PREFACE.

THE Protocol Book of Sir John Cristisone is preserved in H.M. General Register House, Edinburgh, and is No. 2 of the series of Protocol Books preserved there. It covers the period from 1518 to 1551. On the flyleaf there is noted the fact that he was created a notary by Master Arthur Boecius, who was Commissary-General of Aberdeen. No trace of his parentage can be found, but as he is designed in his notarial docquets presbyter of the diocese of Aberdeen, there is a strong presumption that he was a native of that diocese. In three of the protocols he is designed as vicar of Kemnay. There is a note on the second page of the flyleaf, viz.: "Advocattis and Straucthauchin against Straucthauchin, 1552," which would lead one to suppose that there were legal proceedings in which the Protocol Book had been produced. A search has been made in the Register of Acts and Decrees about 1552 for the action, but nothing can be found relative thereto.

The transactions relate chiefly to places in the southern part of Aberdeenshire and a few places in northern Kincardineshire. Monimusk would seem to have been the principal centre from which he conducted his business. Taking that place as the centre, it is found that the parishes mentioned in the Protocols are situated on the north, east, south and west thereof. Aberdeen was also in a number of instances the scene of his labours.

Attention is drawn to Nos. 430, 443 and 444, relating to the resignation and appointment of the parish clerk of Daviot. These Protocols are referred to in Bishop Dowden's The Medieval Church in Scotland (p. 136). Protocols Nos. 1, 4, 5, 22, 23, 24, 29, 31, 49, 50, 61, 71, 90, 92, 104, 106, 108, 113, 114, 122, 124, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 152, 157, 158, 171, 179, 215, 216, 217, 229, 262, 269, 287, 292, 310, 330, 349, 360, 377, 414, 417, 430, 443, 444 and 445 are given at length in the Antiquities of Aberdeen and Banff, edited by Dr. Joseph Robertson for the Spalding Club.

1. Instrument narrating that Mr. Thomas Scherar, curate or vicar of Monimosk, passed to the personal presence of Duncan Elmisle, residing in Pitfethe, and as procurator for Mr. Alexander Symone, rector of Monimosk, required and questioned Duncan if the teind sheaves of the town of Petfethy were gathered into Duncan's yard with his leave and authority, and if Duncan had made impediment to the servants of the rector "in correctionem, emendationem et edificationem" of the said teinds. Duncan acknowledged he had given leave that the teinds might be gathered into his yard, and also that he had hindered and interrupted the rector's servants because of the breaking and destruction of his ditches. Upon which acknowledgment, Mr. Thomas S. as procurator, imposed upon the teind sheaves the sum of 24 merks Scots to be paid by Duncan at the usual terms, and protested for remedy of law. Done in the said parish church at noon 10th December 1518. Witnesses, David Farchar, — Dik, clerk depute, Alexander Robertsone, Findlay Quisne. 2 a.

The bailie received the letters and handed them to the notary to be read, copied and published. The notary duly read them aloud, but because of their length and want of time he omits the tenor in this protocol. After reading, the bailie passed to the lands and gave sasine by delivery of earth and stone, and by placing the grantee in a house of the lands, the fires being extinguished and the inhabitants expelled. Done on the lands 10th August 1519. Witnesses, Alexander Kay, John Paterson (Patricii) and tenants. 2 a.

3. Instrument narrating that William Patrickson (Patricii) and his spouse, residing in Pettedro, on one part, and George Pattoun, "superior testamentarius" of the late William Gib, on the other part, have mutually agreed to Alexander Pattoun, William Chavmer and Donald in Quhitcors as arbiters, and to stand to their decree in every plea, question and dispute between the parties, arising out of the goods of the children of the late William Gib; which decree was that William Patrickson and his wife should pay for the part of said children and their property ("peculio") the sum of £44 in pennies and pennyworths, at the sight of the said George as oversman, the sum to be paid to the female children when marriageable or for contracting marriage, and to the male children for the schools or to learn a trade, as shall seem to the said George expedient. Done at Pettedre 1st September 1519. Witnesses, Sir Patrick Davidson, William Blak and Alexander Cristison. 2 b.

Nevertheless, the Earl sent a messenger to Alexander saying that the Earl could not have the presence of Alexander for the present but the messenger, Mr. John Irving, declared that the Earl would give an answer to the notary. The notary thereupon passed to the presence of the Earl, and in the name of Alexander, craved that his lands of Kincragy be demised to him in wadset, and that he would do homage to the Earl. The latter assigned to Alexander a court to be held at Clwne on 27th November instant there to present and show his evidents, charters and rights, if any he has, for the lands, and to do in said court what he is bound to do. That if he did otherwise it should not prejudice him and his heirs in future. Marziota, however, asserted that she had been forced and compelled by the said James Forbes, her son, laird of Auchintovil, to consent to the instrument of the present notary; in token of which she declared that James had carried her off violently on horseback to consent to said instrument, otherwise James would be deprived of all his lands of Auchintovil if she did not grant the instrument, which was false as is asserted by her; and she promised to fulfil all the things in the instrument of Sir Andrew Clark as to the assignation of her terce as above, and she gave her great oath on the Evangelists to observe the same. She acknowledged that the foregoing was true, but declared she could not enter William S. that day on account of the hindrances made by her sons, the Laird of Abergeldie and George Gordoun being in said holding, without grievance and loss. 108. Instrument narrating that a venerable father, Sir David Farlie, prior of the place and convent of the monastery of Monimvsk, diocese of Aberdeen of the order of St. Augustine, plainly appeared within the Chapter of the monastery after stroke of bell, as use is, holding in his hands a process under the seal of John Baptist Bishop of Caserta, and subscribed by Girard Thuret, notary public, of date at Rome 3rd October 1522 (cf. No. 22), containing bulls of Pope Adrian VI. of and upon the provision of said priory of Monimusk granted to the said Sir David; which process he delivered to the notary to be read and published, who took it reverently in his hands and passed to the Chapter place of the priory, where, the canons being gathered at the stroke of bell, he read and intimated the process to them; after which prior David humbly and with due instance required Sirs William Vilsone, Andrew Masone, Patrick Andersone, James Child and Allan Galt, canons of the monastery, that they would do obedience to him as prior, and that each of them would do it according to the use of religion, not however because of the penalties contained in the process, but favourably and pleasantly. The canons with one consent replied, and each for himself answered and said that they and each of them would advise with the said prior and afterwards give him fit and due answer as to said obedience, and to do to him as they and each of them were bound to do in law. The assize for a part of those present with one consent said that Alexander had been accused with Henry's wife in adultery by common voice and fame for a fault alleged to be committed with Henry's wife before the last synod and not after the synod, because they believed that it is asserted by a part of the assize that they ought to accuse the said Henry (sic. but lege Alexander) in respect of the common voice and report before the synod although he had been formerly accused for the same in the last Chapter before the synod. Alexander C. and his procurator craved instrument, protesting that the last accusation should not prejudice Cruschank. Done at the parish church of Logydurno 13th December 1533. 140. Instrument narrating that William Foulair, residing in Drumnacht, and William Couper in Sauchyne agreed, upon their great and solemn oath, to abide by the award of Sir Thomas Mykkart, chaplain, Sir John Cristisoun, notary, Duncan Fola, John Rure, with Patrick Forbes, oversman, for avoiding controversy regarding the crave of Couper from Foulair of the sum of 33 merks owing to him in dowry with the daughter of Foulair ; and also as to the request of Foulair for a piece of woollen, two ells of cloth of black colour, bequeathed to his wife by his said daughter, late wife of Couper, in her last will, and for a certain small box also bequeathed, as he asserted, to a son of Foulair ; the arbiters, sworn and accepting, to meet at the parish church of Kemna 25th January, with continuation of days, and to give their award between this and Passion Sunday next to come ; the parties promising, upon the gospels touched, held in the hands of the notary, to ratify the decree of the arbiters. Done at Kemna 3rd January 1534. Witnesses, Sir Andrew Skeocht, notary, John Mar, Andrew Melving. 52 a.

141. Instrument narrating that John Reid in Bawgovne, asserting that he was tenant of four oxgangs of the said town of Bawgovne within the lordship and parish of Keig, gave up all right and claim he had to the same, to John Reid, his son, divesting himself of said tenancy ; and also gave consent to his son comparing before James, archbishop of St. Andrews, or his chamberlain, with power to crave and obtain admission to the tenancy and to enter and agree with the archbishop, and for placing his son's name upon the archbishop's rental and deleting his own as principal tenant and to possess the land as he possessed it. Providing that if the younger John did not obtain the consent of the reverend father, the said tenancy should remain safe and uninjured with the elder John. The younger Reid craved instrument. Done within the cemetery of the parish church of Leslie 15th January 1534. Witnesses, Master Duncan Oudny, vicar of Kynauchmont, Sirs Alexander Lang and William Cristisone, curate of Lesle, chaplains, and William Duf, layman. 53 a.

142. Instrument narrating that John Govlis, curate of Colsalmont, personally compeared in presence of Mr. Duncan Oudny (vicar of Kynauchmont), dean of Christianity of Gareauch, having power to receive accusations of excess within the deanery, and also in presence of the greater part of the parishioners of Colsalmont gathered to divine service, when Mr. John asserted that a certain paper written in name and behalf of all the parishioners, containing some faults and complaints against himself as curate, had been presented to the dean. He called the said parishioners together, and grievously besought and humbly required them, that putting aside all favour and rancour for the sake of charity and the love of God, as they would answer to God at the day of judgment, if they knew him guilty of any notorious crime against God and his parishioners and if they or any of them took part in making said writ, they would confess and make it known. All were silent except only Malcolm Cruschank, Robert Eldair and Allan Cristisone, who said they had some complaint against him, particularly as to his intromission with a tenancy called Lital Wranghayme. Then Mr. John offered himself ready to abide the correction of said dean in the person of William, bishop of Aberdeen, regarding the amendment of whatever faults, if any were, he had openly confessed. Done within the church of Culsalmont at the high altar 23rd January 1534. Witnesses, Master Thomas Clark, vicar of Rayne, Master John Broune, Master William Anderson and Sir William Pendrecht. 53 a.

143. The same day Mr. John Govlis, curate of Colsalmont, on one part, and Malcolm Cruschank, Robert Eldair and Allan Cristisone, dwellers in the parish of Colsalmont, on the other part,—to avoid litigation and controversy regarding a crave of Robert Eldair to be righted of a tenancy of Lital Wranghayme intromitted with by the said Mr. John; also the latter's petition to be repaid the cost incurred by him at the city of Aberdeen because he was cited and without any cause publicly proclaimed at the market cross of Aberdeen by royal letters obtained by Eldair, and for finding cautioners to answer at law for certain causes expressed in the letters,—agreed upon Mr. John Forbes, portioner of Barnis, William Elphinstoun of Glak, Mr. Thomas Clark, vicar of Rayne, Mr. John Brown, vicar of Alnay, with Mr. Robert Elphinstoun, treasurer of Aberdeen, as oversman, or in the absence of Mr. John Forbes upon George Leslie of Nyw Leslie or Robert Allirdes of Baddynschocht, and if the said Thomas (Clark) do not compear, upon Mr. Duncan Oudny, dean of Gareauch, giving them full power of giving sentence in all pleas between the parties, beginning and meeting at the parish church of Colsalmont 24th January instant; decree to be given between this and Passion Sunday next. Mr. John Browne and Mr. Thomas Clark, presbyters, and William Elphinstoun accepted and took oath. At said church. Witnesses, Masters Andrew Leslie, William Pendrecht, William Andersone, chaplains, and Malcolm Layng. 53 b.

144. Instrument narrating that Sir Allan Galt, canon regular of the monastery of Monimvsk, compearing personally, delivered to the notary a paper writ to be read, copied and reduced in public instrumental form as follows. Referring to the benefit of the right of appeal to remedy oppression he declares his intention of appealing; he therefore states to the notary as a public person that he feels and considers himself in time past grievously injured and hurt by David Fairlie, prior of said monastery, and that the prior, contrary to law and the rule of their religion, maliciously charged against him unknown crimes as he intends to prove; and also he offers to abide by the commands of the Chapter in whatever crimes are alleged against him, according to the rule of their religion, and if convicted he submits to correction as is fitting. If it happens that prior David cruelly proceeds against him for crimes not known by the Chapter, he appeals from whatever grievances and injuries done to him, from each of them and from every future grievance, to his dispensation from the apostolic see granted to him, under the tenor of which, licence was asked though not obtained, as appears by the same; therefore he, on his bended knees, craves and demands licence from the prior, to whom he will produce the dispensation if need be. Therefore that whatever may be done by the prior against him may not prejudice him and the dispensation, but that it shall remain safe and uninjured; he calls upon the notary and the bystanders to be witnesses upon which he asked instrument. Done in the nave of the church of said monastery 6th February 1534. Witnesses, Sirs John Reid, vicar of Monimusk, Andrew Skeocht, notary, William Hurre of Petfeche, John Macke, and John Baxter. 54 b.

145. The same day the said Allan Galt, personally appearing before Sir David Farlie, prior of Monimvsk, called together his brethren ("confiâtres") canons of that monastery, and grievously besought them and humbly requested that, putting aside both favour and rancour, for the sake of charity and the love of God, of true conscience as they would answer to God in the day of judgment, they would confess and declare before the prior and all those standing round, if they knew him guilty of any crime or fault against God and religion; who all with one voice purged him and affirmed him innocent of all notorious crime, but a good religious, of good morals, full of virtues and devoted to divine worship. He asked instrument. Done as above. Witnesses as in the preceding minute. 55 a.

146. The same day Sir David Fairlie, prior of the monastery of Monimvsk, appeared personally, having heard and seen the publications and appeals of Sir Allan Galt, canon regular of the monastery, appealing from the prior to the supreme pontiff as to his correction of Sir Allan for certain faults committed by him, said that Allan ought not to appeal from his prior's correction, but ought to submit himself thereto according to the rule of his religion as by law he is bound to do. The prior declared that Sir Allan was frequently admonished and warned by him to perform certain penances enjoined upon him for the measure of his offence, yet Sir Allan was as yet unwilling to perform the penances but pertinaciously and openly despised them to the great loss and scandal of religion; wherefore lest his crimes remain unpunished and willing, as he asserted, to proceed against him in order of law, the prior delivered a paper writ containing a precept signed by him to Sir William Wilson, canon of the monastery, commanding execution, the tenor being that the prior commanded, "in the vertu of the haly spreit and of obedience," the said William Wilson as subprior of the monastery "that ze pas to Dene Allan Galt, channon of the sayme and command hyme to keip his chalmer in the dormitour and pas nocht furcht of it bot ad necessaria, and that he be in continuale seilence with all manner of man except hyme that mackis hyme ministratioun and that he be all this tyme in breid and aill and twa dais in the ovik, viz., Vedinsday and Friday at his discipline and that na bonnet cum one his heid the tyme of his pennance except his nycht bonnet into the tyme that he be fundyne penitent and throuch his patience, humilite and satisfacioun and recompensatione done to God and religioun, and to ws his laudable conuersatioun guid exempil he serue be our jugement to be deliverit or relaxit of the said pennance"; the said precept being dated at Monimvsk 5th February 1534. The prior craved instrument 6th February 1534. Witnesses, Sirs John Reid, Andrew Skeocht, chaplains, William Hurre and John Macky. 55 a.

147. The same day the said Prior David, having heard the purgations and depositions of the said canons regular of Monimvsk that Sir Allan was a good religious, of good morals, full of virtues and devoted to divine worship, declared that their depositions happened because of the persuasions of Sir Allan, because though they purged him of their own motions and were not compelled, neither were they called to that by the prior himself, wherefore faith could not be placed in them, but they are to be held as partial and participating in Sir Allan's crime. Done in the nave as above. Witnesses, Sirs John Reid and Andrew Skeocht, chaplains, William Hurre of Petfeche and John Macky. 55 b.
148. The same day compeared the said Sir David, prior of the foresaid monastery of Monimusk, after execution made by Sir William Wilson by letters or precept of the said prior, warning Sir Allan Gault to remain in his chamber within the dormitory of the monastery, to keep silence with all men except the servitor attending him and not to wear a cap ("birrum") unless his night cap ("birrum nocturnum"), protested for remeid of law because the said Sir Allan, after warning made to him by the said Sir William Wilson, executor of the said letters, as if he were a son of disobedience, entered the church, was present at divine service with his brethren, and, likewise in taking meat and drink at dinner at the ninth hour, was unwilling to obey his commands. Done in the hall of the monastery. Witnesses, Sir John Reid, vicar of Monimvsk, Andrew Skeocht, notary and chaplain, and John Makky. 56 a.

1531-1532.

149. Instrument narrating that Marziota Seiton, lady of terce of the lands of Auchintovil, freely acknowledged and willingly recognised that she is and has been content and well pleased because of the amicable exchange between her and James Forbes of Auchintovil, her first born son, of the lands of the third part of the half manor of Auchintovil and the lands of the two parts of the mill of Auquhorty belonging as heritage to the said James, in complete payment and contentation of the third part of the half manor of Auchintovil for her terce during her life; and the said James acknowledged himself content with the said part of the manor in complete contentation of the said two parts of the mill and two parts of the lands of the same of Auquhorsk during Marziota's life. And they said that the contract was made betwixt them in the year 1519 and is to be fulfilled in all points now as then and then as now during Marziota's life. At Kemnay 21st February 1531. Witnesses, James Forbes, heir apparent of William Forbes of Corsindave, William Styvart of Porters-toun and John Forbes. 56 a.

1535.

150. Instrument narrating that Jonet Vilsone appeared personally within the territory of the town of Innerovry upon the ground of lands of one rood and a half, lying on the east side of said town between the lands of John Huchown on the south, the lands of John Barcroft on the north, the highway on the west and the common land of Innerovry on the east, and with consent of William Robertson, her husband, she being uncompelled, resigned the said lands in the hands of Walter Banzeocht, one of the bailies of said town, who thereupon passed to the lands and inducted and invested the said William and Jonet and the longest liver of them and their lawful heirs, whom failing the heirs of the said Jonet, in possession of the lands. Done on the lands 7th April 1535. Master William Cabell, rector of Tulinestyne, Walter Jhonston, officer, Antony Makky, John Huchone, John Ronaldson and Alexander Ronaldson. 56 b.

151. Instrument narrating that Margaret Burnet, residing in Boquhain, with consent of Alexander Covtis, her husband, of her own free will, set and leased to William Red in Garlogy a tenancy of four oxgates of land of Vester Carne with a half of a croft called the "Ester croft" lying in the sherifffdom of Meyrnis (sic) and parish of Skeyne, for the whole space of five years next to come after Whitsunday 1535, the date of his entry; he paying to Margaret  $2\frac{1}{2}$  merks yearly with six chickens yearly, and carriages, averages and bondages to be paid to her as by the other tenants of Vester Carne. Margaret obliged herself to warrant the said William in peaceable possession for the five years. Done at the outer gate of the Place of the Friars Carmelite of Aberdeen 22nd April 1535. Witnesses, Sirs John Carleil, vicar of Glenbuchat, Alexander Layng and James Forbes, chaplains, William Covtis and Alan Covtis, and William Leycht, student. 56 b.
152. Instrument narrating that James Hill, residing in Finges, compeared personally in a court of William, bishop of Aberdeen, held at Rayne by William Lyoun, bailie, pursued by the Laird of Jhonstoun as to a request by the Laird to James for an ox unjustly intromitted with by him, as he asserted. The said James uttered these words in the vulgar tongue: "I praye God that the ayris of Caskebene neuer prosper for the thinggis ye do to me," speaking of the said Laird of Jhonstoun and Caskebene and his heirs. And he uttered the following words to the vicar of Rayne, "prelocutor" for the Laird: "I pray to God Schir Wicair that ze neuer se the faice of God." To which Mr. Thomas Clark, vicar of Rayne, asserted that he and the said Laird of Jhonstoun had been held and reputed of good fame, praiseworthy life and honest conversation, and therefore James Hill had no reason to utter such words to blacken them in honour and status, a very great injury; and which mental injury he repelled before the notary. He would not, he asserted, sustain such injury for a great quantity of his goods, and he protested that he would prosecute the injury at a fitting time. He then in his own name and on behalf of the Laird of Jhonstoun craved instrument. Done at Rayne publicly in said court 31st May 1535. Witnesses, William Lyoun of Colmalegy, Patrick Gordoun in Auchmanzye, William Gordoun in Knoccaspak, Sir Alexander Cristison, chaplain, William Fola and Alexander Andrew. 57 a.
153. The same day William Lyoun of Colmalegy, sitting as judge in a court of William, bishop of Aberdeen, warned and commanded James Hill in Finges to cease from much talking and from words injurious to any one unless he speaks them in court and according to law, under pain of a fine: He refused to do so, and after his inhibition, uttered many noisy words, disturbing the court, the order of law not being observed; for which reason the bailie condemned James in a fine of said court and protested for remedy of law at a fitting time. The bailie craved instrument. Done as above. Witnesses as in preceding minute. 57 b.
154. The same day John Elmslie, with his wife, were pursued by Ellen Catnes concerning her allegation that John and his wife and children had drawn her blood, that they had injured her and she is troubled by them. The bailie chose a temporal assize for cognoscing the cause to the number of 13 persons. After a time the reasons and allegations of the parties being heard by the assize, and those who were interested compeared before the bailie as judge; the assize acquitted the said John, his wife and children of the crimes alleged, and declared them innocent of the effusion of Ellen's blood and of the other injuries set forth. Done at Rayne as above. Witnesses, the said bailie (William Lyoun), Sir Alexander Cristisone, chaplain, William Fola, Alexander Duncansone and Patrick Andersone, clerk depute of Rayne. 57 b.

155. Instrument narrating that William Forbes of Corsindave, after a reference to the effect which severe sickness of body has upon the mind, and because he knows not God's will, lest he should die intestate, knowing that the soul is more precious than the body, he made up and ordered his testament in this manner,—First, he commended his soul to the most High Creator and to the Blessed Virgin and the court of heaven, his body to be buried in the choir of the Virgin Mary of the parish church of Monimvsk, and he appointed Sir John Akynheid, usufructuar of Monimvsk, James Forbes, his heir apparent, Duncan Forbes, his son, Margaret Lummisdane, his spouse, and Sir John Carleil, vicar of Glenbuchat, as his lawful executors testamentary that they may dispose for his soul and concerning the distribution of his goods, with advice however of John Gillespy, vicar of Aufurd, and John Cristisone, vicar of Kemnay, and not otherwise nor in any other manner than by their counsel, as they shall answer in the day of judgment to the supreme judge. Done at Corsindave in the chamber within the chapel of the same 2nd June 1535. Witnesses, Patrick Orum of Carndave, Arthur Forbes, Gilbert Jhonston and Henry Reid. 58 a.
156. Instrument narrating that John Andersone alias Snak and William Robertstone, indwellers of Innerovry, summoned by Patrick Roucht, forester of the wood of Park, for the disbarking of the wood of the plantation belonging to the Earl of Huntlie,—of their own free will promised and obliged themselves, their heirs, executors and assignees to compear in the court of the said lord of Huntlie next to be held at the Gra Stane of Clune after warning made to them by said Patrick or any of his servants; and to submit to the judgment of the court of the Earl of Huntlie or his bailies as to the barking of the wood; and if they shall fraudfully absent themselves after being warned, they bind themselves, etc., to pay to said Patrick £20 Scots within 20 days after the holding of the court. Done at Skibberte 9th June 1535. Witnesses, Sir Henry Quhitvellis, chaplain, Gilbert Toucht, James Brintschav and Gilbert Patre. 58 b.
157. Instrument narrating that Sirs William Wilsone, Andrew Masone, Patrick Andersone and James Murray, canons regular of the monastery of Monimvsk of the order of St. Augustine, of Aberdeen diocese, compeared personally, and unanimously handed a paper writ to the notary to be read, etc., to the effect that they, the said canons availing themselves of the privilege of appeal, feeling that they are grievously injured and oppressed and fearing worse in the future from Sir David Farlie, prior of said monastery. First, because the prior had decerned and published admonitory letters against them, admonishing them on 13th June of the instant year to cease from sacred things and from celebrating divine service to which they were bound and whence they derived food and clothing and other necessities; whereas they as obedient sons offered to satisfy his will and commands, and to cease from celebration of divine ordinances justly or unjustly, saving their consciences, if he would minister necessities to them by himself or another as he is bound to do. He had proceeded unjustly against them because they had no other art nor means whence they could seek necessities. Second, because in the past year on 3rd November, with the favour and consent of the prior, they ceased from divine ordinances, whence arose no small loss not only in money but even in reputation; also they had fallen under and incurred the odium and anger of William, bishop of Aberdeen, their ordinary, and of Sir John Akinheid, usufructuar of the said monastery, and of many others. Third, because the prior unjustly alleged in his letters the very great disgrace to them and the monastery; and they incurred irregularity for participation with Sir Allan Gault as excommunicated and charged and recharged by the prior's process: when therefore the procese was presented in the synod of Aberdeen and there not pleaded, and after the presentation, the same Sir Allan was present in the cathedral church of Aberdeen at divine service with the prior and was not shut out or expelled as befitted an excommunicated person. Fourth, although they had no interest in Sir Allan Galt nor had they assisted, favoured or given him counsel in anything, the prior had rebuked them whence they were unable to serve God with a quiet and charitable mind as dedicated to God and professed to religion, but he compelled them to attend to secular, outside and vexatious affairs, to the no small scandal of all religion and chiefly of their monastery; with other reasons to be proposed before a judge by them at due place and time: Protesting that it was not their intention, by word, deed or work to appeal from the prior because of favour had towards Allan Gault or for favour or dislike of any other, but only lest their monastery should suffer any loss or injury in goods. Therefore, on account of the foresaid grievances, and others perhaps more grievous to be inflicted in future, they appeal from the prior and all his power, jurisdiction and privilege, and all sentences and penalties, to William, bishop of Aberdeen, and to his holiness Pope Paul Third, and the Holy See alternatively, and they request letters of appeal, which if the prior denied them, they again appeal as before, subjecting themselves, the monastery and convent, all their goods, their churches, parishioners, servants and familiars, clerical and lay, adhering or willing to adhere to them in this behalf, to the charge, protection and defence of the Pope and the Apostolic See: Protesting also for power to alter, add to or amend their appeal, when necessary, which appeal they and each of them intend to pursue. Upon which the canons and each of them craved instrument. Done within the hall or refectory of said monastery 22nd June 1535. Witnesses, Master David Scot, vicar perpetual of Colsalmont, Sirs John Reid, vicar of Monimvsk, Andrew Skeocht, notary and chaplain, Thomas Patersone, Andrew Watsone, carpenter, and David Rauf, laic. 58 b.

158. Instrument narrating that Henry Curre in Blairdaf, knowing that nothing is more certain than death, was willing to make disposition of his goods lest discord may arise between relations or children and lest he should die intestate: First, he commended his soul to the most High Creator and chose his sepulture in the parish church of St. Ninian of Fatirneir. He bequeathed to Sir Henry Quhitwellis to pray for his soul 2s. To the curate of Logiedurno 2s. likewise. The residue of his goods he left to be equally divided between his wife and two younger children in three portions; and he appointed his elder son and his wife to be his executors, with Sir John Cristisone as oversman, that they may dispone for his soul as they would answer in the day of judgment. Done at Blairdaf 1st October 1535. Witnesses, Patrick and Walter Cristison, David Bissait and Sir John Cristison, notary. 60 a.

159. Instrument narrating that John Lesle, apparent heir of Boquhane, as procurator for Alexander Ogilvy of Findlater, appeared judicially in a court of the Earl of Huntlie, held at "gra stane" of Clune, where all the tenants or free holders who ought to answer to the Earl as their overlord (were bound) to answer and to do homage and other things which they are of right bound to do to their superior, and John Lesle presented an instrument of sasine (dated 31st August 1524) with a precept of sasine (dated 1st August 1524) of the lands of Tolmiad made to the said Alexander Ogilvy, his heirs and assignees, asserting that Alexander O. was the true lord of said lands, holding them from the Earl as superior; and the procurator offered to do to the Earl for the lands what Ogilvy as true lord was bound to do to his overlord. Also Leslie requested the Earl to command and charge his officer of the barony of Clune to arrest all rents and profits and the goods of the tenants and indwellers of the lands for rents, at the instance of Alexander Ogilvy, from the date of the instrument and precept to the present time. The Earl having heard these requests directed Andrew Zuyl, his officer, to arrest accordingly. Done at "gra stane" of Cluny in said court 15th October 1535. Witnesses, William Leslie of Boquhayne, John Leslie of Vardaris, judge for the court, Archibald Douglas of Glenbervy and William Styvart of Porterstoun. 60 a.

160. The same day David Ogilvy, in the court of the said Earl of Huntlie, having heard the requests by John Lesle, as procurator for Alexander Ogilvy of Findlater, compeared before the Earl and his bailie sitting as a court and asserted that he, David, was the true lord of the said lands of Tolmad, and he offered to do what he was bound to do to the superior for the lands ; protesting that whatever was done by Alexander Ogilvy of Findlater or in his name should not prejudice him, his heirs, etc., as to his right. Witnesses as in preceding minute. 60 b.
161. Instrument narrating that Patrick Forbes in Miltone of Kemnay passed to the personal presence of John Andersone, William Wobster and John Jhonsone, dwellers in the territory of Innerovri, saying and alleging that it is meritorious to give faithful testimony to the truth, and required them to be witnesses in the cause of William Styvart of Porterstoun against Sir William Raye, vicar of Kintor, in the tolbooth of Aberdeen, concerning the crave by Stewart from Sir William of one rood and a half of lands lying within the territory of Innerovry on the east side of the town between the lands of John Drumbrek and the Kirk lands on the north and south ; and he also alleged that the party pursuing could not have the depositions of the witnesses to the great loss and prejudice of William, as he asserted. Which John, William and John all with one consent acknowledged that they were cited, sworn and examined before the sheriff and the barons for the time, and deponed as follows :—That Sir William Raye has and occupies in possession his one rood and a half, which is held and is of the pertinents of the lands of Castelzard, and in token thereof, the lords of the lands of Castelzard were accustomed to pay to the place of the friars Carmelites for said lands the sum of 8s. yearly in name of annual rent ; and the inhabitants of the said lands, alleged as pertinents of the same, and occupied by the said Sir William, were accustomed to pay to the said friars in part payment of the said annual rent the sum of 16d. And this they declared upon oath and acknowledged that they and each of them had deponed. Done at Kemna 9th November 1535. Witnesses, Sir Henry Quhitwellis, chaplain, Andrew Fuff, carpenter, and Patrick Forbes. 61 a.
162. Instrument narrating that Mr. William Toucht, chaplain of the chaplainry of Petcasche, in the diocese of Moray, also Alexander Gordoun of Stradoun (Strathavon), undoubted patron of said chaplainry, of their own free wills, obliged themselves, their successors, heirs, executors and assignees, to John Grant of Balnadallauch, his heirs and assignees, that if the charter and precept of sasine of the lands of Petcasche and Fonasche with pertinents belonging to said chaplainry, lying in the parish of Inneravane and lordship of Strathdoun in the sheriffdom of Banff, made and granted to the said John,<sup>1</sup> his heirs, etc., by Mr. William T., with consent of the said Alexander G. and of Alexander, Bishop of Moray, the dean and chapter thereof, are not sufficient to the effect contained in them, to reform, add to, seal and subscribe a charter or charters, precept or precepts to the said John as often as need be according to the advice of skilled persons, until they shall be as sufficient as any charter or precept in Scotland : And this because the said John increased the rental of said chaplainry yearly, and for other reasonable causes concerning the chaplainry and moving their minds to it ; John G. and his heirs, etc., paying to Mr. William T. and his successors,

167. Instrument narrating that Archibald Douglas of Glenbervy personally appeared in the court of the Earl Marischal held at Hall forrest by Alexander Keyth of Auquhorsk, bailie, and as procurator for William Foulair, James Scot and other tenants of Kemna stated and alleged that the officers or foresters of the Earl had charged his tenants of Kemna with having cut and barked certain timber, the said officers not admitting witnesses in the case because they themselves prosecuted as the pursuers; for which reason the depositions and allegations were held as nothing. Alexander T. also consented to the loosing of an arrestment placed upon the rents of Carnbrogy, alleged to be arrested by the officer of the barony of Tervas, if any there were, and that the arrestment shall in future be of no effect, but Alexander acknowledges that the arrestment, if any were, was placed upon the rents of Carnbrogy for his part invalidly, and he promises to warrant the said Andrew Fraser and others having interest. Done at Aberdeen in the house of Mr. Robert Lummysdane 22nd May 1550. Witnesses, the said Master Robert Lummysdane, John Blakhall, Alexander Fresser and (Sir John Cristisone), notary. 161 a.

The said Alexander, notwithstanding the delivery of the said letters of tack and bailiary to Mr. William, his heirs, etc., protested that it should not prejudice himself, because David D. was held bound and obliged to renounce all right and property to the letters of tack and bailiary of the lands so soon as the 120 merks contained in the reversion shall be paid to said David, and that the said Alexander, notwithstanding the premisses, delivered from himself one tack and letter of bailiary of the lands of Lital Sauchyne for the space of five years for fulfilling all points in the reversion, and that the said tack and letter of bailiary may be of no value as he intends to prove before a judge competent, time and place fitting, and for remedy of law. Therefore on account of the said grievances inflicted on me and others perhaps heavier to be inflicted in the future, I appeal from the said pretended ordinary letters and monitorials of the jurisdiction and of the Bishop of Aberdeen, also from his whole jurisdiction of Aberdeen in that cause, with all ecclesiastical censures contained or specified in the same or following by force of the same, to John, Archbishop of St. Andrews, and alternatively to his Holiness Pope Julius the Third; and I ask letters of appeal, first, second, third and peremptorily, which if they refuse to give, again as before I appeal, crave letters repeatedly, submitting myself and all adhering to me, my and their goods moveable and immoveable to the care, protection and defence of said judges, alternatively under solemn protest, adding, diminishing and reforming my appeal as often as law shall allow, and not binding myself to prove every or superfluous point but only those things required to gain the case.
