exacted of the Master or Mistress of the house yerof—the half to the informer."

Another instance may be given, of a later date, in 1762-

"Item, the Sabbath to be religiously kept—no bakers to bake, nor barbers to dress wigs; and for better observance thereof, no inhabitant drink in any ale house or tavern the said day, under the penalties contained in the Act of Parliament thereanent; and that no Brewer or Vintner allow any person to drink within their houses on the Sabbath day (except strangers), under the penalty of four pounds Scots, to be exacted from the Master of the ale house toties quoties."

Another useful resolution appears, viz:-

"That all old iron, such as Keys of doors or girtles of Buckles, offered to be sold be first presented to the Deacon of the Hammermen, to see if it be come ane honest way, under such penalty as the Magistrate shall inflict."

The Town's Income—Ale and Beer Duty, &c., 1719.

During the whole of the 18th Century, and even until a very recent period, the Town's affairs (pecuniarly) were in a backward state, and their large and valuable properties consequently prematurely disposed of towards payment. The principal revenue the Town had at this time, and long afterwards, was the statutory imposition of two pennies Scots on the pint of Ale brewed in the Town. The Town depended very much on this revenue for carrying on its public business. The duty on the ale was continued by repeated Acts of Parliament till a very recent date, when it was abolished (1848). The Treasurer's receipts for it in the year 1715-16 amounted to £8,986 3s. 8d. Scots.

The Maltmen of the day were very backward in paying this impost, and severe measures were resorted to by the Magistracy to enforce payment.

The following resolution by the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Council in 1719 will shew the measures resorted to for recovery of the duties.

Tuesday 24 November, 1719—The Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Councill considering the great loss the Town's revenue sustains by severall of the Brewers being long deficient in payment of the dutie of two pennies per pint of ale, &c., payable to the Town by Act of Parliament, notwithstanding of the great defalkation allowed to prompt payers, and also the great expence the Town is putt in pursuing deficients by ordinary Court of law, which they are noways obliged to do by the st Act, all execution on such acts being summar by poinding, &c. For remied yreof they statute and ordain, and it is hereby statute and ordained, that from and after the last day of November instant the collector of the st duty of two pennies per pint of ale, &c., shall colect the same in the laigh Councill House, where he shall sitt five colecting days for every round, from two to four in the afternoon, and is to intimate his colecting dayes the day before he begins to collect by the Drummer, and every sederunt by ringing the Tolbooth Bell; and upon the day after the st collecting day he is to deliver a full and compleat list of the deficients to the Magistrate keeping the Court for the time, who shall order poinding for the same within eight days after; and if the said poinds be not relived within three days the said Magistrate shall order the same to be apprized and the Collector to be payed out of the price yreof in the first place; The expence of poinding & apprizing in the second place, and the remainder to be delivered to the resive persons from q^m the same were poinded; and the st. Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Councill declare that none that shall be given up deficient in the above-mentioned list shall be entitled to the ordinary defalkation for that round; and they discharge the Collector to allow the same.

Petition by the Candlemakers to be allowed to Increase the Price of Candles, 30th October, 1712.

This said day, anent the Petition given in by WILLIAM STIVEN and WILLIAM HENDERSON, Candlemakers, for y^mselves and in name of y^o oyer Candlemakers ther, shewing that where the Councell have been pleased to regulate y^o price of Tallow & Candle—the latter at four shills. six pennies per pound—at which rate the petitioners are not able without iminent lose to y^mselves to serve y^o liedges, by reasone of y^o scarcity of tallow, occasioned by the badness of weather; & such as doth come in is for a great part carried out of y^o Burgh & disposed of at oyr places where they have greater allowance for candle; & therefor craving to y^o effect after sp^{od}. q^k Petition being at length heard, seen, and considered by the Councell, They allowed, & hereby allows the Petitioners to exact four shillings eight pennies for the pound of Candle, they makeing the same sufficiently good & of good weeks.

Just as with the Gas in the present day, the Candle-light in earlier times was an essential for the public, and the Town Council were very strict in regard to it. They regulated the price from time to time, but great dissatisfaction existed by reason of the Candle-makers "abusing their privileges & making private concerts among themselves, and exporting the tallow." The Council were applied to for redress, and they reduced the price to four shillings Scots per pound, and granted privilege to any inhabitant to set up to make Candles, with liberty to buy tallow in the Burgh subject to the Council's regulation. Latterly the public dissatisfaction increased to a height (probably somewhat similar to what took place in more recent times as to the Gas-Light monopoly) that caused the Council to institute a prosecution against the Candlemakers. The following resolution was passed:—

On 1 November, 1716,—There being complaints given in against the Candlemakers for transgressing the common acts anent the price of the Candle, appoints them to be prosecuted for the same; and appoints the drum to go through the town to intimate that the Magistrates are to sitt this afternoon at two o'clock in the Town's Shop to receive in Complaints agt the Candlemakers.

The controversy continued for some years, but ultimately the Candlemakers had to succumb, and on 9th November, 1726, they presented a humble Petition to the Council, in which they refer to the reduction in price and their consequent severe loss; and as it was done "that the Petitioners might discover their dutifull regard to the Councell's just authority over them," they then go on to explain the case, and to shew that, from the rise in the price of material, they could not sell the candle at the prices formerly fixed by the Council, and craving the Council's compassion.—

"Which Petition being considered by the Councill, they allowed, & hereby allows the Petitioners and any others makeing or selling Candle within this Burgh to exact for the pound y'of, during the Councill's pleasure, four shillings and six pennies Scots, and no more, the duty imposed by act of Parliament being therein included,—Excepting furth of this act muilded candles, for which they are allowed to take five shillings Scots as formerly."

The Nine Incorporated Trades held an important place in the management of the municipal affairs of Dundee for ages. They had to be consulted by the Council and be parties to all acts of an important nature, particularly regarding finance and property; and in the well-known proceedings for deposing Mr. Wedderburn from the office of Town Clerk for espousing the Jacobite cause in 1715, Mr. Wedderburn, on being cited to appear before the Council to answer the charge, enquired at the officer whether all the Deacons of Trades were present, and on being told that one was absent, he declined to appear. This right held by the Trades was not enjoyed by the Three United Trades, whose seals of cause were of more recent date. The General Convention of Royal Burghs on 16th July, 1818, "Having resumed consideration of the Petitions (to alter the Sett of the Burgh) from the united Incorporations of Wrights, Masons, and Slaters of Dundee, and from the Incorporation of Masters and Seamen of that Burgh, the Convention refused the said Petitions, in respect the Petitioners have no interest in the political constitution of the Burgh."—(See No. 150 of Inventory of Writs.) All these exclusive municipal privileges, however, have now been abolished, and the constitution of Town Councils fixed by the Municipal Reform Act, 3 & 4 WILLIAM IV., c. 76 (28th August, 1833), modified as to the mode of Election by subsequent Acts of Parliament, principally by the 31 & 32 Vict., c. 108 (31st July, 1868); 33 & 34 Vict., c. 92 (9th August, 1870), and the Ballot Act (18th July, 1872).

On 17th September, 1733, the Council resolved to put a New Roof on the Old Steeple;

And on 22nd August, 1771, they further repaired it, and also ordered the Town House to be painted;

And again in 1788 the Steeple was repaired at the expense of the Council.

The Inhabitants called out to Fortify the Town, 1645.

In 1645 various Acts are recorded in the Minutes fining persons in authority who deserted their party "when Montrose and the Irish rebels came aganes the toune;" and great efforts were for some years made to fortify the town to resist similar attacks. A ditch outside the walls of the Burgh seems to have been considered necessary, and the Inhabitants were called on to excavate the same. One of these resolutions will explain their actings:—

28 April, 1646.—The Counsalle takend to their consideration the necessitie of casting the ditch alonges the eist end of the toune, hes ordainit that all the inhabitants of this burgh shall be required to come and work per vices, and such as shall not come furth, after they are required, to pay 6 sh. toties quoties; & ordains intimation to be maid heirof be the drume.

And a few years later, when serious danger threatened the Town, great efforts were made for defence. On 3rd August, 1651, a special meeting of the Council was held, and they appointed a number of persons specified in the Minute to attend upon the repair of, and re-edificing of the fortifications:—

The Counsall taking into their consideratione that, be ane act of the Counsallie of the estaitis, datit 11 day of September, 1650, they have ordair grantit to them to put thair burgh in securitie from all invasione of the enemie, and to remove all impediments that may hinder the same; and withal considering that the toune can not be put in ane reasonabil securitie unles that the haill houses in the Walgait, Cowgait, & without the Seagatt port be presently spectit and demolishit, Thairfor they have ordenit and ordenis Johne Miln, Elder Maison, and Robert Straquhan, Wricht, to pas to the ground of the saidis landis, and thair to compreys the saidis haill houses, quhat these are worth, and of the present estait & condition thair of, ilk manis land severallie be himselff, and to referrit back agane the same to the counsell, upon thair gryt aith, under thair subscription.

The Magistrates assessed the Inhabitants for the money necessary to strengthen the walls and fortifications prior to the assault by General Monce, and a strong local force was organized to defend the Town. They "thoght it necessarie that the greatest ordinance be placed at such places upon the seasyd as shal be most requisit, and hes entrusted the cair of the execution hereof to William Roger, Alex. Carmichell, and Johne Laitt. Gilbert Guthrie is ordaned to attend the helping of the fortificationes, and the Magistrattis hes promised to assist the bringing furth of the women with barrowes for carrying faill. Alex. The unfortunate result, however, of Monce's assault is matter of history, notwithstanding the praiseworthy efforts of the Inhabitants for the defence.

Act against Beggars coming to Town, and Landlords harbouring them, 1773.

11 March, 1773,—The Council considering how much the Town has for these many years past been oppressed by Beggars who do not belong to the Town, but who leave the Parishes to which they properly belong, and which Parishes are generally both able and willing to maintain their own poor; and Considering that this grievance is chiefly occasioned by Landlords in the Burrow Setting houses to these Beggars, upon their coming into Town, at the most trifling rents, For preventing whereof in time coming, the Council do hereby Enact, That no person in the Town shall set a House to any person coming from the Country at a rent under twelve pound Scots yearly, unless they produce to one of the Magistrates a Certificate of his former good behaviour, and satisfy the Magistrate that he has a trade, or is in such circumstances as can maintain himself and family. And it is hereby enacted, That every Landlord transgressing against this Act shall be liable in a fine of ten pounds Scots for each transgression; and the Council appoint this act to be intimate thro' the town by tuck of drum, that none may pretend ignorance thereof.

Plan for Building Trudes Hall at East End of High Street approved, 1776.

Town Council, 26th March, 1776.—WILLIAM BISSET, present Conveener of the Nine Trades, represented to the Council that, by the Articles of Roup of the ground whereon the Flesh Shamble is situate, he is bound that the Building to be erected thereon shall have a pavilion roof; That by the Plan of the proposed building the Trades mean, if the Council should consent to it, that the restriction of the Pavilion on the west end should be taken off, and that they should be allowed to erect a Tympany on the West Gavel Wall, which would greatly ornament the Building and beautify the street,—which being considered by the Council, they agree that the Trades erect their Building in the manner proposed, notwithstanding the Restrictions in the Articles of Roup.

The Town's Cross, 1777.

30 June, 1777.—After voting, the Councell came to a resolution that the present cross should not be removed.

23 October, 1777.—The Councell being now sensible, by the new paving of the Streets, that the cross remaining in its present situation will be very inconvenient, They agree that it shall be taken down and removed, and appoint the same to be done accordingly.

Note.—The Cross, the scene of so much public officialism, was accordingly removed from the middle of the High Street, and lay unheeded, almost in ruins, until within the last few years. It has, however, been restored and erected by the Town Council near the Old Steeple, within the Church Railing in Nethergate.

Act for building Pier at the Craig, 1781.

Town Council, 19th March, 1781.—The Committee to whom it was remitted, by Sederunt of the eleventh of December last, to get in Estimates of carrying out a pier at the Craig, so as to improve the Landing place and to make easier and safer the boating of Horses & other Bestial, there reported that they had got in Estimates from different Tradesman, and produced these Estimates to the Council, with Proposals for building the said new sloping pier, describing the size of the Stones and the manner the work was to be performed; and Which Estimates and Proposals were considered by the Council, and they came to the resolution that the pier should be built in terms of & agreeable to the proposals, and that the Estimate given in by John Simson, Mason, offering to perform the work for One hundred & forty pounds sterling should be acepted of; The work to be completely finished within five months from the date of the Contract. Council authorised & empower John Thoms, present Treasurer, & DAVID MYLES, present shoremaster, for and in name of the Town Council, to enter into Contract with the said John Simson for performing the said in terms of the proposals and his Estimate, and to bind the Town Council, and their successors in office, for the price agreed on, being One hundred and forty pounds sterling. And the Council resolve to raise what part of the Sum they can by voluntary subscriptions.

Note.—The Council by subsequent Acts made farther improvements at and near the Craig.

The Town Council on Extension of the Suffrage and the Abolition of Patronage, 1783.

10th February, 1783.—The Provost produced in Council two Letters addressed to him, one of them signed by several Merchants and other Inhabitants in this Borough, and the other by Conveener William Bisset, in name of the Trades, both requesting him to Conveen the Town Council, in order that they might have under their consideration an Application to Parliament for a more equal Representation of the People,—which Letters were both read in Council, and the matter therein suggested being taken under their most serious consideration, They are of opinion that the object proposed is of the last importance, as involving in it a most material alteration of our excellent Constitution; That experiments on a System so justly and universally admired as the British form of Government, especially on the Essentials of it, are always dangerous, and should never be attempted but on the clearest evidence of their being calculated and having a tendency to promote the Public Good; That the alteration proposed should have been particularly condescended upon, so as to have been the object of deliberate and unprejudiced discussion, without which no proper Estimate can be formed of its superior advantages to the Society over the present mode. The Council, therefore, according to their view of this matter, must decline either presenting or concurring in any Petition to Parliament for any alteration in the present System of Representation; but if such an application was afterwards found to be generally favoured by the Royal Burrows, They think it would be made with more effect by the General Convention.

Against the Repeal of Patronage, 1783.

Town Council, 10th February, 1783.—The Reverend Df SMALL, Mr. David Davidson, and some other gentlemen from the Kirk Session, this day waited on the Town Council, and produced an Extract of a Minute of the Kirk Session, from which it appeared they had agreed to apply to Parliament for the Repeal of those Laws on which the Right of Patronage is founded, and these gentlemen, in name of the Kirk Session, wished to know the Council's sentiments on that subject; and being heard upon the matter withdrew. Thereafter, the Council having taken this under their consideration, they are of opinion, That the present Laws establishing the right of Patronage in Scotland are founded on the soundest principles of reason and expediency, and that an alteration would be a violation of private right, and highly endanger the public Tranquility, and therefore refuse either to make or concurr in any application for a Repeal of these Laws.

Resolution by Town Council against Theatres, 1784.

9 Aug!, 1784.—The Council & Trades being informed that Mr. Jackson, Manager of the Edinburgh Theatre, and his Company, intended to perform plays in this Borough, they are of opinion that exhibiting Plays here is not authorised, but in direct opposition to the Laws of the Country, and prejudicial in many respects to the interests of the Society. They therefore unanimously resolve by every legal means to oppose Mr. Jackson and his Company in exhibiting Plays here, and they recommend to the Magistrates to take every proper step for that purpose.

THE CEREMONY OF RIDING THE TOWN MARCHES

(Examining the Boundaries of the Town's Properties), 1727.

THIS was an ancient Custom observed in most of the Royal Burghs. It was performed periodically, and there are several entries of the ceremony in the Town's Records. It may be interesting here to give an Excerpt from a Minute of the Town Council in 1727 of this ceremony of Riding the Town's Marches:—

"The towns marches being ridden on Wednesday the fourteenth of June Instant, the note of procedure and observations thereon were produced and read, the tenor whereof follows:—Att Dundee the fourteen day of June, one thousand seven hundred & twenty-seven years, Pursuant to ane Act of Councill of the date the thirty-first day of May last The Lord Provost, Bailies, Treasurer, & Remanent Members of Councill of the said Burgh, accompanyed with the Dean of Gild and his Assessors and some other members of Gildry and maltmen who were Gildbrethren, invited by the Provost and Dean of Gild; as also the present & late Conveners & Deacons of Crafts, and the Vassalls of the Hilltoun, being conveen'd at the Cross of the said Burgh, proceeded to the Nethergate port, and from thence in the Rod next to the Sea to the west end of the Magdalen yeards for rideing the towns marches, and went from the said place in the following order, viz.—the Lord Provost, Magistrates, & Councill preceeded, and were followed by the Dean of Gild and his Assessors, and the other members of Gildry and maltmen who were Gild brethren invited as above, then by the present Conveener and nine Deacons, and after them by the late Conveener & nine Deacons, and lastly by the Vassals of the Hilltoun; and having viewed the March Stones on the North side of the said Magdalen yeard, They found ane Incroachment thereon by Blacknes—The dyke betwixt it and Blackness's land being on the Southside of the eastmost March Stone save one, Whereas that Dyke ought to be on the Northside of all these march Stones." [They then proceeded to ride along the Burgh Properties within the Town, and when at Cauldside, a Committee was appointed to examine the lands at Baldovan, miln dams, and other subjects.] They then returned and joined "the whole Company, who proceeded in the high way leading to Kirktoun of Strathdighty till they came to the high way on the west side of Trotick miln, where a comitee was appointed to go and visit Hobbert's miln; who accordingly went off, and the rest of the Company proceeded on the sd high way below Kirktown of Strathdighty till they came to the Milntoun of Craigie, where they were Joyn'd by the foresaid Comitee, who Reported that they had visited the said Hobberts miln & miln lands and found one of the towns march stones bewest the yeard belonging to the miln out of its place and Lying above the ground, and Likeways found that the main water of Dighty, if not prevented, will make a new Current through the whole haughs belonging to the Town, it being already increaching on the Borders or marches thereof; As also that there Several breaches in the Lead or intake of the water to the said Miln, and that the Millers house wants a new Cover of thatch and divots. Thereafter the whole company proceeded to the North Ferry, where the Provost went to his ordinary chair in the Rock at the west end of the said ferry, opposite to Jean Machans house—[This is the rock opposite Hare Craig called the Provost's Chair, being the eastern boundary of the Town's Salmon Fishings and after taking some refreshment they return'd to the Stannergate, where the Rolls were called and absents marked; and afterwards they marched in the following order, viz.—The Vassals of the Hilltoun preceded, and were followed by the late Deacons & Conveener, then by the present Deacons & Conveener; after them the maltmen & others who were Gild brethren, assessors and Dean of Gild, and lastly the members of councill, Magistrates and Provost; and in the same order proceeded through the Cowgate & Murraygate Streets towards the Cross, where, after using the orderly compliments to the Lord Provost, Magistrates & Councill, the Company dismist."

In June 1736 the same ceremony was repeated. It is recorded, after inspecting the various properties within Burgh,—

"Having proceeded in the Overgate & up the Burial Wynd they found the March Stones at the Stent tree hill in get order, But found that there was a march broken upon the West Side of the Hilltoun. Thereafter the procession, accompanied as said is, went in the usual manner to the Toun's Milne at Baldovan. where they found several March Stones, some of them so sunk that they could scarce be discovered, & others of them broken down; and from thence they proceeded to the North Ferry, and after some refreshment taken in ROBERT Philip's house, the Provost, accompanied as said is, went down towards the seaside & took his Seat in a Chair cut out of the Rock at the west end of the said ferry, and after using the ordinary ceremonies practised on the like occasion, they returned home to Dundee-The Deacons of Crafts & Convener proceeding first, then the Dean of Gild and his assessors, and last of all the Magistrates & Town Councell, and they proceeded in the Cowgate and up the Murraygate Streets in the same order towards the cross, where all lighted and went up to the Town House & there drunk the Royall healths & prosperity to the Good Toune, as usual on the like occasions."

Note.—I have been more particular in giving these ceremonies at riding of the Town's Marches, as they shew conclusively that the Town's Fishings extended to the West Ferry, and the black rock which stood opposite Harcraig, called the Provost's Chair, was the Eastern boundary. This was all along well known under the ancient titles and possessions of the Town, but in the Charter of King Charles the eastern boundary of the Fishings is called Kilcraig. This, no doubt, is the ancient name of the Rock; but some years ago, in consequence of a statement in a history of Dundee that the Town's Fishings only extended to Kilcraig, and that being the name given to the residence of the late Mr. C. Kerr near Carolina Port, it was assumed that was the Eastern boundary. The Crown authorities observing this, called on the Town Council to desist fishing at the Stannergate and West Ferry as being beyond their boundary. Mr. Kerr, fortunately, was able to satisfy the Crown authorities at an interview in London, at which I was present, that he only recently gave his property the name of Kilcraig, and that its ancient name was Quarryholes or Scleat heugh, and that the Kilcraig mentioned in the Charter was at the West Ferry. I have therefore been anxious, by narrating the riding of the Town's Marches about a century and a half ago, to prove this fact, and that the rock opposite West Ferry, called the Provost's Chair, is the Eastern boundary of the Town's Fishings. In the sketch and documents, No. 288 of the Town's Inventory, it will also be seen that this is the boundary between the Town's Fishings and the Fishings of Lord Dalhousie at that point.

THE BURGH SCHOOLS,

AND THEIR INCORPORATION WITH THE PUBLIC SEMINARIES, 1829.

THE Burgh Records for centuries shew the deep interest taken by the Magistrates and Council in the cause of Education. The several Burgh Schools were supported from the Public Funds, embracing the Grammar School, the English School, and the Academy, and the Teachers generally held their office ad vitam aut culpum as public officers.

Before the incorporation of these Schools with the enlarged Public Seminaries in 1829, the following were the Salaries paid to the several Teachers from the Burgh Funds:—

From the Discharge of the Chamberlain's Intromissions, For Year from 26th Sept. 1828 to 24th Sept. 1829.

Besides a sum of about £22 for Prizes to the Schools.

Besides the above, there was paid from the Hospital Fund for the Grammar School £11 2s. 2d., which still continues to be paid.

About the year 1825, and subsequent years, the encreasing requirements of the Town necessitated encreased Educational arrangements, and the Council appointed a Committee "to enquire into the State of the Academy and other Public Schools, and into the System and means of Education in the Town generally, and how these may be improved; and also as to providing of Suitable Buildings for the better accommodation of the Academy and other Schools, & to report to the Council."

The result of this enquiry was an agreement with a Committee of the Inhabitants who advocated encreased means of Education, and who had subscribed for the purpose, whereby all the Burgh Schools should be incorporated with the Dundee Public Seminaries, and based on principles agreed to by the parties.

These principles are engrossed at length in the Council Record immediately preceding their resolution of approval.

The principal of these Conditions were-

"First.—The whole patronage, control, and management of the Public Seminaries shall be vested in Twenty Directors, viz., The Provost and Four Bailies, and Five other persons to be chosen by the Town Council, and Ten persons to be chosen by the Subscribers in the manner after mentioned. But in case any Director or Directors (whether ex officio or by election) shall refuse to accept, or after acceptance, shall resign the situation, or shall die before the expiry of the year for which he or they may be appointed to Act, then it shall be in the power of the Town Council and Subscribers respectively to fill up such vacancies among their own Directors, at special meetings called for that purpose," &c.

(The mode in which the Subscribers are to vote for Directors, and various other details as to Management and Election of Teachers, are set forth in the scheme.)

"Fourth.—All sums of money already subscribed, or which at any future time may be subscribed, for the erection of buildings for the Seminaries, or the improvement of Education in Dundee, and all others sums applicable to the same purposes, shall be under the management and at the disposal of the Twenty Directors; and in particular, the sum of Two thousand Five hundred Pounds, directed by the recent Act renewing the Ale and Beer Duty in Dundee, to be applied towards providing and maintaining suitable Houses for the Public Schools of Dundee, and otherwise improving the means of Education therein, shall be applied toward the erection of the buildings for the Seminaries under this Constitution. It is also understood that printed statements of the receipts and expenditure of the Directors are to be published for the information of all concerned, and their accounts audited at such fixed periods as shall be afterwards determined."

" Fifth.—The Magistrates and Town Council shall become bound, for themselves and their successors, that so long as they continue to have the right of levying the duties on Ale and Beer contained in the Act 14th June, 1827, or by any future renewal of the said Act, they shall continue to pay annually to the Directors, for the support of the Public Seminaries, the Sum of Three Hundred and Thirty-eight Pounds Seventeen Shillings and Tenpence Sterling, being equal to the yearly amount of the Salaries of the Teachers of the Academy and other Schools now paid out of the funds of the Burgh (not including the salary or allowance of any retired Teacher). And the Town Council shall also continue to pay annually to the Directors for the support of the Seminaries the sum of Eleven Pounds Two Shillings and Twopence Sterling out of the Funds of the Hospital, hitherto paid from these funds to the Schools. If the Act imposing a duty on Ale and Beer should be renewed, but the rate of duty altered, the annual sum to be paid by the Town Council to the Public Seminaries will be diminished or increased in proportion. If the duty be withdrawn altogether, the above specified obligation on the part of the Council will cease, and they will only then have to consider the interest of the Seminaries comparatively and consistently with the public wants in other respects: But the Directors shall be bound to respect the vested rights of the present Teachers appointed under the Town Council, and fulfil all the obligations which the Town Council are under towards these Teachers respectively."

"Thirteenth.—If the Directors shall decide that it would be advisable and practicable to obtain a Crown Charter in conformity to the Stipulations herein detailed, they will take the necessary steps for carrying this into effect."

"Fourteenth.—The ground to be acquired as a Site for the New Buildings, with the Buildings themselves, and all other property, shall be vested not in the Magistrates and Town Council, but in the Directors, or in Trustees to be fixed under the Crown Charter, in case there is such,—in trust for being used for the purposes of the Seminaries under this Constitution; and provision shall be made in the titles, that if by any act, direct or indirect, of the Town Council, or any other body whatsoever, the Patronage or Government of the Seminaries shall become vested in any public body or individuals, contrary to this Constitution, the Buildings and whole other property shall be at the disposal of certain public Trustees, to be named in the titles—(these Trustees to be fixed by the Subscribers at a General Meeting called for that purpose)—in order to be by these Trustees, or under their direction, either used for public Seminaries altogether apart from and independent of the body or individuals through whose act this Constitution has been overthrown, or to be sold, and the price applied by these Trustees, or under their direction, for promoting Education in Dundee."

Resolution of Town Council agreeing to the Incorporation of the Burgh Schools with the Public Seminaries, May 1829.

At a Meeting of the Town Council on 20th May, 1829, the following resolutions regarding the Schools were passed:—

The Council, considering the great importance of providing for the proper education of youth in this populous and rising community, the great extension of Dundee beyond the ancient bounds of the Burgh, the necessity of providing suitable building for the Public Schools, the advantages which would arise from extending the course of instruction, and otherwise improving the means of education, and the impossibility of obtaining these ends by the ordinary revenues of the Burgh except by unduly restricting the expenditure in other departments, which it is necessary should be fully maintained; and the Council also considering the great increase in the population of the Suburbs of the Burgh, and in the surrounding district of country from which young persons would resort for education if the school of Dundee were suitable to the enlarged wants of the times; and likewise considering that the Inhabitants of the Burgh and Suburbs, and many of those in the surrounding district, would contribute money as voluntary gifts for the establishment and support of Seminaries sufficient not only for the Burgh itself, but also for the Suburbs and surrounding country, if such arrangements were made as would insure cordial and united support and management by the Council and the contributors for the general advantage of all classes; and the Council being satisfied that no means promise to promote public education in the Burgh so effectually as incorporating one great establishment sufficient for the Suburbs and surrounding Country as well as for the Burgh itself; and the Council having carefully considered the proposals detailed in the before-recited joint-minute or report and relative writing, entitled "Principles on which it is proposed that the Magistrates and Town Council and all classes of the community shall unite in joint efforts for enlarging and improving the means of education in Dundee, and obtaining suitable buildings and other accommodation for the public schools," the Council have declared, and hereby declare their full approbation of the said proposals. And accordingly the Council have appointed, and hereby appoint that the several Public Schools of this Burgh shall form or be incorporated in and with the Public Seminaries, to be established, governed, and maintained as proposed in the before-mentioned writing: And the Council have consented, and hereby consent that the whole patronage, control.

and management of the Public Seminaries so to be constituted, shall be vested in Directors to be chosen in manner set forth in the said writing; and also that the Directors shall have full power to fix and purchase the site, and determine the plan, dimension, and specification of the buildings to be erected, and make the necessary contracts, and give the necessary orders for the erection thereof. And generally, the Council have consented, and hereby consent to all that is proposed in the before-mentioned writings, in the whole heads, articles, and clauses thereof; and moreover, the Council, acting for the community of Dundee as Trustees of the duty on Ale and Beer aftermentioned, specially engage and become bound, for themselves and their successors, that so long as they continue to have the right of levying the duty on Ale and Beer continued to them by the Act passed in the seventh and eighth years of the Reign of his present Majesty, entituled "An Act for enlarging the term and powers granted by several Acts for levying a duty of two pennies Scots upon every pint of Ale and Beer brewed or vended within the Town of Dundee, and the liberties and suburbs thereof, and for amending the said Acts," by the said Act, or any other Act containing the said duty, the Council shall continue to pay annually to the Directors of the said Seminaries, for the support thereof, a sum amounting to Three hundred and thirty-eight pounds sixteen shillings and tenpence Sterling annually, being the amount at present paid by the Council from the Burgh revenues for the Salaries of Public Teachers; and the Council also specially engage and become bound, for themselves and their successors, as patrons of the Hospital, that they will hereafter in all time coming continue to pay from the fund of the Hospital to the said Directors, for the purpose aforesaid, the sum of Eleven pounds two shillings and twopence annually, being the sum hitherto paid from the said funds towards the support of the public school. And accordingly the Council, as Trustees for the said Ale and Beer duty, directed, and hereby direct their Collector of that duty in their name, to pay as foresaid out of the first of the proceeds thereof annually the sum of Three hundred and thirty-eight pounds seventeen shillings and tenpence, and take credit for the same in his account. And the Council, as Patrons of the Hospital, in like manner direct that the Factor for the Hospital shall pay, as foresaid, the before-mentioned sum of Eleven pounds two shillings and twopence annually from the Hospital funds, and take credit for the same in his accounts. But it is specially provided, in terms of the fifth article of the said proposals, that the grant and obligation above written are made on the express condition that the Directors of the Seminaries to be chosen under the proposed constitution shall be bound to respect the vested rights of the present Teachers appointed under the Town Council, and fulfil all the other obligations which the Council are under towards these Teachers respectively. And it is also specially provided, that in case of the renewal by any future Act of the duty on Ale and Beer aforesaid, the rate of duty shall be altered, the annual payment of Three hundred and thirtyeight pounds seventeen shillings and tenpence above mentioned will be diminished or increased in amount in the proportion which the new rate bears to the rate now current. And in case the duty be altogether withdrawn, the obligation now come under by the Council shall cease and determine, and the Council will have to consider the interest of the Seminaries only comparatively and consistently with the public wants in other respects. And, moreover, it is specially provided that all the Acts above written have proceeded, and do now proceed, on the understanding that the proposals above mentioned have been or will be acceded to by the Commissioners under the Ale and Beer duty Act above mentioned, and that the Commissioners have passed, or will pass an Act in reference to the sum of Two thousand five hundred pounds, for which they are Trustees, in the terms and to the effect proposed in the joint-minute before recited. And likewise, on the understanding that subscribers to the amount at least of Two thousand five hundred pounds will also declare their assent, and engage to pay their respective subscriptions to such person as shall be appointed by the Directors, as set forth in the said joint-minute before recited. And it has been and is a special condition of the said Acts above written, that if the proposals before recited be acceded to, as aforesaid, by the said Commissioners and subscribers, the Acts of the Council above written shall be good and sufficient; but otherwise, they shall be void and of non-effect. the Council declared, and hereby declare that in passing the Acts above written they have proceeded on the belief that they possess legal powers to warrant all that they have done. But, in case it shall hereafter be found that they have not such powers, and that it is competent to the successors of the present Council to set aside or render of non-effect the Acts this day passed, then, and in order to provide for such a case, the Council have solemnly declared, and hereby solemnly declare that they have acted, and do now act, in the full conviction that the measure proposed is for the public advantage, and they have accepted, and are to accept of the voluntary aid of their fellow-citizens and others in the full knowledge that all those persons are relying on the legal sufficiency of the Acts above written. and also relying on the honour of the Council, and their successors. that they will give full effect to what is now intended without availing themselves of defects in legal form. And the Council have expressed, and do now record their earnest recommendation and request that no succeeding Council will by any Act, direct or indirect, revoke, or in any respect infringe upon or lessen the effect of the Acts this day passed, although it shall be found contrary to the present belief that future Councils are not legally bound.

Afterwards the newly-appointed Directors resolved to acquire the ground in the Meadows on which the Seminaries were subsequently built. The price was fixed at £1,500 by the Town Council, and the ground was purchased at this sum at public sale, and the erection of the Schools commenced. The following are some of the Conditions of the Title granted by the Town to the Directors:—

Excerpt from Charter by the Magistrates and Town Council in favour of the Directors of the Public Seminaries, 1832.

The Charter of the ground is granted to the parties, "But always in trust for being used for the Public Seminaries of Dundee under the said Act of the said Magistrates and Council, and under the declarations hereinafter specified."

"And it is also, at the request of our said disponees, specially provided and declared, and it shall be inserted in the instrument of sasine to follow hereon, and in all the future investitures of the said subjects, until the said subjects are permanently incorporaated and vested in Trustees, that the said subjects are conveyed to our said disponees, and to be accepted of by them only under the condition that they shall be bound, at any time when required by a quorum of the Directors of the Public Seminaries of Dundee for the time being under the said Act of the Magistrates and Council, dated the twentieth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and twentynine, to denude of the said subjects and the buildings to be erected thereon, and, at the expense of the said Directors, to convey the same to and in favour of the said Directors, or to and in favour of any Trustees to be fixed under any Crown Charter which may be obtained in terms of the thirteenth and fourteenth articles of the said Act of the Magistrates and Council, but that only in trust for the purpose of the said Seminaries; and it is also, at the request of our said disponees, provided and declared, and provision to the like effect shall be inserted in the infeftment to follow hereon, and in all the future investitures, whether in favour of the Directors or other Trustees or incorporation, that if by any Act, direct or indirect, of the Town Council, or any other body whatsoever, the patronage or government of the Public Seminaries of Dundee shall be vested in any public body or individuals, contrary to the constitution set forth in the said Act of the said Magistrates and Council, dated the twentieth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and twenty-nine, the said ground hereby conveyed, and the buildings thereon, and whole other property acquired, or which may be acquired by the Directors, shall be at the disposal of certain public Trustees to be fixed by the subscribers to the Seminaries at a general meeting to be called for the purpose, in terms of the four-teenth article of the said constitution, in order that the said ground, buildings, and other property, shall be by these Trustees, or under their direction, either used for public Seminaries altogether apart from and independent of the body or individuals through whom the said constitution has been overthrown, or sold, and the price applied by these Trustees, or under their direction, for promoting education in Dundee."

The Town Council subscribed £500 from the common good towards the Buildings, and paid £2,500 stipulated from the proceeds of the Ale and Beer Duty; and in the progress of the building the Directors were unable to pay the Contractors the stipulated price for the Erections. The Contractors raised legal proceedings for adjudging the property in payment of the balance due them of £1,811, and procured a Decree of Adjudication in their favour of the whole subjects. The Town Council was then applied to to relieve the buildings, and agreed to pay the Contractors the balance of their claim, on condition that the corner portions of the ground facing Euclid Crescent be given off, so as to round the Street, and to depart from some of the stipulations as to surrounding buildings. This was done in 1837.

The stipulated payment to the Directors in respect of the Ale and Beer Duties was made until the Act expired in 1848. The £11 payable from the Hospital Fund to the Grammar School Teacher is still paid to the High School Directors.

Edinburgh, the thirteenth day of October, Eighteen hundred and sixty-eight.—A duplicate of this Disposition, and the relative Plan annexed, is lodged in the office of the Director of Her Majesty's Chancery for Scotland, and a Minute of the same is entered in the Books of said office, in pursuance of the Statutes.

TOWN'S RIGHT TO SOLUM OF RIVER TAY AND THE ESPLANADE.

The Magistrates and Town Council have always, in virtue of their ancient Charters, maintained right to the Solum of the River Tay ex adverso of the ancient Royalty of the Burgh, so far as reclaimed, or when reclaimable and unsuitable for navigation. The Crown in later years laid claim to the foreshore and embanked ground, and in many cases asserted this right, but always objected to by the Burgh authorities. Foreshore Proprietors, in view of the divided claim of ownership, have generally taken a Conveyance from both parties for greater safety. The Crown gives no warrandice of such grants, but merely conveys what right may be in the Crown.

In the case of the Esplanade, which extends westward beyond the limits of the Ancient Royalty, the Magistrates and Council, while they held to their Burgh rights, applied for the Crown's Grant, and for a nominal sum procured that Grant conform to the foregoing Disposition, thus vesting the Magistrates and Council absolutely in the solum and ground on which the Sea Wall and Esplanade are built. The portions of ground within were to be given to the North British and Caledonian Railway Companies according to the proportions fixed, as after mentioned, and these Companies were to contribute towards the erection of the Sea Wall.

For many years claims and disputes lay unsettled between the Town and the Railway Company for the value of the Solum or Foreshore at Yeaman Shore and to the westward, on which the Perth Railway and Works and Buildings were constructed. There had been actions-at-law threatened, and proceedings carried on by the Town to vindicate their foreshore rights. In 1864, rather than carry on expensive litigation with the Railway Companies and Proprietors of the properties on the River Banks ex adverso of the Burgh, it was resolved by the Council to expose their rights of these portions of the foreshore from the Railway Lines inwards to public sale, and they fixed the upset price at £500; but some difficulties arose as to the conditions of sale, and it was abandoned.

The Railway Companies from time to time had procured Grants of the River Foreshore from the Commissioners of Woods and Forests independent of the Magistrates and Council, and the Caledonian Company had, about 1867, in Parliament a Bill to acquire fifteen acres additional of the foreshore immediately to the south of their then Station Grounds towards the Craig House, and westward; and the North British Railway Company proposed by statute also to acquire a portion of the foreshore for station purposes and for the Traffic for the proposed Tay Bridge Railway.

ESPLANADE

The Town Council, in view of these proposals, thought the time was come to insist for a remedy of the great disadvantage to which the inhabitants had been subjected for many years by being cut off from the Banks of the River by the operations of the Railways, as well as of private Proprietors. Three years before a proposal was made by me in the Council to remedy this grievance. At a Council Meeting on 28th January 1864, "Mr. Hay moved, that it be remitted to the Special Committee on the Solum question to communicate with the Directors of the Scottish Central Railway Company, to ascertain whether the Company would be willing to co-operate with the Council in endeavouring to provide a promenade for the Inhabitants from South Union Street towards the Magdalen Green, by having filled up in the Solum a road on the margin of the River on the south side of the property belonging to the Railway Company."

The Company however did not go into the proposal.

The attempt to have the promenade was again made, and provision got inserted for it by the Council in the Act of 1866 for the erection of the Tay Bridge Railway and Stations by the North British Railway Company, but the works under this Act were unfortunately not carried out.

The Town Council thereafter, and in 1867, while the Companies required more ground, communicated with the Railway Companies and the Harbour Trustees—who had an interest in improving the scour of the River for Harbour purposes—with the view, if possible, of securing the promenade along the River, some years ago proposed, from the Craig Pier to the Magdalen Green. The Council communicated in the first instance with the Caledonian Railway Company, with the view of arranging all claims and disputes for the solum occupied by the Railway works, and, after some communings, an Agreement, dated 26th February, 1867, was come to settling those long-standing troublesome solum claims for the sum of £4,000, which was to include the additional fifteen acres then scheduled in their Act; and secondly, instead of the Company proceeding to build the Sea Wall laid down in their plan along the additional fifteen acres, they should contribute the estimated cost thereof (£13,700) towards the erection of a Sea Wall further seawards, so as to enclose the ground required for the Esplanade and that for the North British Railway Company. That Company also agreed to contribute £13,000 towards the Wall, and the Harbour Trustees contributed a like sum. It was agreed that the Town Council should apply for the grant of the Crown's rights, and each party to pay their proportionate share of the price payable to the Crown for the same. That price was only £5 an acre, in respect of the public purposes to which it was to be applied, and the area to be enclosed embraced about fifty-two acres. The work was gone on with, and ultimately completed. An arrangement was also embodied in the Esplanade Act of Parliament (Sec. 28), that all surplus land to be reclaimed beyond what the Railways were to get, and what was required for the Sea Wall, Esplanade, and Public Street, as laid down on the Plan thereof prepared under the Statute, should belong to the Town and become part of the Common Good of the Burgh. The cost of the Sea Wall, Esplanade, and Works, and filling up, making, and paving the Streets, amounting to about £50,000, was met by the contributions and the price of the surplus ground adjacent to the Craig Pier, which was sold by the Town Council to the Harbour Trustees; and this Esplanade and Street have thus been secured without cost to the Ratepayers or payment from the Burgh Funds.

The Agreements carrying out the above arrangements between the Town Council and the Board of Trade, and between the Town Council and the Caledonian Railway Company, the Harbour Trustees, and the North British Railway Company, are printed annexed to the Dundee Seawall, Esplanade, and Street Act, 1868,—the principals being in the Town's Chest.

By Section 7 of said Act the Esplanade Public Works referred to as authorized to be constructed, and now constructed, are stated as follows:—

- 1. The construction of a good, substantial, and sufficient bulwark or sea-wall, extending westward from near to the point of the Craig Pier or Ferry Harbour of Dundee to a point called Buckingham Point, forming part of the Magdalen Yard or Magdalen Green; which bulwark or sea-wall the Town Council shall maintain and uphold in good, substantial, and sufficient condition and repair in all time coming:
- 2. The formation of a public Esplanade or public Footway, for the use of the Inhabitants of Dundee, between South Union Street on the east and Buckingham Point on the west,—which Esplanade, for the length between Buckingham Point and about five hundred feet from the south-west corner of the point of the Craig Pier, is to run along the top edge of the said bulwark or sea-wall, and thence the Esplanade is to diverge on a curve along the seaward side of the street after mentioned till it joins South Union Street,—the said Esplanade or footway being fifty feet in width throughout its course:
- 3. The formation of a public Road or Street, fifty feet in width, to become one of the ordinary Streets of the Town, on the north or inside of the said Esplanade, and to unite, in manner shewn on the deposited Plans, the said Esplanade and Road or Street at the east end thereof with the Street called South Union Street, and at the west end thereof with that part of the Magdalen Yard or Green called Buckingham Point.

TOWN'S SOLUM AND SALMON FISHINGS.

In the Esplanade Act, and to obviate the opposition put forward by the Tay Ferry Trustees, clauses were inserted (Sec. 24 and 25), that if the construction of the Esplanade, by preventing the scour through the arches which were at the west of the Ferry Harbour, should silt up the Harbour and entrance, the Council would be bound to clear it so as not to be in a worse condition than it was before the Erection of the Esplanade. It was found that the stopping up of the scour caused the Harbour and entrance to silt up very much, and a very considerable yearly outlay was caused to the Town by dredging to keep it clear. In the subsequent Act for Transfer of the Ferries to the Harbour Trust, it was arranged that the Harbour Trust should free the Town from this obligation of keeping the Ferry Harbour clear, and on the other hand, and as an equivalent, the Town departed from all claim for solum on which the extensions of the Harbour works were erected and Ferry Pier was or might be extended in the River, and also of all compensation which would arise to the Town for any rights of servitude, or otherwise, in connection with or arising out of its Salmon or other Fishings in the River over or upon the portions of Land of Craigie Estate acquired by them from Mr. GUTHRIE of Craigie.

The following is the Minute of Agreement in regard to these matters come to between the parties:—

Minute of Agreement between the Trustees of the Harbour of Dundee and the Magistrates and Town Council, as to the new Tay Ferry Act, dated 30th November and 2nd December, 1872. (Esplanade, Solum, and Salmon Fishings.)

WHEREAS the first parties propose to purchase from the Caledonian Railway Company, and to promote a Bill in the ensuing Session of Parliament for vesting in them the first parties, the Public Ferries between Dundee and places adjacent and the opposite coast of Fife, with all Harbours, Landing Places, and other Rights and Property belonging thereto; and whereas, by virtue of "The Dundee Sea Wall, Esplanade, and Street Act, 1868," the second parties are by Sec. 24 and 25 thereof under certain obligations, in the event of the Ferry Harbour accommodation at Dundee being put in a worse position by the construction of the Bulwark or Sea Wall authorised by the said Act; and whereas, under the Dundee Harbour Acts specified in the Preamble of "The Dundee Harbour Act, 1869," the Shore or Strand or Beach of the River Tay mentioned therein, and the Rights, Liberties, Privileges, and Immunities of the Water of Tay, with other Rights and Privileges defined therein; and whereas, by virtue of the said "The Dundee Harbour Act, 1869," the first parties obtained power to construct additional Works, and to take additional Lands as mentioned in the said Act; and whereas the second parties maintain that they will be entitled to compensation from the first parties for certain Rights taken or to be taken away or affected by the first parties' acquisition of the Lands required for the Works authorised by the said Act, and by the construction of said Works; and they also maintain similar or other claims under the said prior Statutes against the first parties; and now seeing that it is right that all such questions should be amicably settled between both parties, Therefore they do hereby agree as follows:—

I. ON THE ONE PART-

FIRST. In the event of the said proposed purchase being made, and of the Bill proposed to be promoted being passed by Parliament, and the said Ferries, Harbours, Landing Places, and other Ferry Rights and Property being thereby or thereunder vested in the first parties as part of their undertaking, they shall discharge the second parties of all the obligations or prestations contained in or prestable against them under Sec. 24 and 25 of "The Dundee Sea Wall, Esplanade, and Street Act, 1868."

II. ON THE OTHER PART—

SECOND. In the event set forth in Article First, the second parties shall discharge the first parties (1) of all claims of compensation, or other claims competent to them the second parties against the first parties, for damage done or to be done, or loss sustained or to be sustained, to the Salmon or other Fishings, or Mussel or other Beds in the River Tay, belonging to the second parties, by the execution of any works authorised by the said "The Dundee Harbour Act, 1869," or any prior Harbour Statutes, or by the taking of any Lands under the Harbour Statutes, or any of them, and also of all claims of compensation or other claims which are or may be competent to them the second parties against the first parties for any rights of servitude or otherwise in connection with or arising out of the said Fishings, and Mussel or other Beds, belonging to or vested in the said second parties (all of which rights are hereby renounced) over, in, and upon those portions of the Lands, Barony, and Estate of Craigie, recently purchased by the first parties for Harbour purposes and Works, from JAMES ALEXANDER GUTHRIE, Esquire of Craigie, being the whole Lands, Barony, and Estate of Craigie lying on the south side of the Dundee and Arbroath now Caledonian Railway, and on the west of the Road from Dundee to Broughty Ferry at the Stannergate; and (2) of all claims of compensation of whatsoever nature or description which now belong or might hereafter belong or be competent to the second parties against the first parties, in respect of any Works constructed or to be constructed, or which are authorised, under any of the Harbour Acts, on the Foreshore or the Alveus of the River Tay, or which may hereafter be authorised or constructed, under any Acts hereafter to be passed for new or additional Works in connection with the Harbour, on or upon the Alveus or the Foreshore of the River Tay ex adverso of the present Harbour Works or of the Works authorised by the present Harbour Acts; and (3) of all debts and subscriptions by, and rights and claims belonging to, the second parties, over or on or to any Tay Ferry Lands or Property, including all Lands or Property lying between the Tay Ferry Harbour and Earl Grey's Dock, in so far as not appropriated for and used as the Public Street called West Dock Street of Dundee, running from Dock Street southwards to the Protection Wall of the Harbour of Dundee, which shall remain as a Public Street, or against the Tay Ferry Trustees, or in the Alveus of the River opposite to the Tay Ferry Harbour, to the effect as regards such Alveus of discharging the first parties of all claims of compensation which might arise to the second parties from the construction hereafter of any Works for the Improvement of the Ferries ex adverso of the Ferry or Harbour properties.

III. MUTUAL PROVISIONS.

THIRD. In the event of the said Ferries, Harbours, Landing Places, and other Ferry Rights and Property not being acquired by the first parties from the Caledonian Railway Company as aforesaid, or in the event of the said Bill not passing as aforesaid, this Agreement shall cease and determine, and in that event neither party shall be entitled at any time hereafter to found upon it against the other party in Parliament, or in Courts of Law, or under Arbitrations, or otherwise.

FOURTH. The first parties shall, in making their bargain with the Caledonian Railway Company, provide that the sum consigned by the second parties for property taken from the Ferries for their Esplanade Works shall be accepted in full of all claims of compensation or other claims against the second parties for such property.

FIFTH. If either party so desire, and if competent by the Standing Orders of Parliament, this Agreement in whole or in part shall, subject to the sanction of Parliament, be scheduled to and confirmed by the foresaid Bill, or made part thereof.

LASTLY. THE BURGH OF DUNDEE—ITS LIBERTIES AND JURISDICTIONS.

THE BURGH.

THE ancient Royal Burgh was not of large extent territorially, although its liberties extended considerably beyond. It may be described, so far as landward, as follows:— From a point on the River Tay a little to the westward of the House and Grounds belonging to WILLIAM LOWSON, Esq. of Balthayock, in Nethergate (Gray Bank), along the westward of that property and northward along Park Place and to the westward of Temple Lane, crossing West Port and running northward on the west side of West Henderson Wynd in a straight line to Tod's Burn at Guthrie Street, thence south-eastward along the course of that Burn on the south side of South Ward Road to Barrack Street, and thence north-eastward through the ancient Meadows, through the Buildings, Post Office, and others erected on the north side of Ward Road, and eastward through a portion of the Albert Institute Buildings, turning in a northerly direction to or near old Ladywell, thence eastward along the south side of the old Bucklemaker Wynd until it comes to the east march of the Dwelling-House which belonged to the late Miss Wright, and latterly occupied by the Deaf and Dumb Institution, thence southward to near the middle of the west march of St. Andrew's Established Church property, thence northward between the Church property and the Buildings on the south side of Charles Street, thence eastward along Todburn Lane on the north side of the front Buildings facing King Street until it reaches the Dens Brae at the Works of Mesers Baxter Brothers & Co., and thence southward at a little to the east of St. Roque's Lane, and in a southerly line to the River Tay, nearly opposite the Beacon Rock, and the open boundary to the south is the Water of Tay, and the liberties thereof.

There is evidence in the Charters and Writs in the Inventory that Dundee had its Charter of Royal Burgh and Liberties long prior to the Charter of Novodamus by King ROBERT THE BRUCE, and, at least, in the reign of WILLIAM THE LION, as stated in the Charter. Indeed, during the usurpation or invasion of the Kings of England the ancient Charters and Writs were abstracted. All these ancient rights and privileges were proved by the Commission granted by King ROBERT for the purpose, and on the evidence then taken and submitted to the King his Charter of Confirmation and Novodamus in 1327 proceeded—(No. 16 of Inventory).

The ancient boundaries are well marked, but of late some difficulty was raised as to the precise line of boundary from the Ladywell eastward, and in consequence the boundary was carefully examined by Mr. ALEXANDER, Town Architect, assisted by parties well conversant with that locality, and the line laid down as above stated. In this boundary we were also enabled to ascertain its exact correctness in respect of the uniform and universal usage of property holdings within the boundary line, all being Burgage holdings, and the Deeds recorded in the Burgh Register of Sasines as being held Burgage.

The River boundary also has always been acknowledged and held as settled under the Royal Charters, judicial decisions, and usage as including the River and all accretions and embankments therefrom. The Burgh being on the River, with the full right of Port and Harbour, and full and free uses and liberties of the Water of Tay, with power of levying dues and other customs at the Harbour, and also with the Salmon and other Fishings on the River, the southward boundary is the Tay. The Harbour has gone outwards in the River. The immemorial usage and possession by the Corporation has been to follow the River Shore, and the embanked ground has always become Burgh and Burgh Holdings, and all such subjects are and have been held within the Royalty, and held in free Burgage for service of Burgh use and wont, and under the powers and jurisdiction of the Burgh Magistrates. Of late, however, some objections to this were advanced—principally by the Railway Companies—but hitherto unsuccessful; and in the case of the Tay Bridge Act of 1870 it is specially stated that their Terminus near the Craig Pier is within the Royal Burgh of Dundee. A considerable part of the south side of the Burgh has been gained from the River, and has always been dealt with as within the Royal Burgh and Burgh Jurisdictions, and in all cases all along, including the Harbour Property and Buildings on the south of Dock Street, the holding is Burgage, and the properties included in the ancient Burgh Cess and Tax Rolls. In the Disposition (in 1842) by the Town to the Harbour Trustees of the solum and lands on which the Harbour and Docks are constructed—the Disposition being prepared by an Edinburgh Lawyer under the order and sanction of the Court of Session—the holding is given and taken as follows:—"In which port and harbour and others (solum and land) above disponed requiring infeftment, we bind and oblige ourselves, and our successors in office, and the community of the said Burgh, to infeft and seize our said Disponees on their own expences, to be holden in free burgage for service of Burgh and payment of Burgh Mails used and wont," with power, as was usual in such Deeds, to appear before the Provost, or one of the Bailies of the Burgh, for resignation of the subjects, as in the hands of Her Majesty, immediate lawful Superior thereof, for new infeftment to the Trustees,—which is the form of a Burgage holding. The same holding was given to the Officers of State for the portion of ground on which the Custom House Buildings are erected. Indeed any contrary contention would be to introduce or interject a stranger jurisdiction between Dundee and the River.

THE JURISDICTION.

The rights and liberties of the Burgh granted by the Charters gave the Magistrates a jurisdiction over the Water of Tay within the limits prescribed; and while the Town has conveyed the Port and Harbour and its rights, with the powers necessary to enforce and vindicate its privileges, yet, except what was thus specially conveyed (as will be seen from the Disposition in No. 166 (4) of the Inventory), the general rights and jurisdictions otherwise were reserved, and also by special clause in the Act of Parliament sanctioning the transfer (4 July, 1815) reserved, as follows:—

"LVI. And be it enacted, That nothing in this act contained shall extend or be construed to extend to take away, impeach, diminish, change, or affect the rights, dues, duties, and payments, powers, privileges, jurisdictions, or authorities of the Magistrates and Town Council of Dundee, granted to them on behalf of the community of the said burgh of Dundee, by King Charles the First, by charter under the Great Seal, bearing date the fourteenth day of September one thousand six hundred and forty-one, or any other rights, dues, duties, or payment, powers, privileges, jurisdictions, or authorities in anywise belonging to them, otherwise than as the same are by this act expressly taken away, varied, altered, or restrained."

And this reservation is continued in the subsequent Harbour Acts.

I presume, therefore, it may be held that under the ancient jurisdictions, rights, and privileges of the Magistrates of Dundee, and under the general law, they have a jurisdiction over the River Tay on both sides, within the limits prescribed by the Charters, as being within the liberties of the Burgh of Dundee.

It will also be observed from the Burgh Charter that the Magistrates were declared to be Sheriffs within the Burgh liberties, and to have sole and exclusive jurisdiction therein, exclusive of the Sheriff of Forfar, whose rights were specially discharged. This right was exercised for a long period, but by more recent Statutes and practice the Sheriff of Forfarshire has got at least a concurrent jurisdiction within the Burgh with the Magistrates.

In 1672, however, the Sheriff of Forfar got a special permission from the Magistrates to sit in the Burgh to try a case, but he had to give an obligation that his doing so was not to prejudice the Town's rights as Sheriffs within the same. The following appears in the Council Records:—"April 7, 1672,—There was a band (bond) and declaration under the Sheriff-Deput of Forfar his hand, bearing that his sitting in the tolbuith of this brugh to judge Henrie Guidley shall not be prejudiciall to the towne's libertie as Sheriffs within the same."

EARLY HISTORY OF DUNDER.

Dundee, from its central position and proximity to the coast, was always held of importance, and its possession was considered essential to those in the administration of our national affairs. At the time of the English invasion this was seen by Edward, who considered its possession of great importance to the success of his scheme of conquest, and he made long-continued and desperate efforts to hold it. During the wars of independence, therefore, it was the theatre of many conflicts by the contending parties. By men and money Dundee always bore a full share in maintaining the Country's independence. Here in 1309 also, at a General National Council of Scotland, at which the Bishops, Abbots, Friars, and Clergy assembled, by solemn declaration Robert Bruce was acknowledged as the legitimate King of Scotland. It subsequently remained faithful to the Stuart Kings, and its loyalty no doubt, at a later period, brought down the vengeance of Cromwell, and led to the assault and capture of the Town by General Monck. Its fortifications long gave security to the Nobility and Inhabitants of the surrounding country, and in consequence the Town contained numbers of residences of the Nobility and Landed Proprietors of the District, and was the receptacle for treasure and valuables; and at the period of the capture of the Town, it is said great booty fell to the conquerors. In the Report to the Government of ('ROMWELL in 1654, the Town is even thus described,—"The towne of Dundie was sometime a towne of riches and trade; but the many rencontres it hath met with in the time of domestick comotions, and her obstinacy and pride of late years (her loyalty), rendering her a prey to the soldier, have much shaken and abated her grandeur, and notwithstanding all, she remaynes still, though not glorious, yett not contemptible." And its characteristic for manufacture is recorded by the celebrated historian, HECTOR BOYCE, who in his annals of the sixteenth century tells us—"It (the Tay) falleth into the Almaine Sea (German Ocean) beside Dundee, a towne called in old time Alectum, wherein I was borne, and in which the people travell verie painfully about weaving and making of cloth"; and all know how for centuries the Town has verified and supported its early characteristic.

The earlier Monarcha, including ROBERT THE BRUCE, and subsequently Queen MARY and her son James the Sixth, were frequent visitors to the Town, and Charles the Second held Court in the Palace of Whitehall in the Nethergate, and attracted thither a large number of the Nobility and Gentlemen of the Country.

The position of Dundee among the Burghs of Scotland in early times may be gathered from a comparison of the Tax Rolls of the period. Thus, in 1557, of the Ten thousand pounds (Scots) assessed on the Burghs to defray the expense of Queen Marriage in France, the proportion laid on the larger Burghs was as follows:—

Aberdeen,	945	0	0
Dundee,	1,245	11	0
Perth,	742	10	0
Dunfermline,	101	5	0
Ayr,	236	5	0
Glasgow,	202	10	0
Brechin,	1 6 8	15	0
Montrose,	270	0	0
Arbroath,	135	0	0
St. Andrews,	300	0	0
Inverness,	168	15	0

And even so late as 1665, after the destruction and spoliation of the Town by the Parliamentary Forces, and its consequent desertion by those who formerly, for security, had residences in the Town, of a public tax of £22,222 4s. 6d. then levied on the Burghs in that year, the proportion of Dundee as compared with other towns was thus,—while Aberdeen paid £1,481 10s., Arbroath £100, Glasgow £1,444 6s., Montrose £444 10s., Perth £889, St. Andrews £604 13s., Forfar £44 9s., Dundee paid £1,555 13s.

The Burgh was largely endowed by Royal and other Grants, and its properties were varied and extensive. How these properties have been disposed of will, to a considerable extent, be seen from the Writs and explanations given in the Inventories. But even yet its properties and revenues are considerable, as will be seen from the Abstracts and Accounts after printed.

While the ancient Royalty was considered to be extensive, having regard to the then habitable Burgh, the Wall or fortification which surrounded the Town proper was of much less extent. The Wall, however, enclosed the Steeple and field around it, with the Earl Crawford's Lodging. It commenced on the west near the present Sea Wynd, and along Ceres or Long Wynd to the Overgate, thence in a north-easterly direction to near the site of the present Willison Street, and eastward on the south or Town side of the "Howff"—(the foundations here were lately removed in the course of the erection of the Advertiser Buildings in Bank Street),—thence it extended eastward along the north side of Murraygate, south of the Meadows, to the Wellgate, and eastward by the Cowgate a little beyond the present St. Andrews Street, and thence southward to the Seagate and the River. There were several Ports and Gates in the Wall, vizt., In Nethergate, Overgate, Wellgate, Murraygate, Cowgate, and Seagate, and it is recorded, a gate also between the Grey Friars and Black Friars' fields at Barrack Street, near the site of the present south-west gate of the "Howff."

There are annexed views of the Town, taken probably about the middle of the seventeenth century, when of a very limited compass, and also a Plan of the modern Town, revised in 1877. The contrast is remarkable.

THE HILLTOWN BARONY.

It will be seen from the Disposition by Lord LAUDERDALE and the subsequent Royal Charter by King WILLIAM in 1689 in favour of the Town that, along with Lands of Dudhope and the various other Lands and Superiorities therein conveyed, the Town acquired the Barony of the Hilltown, which was created about 1640 by King Charles the First in favour of Sir James Scrymsoure, then Lord Viscount Dundee. purchase put an end to the many conflicts of Jurisdiction and disputes which for many years caused so much trouble to the Municipal authorities by Graham of Claverhouse and the Constables who preceded him. The Council from time to time appointed Bailies of the Barony, and continued to do so till very recently. The Acts of Extension of the Municipality of the Burgh and the Burgh Jurisdiction, which included the Hilltown, led to the desuetude of these Baronial Elections. The Town Clerks, by their Commissions, for nearly two centuries have been appointed Clerks of the Barony of the Hilltown. At the present time the Feuars of the Hilltown continue among themselves a practice of electing a Bailie of the Hilltown, but this is of a friendly and unofficial nature, and probably his principal duty is to see that the Land Tax payable from the Feus of the Hilltown is collected and handed as a whole over to the Collector of the Inland Revenue, and probably also as a standing Arbiter, and by voluntary assent to settle among themselves any disputed boundaries of the Feus. At the extension of the Royalty of Dundee in 1831, it will be seen from the clauses of the Extension Act (page 221) that the Land Tax and Cess payable from the ancient Royalty was not to extend to the lands to be included in the Extension of the Burgh Boundaries. This arose from the fact that extra burghal lands were assessed for this Land Tax as in the County contra-distinguished from the Burgh—the Land Tax, which is payable to the Crown, having at the Treaty of Union in 1707 been divided in certain proportions as between the Royal Burghs and the Counties. Generally speaking, the Proprietors of the Lands adjacent to Dundee redeemed by a capital payment this Land Tax before the value was increased by feuing; hence the declaration in the Extension Act that this ancient Burgh tax and cess should not be exigible from the properties beyond the ancient Burgh boundary. As to the Hilltown, it had before 1831 been feued out to a large number of parties, and it has continued liable as beyond the ancient Royalty to pay this tax as formerly, and consequently the Feuars still continue to pay their share as of old. I am informed the whole amount of this Tax may be stated at about £9 sterling yearly.

It may not be out of place to give an example of these appointments of Baron Bailies by the Council:—

- "Thursday, 16 October, 1718.—The Councill, after leiting and voting, Elected Bailie Patrick Gordon and Robert Hill to be Bailies of the Barronie of the Hilltowne of Dundie for the year ensuing, who compeared, accepted of y office, and made faith de fulcli, and qualified according to Law by taking and subscriveing the same w the assurance."
- "29 September, 1741.—The Councell agree to continue George Mudie and William Milne to be Bailies of the Barony of the Hilltown of Dundie for the Ensuing year, and recomend to the Magistrate who goes to the Hilltown to keep the head Court there, to cause the saids George Mudie and William Milne compear before him, accept of said offices, and promise to be faithfull."—This Minute is signed by Alexander Duncan of Lundie, ancestor of Lord Camperdown (then Provost of Dundee).
- "24 April, 1816.—The Council considering that ALEXANDER BEG and ALEXANDER DUNCAN as Bailies of the Barony of the Hilton did sometime ago resign their offices, they therefore nominate and appoint ANDREW Low and WILLIAM MILLAR, both Manufacturers in Hilton, to be Bailies of the Barony of Hilton for the current year, and during the pleasure of the Council."

There was also in olden times a Prison in the Hilltown to secure the due punishment by the Barons and their Bailies of offenders within the Barony. This Prison had become ruinous and unsuitable for its purposes, and I find on 23rd April, 1741, "the Councell appoints Bailie Fairweather, Bailie George Yeaman, the Dean of Guild, Bailie Murray, the Treasurer, John Crichton and Archibald Walker as a Committee to inspect the old Tolbooth in the Hilltown, and report after what fashion it would be the proposed prison, and what would be the charge of doing it." After the acquisition of the Barony by the Town, one Prison seems to have become sufficient for both jurisdictions.

EXTENSION OF THE BURGH ROYALTY, 1831.

The boundaries of the Burgh were extended by the Act 1 & 2 WILLIAM IV., c. 46 (23 August, 1831). Clause first is as follows:—

TATHEREAS the Town of Dundee has of late years greatly increased in size and Population, and large Suburbs, in which a great Extent of Trade and Manufactures is carried on, and great Numbers of Persons reside, have been formed beyond the Boundaries of the ancient Burgh, and beyond the Territory over which the Jurisdictions, Civil and Criminal, of the Magistrates of the said ancient Burgh extend: And whereas great Advantage would arise both to the ancient Burgh itself and also to the Suburbs and adjacent Territory if the whole were united and incorporated into One Burgh, with proper Regulations for the Election of the Magistrates and Council thereof in place of those now in observance under the present Sett of the ancient Burgh, which has been found by experience to be the source of many questions and difficulties, and to be very defective and imperfect in its provisions; but the same cannot be accomplished without the aid and authority of Parliament. May it therefore please your Majesty that it may be enacted; and be it enacted by the King's most excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Lords, Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons in this present Parliament assembled, and by the Authority of the same, That from and after the passing of this Act all the Territory situated beyond the Boundaries of the ancient Royalty of the said Burgh and locally comprehended within the Limits following, videlicet, within a Line commencing on the East at the River Tay, and running Northward, in the Line of the East March of Mayfield on the Lands of Craigie, to the Southern extremity of that March; thence along that March to the Turnpike Road leading from Dundee to Arbroath; thence Eastward along that Turnpike Road until its Junction with the Old Craigie Road; Northwards along that Road to the Stobsmuir Turnpike Road; across that Road and from it along the old Road by the Back of Stobsmuir and Clepington till it reaches the East Road to the Fair Muir; around the March of the Fair Muir so as to include it until it joins the Strathmartine Turnpike Road; Southward along the Strathmartine Turnpike Road until its Junction with the Road which leads by the Back of the Law of Dundee from the Strathmartine Turnpike Road to the Coupar and Meigle Turnpike Road; along the Northern Boundary of that Road to the Lochee Toll-Bar on the Turnpike Road from Dundee to Coupar and Meigle; from that Toll-Bar Westward along the Road until it reaches the Stone Wall which runs on the West side of the House and Garden ground known by the name of Lark or Lerrick Hill; across from the Turnpike Road to the March between the Estate of Logie and the Estate of Balgay; from the Turnpike Road Southward along that Stone Wall to the said March, thence along the March Southward to the extremity of Logie; thence Southward to the Blackness Road along the Dyke and Hedge which form the present Boundary between Blackness and Balgay; thence along the Northern Boundary of the Blackness Road Westward to the Line of the March which is on the South side of that Road between Blackness and Balgay, and Southward along that March down to the River Tay, and thence along the margin of the River Tay Eastward to the Point first above specified,—shall be added and annexed to the Territory composing the ancient Royalty of the said Burgh; and the said Territory composing the ancient Royalty of the said Burgh and the additional Territory comprehended within the Limits before described, so added and annexed as aforesaid, shall be, and the same are hereby united and incorporated into One Royal Burgh, under the name of the Royal Burgh of Dundee, and the Burgh so enlarged shall be in the Place of the ancient Burgh, and shall enjoy in every respect the same rights and privileges as the ancient Burgh now enjoys or is entitled to enjoy.

Clause Fourth-

Provided also, and be it further enacted, That nothing in this Act contained shall affect or alter, or be so construed as to affect or alter the imposition or payment of Cess or Land Tax, or of any other Public Burdens imposed or to be imposed on the shire of Forfar, for or in respect of the several Lands and Heritages forming the said annexed Territory; nor shall such Lands and Heritages be liable in any cess or stent levied or to be levied under the authority of the Magistrates and Council of the said Burgh; and in ascertaining the proportions of the Cess or Land Tax payable by the Royal Burghs in relation to each other, the said Lands and Heritages and Trade there carried on shall not be included or taken into account, or the Proprietors or Occupiers of the said Lands and Heritages subjected in any part of the Cess or Land Tax payable by the said Royal Burghs, nor shall any petty Customs, or other Local Burdens or Prestations to which the Territory annexed to the ancient Burgh is not at present subject, be by the operation of this Act extended over such Territory; and generally, no Rights or Privileges belonging by law to the ancient Burgh, or to the Incorporations within the same, or to the Freemen or Inhabitants thereof, shall be infringed, nor shall any Burden or Restraint not at present in lawful existence over the annexed Territory or the Inhabitants thereof be extended over it or them, excepting only in so far as is otherwise expressly provided in this Act. vided always, that it shall not be imperative upon the Magistrates and Council of the said Burgh, acting under the authority of this Act, to levy or exact the petty Customs in use to be levied within the said ancient Burgh, but nothing in the Act shall be held to injure or affect the Right to levy the same therein.

Clause Sixth-

And be it further enacted, That from and after the passing of this Act the whole Rights, Powers, Privileges, Jurisdictions, and Authorities now belonging to or enjoyed by the Magistrates and Town Council of the ancient Burgh, or any of them, or by them and the Deacons of Crafts jointly, whether at Common Law, by Statutes, Royal Charters, or otherwise, shall be, and the same are hereby vested in a Magistracy and Council consisting of Twenty-one Persons, videlicet, a Provost, Four Bailies, a Dean of Guild, a Treasurer, and Fourteen Common Councillors, named and to be appointed as hereinafter provided, who shall in all respects come in place of the Magistrates and Town Council, ordinary and extraordinary, of the ancient Burgh; and the common Good or Property which belonged, or may belong to or be acquired by the said ancient Burgh as now enlarged, shall be vested in and committed to and administered by the Magistrates and Council of the said Burgh as enlarged, acting under the Authority of this Act, in the same manner as the common Good or Property of the ancient Burgh was vested in, committed to, or could have been administered by the Magistrates and Council, ordinary or extraordinary, of the ancient Burgh; and the Rights, Powers, and Privileges of the Magistrates and Council acting under the Authority of this Act shall be applied to and extend over the whole of the enlarged Burgh, including the ancient Burgh, equally and in all respects to as full Extent and Effect as those of the Magistrates and Council, ordinary or extraordinary, of the ancient Burgh extended over the Territory thereof; and the Magistrates and Council acting under the Authority of this Act shall (under the Exception hereinafter mentioned) respectively have the same Jurisdiction, Powers, and Authorities over the enlarged Territory as are at present or might have been enjoyed or exercised by the Magistrates and Council, ordinary and extraordinary, of the ancient Burgh within the same, whether at Common Law, or under any Act or Acts of Parliament, Local or General, Royal Charters, or otherwise.

Clause Seventh-

Provided always, and be it further enacted, That the Jurisdiction of the Dean of Guild over the Territory annexed to the ancient Burgh shall not be privative or exclusive of the Jurisdiction of any Court of Law now competent to exercise Jurisdiction over the same; and nothing herein-contained shall be construed to compel any Party or Parties to apply to the Dean of Guild Court for Leave to make Alterations on Property within the annexed Territory, or for any other Object or Purpose connected with the same.

Clause Eighth-

And be it further enacted, That nothing in this Act contained shall affect or alter, or be so construed as to affect the Powers and Jurisdiction competent to the Sheriff and Justices of the Peace for the County of Forfar within the ancient Burgh or the Territory annexed thereto by this Act.

This Extended Municipal Boundary has by recent Decrees of the Sheriff, under Statutory powers, been farther extended, and made the same as the Parliamentary Boundary of the Burgh,—the only difference being that the first extended Royalty includes the area of the Fair Muir Cattle Market, which is not within the Parliamentary Boundary.—(See Nos. 253 and 254 of Inventory, and Plan.)

Note.—The Sett of the Burgh and the Election of the Town Council as fixed by the Act of 1831 have now been changed by the Municipal Reform Act of 28 August, 1833, 3 & 4 Will. IV., c. 76, and subsequents Acts amending the same, including the Act of 1868 and Ballot Act of 1872.

THE WATER SUPPLY.

Considering the present area of the Town—the Ladywell being pretty near its centre—it will be interesting to state that the first public introduction of a water supply from beyond the Burgh should have been from the Ladywell. The Town at this time (1743) was in a very dilapidated and impoverished state, many of the street houses being in a ruinous condition, and what trade had existed was paralyzed. The estimated cost of the undertaking was £310, and a further expense was to be entailed of erecting wells or fountains in some of the streets. The Town was unable to raise the money, and a subscription was begun by the Inhabitants to supplement the Burgh Funds, but it was not successful; and the work having been gone on with, the Council had for some time to raise by credit the Contract Instalments.

The more recent attempts by the Council in 1835, 1836, and 1837 to procure a Water Supply caused probably the keenest and most disastrous controversies in which the Town had been involved, and, besides being practically frustrated, the Burgh was subjected in nearly £30,000 of costs of the controversies, and indeed was the real cause of the Town's recent difficulties and of being obliged to be under Trust-which Trust, after a period of twenty-four years, has only been discharged in the year 1864. These controversies were unfortunate, but the Town at the time, by not undertaking the introduction of the Supply, let this privilege fall into the hands of a Joint-Stock Company, who a few years afterwards constructed the Monikie Works, and when it was subsequently found requisite to place the Water Supply in the hands of the public themselves, there was no legal compulsitor on the Company to transfer, while by Clauses introduced into the General Police Acts and Public Health Act practically excluding all competition with the Water Company, the Public were placed in a disadvantageous position, and the price paid was consequently thereby, no doubt, considerably influenced. This Monikie Supply was supplemented by the purchase of the Loch of Lintrathen from the Earl of AIRLIE, and largely extended in its area. The Lintrathen water has been introduced by pipeage to Dundee of about twenty miles, at a cost, including Reservoirs and other expenses, of fully £300,000, in addition to the price of the Monikie Supply, and thus affording a daily water supply of from eight to twelve millions of gallons. Dundee, therefore, has now a Water Supply probably equal to any Town in the Kingdom. The contrast between the original Water Undertaking in 1743 and the Supply from Lintrathen both in quantity and cost is remarkable, yet such has been the increase of the Town, and the resources of the Inhabitants, that the cost for its introduction has been met with perhaps as equal facility as the original supply from the Ladywell.

The following are the resolutions of the Council for the Ladywell Supply in 1743:-

29 March, 1743.—The Councill agree yt the Ladywell Water be brought into the Town in lead pipes with the first conveniency, and In Regaurd the Town has not funds of their own sufficient for defraying the charge yrof, therefore Recommends to the present Magistrates, the Dean of Guild, Lunday, Tealin, and Deacon Gray, as a Comitee to make up proposals for raising Subscriptions In the Town for that purpose, & recommends to the Clerk to write to Mr. Graham, Plumber in Edinburgh, to come here and view the ground, and give in ane Estimate of the charge thereof.

16 Aprile, 1743.—The Provost acquainted the Council that John Graham, Plumber, was lately in this Burrow, and had given in two Estimates of the Charge of bringing in the Ladywell into this Burrow in lead Pipes, amounting to two hundred and eighty pounds St, or thereby. The Councel unanimously agree that they endeavour to raise what they can by subscription for said work, and recommend to the Committee formerly appointed for making up said subscriptions to agree with Mr. Graham for bringing in s^d water with y^e first conveniency.

26 Aprile, 1743.—The Provost acquainted the Council that, In consequence of a former appointment, The Committee had agreed with Mr. Graham, Plumber, for bringing in the Ladywell water into the Burrow in lead pipes, and erect five fountains in this Burrow, all for Three hundred and ten pounds Sterling; That he was obliged to do it over this year, and to uphold y° work for three years after,—of all which the Councel approve.

GAS-LIGHT.

It will be seen from the Council resolutions that continued disputes occurred between the Council and the Candlemakers in former times as to the price and quality of the Candles, and a controversy of a similar nature arose and was continued in recent times between the Public and the Gas-Light Companies, who had secured the monoply of the supply of Gas-Light. This controversy was only ended by the statutory acquisition by the public of the Gas-Light Companies' Works, with the view of supplying good Gas at the cheapest cost price. The Gas supply has now, therefore, since 1868 been in the hands of and under the direct control of a Representative Public Board, and which, judging from the experience already had of the change, promises to secure as far as possible to the inhabitants an improved supply of Gas-Light at the cheapest possible price.

THE OLD STEEPLE

It will be seen from the Writs in the Inventory, and the Notes therein, that the Old Steeple has been now thoroughly renovated, after a Plan by Sir G. Gilbert Scott, in 1872. The expense—upwards of £8,780—was defrayed by a Subscription by the Inhabitants of £4,540, and a Contribution from the Common Good of the Town by the Council of £4,243.

THE MAGDALEN GREEN.

By Decree of the Court of Session, dated 19 January, 1678, the Inhabitants of Dundee vindicated their rights of walking over, parading, and using the Magdalen Green for recreation purposes, while the Proprietor of Blackness had the right to the Solum of the Green and to the pasturage thereof. In 1858, by Action in the Court of Session, the Town objected to Mr. Hunter of Blackness attempting to make Erections on the foreshore of the Green, and between the Green and the River. The Town got Interdict against such a proceeding, and ultimately a Decree was pronounced finding that the Town's rights over the Green proper would also extend Riverward so far as reclaimed or reclaimable—the River being the southern boundary. In 1856 the Town Council also purchased from the Board of Trade the Crown right to the Solum of the Pools which were in the Green in addition to the original extent of the Green, and this extended to the Railway Line.

In 1871 the Commissioners of Police, in the Improvement Act, got powers to acquire the Green as a Pleasure Ground under the Statute for public recreation purposes, and they subsequently purchased Mr. Hunter's rights of solum and pasturage of the Green. A Notice was also, in 1872, served by the Police Commissioners on the Magistrates and Town Council, who held the Green as above mentioned for the use of the Inhabitants, requiring them to name a price for the same, and thereafter to convey the same to the Police Commissioners, to be held by them under the Act. As yet no special Conveyance has been given by the Magistrates and Council.

THE LAW HILL

The long-continued controversy regarding the right to the Law Hill has at last been arranged by mutual compromise. The long-continued exclusive occupation and use of the land around the Law—and of the Law itself so far as it could be used by grazing—following on the Title to the Dudhope property in the RANKINE Family, presented difficulties in vindicating the Town's claims to the Hill, although unquestionably the community of Dundee had from time immemorial used the Law for recreation purposes. In face of a threatened protracted and expensive litigation, which might have extended over many years, and been attended with great expense, it was considered advisable by the Council and their advisers to arrange a compromise, and this was effected by a payment by the Town of £1,138 for the Hill and surroundings—amounting to about thirteen acres,—conform to a Plan thereof; and as it was considered necessary also to acquire the Quarries on the north shoulder of the Hill, so as to prevent a continued working of these Quarries, to the danger of those frequenting the Hill,—those Quarries, from which Mr. RANKINE was drawing an annual revenue of somewhere about £200, were also purchased for the sum of £2,750, and are in the meantime being wrought by the Town at a considerable profit, but only worked for a time conform to a Plan to level the north shoulder of the Hill, so as to do away with the present dangerous nature of the locality from the deep excavations caused by the former working, and the margins of the Quarries sloped so as to be free from danger to the Inhabitants. (See Disposition, No. 263 of Inventory.)

ALBERT INSTITUTE BUILDINGS.

It will also be seen from the Deeds—Nos. 228, 229, and 264 of the Inventory—that, mainly by the generous liberality of the Subscribers to the Albert Institute, the Town has now acquired the Institute Buildings in Albert Square. This has enabled the Town, by extending the original Buildings, to give increased accommodation for all Departments of the Free Library and for a Museum and Picture Gallery,—all which, including the Ground, are now solely the property of the Town and Community for the useful and excellent public purposes intended by the Promoters of the Albert Institute and the Free Library Institution.

POPULATION OF DUNDER

The population of Dundee has of late years rapidly increased with the increasing trade and manufacture.

Since 1821 the progress has been as follows:-

Year	1821,	30,575
	1831,	45,355
	1841,	62,794
	1851,	78,931
	1861,	91,664
	1871,	20,724

And the present Estimate of the population in 1879 was stated to be about 150,000.

The Valuation of Property in Dundee in 1870-1 was £397,386 15s., and in 1879-80, £646,348 17s.

SHIPPING.

The Port and Harbour has been largely increased, and most extensive and commodious Dock accommodation constructed, with further projected extensions eastwards towards the Stannergate.

The number and tonnage of Vessels registered as belonging to Dundee was-

As affecting the Staple Trade of the Town, a large direct Import Trade in Jute from India to Dundee has arisen of late years. In the year 1870 the number of these large vessels arriving at the Harbour was 26, with a tonnage of 30,317, with 207,208 Bales of Jute, and in 1879 the number of these vessels arriving was 79, with a tonnage of 108,486, and with 739,172 Bales of Jute; while, as regards Flax, Tow, and Hemp, the number of vessels arriving with cargoes during the year 1879 was 115, with an aggregate tonnage of 43,211, and the Flax imported amounted to 27,046 Tons.

THE DUNDEE CEMETERIES.

Under the Burial Grounds Act of 1855, the Old Burying Ground known as the "Howff," granted in 1564 by Queen Mart, was closed on sanitary grounds in consequence of its long-continued use and excess of interments, besides being now in the centre of the Burgh. The other Burgh Burying Grounds at Constitution Road, St. Andrew's Church, St. Peter's Church, Logie, and Craigie were also closed under the Act of Parliament, and in their place the Board acquired large new Cemeteries to the Eastward, and Balgay Hill Cemetery to the Westward, suitable to the requirements of the Town.

In addition to the Properties held by the Town, they have considerable Feu-duties and Ground-annuals for properties feued out for Building along several of the Streets, and the Feu-duties and Casualties of Superiority of the Barony of the Hilltown. The Abstract of the Town's Properties and Affairs—less the Petty Customs—is given below. These Customs are let yearly by public roup, and last year the amount was £1,060 6s. ld. The principal obligation due by the Town was the amount contained in the Bond granted by the Town to the Hospital Fund for £18,500 at the adjustment of Accounts under the Act of Parliament settling the "Stipend Case controversy" in 1864. It bears interest at 4 per cent., and is in the option of the Town to pay up or not as the Corporation may see fit. In September 1864 the Council granted this Bond, and the Town Council conveyed to the Hospital on 20th January, 1875, in security of this Debt, the Feu-duties and Groundannuals belonging to the Town.

THE HOSPITAL PROPERTIES AND FUNDS.

In Box 14, and the Numbers 32 and 41, will be found the reports on the Hospital Properties by Mr. Cosmo Innes on remit by the Court of Session in what is known as the "Stipend Case," and the agreement come to between the Town, the Church, and the Clergy, and all parties interested, whereby the Hospital Properties are finally declared. The Act of Parliament confirming the arrangement will be found in No. 41.

Subject to that adjustment, it may be interesting to learn the localities of some of the many Properties in and around the Town which were held by the Hospital.

The Hospital Properties were extensive and valuable, and about the end of the eighteenth and the beginning of the present century the Town Council as Patrons feued and disposed of a great part of these Properties. The following may be enumerated:—

In 1727-8, the Estates of Drumgeith and Baldovie were purchased by the Hospital at the price of £15,249 6s. 8d. Scots, partly paid by funds in hand belonging to the Hospital, and partly by money borrowed for the purpose; and in 1737 a Mansion House was erected on Drumgeith. In 1734 Baldovie was feued to Richard Holden for a feu-duty of 500 merks, or £333 6s. 8d., and in 1740 Drumgeith Estate was feued to Bailie Reid for an annual feu-duty of £420 Sterling, and about this time various properties at and westward of Hilltown, which they had previously acquired from the Town, were also feued out, and a number of ground-annuals and properties were subsequently sold. In 1750-1 the Hospital, being due to the Town £904 17s. 11d., sold to the Town the Acres above St. Francis Well for £931 6s. Scots, and discharged their debt, getting over the balance of £26 8s. 9d.—
(This is the transaction completed by the Disposition by the Hospital to the Town, dated 28th April, 1752, and being No. 270 of the Inventory—Town's Writs). About 1765 the Hospital Lands lying around the West Port, from the New Ward Mill, were feued to Mr. George Dempster and Provost Hallyburton, and the Superiorities and Feu-duties of the Estates of Drumgeith and Baldovie were also sold, as explained in Note on page 126.

The Hospital Properties in and around the Town were numerous. The principal of these may be stated to be the land known as the Hospital Park (Stirling Park), originally acquired along with the other Dudhope lands by the Town from Lauderdale.—This is still held by the Hospital. The Shortbank Acres, also part of the Dudhope lands, and feued to the Kirk Fabric by the Town, but sold in 1848 to the Hospital, and recently feued out. There are also the Feu-duties, Shops, &c., on the northern part of Reform Street, found to belong to the Hospital by the award of Mr. Cobb in 1848—referred to in No. 31 of the Inventory of Hospital Writs. The Hospital Buildings and Grounds at the Nethergate were disponed to Provost Riddoch. The Hospital Garden, extending to the Overgate, has been intersected by Tay Street, laid out by a plan through the garden ground, and feued on both sides. The grounds to the west of Tay Street joined with the subjects then known as the "Kirk Roods," now Park Place, and also Whitleys, then known as "Black Friars' Acre," and "lying without the Nethergait Port on the north side of the common gait." The Lands of West Ward and Westfield also belonged to the Hospital. The West Ward has been feued out, and now occupied by Manufactories along North Tay Street and Guthrie Street. Part of Westfield was feued to Mr. STRACHAN (Park Wynd) and others. These Lands of Westfield were acquired by the Hospital in 1665 from the Tutors of Graham of Claverhouse, and estimated to extend to "fyve acres and two butts of land or thereby," including "that aker of land called the Marmaiden Pot, lyand in the Scafield," to the east of the lands which belonged to the Kirk Treasurer of Dundee, and the Flood Mark of the Tay on the south, "the common way yat leadis from Dundie to Invergowrie" on the north; also "ane aiker called Halkhill, betwixt the lands sometyme of PETER WEDDERBURN at the west, the lands of the aires and successors of WILLIAM DAVIDSON at the east, the flood mark of Tay at the south, and the hie way leadand from Dundie to Invergowrie (Hawkhill) at the north; and ane aiker thereof called the Berrihall, and others, extending in all to upwards of 5 acres, and all lyand on the Westfield of Dundie." The Hospital also acquired "All and Heall thaise four acres of Arable land lying in the Westfield of Dundie," purchased from Thomas MILNE of Mylnefield in 1724.

It will be observed that part of these lands is called "ane aiker called 'Halkhill,'" and this acre is bounded on the north by the "hie way leadand from Dundie to Invergowrie," (viz. Hawkhill.) This "aiker" would thus appear to be the subjects fronting the Hawkhill between Small's Wynd and Balfour Street, and may possibly have given the present name of Hawkhill to this Street.

These several lands include what are now known as Airlie Place, Union Mount, and Ellenbank, lately belonging to Mr. Edward, and between the River Tay and the Hawkhill, and all feued out—the west portion to Provost John Halliburton in 1768 for a yearly feu-duty of £15 3s. 4d., the east half of the ground to George Dempster for a similar feu-duty of £15 3s. 4d. Mr. Strachan, the feuar of the south half of the east portion, lying to the west of Mill Wynd or Small's Wynd, re-conveyed one half of his feu, and for which he got a reduction of £7 11s. 8d. of his original feu-duty. This half so reconveyed to the Hospital was feued—the west portion to Mr. John Alison, and the eastern part to Mr. Thomas Davidson, and these are the properties known as Union Mount and Ellenbank. The Seabraes, or river bank along the subjects from Tay Street westward to Airlie Place and Roseangle, were feued out at different times for comparatively small feu-duties, partly to Mr. Riddoch and to Mr. Thomas Watt, and others;—and all these properties and the river frontages between the western boundary of the ancient Royalty at Mr. William Lowson's House to the junction of the Blackness Barony or Estate at Magdalen Yard Road are held to be within the ancient Barony of Dundee.

The estimated value of the Land and Property still held by the Hospital and unfeued is given last year (1879-80) by Mr. ALEXANDER, Town's Architect, as follows:—

Note.—In terms of the Agreement and Act of Parliament (29 July, 1864,) settling all questions between the Town and the Hospital—(See No. 42 of Inventory of Writs, Box 14),—the Town acknowledged to be due to the Hospital £18,500, for which they were to grant Bond, at 4 per cent. interest, and this was embodied in the Act of Parliament. A Bond for the amount was granted on 20th September, 1864, and is recorded in the Burgh Court Books on 1st December, 1864, and subsequently, on 7th January, 1875, a Collateral Bond and Disposition in Security, in favour of the Hospital, was granted by the Council, whereby they conveyed in security of said debt the Ground-annuals and Feu-duties belonging to the Town. This Disposition in Security is recorded in the Burgh Register of Sasines on 20th January, 1875. The Deed will be found in No. 42 of the Inventory of Hospital Writs aforesaid.

THE PROPERTY OF JOHNSTON'S CHARITY, 1879-80.

This Bequest was declared by the Settlement Act of 1864 to be the property called Monorgan's Croft, with £1,000 in addition as an equivalent to meet the uninvested portion of the Bequest.

The Croft, bounded on the south by South Ward Road, on the east by Barrack Street, on the north by the March of the Town's Property near to Bell Street, and on the west by North Lindsay Street, has for most part been feued to Messrs Kirkland and others. The portion remaining is nearly opposite the Police and Sheriff Court and County Buildings, and is valued by Mr. Alexander, Town's Architect as follows:—

Court House Buildings, 64 poles, at £2 10/- per pole, at 22

ANCIENT ARTICLES OF ENQUIRY IN BURGHS, ACCORDING TO THE CUSTOM OF SCOTLAND, AS TO THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE LAW.

I N ancient times the Chamberlain held Air or Court of Enquiry in Burghs into the administration of the Burgh Authorities, and to hear and dispose of complaints by the Inhabitants against the same. These duties of the "Chalmerlan" embraced the following Articles, taken from the ancient Laws of the Kingdom, and these may be of some public interest as shewing the ancient laws and practices which prevailed in the Burghs at an early period.

A remnant of this duty is now competent to the Commissioners of Justiciary in their Circuit Courts. It is the duty of the Court openly to proclaim that, if any one has any complaint to prefer against the Sheriff or Local Judges, that they compear and prefer the same for the cognizance of the Court.

For centuries also the Kings were in the practice personally of holding "Justice Ayres" in certain of the larger Burghs, and in Dundee some of the STUART Kings have presided at these Circuit Courts of Justiciary. This practice has been, however, long in disuse—the duty being now performed by the Lords Commissioners of Justiciary.

THE ANCIENT LAWS AND CUSTOMS OF THE BURGHS.

THE following are a few Extracts from the Burgh Laws adopted and generally followed in all the Burghs of the Kingdom. The Extracts are taken from a collection of the Old Laws by the late Cosmo Innes, Esquire, Advocate, the eminent Antiquarian. They comprehend the laws and usages made and followed in the Reigns of the Early Kings, including David the First, William the Lion, Robert the Bruce, and David the Second, from the Eleventh to the commencement of the Fifteenth Century. These, with the various points on which Enquiry was to be made by the Chamberlain in his periodical Courts of Enquiry, as before given, will give a fair illustration of the acts, usages, and habits of the Burgesses in bygone times. These acts fully corroborate the extracts given of our Town Council proceedings in the same direction of a more recent period, and as proving the complete and supreme control taken by our local Magistracy in regard to the traffic, trade, and commerce within Burgh in earlier times, with the care taken for the protection of the Inhabitants in all their interests, wants, and dealings.

The rule for the speedy decision of law-suits and disputes in Burgh "within the third flood of the sea" is even yet worthy of imitation.
